

Fire destroys Greenbush home

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

An electrical fire swept through the attic of a Greenbush home early on Thursday, July 5.

According to Alcona County Fire Investigator Greg Oke, Greenbush and Mikado volunteer fire departments were able to contain the fire to the attic of the home on US-23.

"The fire department(s) made an incredible stop on that fire...they did a heck of a job," Oke said.

Oke's investigation of the fire scene came at the request of Greenbush Fire Chief Steve Franks, which is a common practice, Oke said.

Home owner Scott Smith said he woke at 2:30 a.m. July 5 to what he thought was a power failure at his residence located next to his restaurant, the Red Rooster.

Smith explained he suffers from sleep apnea and uses a Continuous Positive Airway Pressure (CPAP) machine to help his breathing which runs on electricity. "I woke up because the machine stopped running. I walked to the restaurant to get a flashlight and noticed smoke billowing from the roof of the house. There was no smoke inside the house and the smoke alarms never sounded during the fire," Smith said.

Dave Gastambide, Smith's roommate, and Smith's dog, Lacey, made it out of the house safely. Smith credits the Greenbush and Mikado fire departments for their very prompt and efficient service to control the fire as fast as they could.

"The residence is totaled," Smith said, "but we all made it out safely and the fire didn't spread to the restaurant." The Red Rooster was closed on Thursday, but re-opened for business as usual on Friday.

Noticeably shaken from the devastation, but trying to remain optimistic, Smith said, "I have insurance. We pretty much lost everything in the house; but luckily no one was hurt. I'll just have to start over again, another chapter to open."

The house was the original Red Rooster Restaurant which operated for many years until 1976 when the current restaurant was built. The interior of the home sustained smoke and water damage.

Oke said initial investigation into the incident shows the fire originated in the attic and the cause is possibly electrical -- but, final determination is not complete.

Retired teacher lives her dream teaching golf

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

With a master's degree in physical education and health, an education specialist degree in education administration -- along with many years of experience as a health educator, athletic director and coach, it isn't that unusual Sue Treciak retired to become a golf instructor.

What is unusual are the obstacles she overcame to live her dream. "Not many people realize the amount of science and education involved in order to teach physical education and health," Treciak said as she gazed out her Greenbush condo watching the crystal blue waters of Lake Huron lap softly at the shore.

Treciak had no problem passing most courses with As, but gym, although she loved it, wasn't easy for her. Treciak suffers from a lack of kinesthetic awareness.

Kinesthetic awareness encompasses the body's ability to coordinate motions and the body's awareness of where it is in time or space. It's kinesthetic awareness that allows ballet dancers to move together in harmony instead of bumping into each other.

"No matter how hard I tried to do tumbling, and gymnastics in high school, I only managed a D. I can't swim or dance... I just don't know where my body parts are," Treciak said.

Her saving grace was that she excelled in anything with a ball and an implement.

"I loved sports, anything with a ball, and I loved teaching. I think having some disability helped make me a better teacher because I had empathy for students, those kids who no matter how hard they tried just couldn't do

Many don't know they suffer from sleep apnea

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Sleep apnea is a disorder in which breathing repeatedly stops affecting individuals and may go undiagnosed for years. The disorder may affect anyone, young or old, male or female. Even children can have sleep apnea.

In an article written by Dr. Brandon Peters, "Why Sleep Apnea May Be Deadly," he explained there is considerable evidence sleep apnea does more than just disrupt sleep.

A patient with sleep apnea may experience decreased oxygen levels and increased carbon dioxide levels, possible spikes in blood pressure, heart rate and hormones as the body reawakens to breathe. Sleep apnea has been linked to many chronic medical conditions and even sudden death.

According to www.mayoclinic.com, common signs of the disorder may include excessive daytime sleepiness, loud snoring; observed episodes of breathing cessation during sleep; abrupt awakenings during sleep accompanied by shortness of breath; waking with a dry mouth or sore throat; morning headache; and difficulty staying asleep.

There are different forms of sleep apnea. Obstructive sleep apnea is the more common form occurring when the throat muscles relax, an airway narrows or closes as an individual breathes in, and momentarily stops.

This process may lower the level of oxygen in blood.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
 Again we see the truth distorted by the liberals and the hype taking over.

The only thing the Supreme Court determined was that the healthcare bill was a tax not a mandate.

It did not judge that it was a poorly written, ill-conceived document that was pushed through the Congress and Senate (the Democrat controlled Congress passed it in less than a week of introduction, the Democrat controlled Senate rushed it through on Christmas Eve) without time to fully evaluate its impact to the citizens of this nation either morally or financially.

It did not judge that the bill could limit procedures for the elderly based on quality of life, that it takes away 'rights of conscience' for healthcare providers for procedures like abortions, and that it violates the First Amendment of the Constitution. Or that the bill greatly expands Medicaid putting the majority of costs for it on the states, and takes money from Medicare to pay for it. And it will increase taxes for all working people and retirees, not just the rich.

The bill is unpopular with a majority of Americans who want it repealed. The Republicans are responding to the wishes of this majority. They have the same rights to fix it as those that irresponsibly pushed this healthcare bill through.

I think the word to watch is Socialism. I learned that in government class too. Do we want the government controlling more and more of our lives? We are accelerating towards socialism at an alarming rate. Higher taxes, government regulations and mandates, social entitlements, gun control, you name it. Do we want to be another European socialist government? Or do we want to maintain the democracy we have enjoyed for over 200 years?

Richard Kacel

To the Editor,

I have been coming to Harrisville for over 20 years, usually spending time with my family at the Harrisville State Campground. I love the ambience and laid-back atmosphere that goes along with my favorite "Up North" community.

But alas, I have seen changes in recent years that concern me about the survivability of the quaint village. What is there to keep young people in town and encourage more families to remain a vibrant part of Harrisville? There is no more movie theater, no coffee shop, not many places for young people to hang out. Harrisville is a virtual ghost town on Sundays – which is especially bad during the tourist season.

One of a couple of new bright spots: I saw a new miniature golf course last week when I visited. One small step?

Sadly, there are several empty commercial buildings that can be used by industries synergistic with the community. How about a surf shop? Scuba instruction? Fishing charters? Harrisville is a waterfront gem that does a good job hiding its prize jewel: Water. The marina is nice but how about a fish market and boat-in restaurant?

Okay, all of this means a major financial investment for many people. I get that. Maybe the chamber of commerce should come up with a campaign to invite investors and focus on keeping youthful themes and showcasing the allure of the big lake.

I was happy to visit one of the newest businesses in town last week – the Modern Craft Winery & Tasting Room on US-23. What a great addition. I wrote a blog for my Detroit-area Examiner.com website. I hope it encourages visitors.

I don't want Harrisville to lose its "quaintness" but I do want Harrisville to survive for many years.

A person's brain senses this inability to breathe and briefly rouses them from sleep so they can reopen their airway. They may wake up making a snorting, choking or gasping sound. The period they are awake may be so brief that they don't remember it.

People with obstructive sleep apnea may wake up with shortness of breath that corrects itself quickly with one or two deep breaths. This pattern could repeat itself five to 30 times or more each hour, all night long. Disruptions like this may impair one's ability to reach the desired deep, restful phases of sleep. As a result they may feel sleepy during waking hours. Many people with obstructive sleep apnea may not be aware that their sleep was interrupted and may even think they sleep well at night.

Central sleep apnea occurs when an individual's brain doesn't send proper signals to the muscles that control breathing. They may awaken with shortness of breath or have a difficult time getting or staying asleep. Like obstructive sleep apnea, snoring and daytime sleepiness can occur. The most common cause of central sleep apnea is heart disease and, less commonly, a stroke. People with central sleep apnea may be more likely to remember waking up than are people with obstructive sleep apnea.

There are some people who suffer from both types of sleep apnea which is diagnosed as complex sleep apnea. They have upper airway obstruction like those with obstructive sleep apnea and also have a problem with the rhythm of breathing along with occasional lapses of breathing effort.

Becky Bean of Harrisville was diagnosed with sleep apnea eight years ago. "I suffer from fibromyalgia as well, but in addition to my aches and pains with that I was just more tired than normal. I was falling asleep just reading the paper. I got so I could hardly function I was so tired; I had even found myself almost dozing off while waiting for a red light to change. That's when I knew I had to go see a doctor. The doctor ordered a sleep study," Bean said.

Bean noted she was anxious about the sleep study and didn't think she would be able to fall asleep while hooked to monitors in a hospital setting. "They really make it quite comfortable for you during the sleep study, I was surprised I did fall asleep and they were able to do the study and found I stopped breathing 100 times during the night," said Bean.

Continuous positive airway pressure (CPAP) machine is the most common therapy used for moderate to severe sleep apnea. The machine delivers air pressure through a mask placed over an individual's nose while they sleep. With a CPAP machine the air pressure is somewhat greater than the surrounding air, and is just enough to keep their upper airway passages open, preventing apnea and snoring.

Some people may find the machine cumbersome or uncomfortable but with practice, most people learn to adjust to it. There is more than one type of mask and a patient with sleep apnea may have to try different kinds to find one that's comfortable.

Bean uses a smaller mask with nose pillows that softly fit her nostrils. "It took a few tries to find what worked best for me, the hospital supply company was very helpful in working with me to find the best fit," Bean said. "I adjusted quickly and found that once I got used to it my quality of life improved immensely."

"I still have a few mornings when I'm a little foggy, but I'm not tired like I was. When you aren't getting the proper amount of deep sleep it affects everything, you feel more pain and being tired all the time can be depressing. It's amazing how much better I feel now and how much more I'm able to get done," Bean said.

Sue Treciak, golf pro at Springport's Logger's Trace golf club was also recently diagnosed with sleep apnea. "I've been tired for 40 years," Treciak said, "My friend noticed how much caffeinated pop I was drinking just to stay awake during the day and urged me to get a study done. The study showed I was waking up 29 times an hour. The CPAP has really helped and it's such a blessing to find out that there is an easy cure for the problem."

Anyone who may suffer from sleep apnea is encouraged to make an appointment with a doctor to discuss their condition. It may just save a life.

(Friday meals served in Lincoln only.)

Senior Nutrition Seminar

Among older adults, the need to increase the quality as well as the quantity of healthy life is a critical public health goal. Good nutrition, exercise and an active lifestyle contribute to the enjoyment of life for everyone but are most important among people age 60 and older. Recognizing the need to inform seniors about many aspects of a healthy lifestyle, Michigan State University (MSU) Extension has developed a program for seniors: Nutrition for the Young at Heart with instructor Beth Noffze, SNAP-ED program associate.

This series is available to seniors in Glennie at the Curtis Township Library,

4884 Bamfield Road:

- Tuesday, July 17 — from 3 to 4 p.m., Enhancing Food's Flavors and How Friendly is Your Kitchen?;
- Tuesday, July 24 — from 3 to 4 p.m., Fiber, Grandma Called it Roughage and Looking for Sodium;
- Tuesday, July 31 — from 3 to 4 p.m., Cooking for One or Two and Treat Yourself like Company;
- Tuesday, Aug. 7 — from 3 to 4 p.m., Drink to Your Health and What Makes a Meal.

How to pick an assisted living residence

Dear Savvy Senior,
Can you give me some tips on picking a good assisted living facility for my mother? Her health has declined to the point that she can't live alone anymore but isn't ready for a nursing home either.

Need Assistance

Dear Need,
If your mother needs some assistance with daily living activities like bathing or getting dressed, managing her medications, preparing meals, housekeeping, laundry or just getting around, an assisted living facility is definitely a good option to consider.

Assisted living facilities are residential communities that offer different levels of health or personal care services for seniors who want or need help with daily living.

While there's no standard blueprint for how they're constructed, an assisted living facility may be part of a retirement community or nursing home, or they may stand alone. Most communities have between 25 and 125 suites, varying in size from a single room to a full apartment. And some even offer special memory care units for residents with dementia.

Here are some simple steps you can take to help you find a good facility.

- Make a list: Start by calling your Area Agency on Aging (call (800) 677-1116 or visit www.eldercare.gov for contact information) for a list of assisted living facilities in the area. You can also do a search online at senior housing locator sites like snapforseniors.com, or check your local yellow pages under "senior housing" or "assisted living."

- Call your ombudsman: This is a government official who investigates long-term care facility complaints and advocates for residents and their families. This person can help you find the latest health inspection reports on specific assisted living facilities, and can tell you which ones have had complaints or other problems. To find your local ombudsman, call your area aging agency or see Itcom-budsman.org.

- Call the facilities: Once you've narrowed your search, call the facilities you're interested in to find out if they have any vacancies, what they charge and if they provide the types of services your mother needs.

Tour your top choices: During your visit, notice the cleanliness and smell of the facility. Is it homey and inviting? Does the staff seem responsive and kind to its residents? Also be sure to taste the food, and talk to the residents and their family members, if available. It's also a good idea to visit several times at different times of the day and different days of the week to get a broader perspective.

Also, find out about staff screening (do they do background checks) and training procedures, and what percentage of their staff leaves each year. Less than 30 percent annually is considered good. More than 50 percent is a red flag. To help you rate your visit, the Assisted Living Federation of America offers a handy checklist at alfa.org/checklist.

Since Medicare does not cover assisted living, paying for this type of housing is another area you may have questions about or need assistance with. Monthly costs for assisted living ranges anywhere from $2,000 to $5,000 or more, depending on where you live, the facility you choose and the services provided. Most residents pay out-of-pocket from their own personal funds, and some have long-term care insurance policies.

If, however, your mom is

lower-income and can't afford this, there are some states that have Medicaid waiver programs that help pay for assisted living. Or, if she's a veteran, spouse or surviving spouse of a vet, she may be able to get funds through the VA's Aid and Attendance benefit. To find out about these programs, ask the assisted living facility director, or contact her local Medicaid office (call (800) 633-4227 for contact information) or regional VA office (800) 827-1000).

(Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org.)

On the road to antique

By Kathryn Fritz Kniep
Columnist

With the Antiques and Collectibles Show coming up this weekend in the big tent at Harrisville Harbor, I found myself thinking of a recent conversation between the Princess and a friend home to see his family. Describing his visit, he said, "We spent a lot of time playing 'Antiques Roadshow.'"

He offered an imitation of his parents - "Now this - this is old. It was your great-great-grandfather's. He got it along the Susquahana during the French and Indian War." And then, the killer question: "Is this something you'd like for your new apartment?"

The young man spread his arms and parodied acute discomfort as we all envisioned his cutting-edge modern condo. "Um...gee, thanks, but...no?"

Having played a few rounds of "Antiques Roadshow" with the Princess, I smiled at his story. There will come a day when he will say to his kids - as I do now - "I wish I'd listened closer to the story. But it was your great-great-great-grandfather's." For some of us, to love antiques we first must be one.

For a very long time, I simply didn't get the concept of antiquing. Most especially, I didn't understand why people would go to great lengths to acquire things like old pie safes, complete with cracking paint and chicken wire screens. A lot of my friend's family's had those when I was growing up. For the most part, they were saving up to go to Art Van and replace them with a Scandinavian hutch in shiny golden oak.

But somewhere along the line, the antiques caught up with me. This happened, principally, for two reasons. First of all, if you were indoctrinated early into the "make it do, use it up" mentality as I was, over a handful of decades the things you own become antiques all on their own.

And secondly, you find that out of nowhere you've developed a fondness for the stuff of your youth and your family's youth.

At least, I have. I still don't harbor an urge for a pie safe. But walking through the Antique Show last year, I found myself smiling mistily at a red and white 1950s plastic canister set just like the one that graced my mother's kitchen. I remember when she bought it at Pizer's Department Store, probably for less than five dollars. And look, there was a tin doll house with a rug painted on the living room floor and a tiny plastic refrigerator and stove, just like the one that showed up under my Christmas tree 50 years ago or so. And over there, the cat clock I coveted in a friend's house - its eyes clicking back and forth as its pendulum tail swung in rhythm.

Cigarette boxes and swizzle sticks, sheet music and piano stools, fancy hats and white gloves - each item transporting you back to a day when they were essentials of the good life and the round piano stool was polished to a point where a careless young musician sometimes slid right off. For a moment or two, as you stand grinning at a canister set, it takes you home. Or to grandma's or aunt's or best friend's long ago houses.

Of course, in addition to the category of "antique" these days, the word "vintage" has crept into our collective vocabulary. Scrolling through a blog on the Internet recently, I was surprised to note that the young woman who wrote it had acquired what she described as a "wonderful vintage suitcase" at a flea market. I wasn't surprised she'd found a suitcase at a flea market. But the vintage item in question was the exact same olive green suitcase I received as a high school graduation gift. Part of a set of three. Just recently the Princess claimed the "vintage" overnight case with the same enthusiasm.

Vintage? Does that make me vintage? All I know is it doesn't seem all that long ago I headed off to college with that set stuffed to the gunnels.

Somewhere over the years, the items that surround you take on patina and history and some distinguishing scars. Busy living your life, you don't always see the transformation occur. It's kind of like stop-motion photography come to life. One day you just wake up and discover that you possess a collection of things that started out new and worked their way to vintage and are heading down the road toward antiques -- much like the people around you.

The scratch on the walnut table that was a tragedy at the time lends character now and the chip in the china tea cup ("I remember it so well, it was my first real tea party...") isn't just a chip - it's a story and a memory and a tiny fragment of your own personal history.

For those whose families had smaller attics or followed the rule that for every item you bring in, two go out or just weren't much into keeping, they can stroll the aisles this weekend and pick up someone else's history - somebody's chips and scratches, preserved and polished piano stools and carefully kept quilts.

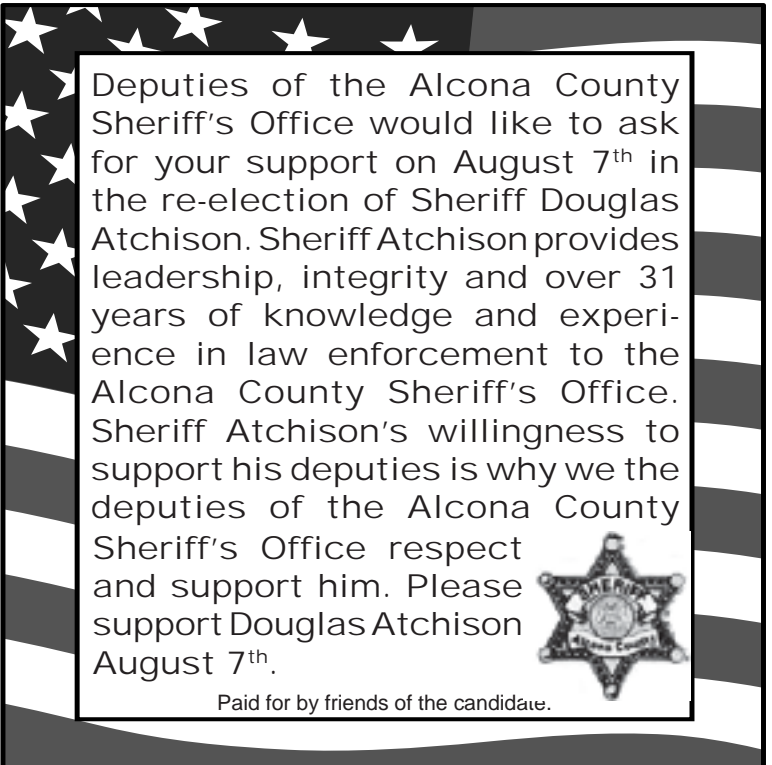

Some folks will find themselves turning over price tags and muttering that they remember when you could pick up an egg beater like that for two bucks at the five-and-dime while others will part with large amounts of money for something that started out life as a free advertising sign. Some will dig through a basket of lady's hankies, buffed to softness tucked into one handbag or another while others will lovingly turn the pages of a treasured childhood book or pick up a candle holder to display next to great-great-great grandfather's trunk from the French and Indian war or a piece of vintage luggage, just like Mama took to college.

For a couple of days, it will be a magic time-traveling tent, filled with your memories - or other people's - all available to make a new home with you. And here and there, you'll hear people turn to their visiting children and say "I have one of those at home. Is that something you'd like? I can bring it up from the basement." And here and there, uncomfortable looking children will stretch out their arms and say, softly, "No."

Give it time, though. It won't be long before they will. Oh yes, they will. It's just that for some of us, to love an antique, you first must be one.

Organization Notes

Order of the Eastern Star, Lincoln Chapter No. 184

On June 18, five members of Lincoln Chapter No. 184, Order of the Eastern Star, traveled to Grand Blanc, Mich. to give a life membership to Grace Dawson. The sisters that went on the trip were Kathi Olah, worthy matron; Mary Hilderbrand, secretary; Rita Sands, treasurer; Joyce Forgo, conductress; and Linda Dellar.

Grace is in the Genesys Convalescent Center on Holly Road in Grand Blanc, Mich. We were honored to have her son, Mike, and daughter-in-law, Louise, there for the presentation. Also, we were very pleased to have Michelle Kuerbitz from Grand Blanc Chapter No. 507 there also. Michelle works at Genesys Convalescent Center and has adopted Grace. Thanks Michelle.

Grace was a former member of Pine Tree Chapter in Oscoda and later became a member of Lincoln Chapter No. 184. She was a very devoted member who worked hard for our chapter, held several stations and was our sunshine gal for many years. Her beautiful smile would light up the whole room. It was a pleasure to present Grace with her life membership and also to meet her son and his wife.

certain things," Treciak said. Treciak graduated summa cum laude from the University of Detroit, despite her lack of kinesthetic awareness. She was hired as one of the first women athletic directors in the state in 1974.

"I remember interviewing for my job with Utica Schools. The system wide athletic director would ask me questions and I would respond with good answers but after every response I gave him, he would always say 'but you're a woman.' I finally told him 'yes, I'm a woman, but if I do a good job then there shouldn't be any problem.' Thanks to a very fair principal of the school I worked for, I was hired for the job," Treciak said.

Treciak recalled going to a seminar of the Michigan High School Athletic Association and in a room of 500 men, Treciak was the only woman there. Treciak said, "Women athletic directors just didn't exist."

She was also the first

She said one student wrote, "Miss Treciak makes you feel like you are good at something and because you feel like you are good at something you become even better at it."

"I'm still very good friends with that student, she even comes up to visit during the Harrisville Harmony Festival," Treciak said.

About 10 years ago, Treciak reached a cross roads in her life -- should she continue with her education and write her dissertation in order to obtain her Ph.D. in education administration or was 30 years of teaching enough? She thought about what she really wanted to do and decided she really didn't want to be in administration, what she really wanted to do was play golf.

"I'm living a dream, doing what I love to do," Treciak said. "I've loved sports all my life and now I get to be outside in this beautiful area and teach golf."

Treciak had been coming ing time with her cherished dog, a Brussels griffon, named Sprout. "He's a Brussels Sprout," Treciak said with a good natured laugh.

"Sprout hates the water, but he enjoys walking along the beach. I also enjoy that retirement has given me time now to read leisurely, something I never had time to do while I was teaching and coaching," Treciak said.

Treciak's plan is to continue doing what she is doing for as long as she is having fun. "When I'm here, I really enjoy it. I even moved my dad up here to spend his final years. The care they gave my dad here was far superior to the care he received downstate. He passed away just a month ago, but I think he really liked living here and the convalescent homes were really outstanding.

"It really is beautiful living here in the summer; I love the nature, the woods, the animals and birds. It's like heaven. I sit a lot in my neighbor's garden and watch the birds. I saw an Indigo bunting, it's just the most beautiful little bird dipped in rich blue. I love how when you go anywhere up here it's like you're on vacation, just going to the grocery store feels like vacation."

Treciak doesn't much like the cold weather though and said she is very lucky that she gets to spend her winters in Key Largo, Fla. Treciak added, "But I always come back when the leagues start up in May."

woman hired during the summer months as a supervisor for the parks and recreation department in Warren, Mich.

Treciak spent 30 years teaching junior high students, seventh through ninth-grade athletics and health in Utica, Mich. "Teaching those kids was wonderful. When I was young I used to think being a gym teacher would be fun because I would be able to wear shorts to work and play games I loved. I never did wear shorts to work like I thought I would. I never wanted to look like a slovenly dressed gym teacher. It was important to look professional. My warm-ups would match my whistle lanyard and my whistle matched my shoes. I had 165 pairs of tennis shoes when I retired," Treciak said with a laugh.

Teaching was a passion for Treciak and she strived to be compassionate while making the classes interesting, fun and above all, educational.

"I taught rules and they took written tests, my classes were not easy As. I had some kids that never held a football and others who were gifted athletes. I didn't want any of my students to hate physical exercise, so I would go through the mechanics of how to hold the ball the proper way. Even if they couldn't throw very well, if they held the ball properly that was taken into consideration when I graded them," Treciak said.

In 2000 Treciak received the highest accolade of her teaching career when she was given the Newsweek/WDIV Macomb County Teacher of the Year award. The award committee asked some of Treciak's students to write why she was a good teacher. The real award was hearing some of the wonderful things the kids wrote about her.

to the area for quite a while to play golf and just about the time she retired from teaching junior high, Steve Ashford, owner of Springport Hills Golf Course and Loggers Trace invited her to become a pro at the course.

Having 25 years experience playing in amateur tournaments with over a hundred victories including a team national championship, not to mention all those years spent coaching varsity golf and teaching the basics of golf to seventh through ninth-graders, Treciak was more than qualified for the job. She became certified through the National Registry of Professional Golf Instructors and began her pro career.

Treciak likes teaching golf with a sense of humor. "It should be fun," Treciak said. She has taught golf to people that have years of experience at the game as well as people with no athletic experience at all, she has also taught people with special needs and back injuries. "People who never thought they could play golf find out they can. As long as they are having a good time, they usually end up loving the game and some of them become quite proficient at it," Treciak said.

She served four years as president for the Michigan Women's Publinx Golf Association, an organization of about 400 women amateur golfers.

When she's not on the golf course, Treciak spends her spare time volunteering for the Sunrise Side Wine and Food Festival in Harrisville (July 21) and for Bailey School, a one-room log cabin school on the grounds of Sturgeon Point Lighthouse. She is hoping to get actively involved with Special Olympics as a golf coach this year.

The Pool Boys

After chasing various projects through the past couple of years, the original Pool Boys line up is back! Sal Agnello and Bob Hughes once again fire up one of the most exciting and entertaining Rock-n-Roll/Retro Top 40 shows in all of the Midwest. Sal Agnello, a talented guitarist and keyboard player, has worked throughout the United States opening for such acts as The Contours, Kelly Rowland of Destiny’s Child and Steppenwolf, just to name a few. “Putting the Pool Boys together with Bob is still my favorite project; the music is magical when we’re on the stage. The variety of music that we are capable of playing blows my mind”, boasts Agnello. Bob Hughes has been in and out of music for over 25 years. In 2004, he made the decision to make it a career. Primarily a solo acoustic musician, Bob has enjoyed sharing the stage with numerous acts in his short, full-time endeavor, at times playing in multiple acts. Bob also splits his time with WIDL as an on air talent and is owner and operator of Bob Hughes Studios, a growing recording studio in the thumb area of Michigan. Ready to travel again, Hughes saw the opportunity and called Agnello, the rest will be history. The Pool Boys ride again.

Easy Street

Easy Street consists of three contemporary acts: Lloyd Douglas and Dean Johnston and Pete Madsen. They have been playing multiple genres in their performance little over two years but have been together at different times for multiple genres in their performance. Joe Brisson plays acoustic guitar and vocals. He is a lifelong musician who has played locally with Easy Street and other area music groups. Dean Johnston plays electric guitar and vocals. He has played locally with the Douglas Family Band and the Dean Johnston Band in Alpena for over 25 years as a member of the Grand Ole Opry. Pete Madsen plays drums, lead guitar and vocals. He has played with the Damm Band and filling in for other groups when needed.

Da Bourbon Boyz

Da Bourbon Boyz, Jeff "Zulu" Robbins and Bill "Millertime" Miller have been performing at local pubs and private parties for over four years now. Their style of music is best described as "variety" as they jump around from Roger Miller to Jethro Tull to Johnny Cash as well as a few comedic songs to boot. I don't think they even know where they're going at times, but in the end, it's just plain fun! Jeff has been singing professionally pretty much his whole life. He started when he was very young and he is very, very old now! Jeff has sung with many artists and has sung and still sings occasionally with Donny Hartman from the legendary band "Frost." Bill has been playing professionally for five years, is much younger than Jeff, and enjoys every minute of entertaining on stage. Bill has also judged for singing contests including "Iosco Idol."

NASCAR REPORT

Stenhouse ready for starring role

NASCAR This Week

By Monte Dutton

Ricky Stenhouse Jr. will begin the 2012 season exactly where he wants to be.

This year Roush Fenway Racing couldn't come up with enough sponsorship to put Stenhouse, the reigning Nationwide Series champion, in Sprint Cup. Owner Jack Roush cut his Cup operation from four to three, leaving Stenhouse to defend his title in NASCAR's leading support series.

Things change.

Matt Kenseth recently announced he would be leaving Roush Fenway Racing at year's end. Kenseth gave Roush its first Cup championship in 2003 and is a veteran of 13 years at the sport's premier level.

The move, which won't be effective until season's end, opens a spot for Stenhouse, a 24-year-old from Olive Branch, Miss.

"I was kind of shocked when I heard the news," Stenhouse said. "I thought for sure that we would have a fourth car (again) and definitely didn't see Matt (Kenseth) going anywhere, but you have to take advantage of each situation you're in, and we have to go into next year ready to go and learn as much as we can, and try to finish this year off on a strong note."

Stenhouse, who once competed for Tony Stewart's USAC sprint and midget teams, doesn't think the impending move will do anything but help his bid for a second consecutive Nationwide Series title.

"I think I can go into it with more confidence and more pep in my step," he said. "I think the team is pumped about it and excited for me."

Roush expressed disappointment at Kenseth's decision to leave, but confidence that Stenhouse is ready to fill the void.

"His (Kenseth) leaving the team creates a window, a hole if you like, for which we have very capable, able, ready, enthusiastic, motivated and ambitious drivers," Roush said. "We actually have two of them ready to fill voids. One of them is Ricky Stenhouse, and of course, the other is Trevor (Bayne). The plan is for Trevor to be in some kind of a full-time ride next year, and of course, Ricky is the heir apparent to the (No.) 17 program."

Flagship Niagara sails into Alpena for public tours

The flagship Niagara will offer public tours of the vessel during a visit to Alpena on Friday, July 20 and Saturday, July 21.

Nearly 200 feet long, this wooden-hulled brig is a reconstruction of the warship aboard which Commander Oliver Hazard Perry won the Battle of Lake Erie during the War of 1812.

The Niagara will be docked behind the Great Lakes Maritime Heritage Center at 500 W. Fletcher Street. Public dockside tours are tentatively scheduled for 10 a.m. - 4 p.m., but may be expanded. Admission is $6 for adults and $4 for children 12 years old and under.

According to Jeff Gary, superintendent of the Thunder Bay National Marine Sanctuary, the opportunity to tour the ship is especially significant because of the Niagara's ties to the War of 1812 and Great Lakes maritime history. "As we celebrate the bicentennial of the War of 1812, we must remember the importance of the American victory in the Battle of Lake Erie in determining who we are today," Gray said.

"Perry's triumph gave the U.S. control of the Great Lakes, and ultimately, opened up a rush of commerce and settlement that would fuel the Industrial Revolution. Two hundred years after the cannons fell silent, the cities and industries of the Great Lakes are a result of the victory."

The Niagara is usually docked behind the Erie Maritime Museum in Erie, Pa., but travels the Great Lakes during the summer as the official flagship of Pennsylvania. The Niagara operates as a sailing school vessel, often conducting onboard history or science courses for students. Alpena is a frequent stop for the onboard student programming, but this visit marks the first opportunity for the general public to tour the ship.

The Niagara is also offering an opportunity for private events as part of the visit to Alpena. In addition to daytime tours, the ship is also available in the evening for private events, such as weddings, corporate functions or other celebrations. For more information on dockside events, contact Claudia Bankert at the Flagship Niagara League at claudia-bankert@aol.com.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Rise and Shine: Venus, Jupiter Await

When I contemplate rising before dawn, I think of the Simpson's episode entitled, "Bart's Comet." Bart Simpson discovers a doomsday interloper after pulling a prank on his science teacher, "Big Butt" Skinner. Bart's punishment is to assist Skinner's astronomy project, but Bart's discovery steals the day. When the radio alarm wakes Bart at 4:00 a.m., the announcer is saying, "Top of the hour... Time for the morning news, but, of course, there is no news yet because everyone's still asleep in their comfy, comfy beds. Good night everybody..." A confused and very groggy Bart bikes over to his school. I feel Bart's pain when the alarm, or my mental alarm, awakens me from a deep sleep for an early morning star watch. Right now, that means rising at 4 a.m. and being quick about an exit into the cool, morning air, no more than 15 minutes later. Upon going outside you may still think that you are in the "twilight zone" because low in the ENE will be the same two brilliant objects, Venus and Jupiter, which graced the evening sky during the first half of this year. Now, however, the pair is on the morning side of the sun, with Jupiter higher in the sky than Venus. The entire week will produce superb views, but if there was one specific morning to highlight, I'd pick Sunday, July 15, because as the heavens brighten, a 13 percent lit, waning crescent moon will be straddling the pair. Jupiter and Venus will be less than seven degrees apart with the moon nearly in between. Because it will be a very thin horned moon, the portion of Luna not in direct sunlight should be resplendent with earthshine, light from a nearly full Earth reflected back to us by the moon. Wide-field binoculars will enhance the earthshine to help fuel the beauty of this conjunction which is also near the bright, orangey star Aldebaran in Taurus the Bull and below the Pleiades. I know I'll be awake for this one. www.astronomy.org

STRANGE BUT TRUE
by Samantha Weaver

• It was double Nobel Prize-winning chemist and peace activist Linus Pauling who made the following sage observation: "The best way to have a good idea is to have lots of ideas."

• The acre as a unit of measurement has been with us for quite some time. Originally, an acre was considered to be the amount of land that could be tilled in a single day by one man behind one ox.

• If you've seen the movie "The Wizard of Oz," you might remember that in the Emerald City, the horses were a variety of bright colors. No special effects there — the set designers simply rubbed the animals with Jell-O powder to achieve the bright hues. Those scenes had to be shot very quickly, though, since the horses had a tendency to lick off their colors.

• If you spent some part of the 1980s trying to puzzle out a solution to a Rubik's Cube, you may be surprised to learn that the world record, held by Frenchman Edouard Chambon, is just 9.18 seconds. And it was set in 2008.

• You may not have learned about it in school, but during the summer and early autumn of 1859, the United States and the British became involved in a conflict known as The Pig War. In June of that year, a pig on American soil was shot by a British infantryman in Canada. In response to the provocation, the American militia camped out on the border for four months, until the British finally apologized. No lives were lost (other than the pig's).

• Those who study such things say that the lightning on Jupiter is 1,000 times more powerful than the lightning here on Earth.

Thought for the Day: "A person who trusts no one can't be trusted." — Jerome Blattner

MOMENTS IN TIME
The History Channel

• On July 28, 1868, following its ratification by the necessary three-quarters of U.S. states, the 14th Amendment, guaranteeing black Americans citizenship and all its privileges, is officially adopted into the U.S. Constitution.

• On July 24, 1911, American archeologist Hiram Bingham gets his first look at Machu Picchu, an ancient Inca settlement in Peru. Machu Picchu is believed to have been a summer retreat for Inca leaders, whose civilization was wiped out by Spanish invaders in the 16th century. The site itself stretches an impressive 5 miles.

• On July 26, 1931, a swarm of grasshoppers descends on crops throughout Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota, devastating millions of acres. The swarm was said to be so thick that it blocked out the sun and that grasshoppers could be shoveled with a scoop. Corn stalks were eaten to the ground and fields left completely denuded.

• On July 27, 1943, Joseph Stalin, premier and dictator of the Soviet Union, issues Order No. 227, which came to be known as the "Not one step backward" order, in light of German advances into Russian territory. The order declared, "Panic makers and cowards must be liquidated on the spot. Not one step backward without orders from higher headquarters!"

• On July 29, 1967, a fire on the USS Forrestal stationed off the coast of Vietnam kills 134 service members, injures hundreds and destroys 20 planes. The deadly fire on the U.S. Navy carrier began with the accidental launch of a F-4 Phantom jet rocket, which hit a parked A-4 Skyhawk jet.

• On July 23, 1976, members of the American Legion arrive in Philadelphia to celebrate the bicentennial of U.S. independence. Soon after returning home, many began suffering from a mysterious form of pneumonia, which would become known as Legionnaires' disease. The final tally was 221 cases, including 34 deaths.

• On July 25, 1985, Rock Hudson, Hollywood leading man, announces through a press release that he is suffering from acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS). Hudson was the first major celebrity to go public with such a diagnosis.

Notice Of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

This firm is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt. Any information we obtain will be used for that purpose. Please contact our office at the number below if you are in active military duty. Attention purchasers: This sale may be rescinded by the foreclosing mortgagee. In that event, your damages, if any, shall be limited solely to the return of the bid amount tendered at sale, plus interest.
 Mortgage sale - Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Joseph A. Higginson, a single person, original mortgagor(s), to Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., mortgagee, dated June 24, 2009, and recorded on July 14, 2009 in Liber 463 on page 1,162, in Alcona County records, Michigan, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of ninety thousand two hundred seven and 56/100 dollars ($90,207.56).
 Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public vendue, at the place of holding the circuit court within Alcona County, at 10 a.m. on August 8, 2012.
 Said premises are situated in township of Gustin, Alcona County, Michigan, and are described as: Beginning at the east 1/4 corner of Section 13, Township 26 North Range 8 East; thence south 00 degrees 49 minutes 01 seconds west along the east line of said section and the centerline of Barlow Road, 1,322.14 feet; thence north 89 degrees 41 minutes 08 seconds west along the south 1/8 line of said section, 1,336.01 feet; thence north 01 degrees 08 minutes 40 seconds east along the east 1/8 line of said section and the centerline of Clark Road, 1,328.42 feet to the point of beginning. Said parcel being the northeast 1/4 of the southeast 1/4 of said Section 13.

 The redemption period shall be six months from the date of such sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with MCLA 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of such sale. If the property is sold at foreclosure sale under Chapter 32 of the Revised Judicature Act of 1961, pursuant to MCL 600.3278 the borrower will be held responsible to the person who buys the property at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the mortgage holder for damaging the property during the redemption period.

VILLAGE OF LINCOLN MINUTES

The Lincoln Village Council met on Monday, July 2 at 7 p.m. at the village hall. The meeting was called to order with the "Pledge of Allegiance." Those present included: President Jordan, treasurer Kossa, clerk Somers, deputy clerk/treasurer Stutzman and council members Healy, Lask, Somers and Stutzman. Absent were council members Bonny Gauthier and Phil Naylor. Also present were Attorney Cook and several guests. The minutes of the June meeting were approved on a motion from Healy, with support from Stutzman. The treasurer's report was approved, subject to audit, on a motion from Lask, with support from Stutzman.

Jay Jacobs, representative of Consumer's Energy, addressed the board regarding an agreement/ordinance for 30 years. He stated that it is a very generic resolution that is offered up for municipalities to adopt. The current agreement is up for renewal soon. A motion was made by Stutzman, with support from Lask, to pass the Consumers Energy Electric Franchise Agreement. A roll call vote was taken: Healy, Lask, Somers, and Stutzman -- all aye. Absent: Gauthier and Naylor. Ordinance passed: Four ayes, zero nays, two absent. Following is the ordinance:

Ordinance No. 2012-03

Consumers Energy Company Electric Franchise Ordinance

An ordinance, granting to Consumers Energy Company, its successors and assigns, the right, power and authority to construct, maintain and commercially use electric lines consisting of towers, masts, poles, crossarms, guys, braces, feeders, transmission and distribution wires, transformers and other electrical appliances on, under, along and across the highways, streets, alleys, bridges, waterways, and other public places, and to do a local electric business in the Village of Lincoln, Alcona County, Michigan, for a period of 30 years.

The Village of Lincoln ordains:

Section 1. Grant, term. The Village of Lincoln, Alcona County, Michigan, hereby grants the right, power and authority to the Consumers Energy Company, a Michigan corporation, its successors, and assigns, hereinafter called the "grantee" to construct, maintain and commercially use electric lines consisting of towers, masts, poles, crossarms, guys, braces, feeders, transmission and distribution wires, transformers and other electrical appliances for the purpose of transmitting, transforming and distributing electricity on, under, along and across the highways, streets, alleys, bridges, waterways, and other public places, and to do a local electric business in the Village of Lincoln, Alcona County, Michigan, for a period of 30 years.

Section 2. Consideration. In consideration of the rights, power and authority hereby granted, said grantee shall faithfully perform all things required by the terms thereof.

Section 3. Conditions. No highway, street, alley, bridge, waterway or other public place used by said grantee shall be obstructed longer than necessary during the work of construction or repair, and shall be restored to the same order and condition as when said work was commenced. All of grantee's structures and equipment shall be so placed on either side of the highways as not to unnecessarily interfere with the use thereof for highway purposes. All of grantee's wires carrying electricity shall be securely fastened so as not to endanger or injure persons or property in said highways. The grantee shall have the right to trim trees if necessary in conducting of such business, subject, however, to the supervision of the highway authorities.

Section 4. Hold harmless. Said grantee shall at all times keep and save the village free and harmless from all loss, costs and expense to which it may be subject by reason of the negligent construction and maintenance of the structures and equipment hereby authorized. In case any action is commenced against the village on account of the permission herein given, said grantee shall, upon notice, defend the village and save it free and harmless from all loss, cost and damage arising out of such negligent construction and maintenance.

Section 5. Extensions. Said grantee shall construct and extend its electric distribution system within said village, and shall furnish electric service to applicants residing therein in accordance with applicable laws, rules and regulations.

Section 6. Franchise not exclusive. The rights, power and authority herein granted, are not exclusive.

Section 7. Rates. Said grantee shall be entitled to charge the inhabitants of said village for electric furnished therein, the rates as approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission, to which commission or its successors authority and jurisdiction to fix and regulate electric rates and rules regulating such service in said village, are hereby granted for the term of this franchise. Such rates and rules shall be subject to review and change at any time upon petition therefor being made by either said village, acting by its village council, or by said grantee.

Section 8. Revocation. The franchise granted by this ordinance is subject to revocation upon sixty (60) days written notice by the party desiring such revocation.

Section 9. Michigan Public Service Commission, jurisdiction. Said grantee shall, as to all other conditions and elements of service not herein fixed, be, and remain subject to the reasonable rules and regulations of the Michigan Public Service Commission or its successors, applicable to electric service in said Village.

Section 10. Repealer. This ordinance when accepted and published as herein provided, shall repeal and supersede the provisions of an electric ordinance adopted by the village on August 2, 1982 entitled; An Ordinance, granting to Consumers Power Company, its successors and assigns, the right, power and authority to construct, maintain and commercially use electric lines consisting of towers, masts, poles, cross-arms, guys, braces, feeders, transmission and distribution wires, transformers and other electrical appliances on, under, along and across from the highways, streets, alleys, bridges and other public places, and to do a local electric business in the Village of Lincoln, Alcona County, Michigan for a period of 30 years.

And amendments, if any, to such ordinance whereby an electric franchise was granted to Consumers Energy Company.

Section 11. Effective date. This ordinance shall take effect upon the day after the date of publication thereof; provided, however, it shall cease and be of no effect after 30 days from its adoption unless within said period the grantee shall accept the same in writing filed with the village clerk. Upon acceptance and publication hereof, this ordinance shall constitute a contract between said village and said grantee.

We certify that the foregoing franchise ordinance was duly enacted by the village council of the Village of Lincoln, Alcona County, Michigan on the 2nd day of July, 2012.

Phillip S. Jordan,
Village President
Attest: Linda K. Somers,
Village Clerk

Assistant fire chief Scott DuBay stated that the old brush rig was turned back over to the DNR and a little more work needs to be done on the new rig. He stated there is paperwork that needs to be finished. A new code will be set on the door to the fire department following some issues recently. Jordan stated that we need to consider installing a waterspigit outside the fire hall. Somers asked about having water put on the new ball field every other day. DuBay will work with them to try to resolve the problem.

In public comment Eric Bates asked about a vacant lot that is on Second Street where the old hardware building was located. Jordan advised that the DDA holds title to the property and the village officials will work with the DDA and any person who is interested in it. Eric also asked about the status of the dock for Brownlee Lake swimming area. Jordan said he hopes to have it put in very soon. He is also concerned about standing water behind his business. He said that although he has had some water behind his store in the past, he now has considerably more water to deal with. He asked about having the project engineer for the streetscape project look at possibly addressing the issue. Jordan will talk with the engineers and get back with Eric. New business owner Connie Coburn introduced herself to the council members. She opened Connie's Paw Spa on Second Street and is open for business. She was warmly welcomed by everyone. Planning chairperson Connie Stutzman stated that the next meeting is set for August 16 at 6 p.m. at the village hall. The village is working with Gustin Township to update all the ordinances.

Street Administrator/Sewer Commissioner Dick Somers stated that things are going well on both fronts. In old business, Stutzman has been checking things over at the playground and is watering trees and flowers. Jordan stated that things need to be looked at closely and any broken items need to be fixed as soon as possible. Sara Healy is working with Teresa Hart to try to set a group in motion that will work to maintain the Flights of Imagination playground. She will be putting together a list of paint colors, mulch requirements, etc. Jordan stated the Lincoln Lions will be happy to help in any cleanup effort. Sara was urged to also look into selling slats again to help finance. Anyone interested in helping in the venture may contact Sara Healy at (989) 736-8195. Somers stated that he has been keeping busy repairing equipment. Jordan said the DDA is looking at possibly purchasing a skidster to remove snow on the sidewalks. In that case the old John Deere tractor would be sold.

In new business, Stutzman stated that a chain had been cut and a picnic table was moved at the playground. Somers will work with him to put the table back and fix the chain. Stutzman asked about installing some decorative blocks around the quilt square sign at the play area. Jordan will work with him to see what needs to be done. Thank you notes were read from Huron Shores Chamber of Commerce for the donation towards fireworks for the July 7 celebration. The other note was read from the Cook family for the fruit basket following Lexi Cook's accident. President Jordan gave his report. He said we have been contacted again regarding application for a facade grant. The grant totals $567,720 of which business owners would be responsible for $289,935, grant funds would be $289,935 and the DDA would contribute $20,000. Cost to the village would be zero. The businesses affected would be The Cozy Cabin, the Old Bank building, Coles Appliance and Sleep Shop and Alcona Motors. Jordan stated that he believes this could be attained if we act on it immediately. He asked if the council would support the venture. All agreed we should move forward. Jordan thanked Dave James and Don Read for putting all the banners arms and banners up along the streetscape area. He thanked Lincoln Lions members for their help in turning what he deems a lump of coal into a diamond. Members worked for approximately five hours and got things leveled off, grass seed planted, et cetera.

Thanks to all the great people who donate their time and efforts to help things get taken care of in the village. President Jordan said that the work on Second Street is nearly finished, new asphalt has been laid and striping will then need to be done. Somers will get a quote and work with Jordan. Jerry and Mary Linton donated a flag pole in memory of their father who passed away recently. Jordan stated that today the flagpole arrived and it is beautiful. He stated that the beautification committee will help make a decision as to where it should be placed. He will report back to the council at next month's meeting. A letter was received from District Health Department No. 2 informing us of its intention to test water there for the next several weeks. Brownlee Lake Association will be holding its annual Boat Parade on August 4 at 8 p.m. Everyone is invited and encouraged to attend.

A schedule was received from Nathan Walker for the new baseball team that has been playing here. A motion was made by Stutzman, with support from Lask, to authorize president Jordan to sign for work performed by Enterprises for the facade grant. An audit will begin soon with Johnson & Schulze CPAs. Jordan stated that he will get a price for flag brackets along Second Street.

A motion was made by Lask, with support from Somers, to pay the bills as presented. Carried. A motion to adjourn was made by Lask, with support from Healy. Motion carried.

Flying Aces Professional Frisbee Dog Show founder Brian Hayes and his wife, Theresa, from Manchester, Mich. travel with their four dogs Ulysses, Bad Lad, Maggie and Little Joe throughout several states demonstrating the dogs' talents at retrieving Frisbees. Hayes explains the history of Frisbee and tricks you can do with them. All four dogs are rescue dogs, Hayes explained. "Two of the Dogs are now certified therapy dogs and the other two dogs need therapy," he said laughing. After the dogs performed Brian had the kids in the audience try their hand at a Frisbee contest. Photos by Mary Weber.
