Road crews toughing out difficult winter, circumstances

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

If anyone is going to grumble about the cold, snowy winter that has encompassed the region this year, it might very well be crew members of the Alcona County Road Commission.

The winter of 2013-14 is shaping up to be one of the five coldest in Michigan, according to Jeff Anderson, state climatologist, although, it is still early to say for certain. While it might not be one of the top five, it is cold — proof of which is shown by the ice cover on the Great Lakes which is up to 84.4 percent, according to data compiled by the National Atmospheric Administration's Great Lakes Environmental Laboratory in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Needless to say, extremely cold temperatures and more than expected snow are presenting challenges to road crews this winter. Adding to the situation is the loss of the 15,000 square foot truck storage and maintenance facility that was destroyed by fire on September 28, 2013. The loss was estimated at about $4 million in structure, vehicles, equipment and tools.

"We just can't seem to catch a break," said Alcona County Road Commission

Managing Director Jesse Campbell. "The only thing we've got going for us is the experience of our crew. And, now that we have enough trucks — it sometimes takes five to six hours to get trucks running and get them out. Our response time is terrible."

Campbell explained most of the trucks are stored outside at the Manning storage facility on Carbide Drive in Lincoln and are plugged into block heaters, which does help to a certain extent. However, that does not keep the air lines, hydraulic systems and the sand/salt mechanisms on the back of the trucks from freezing and the fuel from "jelling up." "Storing everything outside — well, it just adds another challenge to our day-to-day operations," he said.

Then there is the ever-present concern about finances. "On top of an already challenging winter, fuel costs and overtime costs have been accelerated — especially compared to the last few years," Campbell said.

"It is draining our resources — the overtime..." said Alfred Scully, Alcona County Road Commission chairman. "It's been tough, but the crew has done an excellent job in view of everything. And, we are doing it with less people and getting it done. They are doing more than a good job. They are all stepping up," Scully said.

Despite the challenges the department faces on a daily basis, Campbell, crew members and road commissioners are looking toward and planning for the future.

"We are doing really well,"

Campbell said of the overall outlook and attitude of road commission employees. "We have some of the projects lined up for spring — culvert replacements and we are going to start brushing pretty soon. We are in the process of meeting with township to make plans for projects."

The department just received a new steamer to replace the one lost in the fire. Campbell explained the steamer is used to bore through ice in culverts to thaw it so water can go through the culvert instead of around it which can cause damage to road beds. "With the amount

Alcona track record-breaker signs letter of intent

Megan Quick was all smiles as she signs a letter of intent with Cornerstone University. For one Alcona High School senior planning for the future is all about finding the right fit for her athletic and educational aspirations.

Megan Quick, a student and athlete, said she knew Cornerstone University in Grand Rapids, Mich. was the right place when she and her parents visited the school last summer.

Quick, 17, was all smiles as she signed a letter of intent with the university last week. Quick will be a member of the university's track and field team.

Quick loves sports and has been involved with track, cross country running and basketball at Alcona. She was introduced to track in middle school but got really excited about the sport after breaking school records during her junior year -- at regional championships in the 800 meter dash finishing at 2:24 and the four by 800 relay. In state finals she finished second in the 400 meter and fourth in the 800 meter events.

Cornerstone University was attractive to Quick because it's a private Christian university, which is exactly what she was looking for. She e-mailed the school and Paul Koutz, head coach of women's track at the university invited her and her parents for a visit last October to see what the school had to offer and what Quick had to offer the school.

"I fit in really well with the team and I loved the campus. My parents also fell in love with the university and are really excited about me going there," Quick said.

Coach Koutz was excited about Megan's interest in the program saying Megan was a gifted athlete. "We put her through a difficult workout which would have exhausted most athletes. Instead of complaining, when Megan finished she said, 'Cool!' She wasn't afraid to do the hard work. Our track team has done well, but having Megan will bring even more depth to the team," Koutz said.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
To the individual who, on Saturday, Feb. 15 at about 3:30 a.m., decided to drive drunk and nearly hit our son head-on just north of Rosa's on US-23 -- we hope, one day, you can wake up and care about your actions and the affects they may have on others.

We hope you don't have to get that sickening feeling when you think about how close you were to losing someone so important to you because of the irresponsibility of another.

To the couple who stopped to see if our son was okay and, then, kindly offered to drive home, get a tow rope and, in the end, pull his vehicle out of the ditch -- thank you. We never got your names but please know that your actions, kindness and concern are what makes this community great and we can't thank you enough.

To the Editor,
On January 27 I attended the meeting that our State Representative Peter Pettalia held in Harrisville. A recently-approved petition drive has been launched to change the Michigan State Legislature from full time to part time, and accordingly to cut the salaries of representatives approximately in half, while also limiting the total number of legislative employees to 250.

I was interested in Mr. Pettalia's position on this proposal. I assumed that he must know that Michigan is one of only four states in the U.S. to have a full-time legislature, and that our legislative salaries ($71,685) are also in the top five nationally. I also assumed that Mr. Pettalia would be in favor of the proposal, since it is clearly a step toward a smaller, more efficient government.

Imagine my surprise when Mr. Pettalia strongly opposed the idea. His stated reason for this opposition was also confusing to me. He said that our area (northeast Michigan) already suffers from having less representation in Lansing than more populous districts downstate, and that changing to a parttime legislature would somehow make this imbalance worse.

But since representation is proportional, part time or full time makes no difference. Thus, I am wondering if Mr. Pettalia actually just objects to having his salary cut. I would say that $35,000 for 60 days in session is still pretty good compensation, and that less time making laws and more time in district helping constituents would be positive steps.

Author Publishes Again

JoAnne Varney, former owner of Baybeary's Folk Art Shoppe and The Sweet Grass Café in Oscoda, has written a second book entitled, "Journey of a Sacred Heart." The book is an illustrated spiritual journey of overcoming obstacles. Varney said she danced with her soul while overcoming divorce, the loss of her business, and having three sons serving in the war in Iraq. She found the road back to recovery using pen and brush. The work offers tools for self-exploration through color and design to reveal the hidden meaning of fears and dreams. It is filled with technique and inspirational quotes which the author says will help anyone return to health and hope after a life-altering loss.

Varney's first book, "The Cord," was written in 1996 under her previous name, Joann Henry. "Journey of a Sacred Heart" is available in soft cover or Kindle versions at Amazon.com or can be purchased through the author by calling (989) 569-3041. of snow we've had this year we will have problems with frozen culverts this spring," Campbell said.

Several other pieces of equipment lost in the fire have also been replaced - two pickup trucks and one of the large orange maintenance trucks. One more large orange truck is still on order. "We hope to have one (orange) truck by March 1 - this truck is replacing the one lost in the fire, and the second one might not make it for this winter."

Plans are also progressing for construction of a new maintenance building. On January 22 the Alcona County Road Commission accepted a proposal for qualifications for an engineer that will draw up plans for the new structure. "The board reviewed four qualified proposals and references from engineers," Campbell said. "The board chose Russo Engineering out of Tawas."

Campbell explained the design phase started immediately after the engineer was selected. Rough ideas have been submitted and much discussion and fine tuning will continue until the plans are finalized and certified. "Our hope is to have plans prepared for bidding around the first of June," Campbell said.

Planning and designing the new building is also a challenge. "We have so many obstacles to work around," Campbell said. Underground fuel storage tanks, underground wells, septic tanks, electrical issues and other issues involved in meeting codes and ordinances.

Campbell said the insurance company has determined the maximum amount of funds the road commission will receive is $1.245 million for the structure and $314,000 for content replacement for all of the tools and ship equipment. "It seems like a large amount, but when you start adding things up it's not," Campbell said.

There is approximately $510 in a building/universal fund that has been saved since 1996. According to Scully the fund has been used as a "rainy day fund" over the years as needed. And is a possible funding source to use either in the construction or for items needed to equip the building.

"It's going to be very difficult to build what we want and need with the insurance funds we have," Scully said. "We will try to stay within the budget. The additional funds are a possibility - if needed." In preparation for construction road commission crew members will be razing a storage barn in order to make room for the new structure. "It's right in the way and we couldn't utilize the building in the condition it is now; repairs would cost more than to build a new one. So, we are going to demo it to make room," Campbell said.

"Overall, we are doing really good... We continue to receive a lot of community support and a lot of support from surrounding road commissions... I enjoy winter, but I will be glad to see this one gone," Campbell said.

track and field team is ranked fifth of 25 national teams and is on target to place in the top 10 at the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Championships next month.

Quick will be focusing on general education credits at the university but hopes to someday teach elementary school. She had an opportunity to job shadow elementary teachers and really enjoyed it, especially third grade.

She thanked her parents for helping her with the recruitment process and all they have done for her. She also credits Larry Spare, head of the Alcona High School track program, for pushing her when she needed it.

Spare said Megan brought a lot to the team at Alcona High School. He said she has a wonderful personality and an unselfish willingness to support the team while accomplishing her own personal goals. She was a very competitive young lady who wants to win.

Spare met with Koutz from Cornerstone and was impressed. "Koutz seems to have the same thoughts I do about team chemistry. I really believe he chose Megan because of her personality and how she fits in with his program. Some coaches just look at stats and don't worry about chemistry. Chemistry with a team is everything. Megan has good work ethics and gets along with everyone, I believe she will fit in well there," Spare said.

Quick also noted the community has been very supportive. "I love Alcona and I'm glad I grew up here, I wouldn't have wanted to grow up anywhere else."

Megan is the daughter of Tamara Quick and Doug Quick. She is the youngest of four siblings, sister, Nicole, and step brothers, Dennis, Danny and Dereke Quick.

Tigers take down Hurons

By Ron Yokom
Basketball Writer

After having their three game winning streak broken by Mio, the Alcona boys basketball team was faced with three games last week, two of them against two of the better teams in the North Star League.

On Monday, Feb. 10 Alcona hosted Tawas, who had defeated Alcona 63-37 back in December. This time the game was much closer with the Tigers coming up just short 40-37.

The first quarter was an exercise in futility. Neither team could make a basket or hang on to the ball. Alcona's offense produced only one field goal by Trent LaVergne. He also hit three free throws for all of Alcona's five points. Tawas could do no better and the quarter ended tied at 5.

The poor shooting continued in the second quarter for both teams. The end result was a one point lead by Tawas, 16-15, at halftime. This time the Tigers scored three field goals and were perfect from the line sinking four of four attempts. Carson Jamieson led the offense this time with six points.

Alcona's woes continued in the third quarter. They could only come up with nine points and were outscored 15-9 by the Braves, giving Tawas a 31-24 lead at the end of three periods. Tawas increased the lead to nine points to start the fourth quarter. LaVergne did his best to keep Alcona in the game, scoring their first 11 points. They outscored Tawas 13-9 but it wasn't enough.

LaVergne led Alcona with 22 of their 37 points. The rest of the team could come up with only 15 the entire game. For the first time this year both the varsity and junior varsity lost on the same night. The JV team lost 41-34 for their second loss of the year.

On Tuesday, Feb. 11 the Tigers were again the host team, welcoming the Rogers City Hurons. They easily broke their two game losing streak with a decisive 66-41 victory, exactly the same score they won by at Rogers City.

The first quarter looked like Alcona might lose again after trailing 12-8. Then they jumped all over the Hurons with Nate Swinson making 20 points while Hunter Sullivan added 15 points. Michell Havercroft made 12 and Tristan Gordy made 10.

In the final game of the week Alcona went north to battle the Hillman Tigers. They were looking for revenge after losing to Hillman, 59-67, at home.

Alcona came out with a vengeance. After Hillman scored the first basket Jamieson scored three straight baskets and Alcona led after one quarter 12-6. Hillman could not buy a basket, mostly due to an aggressive defense by Alcona.

Believing they might be able to take a road game, Alcona started the second quarter with a 10-0 run, or maybe I should say LaVergne went on a 10-0 run that gave Alcona a 22-8 lead. Hillman finished the half with a five run streak but still trailed Alcona by nine, 24-15. Hillman again could not make any kind of shot and Alcona took advantage. LaVergne scored all 12 points for them.

Unfortunately, only half the game was over. LaVergne continued to extend his scoring streak beginning the third quarter hitting Alcona's first eight points. That means he scored 20 consecutive points for Alcona before any teammate helped out.

But, it wasn't enough as Hillman started hitting the same shots they missed in the first half. They caught Alcona at the end of the quarter to tie the game at 35 with confidence and momentum on their side for the fourth period which became a shoot out. Hillman started with five points and Alcona would not regain the lead as Hillman built a 16 point lead with numerous drives to the bucket for easy lay ups. Hillman won 63-50.

LaVergne scored 28 points. Jamieson added 11, Jason Steiner made nine points and Forsythe two. Alcona's record stands at 9-7 with four games remaining unless the Standish game is not made up.

The JV team fared better, winning a close contest 55-49. Mitchell Havercroft led with 14 points with Swinson adding 12. Their record stands at 14-2.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Tips and support services for family caregivers

Dear Savvy Senior,
What resources do you recommend that offer help to caregivers? I've been taking care of my 82-year-old mother, and it's wearing me to a frazzle.

Exhausted Daughter

Dear Exhausted,
Taking care of an elder loved one over a period of time can be incredibly taxing, both physically and mentally. Fortunately, there are a number of tips and services you can turn to that can help lighten the load.

• Assemble a care team: A good first step is to put together a network of people (family, friends and even neighbors) that you can call on to help out when you can't be there or need a break.

• Tap local services: Most communities offer a range of free or subsidized services that help seniors and caregivers by providing things like home delivered meals, transportation, senior companion services and more. Also, look into respite services (see respitelocator.org) that can provide short-term care to your mom so you can take some time off. Your Area Agency on Aging (call (800) 677-1116 for contact information) can refer you to services available in your community.

• Use financial aids: If you're handling your mom's financial chores, make things easier by arranging direct deposit for her income sources, and set up automatic payments for her utilities and other routine bills.

• If you need help, hire a professional daily money manager (aadmm.com, (877) 326-5991) who can come in once or twice a month to pay bills, make deposits, decipher health insurance statements and balance her checkbook. They charge $25 to $100 per hour. Or, if your mom is low-income, a similar service is offered by AARP (aarpmp.com).

org) in select communities for free.

Benefitscheckup.org is another excellent resource you should use to look for financial assistance programs for lower-income seniors.

• Get insurance help: If you have questions about Medicare, Medicaid or long-term care, your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) is a great resource that provides free counseling on all these issues. Call (800) 633-4227 or visit shiptalk.org to locate a nearby counselor.

You can also get help online at medicare.gov/campaigns/caregiver/caregiver.html, and through the Medicare Rights Center, which staffs a hotline at (800) 333-4114 to help answer questions.

• Use technology: If your mom lives alone, consider renting her a medical alert device, which is a small pendant-style "SOS" button that she wears, that would allow her to call for help if she falls. These are available through companies like lifelinesys.com and lifeline.com for about $1 per day. Or, check out home monitoring systems at mylively.com, beclose.com or grandcare.com.

There are also a number of great websites you can draw on for caregiving information and support like aarp.org/caregiving, caregiver.org and caring.com, along with alz.org/care, alzheimers.gov and thiscaringhome.org for caregivers of dementia patients.

And, if you're sharing care responsibilities with others, sites like lotsahelpinghands.com, caresolver.com and caringbridge.org can help you coordinate together.

• Hire help: Depending on your mom's needs and budget, you may want to hire a part-time "home-care aide" that can help with things like preparing meals, doing laundry, bathing or dressing, or if she needs health care services, a "home health aid." Costs can run anywhere from $12 up to $40 per hour depending on where you live

Lady Tigers getting ready for districts

By Hope Smith
Sportswriter

The Alcona girl's varsity basketball team is gaining momentum as it heads into districts next week. The Lady Tigers picked up three more wins and have their sights focused on winning the district championship and regional title.

On Monday, Feb. 10 Alcona traveled to Rogers City to take on the Hurons. Alcona struck first taking the 12-9 lead in the first quarter and extending it to 22-13 at halftime. In the third quarter Alcona put some distance on the scoreboard when the Lady Tigers went on a 17-10 run and pulled ahead 39-23 and eventually cruised to a 57-36 victory.

"Neither team played very well tonight. We got on track (in) the second half. We are looking to balance the scoring more from our team if we are to be contenders in the play offs," said coach Brad Cole.

Karina Cole led all scorers with 27 points, three rebounds and three assists. Kendra delivered six points, grabbed nine rebounds, three assists and three steals. Samantha Schopfer added made six points, grabbed six rebounds and three assists. Maddie Feldhiser with made four points. Nicole Walen had four points and four rebounds. Hannah Terpstra had four points and seven rebounds. Sydney Pierce and Torie Harmon had two points each and Megan Quick added two points, three rebounds, three assists and four steals.

The junior varsity team picked up the 62-31 victory over the Hurons. Leading all scorers for Alcona was LaFave with 22 points.

The Lady Tigers had the home court advantage on Wednesday, Feb. 12 when they met up with the Rogers City Hurons again. However, the final score in this game was much closer than Monday's contest.

Alcona maintained a 19-12 lead after the first quarter and 31-22 at the halfway mark.

Rogers City outscored the Lady Tigers 11-6 to narrow Alcona's lead to four points. In the fourth quarter Alcona buckled down at both ends of the court putting the brakes on Rogers City to secure the 48-41 win.

"We won tonight but we are still not playing like we should. We have to be more consistent," Coach Cole said.

The Lady Tigers were led by Karina Cole with 20 points, nine rebounds, two assists and three steals. Kendra Cole had eight points and four rebounds. Harmon had five points and four rebounds. Walen made five points, grabbed four rebounds and five assists.

The junior varsity team picked up a 54-22 win over the Hurons. Leading scorers for Alcona were LaFave with 12 points.

On Thursday, Feb. 13 Alcona played host to the Hillman Tigers for their second North Star League match up this season. Alcona never slowed down offensively after getting a comfortable 15-5 lead. Hillman fought back but their efforts were short lived when Alcona went on a 10-0 run securing the 37-20 lead going into halftime.

"We played much better defense tonight especially against this very aggressive Hillman team. We had more energy than expected after playing three games this week," said coach Brad Cole.

The Lady Tigers dominated the floor defensively in the second half shutting down Hillman at every turn. Alcona's offensive lineup delivered 22 points while holding Hillman to eight points. Alcona finished the third period with a 55-28 lead. With Alcona's starters on the bench, Hillman rallied in the fourth quarter but Alcona held on to earn the 67-46 win.

Senior Karina Cole led all scorers with 30 points, six rebounds and six steals. Kendra Cole added 10 points, six rebounds and three steals. Megan Quick had six points and snatched up eight steals. Alissa Terpstra had five points, Samantha Schopfer and Turner Somers had four points each.

The junior varsity team also secured a 55-29 win over Hillman. Leading scores for Alcona were Kendra LaFave with 15 points. Madison Lane and Keilee Elmer each added 10 points.

The Lady Tigers are now 15-3 in the season. They played at home Monday, Feb. 17 against Whittemore Prescott and are on the road Thursday, Feb. 20 in Oscoda against the Owls. The junior varsity game starts at 6 p.m. followed by the varsity game.

Alcona drew a bye for the first round of district play scheduled for Monday, Feb. 24. The Lady Tigers will play the winner of Monday's game -- either Tawas or Oscoda -- on Wednesday, Feb. 26. The winner of Wednesday's game plays Friday, Feb. 28 against the winner of the other half of the bracket.

Franklin took first place in his weight category. Betz placed third and Parkinson placed first in their respective weight categories. All three are freshman and will be competing in state competition on March 8. They are coached by Terry Franklin. Photo by Pat Brussel.

and the qualification of the aide. To find someone, ask for referrals through friends, doctor's offices or hospital discharge planners, or visit medicare.gov/home-healthcompare.

If you need additional guidance, consider hiring a geriatric care manager (caremanager.org) who can help you manage and facilitate your mom's care. Care managers generally charge between $100 and $200 per hour.

• Take care of yourself: Make your own health a priority. Being a caregiver is a big job that can cause emotional and physical stress and lead to illness and depression. The only way you can provide the care your mother needs is to make sure you stay healthy.

Messing with Sasquatch

By Warren MacNeill

Big news coming across the Internet — Sasquatch sighted in Midland, Mich. The report states that several years ago a Midland man awoke the shape-shifting and pizza-eating Bigfoot spirit by banging sticks on a tree. After the awakening, Sasquatch has been wandering his 17-acre spread breaking branches and folding pizza boxes.

Could happen, I suppose, if not Midland, why not Midland? After the reported sighting, the reporter set out a bait station of pyramid shaped pizza boxes with sticky tape so he could get a hair sample. He also complained that authorities will not do DNA sampling on scat he found because they only do DNA testing for criminal cases. The Michigan State Police said, at this time Sasquatch, or any of his aliases, was not wanted in any criminal investigations.

Speaking of Sasquatch, there is a series of very popular beef jerky commercials on TV. If you add to the fact that jerky is thought by some to be the perfect food; it's made even more popular with the Alpena location for filming of one of their commercials. It is advertising brilliance for these folks to use the quiet, hapless Sasquatch in their commercials. If you haven't seen any of them, the premise is: Sasquatch is out doing his thing, minding his own business, when a couple of guys, eating jerky do something obnoxious to him. The beast, in turn, pummels the guys and completely ruins their day.

Notice that I said guys. I have found that guys and girls react quite differently to most situations. I would bet five pounds of jerky that if they put a co-ed focus group together and watched the commercial, the girls would come up with glaringly different reactions than the guys.

The girls would watch the entire Sasquatch vs Antagonist interaction and their response would be; "morons..." "why didn't they take a picture so they would have proof of his existence?" The girls would shake their heads, using rational thinking, and with a little smirk, they would imagine their male counterparts getting their carcasses bludgeoned.

The female looks at a situation, evaluates the dangers, weighs the consequences and strikes the best course of action.

The guys will use the same basic thought pattern of: Perceive, evaluate, weigh consequences and initiate a plan, well, sort of. They just do it from a different area of their brain. The male will watch that commercial, evaluate their brethren's flaws and have the reaction of, "I see what they did wrong, I could do it better."

I am not trying to step over any social boundary lines; I am just stating a fact. Raising both a girl and a boy, I am whole heartedly on the side of boys and girls are equal, but not at all the same. A fact illustrated by the writer Dave Barry in an observation he made after making the statement, "Throw a rowing machine off a fifth story balcony." The female would listen to that statement and, after much thought and evaluation will say, "rowing machine? Why?" The male's immediate reaction, however was, "rowing machine... cool!" Then they will try to remember if they saw a rowing machine at their last St. Vincent pilgrimage.

Girls also learn differently than boys. My experience with raising both of them is that if you take a young girl and a young boy, stand them in front of a wood stove and say "hot," the girl will look at the stove, evaluate the information and say "hot." The boy will also look at the stove and say "hot," mainly because he knows that's what you want to hear. Within a very short time you will be running the boy's little, scorched fingers under cold water while he is screaming "HOT, HOT, HOT." The girl will be standing there watching this process with a smirk on her face saying, "hot" in her little inherited, condescending voice.

Growing up in northern Michigan farm country, my opinions were formed by my experiences and what I saw or did. To illustrate farm country kids' differences, I would like to know the last time anyone has seen a group of girls standing around an electric fence challenging each other to grab it, or timing each other to see how long they can hold on to it. If they ever did, I am more than confident the game didn't contain even the thought of having one of their girlfriends send an arc of urine or a long string of connected spittle onto the fence. I would venture to say that almost every boy who grew up in farm country has experienced the temporary loss of eyesight and a little thing called spontaneous utterance that follows both above electric fence encounters.

I am not saying that my thoughts are absolute, what I will say is that spending a career watching people recreate, I have never come across a group of females standing around a large hole in the ice looking down at the roof of one of their trucks. I can also say that I have never come across a group of girls on ORVs encouraging one of their own to jump a crevice while being coached by the one on crutches and pain killers.

What I have noticed with the same scenario with guys, there is usually at least one girl at this type of outing... boys like someone to perform for. She is usually attempting to be the voice of reason by saying silly things like, "You know, if you go faster, you will not be able to stop before hitting that group of white pine," or, "did you not just see what just happened to Eddie?"

The other day on the news I watched, with dismay, as an author was promoting her new book called, "Men as We Know Them are Obsolete." I listened to her say... well, actually, no I didn't. But I am sure it had to do with them being better off without us, or maybe it could have been something else, I don't know. The fact remains, we need each other. The boys need at least one girl that can be a credible witness to the carnage that I am left to investigate. Sometimes, their voice of reason will sneak through and they can stop further bloodshed after the first miscalculation.

And, the girls need the boys... if for no other reason than to give them film opportunities for "You Tube," or maybe for Sasquatch bait so they can take pictures and make a million dollars, or as the Midland article states, $10 million. As for bait, boys are at least as good as a pyramid folded pizza box and sticky tape.

I love the commercial's ending where they always close with, "feed your wild side." When we are out there "feeding our wild side," I am going to ask that you do me a big favor. If a helmet, life jacket or seat belt is required, please wear it. We are in snowmobile season and I reviewed the accident statistics from last year. Almost every serious snowmobile accident involved two factors — speed and alcohol.

STOP DOING THAT.
Like in a Sasquatch bludgeoning, almost every incident that I have responded to has one thing in common — it would have been preventable by using a little common sense, and a little forethought. Stories of adventure or misadventures are much more fun to tell when you are there to readjust the facts.

Be safe.

Organizations Organization Notes

VFW Post No. 6754 Ladies Auxiliary

Twelve members were present for the February meeting. Emma Liske read the minutes and notes from Sally Liske, Florence Timmreck and Lucille Murray thanking the auxiliary for the Christmas fruit baskets. Sandy Light read the treasurer's report. Members were advised that Cheri Buchler is in Tendercare-Greenview. After a short discussion, it was determined that Frances Ziesman would be contacted about a member's illness or hospitalization and that there would be a limit for the cost of flowers.

Park Woodland Restoration

A project to restore the woodland at Oscoda's River Bank Park is in the beginning stages. The park is forested with dead ash trees and a lot of invasive species. If left unchecked this park would quickly become a degraded and difficult to maintain forest. The Alcona and Iosco Conservation districts want to ensure that this does not become the case. To ensure this park's sustainable future, the conservation districts are organizing the restoration of this woodland.

Help is needed from the public in solving the problems that face this park. According to conservation district forester Andrew Beebe, there are a lot of man-hours worth of work to be done at the park. "This is an outreach notice aimed at establishing a list of people who would be interested in volunteering with the conservation districts during this project. We do not have concrete dates set for work just yet, but we hope to begin serious efforts once the snow melts," he said.

"We will need folks to pull weeds, cut invasive shrubs, very safely apply controlled herbicides, plant trees, and perform various other duties. If you are interested in assisting with this project please let us know," Beebe said. To volunteer or for more information, contact Beebe at (989) 335-1056 or e-mail him at Andrew.beebe@macd.org.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Grazing the Winter Sky

This is the time of the year to see the winter constellations dominating the early evening sky right after dark. Orion with its three belt stars pointing southward to Sirius, the brightest star of the night and northward towards Aldebaran, the orange eye of Taurus the Bull, are only part of the cyclic mix. Winter star patterns lie above and to the left of this anchor assembly. Begin with the left shoulder of Orion (reddish Betelgeuse) and his right knee (blue Rigel). Let them guide you upward to a truly dazzling planet, Jupiter, which outshines Sirius by almost threefold, some 40 degrees below. Binoculars, correctly focused, should reveal at least two of Jupiter's four bright Galilean moons if they are far enough away from the planet. However, don't stop at Jove. Continue onward and you will pass just right of two first magnitude stars, Castor and Pollux, the heads of the fabled Gemini Twins. Castor was mortal, and Pollux was immortal. Their bodies demonstrate this nicely with Castor's stretched arms and abdomen, accented awkwardly by his short stubby legs. Pollux, on the other hand, stands straight and tall except for his slight bowlegged appearance. From brighter suburban locales, the Twins may look more like a rectangular box than two brothers supporting each other. Below Pollux sits Procyon, the alpha star of Canis Minor, the Little Dog. One winter constellation which lies to Gemini's right and above is Auriga the Charioteer. Capella, its most famous star and the six brightest luminary of the night, is near the zenith by 8 p.m. Four other stars, about the brightness of the Big Dipper, complete what looks like the body of a chariot. To Auriga's right are the "leftover" stars of autumn while left of Gemini are the fresh, newbie stars of the spring sky, heralding warmer, much longer days ahead. A star map can be found online at www.astronomy.org. Click on the StarWatch button when the page loads.

Organization Notes

Alcona County Chamber of Commerce

The general membership meeting for the Alcona County Chamber of Commerce was held January 8 at the Harrisville branch of the Alcona County Library.

Present: Rich Gillies, vice president; Christy Holmes, treasurer; Karen Sanderson, secretary; Jim Pyne, trustee; Kevin Boyat, trustee; Ed Toombs, trustee; Jeanne Meskus, prior chairman; Judy Labadie from Coming Attractions; Judy Pyne from Harrisville Arts Council; Paul Labadie from Country Cone; and Elizabeth McNichols, from Harrisville Yoga.

Rich called the meeting to order at 6:07 p.m. with the "Pledge of Allegiance followed by the introduction of membership.

Treasurer's report: Christy reported that a donation was included with a dues payment and the donation will be deposited in the fireworks account. There are 59 paid members and 19 unpaid in the chamber. A reminder letter will be sent for dues payment and if not paid by the end of February the business will be removed from the roster as well as the website. Motion by Sanderson, support by Meskus, to approve the treasurer's report. Motion carried.

Old business: Christmas in the Village --there were 38 tables this year; a bit smaller than previous years but well attended. Set up and take down was exceptional. Antique Show will meet in February. Wine and Food Festival scheduled meeting Tuesday, January 14. Fireworks committee will begin in May with correspondence sent out. Texas Hold'Em so far still a go.

The business Christmas lighting contest for 2013 was won by Boyat Farms. Second place went to Dragonfly Gallery and third place to Northern Accents. Thanks to all businesses who participated.

New business: Executive board members are asked to bring names of prospective new members to next board meeting. A personal contact and informational material will be distributed to potential new members. Call by the chair to adjourn at 6:45 p.m.

Simple Feeder
One of the best feeders I have found is Mother Earth. Toss on the ground a seed mix of white proso millet, safflower seed, sunflower chips and peanuts, and you will be delighted when woodpeckers, cardinals, wrens, titmice and sparrows show up. It always makes me smile.
