Oscoda resident candidate for House of Representatives seat

Rozanne Curley of Oscoda is running as a Democrat for the 106th House of Representatives seat.

"I am a fourth generation of my mother's family that settled here from Poland in the late 1800s to be farmers. I still live on the farm property in Oscoda. My father's family worked in the lumber camps.

"Next door to my grandparent's farm, where I was raised, my parents had a small paint contracting business. All of my family worked on the farm and in the painting business.

"I have one son, Justin, 42 years old. He works with his father and son in the tree service business. Following in his grandfather, Harry Curley's footsteps, Justin is the chairman of the AuSable River Canoe Marathon."

"I am a retired school teacher of 32 years and a recipient of the prestigious Golden Apple Award and $10,000 from Governor Jennifer Granholm. Before teaching I was involved with children in the Head Start program.

"I have a special love for my family, community, our beautiful state and its environment. I helped to start can-and-bottle recycling. I feel recycling to be an important part of taking care of our environment. I was a volunteer for the Lake Huron Fishing Association for many years. Happiness is being in any kind of healthy environment.

"I have been the chairperson of the Iosco County Democratic Party since 2006. I established the first headquarters in 2008. Together we turned Iosco blue for Obama and in 2012 helped Nichol Palumbo become our new prosecutor."

"I am a member of the Democratic Women's Caucus, State Central and its executive committee. I have worked hard for many candidates and most have won, now it is my time to roll up my sleeves and get to work for the 106th.

"I was involved in the March for Jobs in Detroit and the Right to Work for Less protest at the capitol. I rode the UAW bus down to Lansing and on the way back it was very quiet. Everyone knew we had suffered a ma-

Miss Michigan has roots in Alcona County

By Carlee Campbell
Staff Writer

The newly crowned Miss Michigan works to balance her duties, nonprofit organization and visiting family in Lincoln -- all while preparing to compete for the title of Miss America in September.

KT Maviglia of Dundee, Mich. and Miss Washtenaw County was recently crowned Miss Michigan over 33 other contestants on June 14 in Muskegon, Mich.

Because her father, Anthony J. Maviglia, grew up in Lincoln, KT has spent much time in and around the area where her grandmother still owns property on McGregor Road and aunt, Mary McCallough, still resides.

She grew up in Dundee, Mich. in Monroe County, never having aspirations or interest in competing in pageants. After graduating from high school in 2010, KT went on to attend the University of Michigan where she graduated in May with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree.

KT's mother, Shawn, said that she has received a lot of support from her alma mater and the surrounding community. Seventy-three people filled her section at the Miss Michigan pageant cheering her on and celebrating when she was crowned.

"I wasn't shocked that she won," Shawn said. "KT was as prepared as she could be and had a peace about her because of it."

KT, 21, began competing in pageants at 18 hoping to win scholarships to help fund her college education. Winning the title of Miss Washtenaw County this year gave KT her third chance at competing in the Miss Michigan pageant.

But her determination doesn't end there.

At 19, KT began a nonprofit foundation, the KT Maviglia Foundation for Hearing Disabilities. The foundation provides hearing aids and assistance to children who are hearing impaired.

KT is hearing impaired herself and wears two hearing aids. Understanding the Miss Michigan KT Maviglia expenses that come along with the disability, she created a platform for pageant competition that is "near and dear to her heart," according to her mother.

The idea was the easy part, finding sponsors and knowing how to get things started was the hard part.

According to Shawn Maviglia, Monroe, Mich. has a large population of people with hearing disabilities, so finding people interested in supporting the foundation wasn't as tricky, it was finding enough funds to purchase the hearing aids that was a struggle. A single hearing aid can cost anywhere between $2,000 and $5,000 and most insurances don't cover it.

With assistance from her family and sponsors to run the foundation, KT still works

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
 I would like to recognize Pastor Ernest Ruemenapp from the Family Heritage Baptist Church for receiving the privilege of giving the invocation at the opening of the session at the Michigan House of Representatives. This is a true honor for him and for our community to have one of our own chosen to represent the 106th District.
 I listened to the invocation online and was amazed by the well thought out and flawlessly delivered message. His message called for good stewardship, righteousness, loving your neighbor, protecting the innocent and justice. His message recognized the protectors of liberty and their sacrifices. He spoke against the silencing threats from the immersing fascist/socialist movements that attack free speech. He challenged the law makers to have the courage to fight for liberty against fascism. The message also called for doing what is right even if it's uncomfortable or unpopular to do so and he challenged them to be accountable for their actions.

 It is shameful that some people in our community choose to attack his stand for freedom, liberty and the American way. I'm embarrassed for our community by the second class actions of those who choose to verbally attack his children for his stand. Although not at all surprising is the venom from this camp, it is still disappointing.

 I also want to show my support and let him know that the good and gentle majority support the message.
 I want to thank him for what he has done, and what he does for our community and also thank him for reminding us that we must always make a stand against tyranny and fascism or we will lose our freedoms.
 I would recommend listening to this invocation and judge for themselves at www.familyheritagebaptistchurch.org. Scroll down and click on the invocation tab.

To the Editor,
 After reading your editorial, "Clarifying incorrect statements" concerning Paul Peterson's recent letter regarding Pastor Ruemenapp and Representative Peter Pettalia, I found it concerning that Paul Peterson would submit another disrespectful attack letter guilt by association on these men.
 It should be noted that Paul Peterson is the former chairman of the Alcona County Democratic Party and is not running for any office. His extreme views are his opinions, but may therefore still be a reflection of the Democratic party and those who are running with that party. I feel it is irrelevant and a waste of paper to print this kind of inflammatory propaganda.

Mr. Kennedy is the person running against incumbent Peter Pettalia for the state House of Representatives. I, for one, would like to hear from Mr. Kennedy on what issues he is concerned about and his direction for solutions to those issues.
 We get enough mudslinging and misinformation from the national media. I would hope that on the local level that we can get better information. After the primary election you could give the Democratic challenger and Mr. Pettalia the opportunity to provide you with a position paper on what each man feels are the top three issues facing northeastern Michigan and the solutions to the issues. We need a good way to vet the person who will be representing us in Lansing.

 At a minimum we should at least identify who we are and the groups we represent.

 Harrisville
 Chair Alcona County Republicans

(Editor's Note: In addition to Mr. Kennedy, two other Democratic candidates are running for the 106th House of Representatives seat. They all will be on the August 5 primary ballot. Whoever wins that election will be on the general election ballot in November. All three candidates have been contacted by the Review with questions regarding their candidacy. Their answers will be published in an upcoming issue.)

To the Editor,
 In a recent letter to the editor Paul Peterson asked the following question, "Does Representative Pettalia agree with Pastor Ruemenapp?" I happen to know both of these men. Pastor Ruemenapp is my father, and Representative Pettalia is my friend. I will therefore offer an answer to Peterson's question.

 Pastor Ruemenapp is a Baptist, and Representative Pettalia is a Catholic. It is therefore quite obvious that these men have some differences in beliefs and practice. However, there is more that unites these men than divides them. Both of these men are strongly committed to religious liberty for all people. Both of these men would be willing to defend to the death the other's right to the free exercise of their religion.
 It appears that Paul Peterson was trying to discredit Representative Pettalia by orchestrating a smear campaign against my father, who was invited to deliver the invocation at the state capital on May 20. It is also abundantly clear that Peterson wishes to silence the voice of conservative evangelical Christianity within our government. Peterson's ignoble efforts seem to be nothing more than tyranny and fascism on display in our own backyard.

 I have recently noticed that candidate Robert Kennedy's propaganda is displayed all over Peterson's place of business. Could it be that Peterson is trying to discredit Representative Pettalia in order to help his comrade Robert Kennedy who is running as a Democrat against Representative Pettalia?
 Now, I have a question for candidate Robert Kennedy. Do you agree with the reprehensible efforts of Paul Peterson to silence the voice of conservative evangelical Christianity in our government? The voters of northeast Michigan know quite well where Representative Peter Pettalia stands on the issue of religious liberty. But where does Robert Kennedy stand?

"Best Small Towns..."

Yahoo travel editor Laura Begley listed the "7 Best Small Towns for the Fourth of July" and Harrisville was number four. The first three were Chatham, Mass., Bristol, Rhode Island and Independence, Iowa. This is what was written about Harrisville: "On the eastern shore of Lake Huron, Harrisville is a quintessential Midwestern hamlet, with some of the finest boating and salmon fishing around. But its quirky Independence Day festivities are what make headlines, notably the annual Fourth of July Duck Race that will have you humming, "Rubber Duckie, you're the one." Hundreds of the bright yellow toys are raced down Mill Creek. It's followed by a kids' parade at 1 p.m. and, come dusk, a massive fireworks display."

While the time of the duck race was off by a few hours, the rest of it was just fine. The other three towns listed after Harrisville were: Natchitoches, La., Prescott, Ariz. and Aptos, California.

and increasing real estate values. To continue to bring these benefits to Michigan communities, the Alcona Conservation District is partnering with the Michigan Arbor Day Alliance in support of its Go Green Youth Challenge Tree Planting Grants.

The Michigan Arbor Day Alliance's Go Green Youth Challenge (GGYC) engages Michigan youth in environmental stewardship, community development, and service-learning through a statewide effort to plant trees in Michigan. Children, pre-K through 12th grade, are challenged to collect coins as an individual, classroom, or club each spring. The coins collected fund community tree plantings and program outreach efforts.

In the spirit of the GGYC, the Michigan Arbor Day Alliance offers local units of government, public educational institutions, public libraries, non-profit organizations, neighborhood associations, churches, and tribal governments the opportunity to apply for a grant for up to $2,000 to plant trees. Grant applications are available online at www.mi-arbordayalliance.com. Applications are due by mail no later than August 15. Funded tree planting projects must be completed by December 31.

Some of the foundation's biggest supporters are the Michigan Lion's Club and Lieutenant Governor Brian Cally. Other medical offices and Monroe's Mercy Memorial Hospital have sent in donations to further the foundation's efforts.

Recently, she was able to help a child in her hometown by purchasing the first of two hearing aids.

KT is working within the legislative process with Lieutenant Governor Cally in co-writing a bill that will improve insurance coverage and assistance to children with hearing disabilities.

In the time leading up to the Miss America pageant in September, Shawn said she hopes the foundation will get more exposure and awareness will spread.

KT will also use that time to prepare for the competition by working on her fitness, practicing with an interview coach and perfecting her talent, which is dancing, all while living with a host family in Muskegon, Mich. and performing her duties as Miss Michigan with public appearances, dedication ceremonies and speeches.

"We hope she brings home the crown," Shawn said. "But we're incredibly proud of her, no matter the outcome."

A dinner held on June 12 at the Twin Lakes Masonic Temple was in honor of the Mason of the Year for 2013 Norm Buckler (center). In December 2013, the members of Alcona Lodge No. 292 elected Buckler for this honor in recognition of his service during 2013. Buckler has been active in ritual work both in Alcona Lodge, as well as traveling to assist other lodges. He was also active in community service activities such as blood drives, Michigan Masonic Child ID programs and helping to deliver Thanksgiving food baskets and Christmas toys (which were collected by the Vietnam Veterans of America - Alpena Chapter) to Alcona County families in need. Buckler has served the lodge as a junior deacon, junior warden, senior warden and master. SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Low cost and free cell phone options for seniors

Dear Savvy Senior,
What are the cheapest cell phone options available today to seniors living on a shoestring budget? I only need it for occasional calls.

Seldom Calling Senior

Dear Seldom,

For financially challenged seniors who only want a cell phone for emergency purposes or occasional calls, there are a number of inexpensive no contract plans you can get. Or, depending on your income level, there are also free cell phones and monthly airtime minutes you may qualify for. Here's where to find some of the cheapest deals.

One way infrequent cell phone users can save money is with a prepaid cell phone - also known as pay-as-you-go phones. With a prepaid phone there's no contract, no fixed monthly bills, no credit checks and no hidden costs that come with traditional cell phone plans. With this type of service, you buy a special prepaid phone then pre-purchase a certain amount of minutes (for talk or text) that must be used within a specified period of time.

While most major carriers like AT&T and Verizon offer inexpensive prepaid plans, so do independents like Net10, Cricket and Virgin Mobile, some of the best deals are offered by TracFone (tracfone.com, (800) 867-7183) and T-Mobile (t-mobile.com, (800) 866-2453).

TracFone has phones that start as low as $10 and call plans that cost under $7 per month. And T-Mobile has a super-cheap 30-minute plan for $10, and minutes don't expire for 90 days. That averages out to $3.33 per month. If you need more talk time, they also offer an annual plan where $100 gets you 1,000 minutes that are good for a full year. T-Mobile does, however, charge a one-time activation of $35.

Or, if you would rather have a no-contract senior-friendly phone with big buttons and simplified features, the Doro PhoneEasy 618 sold through Consumer Cellular (consumercellular.com, (888) 345-5509) is probably your cheapest option. It costs $60 for the phone, with calling plans that start at $10 per month.

If your income is low enough, you also need to check into the Lifeline Assistance Program. This is a government-sponsored program that subsidizes wireless (and landline) companies who in turn provide free cellphones and around 250 minutes of free monthly airtime and texts to low-income Americans. (Some programs in some states provide more minutes, some less, and some charge a small monthly fee.)

There are currently around 15 million Americans who have a free cell phone through the Lifeline program, but millions more are eligible.

The free phones and minutes are provided by a number of national prepaid wireless companies like Safelink and Assurance Wireless, along with a host of other regional carriers throughout the country.

Many states have more than one wireless company that provides the free phones and minutes. If you are eligible, the free cell phone you'll receive is a basic phone that also offers text messaging, voice mail, call waiting and caller ID.

To qualify, you'll need to show that you're receiving certain types of government benefits, such as Medicaid, Food Stamps, SSI, home energy assistance or public housing assistance. Or, that your household income is at or below 135 or 150 percent of the Federal Poverty Guidelines - it varies by state. The 135 percent poverty level is currently $15,754 for singles and $21,235 for couples. The 150 percent level is $17,505/singles, $23,595/couples.

To find out if you're eligible, or to locate the wireless companies that provide Lifeline government cell phones in your state, visit lifelinesupport.org. You can also learn more at freegovernmentcellphones.net.

Sunrise Side Wine and Food Festival celebrates 20th anniversary

By Carlee Campbell
Staff Writer

Alcona County's most popular summer festival is back again for its 20th year in a row bringing together wineries and people from all over the state.

The annual Sunrise Side Wine and Food Festival will have more wine, beer, food, and entertainment for the family than ever before. This year's list of vendors boast 14 wineries, four breweries and five different food vendors.

Running from noon until 6 p.m. on Saturday, June 19, the festival promises variety in everything from food to drink, a cool breeze off the lake and door prizes donated by local businesses. An art show and the sounds of smooth folk rock will complete the "dinner and a show" atmosphere under the "big tent," as Kim Megoran performs a mixture of music and art as Love Street Live throughout the day.

A popular event in the community since its inception in 1994, the festival draws in more supporters, distributors and visitors from inside and outside of the community each year according to Judie Labadie, a member of the committee in charge of the festival.

Currently, 100 volunteers from Alcona County and the Alcona County Chamber of Commerce have signed up to help accommodate the expected 1,200 visitors.

Mark Larson, manager of Modern Craft Winery in Harrisville and the chairperson of this year's event, said the event is "a bit large for a person to do by themselves" and the support of the community is essential.

This is Larson's first time on the committee to organize the festival. He said the planning was not as intimidating as he thought it would be thanks to help from his experienced committee members including Jim Pyne, Barb Aldred and Ilona Brietmeyer, who organized the very first festival in 1994 after having it suggested by a local wine dealer.

The committee begins preparing almost a year in advance, making small tweaks and changes along the way. The goal is to improve the overall experience for patrons, which Larson said is the biggest reason for the longtime success.

"People have a good time," Larson said. "We have something that appeals to everyone."

A few of the Michigan wineries featured will be Thunder Bay from Alpena, Black Star Farms from Traverse City, Seasons of the North from Indian River and Dizzy Daisy from Bad Axe. Bells, New Holland, Cheboygan and Founders will represent the craft beer and breweries side of the festival.

The cost of admittance is $9 and a valid I.D. must be shown to drink. All ages are welcome.

Area libraries adopt new virtual catalog

A new virtual catalog was released at many area libraries on July 14, which will make searching for and finding the books and other materials easier, faster, and more fun.

The libraries involved are part of the PAC2 library consortium, which include Alcona County Library, Boyne District Library, Charlevoix Public Library, Cheboygan area public library, Crooked Tree District Library, Mackinaw Area Public Libraries, Montmorency County public libraries, Petoskey District Library and Presque Isle district libraries.

The catalog enables patrons to keep track of their borrowing history, contribute ratings and reviews, create favorites lists or topic guides to share with others (or keep private), get personalized recommendations and even catalog their own home library. Each time a patron creates a list or adds comments, it helps build a better catalog for all to enjoy, according to Carol Luck, director of the Alcona County Library. Privacy settings can help patrons control how much or how little of their content others can see.

A better search function makes it easy to find items. Patrons will be able to narrow a search by publication date, age level, format (including the ebooks and audiobooks that are available through the Up North Digital Collection), and other facets for quick and precise results. She explained searches can be made for what is available on the shelf at the home library, or all libraries in the system. Items will be sent through the library delivery service to the patron's home library. There is a "pass-through" search function that connects to the Michigan E-Library (MELCat) for those needing items not available from the local consortium.

"The staff is excited to share this innovative, user friendly, informative new catalog with our community," Luck said.

For more information, contact the Harrisville branch of the Alcona County Library at (989) 724-6796 or www.alcona.lib.mi.us.

American Life in Poetry

By Ted Kooser

U.S. Poet Laureate, 2004-2006

The poems of Leo Dangel, who lives in South Dakota, are known for their clarity and artful understatement. Here he humbly honors the memory of one moment of deep intimacy between a mother and her son.

In Memoriam

In the early afternoon my mother was doing the dishes. I climbed onto the kitchen table, I suppose to play, and fell asleep there. I was drowsy and awake, though, as she lifted me up, carried me on her arms into the living room, and placed me on the davenport, but I pretended to be asleep the whole time, enjoying the luxury—I was too big for such a privilege and just old enough to form my only memory of her carrying me. She's still moving me to a softer place.

American Life in Poetry is made possible by The Poetry Foundation (www.poetryfoundation.org), publisher of Poetry magazine. It is also supported by the Department of English at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Poem copyright ©2013 by Leo Dangel from his most recent book of poems, Saving Singletrees, WSC Press, 2013.

Health department encourages residents to "Fight the Bite"

Area residents are encouraged to "Fight the Bite" by preventing tick and mosquito bites as individuals spend more time outdoors.

"I urge all residents to review the information below and to take the necessary precautions to prevent tick and mosquito bites, especially at this time of year," said Denise Bryan, Health Officer for District Health Department No. 2.

She explained that mosquitos can carry illnesses such as West Nile virus (WNV) and eastern equine encephalitis (EEE) and ticks can carry Lyme disease and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Mosquito and tick-borne diseases can cause mild symptoms or severe infections requiring hospitalization and even death.

According to Michigan Department of Community Health (MDCH), individuals can protect from mosquito bites by remembering to:

- Avoid mosquito bites: Use insect repellent when outdoors especially from dusk to dawn. Look for Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)-labeled products containing active ingredients, such as DEET, Picaridin, or oil of lemon eucalyptus. Reapply as needed according to label directions. Use nets or fans around outdoor eating areas to keep mosquitoes away.

- Mosquito-proof homes: Fix or install window and door screens and cover or eliminate empty containers with standing water where mosquitoes can lay eggs.

- Help the community: Report dead birds to Michigan's Emerging Diseases website (www.michigan.gov/emergingdiseases) to help track WNV and support community-based mosquito control programs.

- Vaccinate horses against West Nile virus and eastern equine encephalitis virus.

In regard to ticks, MDCH recommended the following steps to try to prevent tick bites:

- Avoid tick-infested areas. This is especially important in May, June, and July. If anyone is in tick infested areas, walk in the center of trails to avoid contact with overgrown grass, brush, and leaf litter at trail edges.

- Use insect repellent. Spray repellent containing DEET or Picaridin on clothes and on exposed skin. Individuals can also treat clothes (especially pants, socks, and shoes) with permethrin, which kills ticks on contact or buy clothes that are pre-treated. Permethrin can also be used on tents and some camping gear. Do not use permethrin directly on skin. Always follow the manufacturer's instructions when applying any repellents.

- Bathe or shower. Bathe or shower as soon as possible after coming indoors (preferably within two hours) to wash off and more easily find ticks. Ticks can get a ride indoors on an individual's clothes. After being outdoors, wash and dry clothing at a high temperature to kill any ticks that may remain on clothing.

- Perform daily tick checks. Always check for ticks after being outdoors, even in one's own yard. Ticks must usually be attached for at least a day before they can transmit the bacteria that cause Lyme disease, so early removal can reduce the risk of infection. To remove an attached tick, grasp the tick firmly and as closely to the skin as possible. With a steady motion, pull the tick's body away from the skin. Do not be alarmed if the tick's mouthparts remain in the skin. Cleanse the area with an antiseptic.

For more information related to mosquito and tick bites, or any of the programs offered District Health Department No. 2, visit the webpage at www.dhd2.org or call (800) 504-2650.

Garden of the Month

Lisa and Bob Turek of Harrisville were chosen as the Sunrise Garden Club's Garden of the Month for their creative use of plant and landscape materials. From a lawn of Liriodendron (lily turf) to a sidewalk of recycled Harrisville sidewalks for their pathways, with thyme filling the cracks between the steps. They have made arbors and fences of branches and twigs and many other "found" objects throughout the garden. This is truly a garden to celebrate for its originality. They will be awarded a gift certificate from Northeastern Window and Door for their hard work and creativity. Photo by Cheryl Peterson.

Mikado couple finds happiness working in the community

By Carlee Campbell
Staff Writer

Rocking in recliners in their Mikado home, Rita Sands and her husband, Jesus "Yogi" Yruegas, tease each other and laugh over their 25 years together including all the mishaps and awkward moments they wouldn't trade for anything.

Born and raised in separate parts of the country, the couple's serendipitous meeting in 1988 wasn't something from the movies -- it was better.

In an Oscoda bar, the two were out with friends when they caught each other's eye. It wasn't love at first sight.

"It was darts at first sight," Yruegas said laughing. The pair recognized each other's skill and a mutual admiration was born, which grew into something more. However, they didn't get married until 2009, neither one seeing the point. Sands said that even though she wakes up with a ring on her finger "it's just another day."

Their meeting was a stroke of fate as Yruegas had only been to the area once before while serving in the military and stationed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

The choice to settle down in Mikado was an easier decision for the couple.

Sands was born and raised in Mikado where she shared a home with her parents and three siblings. Yruegas was raised in the southwestern Texas town of Eagle Pass, though much larger than Mikado, for the area, it had a small town atmosphere.

While growing up, Sands found an interest in playing pool. She nurtured her hobby and taught herself shots and tricks, slowly building up her skills until she felt confident enough to join the Alcona Women's Pool League. As high school graduation approached, Sands wanted to get out of her small town and experience life somewhere different, somewhere bigger.

She made her way down to Flint, Mich. and worked as a secretary and bookkeeper. She quickly learned that city life wasn't for her as it was "too fast." Her hometown called to her. She returned there after a few years and worked as a waitress in bars. Eventually, Sands began what she described as "a career in factories." In 1978 she bought her house in Mikado.

While Sands was traveling around the state, Yruegas was serving in the Air Force traveling around the world. Enlisting on his 18th birthday, Yruegas spent over 20 years in service, making a stop at Wurtsmith in Oscoda during his time in the service.

When he returned home, Yruegas realized his native Eagle Pass, Texas no longer felt like home and he relocated to Oscoda.

With experiences in bigger areas and cities, both preferred the close-knit community and the slower pace of life in Mikado.

After several years together, they became more involved in the community when Sands decided to run for county clerk and Yruegas as deputy clerk.

During their time together, the pair has traveled all over the country to participate in dart tournaments for Yruegas who is a nationally ranked dart thrower -- a skill he found and developed while serving in the military. Sands accompanied him as often as possible; making sure that Yruegas didn't neglect his well being.

"I would get so in the zone

(during the competition) that I'd forget to eat unless she was there to hand me a sandwich," Yruegas said.

When he began to back away from the competitive circle in the early 2000s, Yruegas spent more time playing recreationally and supporting Sands' billiards team.

Frequent trips were also made to Texas to visit with Yruegas' family. Sands said the first visit was the most memorable of them all. Prior to that trip an accident at a softball game led to a flying bat that gave Sands two black eyes. A five day drive left a sunburn on half her face. Looking back, she can barely finish telling the story because she laughs so hard.

Yet, through some of these embarrassing mishaps Sands still looks at her life with satisfaction, more than happy to settle down with Yruegas in Mikado and work in the community she loves with the man she loves.

Now Sands and Yruegas spend their days working for the township in smaller roles, planning their beloved event "Mikado Days," working on their home and deciding what Yruegas will cook for dinner.

The debate is ongoing whether Sands' clowns or Yruegas' plaques will grace the walls of their living room and office. For the time being, Sands has won as her collection lines the shelves, with a small space near her husband's office for her pool cues and awards. For now, Yruegas' achievements take their place in boxes and along the garage wall, too many to display all at once.

The couple still maintain harmony after all these years together even when discussing new flooring in their home and how to find a way to support the pool table that resides in the middle of their living room.

Huron Pines open house to discuss watershed improvements

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

An open house is planned for anyone who enjoys spending time with nature in northeast Michigan, especially those who are concerned about forests, lakes, rivers and local economy.

The Huron Pines Organization, in partnership with the Pine River Van Etten Lake Coalition (PRVEL), has planned the open house for Thursday, July 24 between noon and 2 p.m. at the Greenbush Township Hall. The topic of discussion will be the Au Sable River watershed and projects that Huron Pines has planned to enhance the watershed as a whole.

The Au Sable River Watershed, located in the heart of lower Michigan, spreads through eight counties; Alcona, Iosco, Oscoda, Montmorency, Crawford, Roscommon, Ogemaw and Ostego. It runs over 130 miles from central Michigan to Lake Huron and includes 476 miles of streams.

Samuel Prentice, Huron Pines Watershed Project Manager, said the watershed affects just about everyone who lives in or enjoys the lower north of Michigan. "The watershed benefits anyone who hikes, fishes, hunts, or does any kind of outdoor recreation activity involving nature. If the resources available to those enjoying this area are in poor condition, no one is going to want to recreate here which will have a detrimental effect on local business and local economy," Prentice said.

Due to the AuSable watershed's geology, regional climate and grassroots conservation, Huron Pines was able to secure grant funding from the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation - Sustain Our Great Lakes Program in 2013. The purpose of the $560,000 (50/50 match) grant is to implement water quality and habitat improvement projects throughout the watershed.

To raise additional funds to meet the required matching funds and to utilize those funds in the best way possible, Huron Pines has formed a project steering committee and garnered several vested interest conservation partners such as the Alcona Conservation District, Alcona County Road Commission, Anglers of AuSable, AuSable North Branch Area Foundation, AuSable Property Owners Association, AuSable River Watershed Committee, Cranbrook Institute of Science, Crawford County, Department of Military and Veteran Affairs - Camp Grayling, Harrietta Hills Trout Farm, LLC, ITC Holdings Corp., Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ), Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Michigan Natural Features Inventory, Michigan Trout Unlimited, Natural Resources Conservation Service, Pine River Van Etten Lake Coalition, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Services, and U.S. Forest Service.

The project funding is to be used before the end of 2015 and will reconnect at least 35 miles of stream for fish passage, replace at least 12 road/stream crossings and install best management practices to reduce erosion and improve fish passage, control 150 acres of invasive species and restore native habitat, control erosion at nine stream bank sites and enhance instream habitat at priority locations.

Prentice said during the open house there will be discussion about two priority road crossings in Alcona County which Huron Pines has earmarked for restoration -- one on McConnell Road where the east branch of the Pine River crosses and the other is on Trask Lake Road. "We're hoping to get to those crossings this year, but we are still working on getting an engineer, so they may have to be put off until next year," Prentice said.

The open house is for all community members to learn more about the details of the entire project, the process of choosing the sites, the conservation methods implemented at each site, the organizations involved to make it possible and how to get involved with the project.

Refreshments will be provided with plenty of time for discussion about the projects with organization partners.

Just before the open house, PRVEL will have a general meeting from 10 a.m. to noon. All are invited to attend both the PRVEL meeting and the Huron Pines open house. PRVEL's agenda includes monitoring/removing invasive species from an area of state land just north of Van Etten Lake, temperature loggers to better judge good fish habitat, stream sampling for water quality, the River Keeper's program, and constructing the Facebook page and quarterly newsletter.

To register for the Huron Pine open house, visit www.huronpines.org or contact Huron Pines at (989) 448-2393 ext. 21 or rsvp@huron-pines.org. The Greenbush Township Hall is located at 3029 Campbell Road in Greenbush. For more information about PRVEL, contact Carol Plunkey at (810) 964-5949.

Fishing deep for post-spawn bluegills

After spawning, bluegills will move to deeper water for the rest of the summer and larger bluegills can be hard to locate. They can be found living near the top of the thermocline where water temperatures approach 69 degrees. Depending on the lake, this depth will usually be somewhere between 12 and 18 feet.

To locate this depth, either use a lake thermometer (available at most larger tackle stores) or contact the nearest DNR office. If the lake has a public access site, fisheries biologists will have surveyed it and will have a temperature - oxygen profile of the lake. This chart will identify the depth with a temperature near 69 degrees.

Try fishing at this depth where the 69 degree temperature is close to the bottom... usually at the deep edge of weed beds. Use light line (four-pound test or less) tipped with a white ice-fishing tear-drop jig baited with a wax worm. Some anglers use slip bobbers, while others fish European-style with very long fiberglass poles. Early morning and dusk are most productive.

(This tip was written by Jim Baker, Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) southern Lake Huron Management Unit Manager in Bay City, Mich.)

Northeast Lower Peninsula July 10

• Rogers City: Anglers are catching limits of lake trout including a lot of smaller fish. Most are fishing throughout the water column and not just off the bottom. Steelhead are starting to show up and were caught higher in the water column on spoons with orange on them. Use short segments of lead core with 1, 2, or 3 colors and sliders on downriggers and bright colors. Chinook were scattered. There really is no large thermocline. Anglers are trying up and down the water column with spoons in green, blue, silver or anything that glows early and late. Try

Northeast Michigan

Fishing Report

straight out, Adams Point, Swan Bay or up near the State Park and Forty Mile Point.

• Alpena: For walleye fishing, some days are better than others. Most are fishing at night around Sulphur Island, Grass Island and Scarecrow Island, North Shore and North Point. Early morning was just as good as night fishing when trolling with a mix of body baits and crawler harnesses. If one doesn't work, try the other when fishing up on the shoals in shallow water.

Those fishing around Thunder Bay Island caught the occasional Chinook, pink, Atlantic salmon or steelhead. Try short segments of lead core with sliders and bright colors. Chinook are around but no big numbers. Try up and down the water column with spoons in 40 to 60 or 70 to 90 feet.

• Thunder Bay River: Not much to report even though anglers are fishing. They caught a couple of keeper smallmouth bass right along with sub-legal smallmouth and lots of tiny rock bass.

• Harrisville: Has walleye in good numbers. Try 12 to 30 feet north and south of the harbor and between Greenbush and Sturgeon Point. Fish shallow in the early morning and move deeper midday. Try crawler harnesses, bottom bouncers and body baits. Lake trout, salmon and steelhead were caught in 60 to 120 feet on spoons, spin-gloves, cut baits and fly's behind dodgers and flashers. Look for steelhead along the scum line.

• Oscoda: Pier fishing was on and off. Early morning and late evening were best with the occasional midday catches. Salmon, lake trout and steelhead were holding south of the river were scattered and on the move. Try 50 to 150 feet and look for baitfish which were abundant. Scum lines were few and far between but that's where the steelhead are and hitting on dark colored baits.

• AuSable River: Look for walleye all the way to Foot Dam. Body baits and crawler harnesses are producing the most. Catfish are moving in throughout the night.

• Higgins Lake: The hex hatch is done. Anglers are catching lots of rock bass including some in the 11-inch range. Good numbers of perch were caught near the Sunken Island, the Main Island and along the ridge that runs off the west boat launch. Smallmouth bass were hitting on spinners and crawlers. Lake trout can still be found in 80 to 100 feet. Rainbow trout were suspended in 20 to 40 feet. Both are hitting on rapalas and bombers in blue and silver or rainbow.

• Houghton Lake: The better fishing was for walleye and bluegills along the weeds.

• Tawas: Those trolling are heading to the north side of the Charity Islands and picking up large walleye in 25 to 35 feet. Pier and river fishing were slow.

• Au Gres: Fishing remains excellent with a lot of anglers, a lot of walleye being caught and a lot of limit catches reported. On days with a north wind, anglers did well straight off the mouth of the river in 25 to 40 feet.

• Au Gres River: Catch rates for catfish picked up immediately after the rain.

Get smart about buying insurance

(BPT) - For most Americans, insurance coverage is a necessity. While coverage can be confusing and expensive to obtain, its solace is undeniable in the event of a car crash, emergency surgery or if your home has been damaged in a storm.

From home and health to auto, life, disability and more, it's important to be smart about how to buy coverage to limit costs, purchase the right coverage and avoid redundancies.

The best place to start is on the state's official government website, according to FindLaw.com, the nation's leading website for free legal information. There individuals will find a list of licensed insurers so they can be assured that they're dealing with a legitimate company.

"Work with a reputable insurance agent who represents a financially sound, highly-rated company," advised Ed Susolik, an attorney who specializes in insurance law at Callahan & Blaine in Santa Ana, Calif. "As is often the case, you get what you pay for. You don't want to add to a tragedy by discovering that you're underinsured or that the policy you've purchased from a little-known company is fraught with loopholes."

Here are some additional tips from FindLaw.com on purchasing insurance coverage:

- Follow the law. Check the laws of the state. Individuals may be required to carry certain types of insurance, such as liability insurance to operate a car, motorcycle or boat. This also applies on the federal level, for example, with the passage of the Affordable Care Act, all Americans will be required to carry health insurance as of 2014.

- Read the policy. Many Americans don't read their insurance policies and hastily sign contracts without considering the implications. For example, if an individual's health insurance covers 90 percent of all medical bills and they require significant medical attention, the 10 percent for which they are responsible could add up. If someone has trouble understanding what a policy proposal covers, they shouldn't hesitate to slow down and ask their agent for clarification or get a quote from a different company.

- Plan for major milestones. Major events will trigger the need to purchase insurance or increase existing coverage. With the birth of a first child, parents should consider purchasing term life insurance. It offers a benefit to a spouse and child to cover living expenses if one parent dies before the child reaches adulthood.

- Inspect home insurance. Carefully review the home insurance policy. Individuals should make sure they are insured for their home's market value or replacement value. The replacement value is the cost of rebuilding the house, while the market value is based on an appraisal of its value in relationship to surrounding homes. An agent should be willing to work with the homeowner to sculpt the policy that meets your needs.

- Consider flood insurance. Standard homeowners insurance typically does not include flood insurance. First, determine the level of risk for flooding in the area. There are a few options online, including the Federal Emergency Management Agency's website (www.fema.gov),

Wildlife habitat grant writing workshop via conference call

BID WANTED
 Bid contracts being accepted for part time third party administrator for MSHDA Community Development Block Grant Housing Allocation Program. Must be knowledgeable with federal and state statutes regarding the program. Along with a resume and contract proposal, worker's comp and liability insurance must also be provided. Please mail resume and contract proposal to: P.O. Box 272, Harrisville MI 48740 by Friday, July 18, 2014.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will host a Wildlife Habitat Grant writing workshop via conference call Monday, July 21, from 1 to 3 p.m. The workshop will give potential applicants the information they need to help with the grant-writing process.

Those wishing to join the workshop conference call are asked to RSVP by Friday, July 18, by calling Kristi Dahlstrom at (906) 226-1331. To join the conference call, dial (888) 808-6929. When prompted, enter access code 8299976. The call is toll-free.

The DNR is now accepting Wildlife Habitat Grant Program applications through August 12. Projects featuring habitat enhancement for game species will be given highest priority.

The Wildlife Habitat Grant Program (WHGP) began in October 2013 and will be funded with a portion of the revenue from hunting and fishing license fees sold each year. The DNR administers the WHGP through a cooperative effort between its Wildlife Division and Grants Management Section.

Funding is available for local, state, federal and tribal governments, for-profit and nonprofit groups, and individuals through an open, competitive process. Minimum grant amounts will be set at $15,000, with the maximum being the amount of funds available for that grant cycle. The 2015 overall available grant amount is approximately $1 million.

The Wildlife Habitat Grant Program application period began July 1 and will end at the close of business August 12. Successful grant applications will be announced by October 1. The detailed program handbook and application are available at www.michigan.gov/dnr-grants. Prospective applicants should review those materials when deciding whether or not to apply.

Insurance

where individuals can search their address and assess flooding risk. An insurance agent also should have access to this information and can explore options with each homeowner.

- Add an umbrella policy. It's not a bad idea to purchase an umbrella liability policy to provide additional coverage above and beyond homeowner's insurance. This helps in situations where a property owner could be at fault for accidents, such as the dog biting a mail carrier or a tree falling onto a neighbor's car.

- Research renter's insurance. Apartments can be burglarized or damaged like any other property. Anyone who rents should consider purchasing renter's insurance to cover assets such as computers, furniture and other significant items.

- Inventory belongings. Take photos or videos, with audio descriptions, of the property so both the insured and the insurance company have an accurate record of the insured's belongings in the event of a fire or other accident. Capture the home, prized possessions and high-value items such as cars, boats, jewelry and collections. Store the files on a portable hard drive in a secure and safe location, such as a safe deposit box.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Spoiler Alert: Watney Smelled Like a Skunk

I generally don't like science fiction, but when my wife, Susan, plopped The Martian by Andy Weir (Crown Publishing, 2014) in my lap and said, "Read," I was compelled to take a look. I am a member of the Mars Society and was about to make my third sojourn to their desert research station near Hanksville, Utah to work on the Elon Musk Observatory. "I'm pretty well fked," rants astronaut Mark Watney in his first log entry on Sol 6, his sixth day on the Red Planet. He's the botanist and space janitor on Ares 3, NASA's third Mars mission which rapidly goes south and is abruptly aborted during an unforeseen dust storm. Watney gets left behind when the communications dish dislocates and he is taken for a short, but nasty ride and lost in the dust and darkness during the evacuation. With only provisions for about 150 days, Watney's got to figure out how to survive for several years. His astronaut partners are Earthbound and safe, but there's no way for him to "phone home." He could just simply fill his spacesuit with pure nitrogen and die peacefully, but Watney is a survivor and the book becomes a roller-coaster thriller of exhilarating successes and near death experiences that leaves the reader absorbed in the action and rooting for Watney's survival. He's got to make water, grow crops, outfit rovers for long distance travel, reestablish contact with NASA, and finally make a 2000 mile journey from Acidalia Planitia to the Ares 4 rendezvous site in the huge crater, Schiaparelli. What makes the book so compelling is that nothing Watney conceives to keep himself alive is beyond the technology which will be incorporated into our human exploration of Mars. When Mark Watney is finally rescued on Sol 549, his astronaut buddies gather around him as Watney removes his helmet. The stench makes them step back. For those interested in the "gritty" realities of space survival you can't get much better than The Martian. www.astronomy.org

- Those who study such things say that penguins are ticklish.
- On the whole, Texas is a good bit hotter than Ohio, wouldn't you think? You might be surprised to learn, then, that on a per capita basis, Cleveland has 42 times as many swimming pools as Fort Worth.
- The 21 Club is a posh New York restaurant that has been in operation since 1922, though it has undergone some changes since its early days. The eatery's policy prohibiting women from wearing pants to dine didn't change until 1969. That was the year when "Laugh-In" actress Judy Carne entered wearing what has been described as a tunic-topped pants suit. When she was told she wouldn't be allowed to dine, she took off her pants and left them in the coat-check room. The tunic by itself just barely qualified as a micro-mini, but it was enough. The 21 Club changed its policy the next day.
- Smiling is a natural human instinct. Even people who have been blind since birth smile when they're happy.
- Ireland has the distinction of being the first nation in the world that had one woman succeed another woman as head of state, when, in 1997, Mary MacAleese was elected president after Mary Robinson served in that position.
- During World War I, the opposing armies called a truce to celebrate Christmas 1914. During the truce, a group of German soldiers and a group of British soldiers met in the no-man's land between the opposing trenches to play a soccer match.

VILLAGE OF LINCOLN MINUTES

The Lincoln Village Council met on Monday, July 7 at 7 p.m. at the village hall. The meeting opened with the "Pledge of Allegiance." Those present included: President pro-tem Bonny Gauthier, treasurer Kossa, clerk Somers and council members Healy, Phillips, Somers and Stutzman. Absent were president Phillip Jordan, council member Philip Naylor and attorney Cook. The minutes of the June meeting were approved on a motion from Phillips with support from Stutzman. The treasurer's report was approved, subject to audit, on a motion from Healy with support from Phillips. Joe Lukaszewicz, candidate for state Senate appeared before the council. He gave a brief overview of his qualifications including his family members that live in the area. He is running for the 36th District State Senate seat. Leroy Hall, fire chief, gave his report. It has been a relatively quiet month. The department participated in the Fourth of July parade in Barton City and will be present at the festivities in Mikado on July 12. In old business, Stutzman stated that he has checked the bathrooms at the playground. He said they are in need of attention. The men's bathroom is currently locked and people are using the women's. He also asked about having the roofs on both the village hall and the maintenance building redone. He further stated we need two new garage doors on the fire department and possibly one on the maintenance building. He said the parking lots at the hall and senior citizen centers both need to be seal coated. The sidewalks also need to be resealed on the red pebble section. The irrigation system is broken and needs to be repaired on Traverse Bay. There is also a need for a new net at the ball diamond. The sidewalk along Fiske Street also needs to be repaired. The towers at the playground are in need of a paint job. There are several trees that need to be replaced and John questioned where the funds will come from to replace them. A new boat launch and a new dock are needed. He asked about the status of the new ball field. He is frustrated the kids have to play in Harrisville rather than playing here. He stated that the bleachers are in poor condition and need to be replaced. He wants to consider eliminating the Downtown Development Authority and keeping the funds in the village budget. A discussion ensued and Phillips stated he felt we need to have this discussion at a later date since president Jordan is not here to be a part of it. Phillips said he believes that an evaluation of the DDA may be in order. It was suggested that perhaps we need to start attending some of the DDA meetings. Dick stated that he also had many of the same things in mind. His biggest concern is with the bathrooms at the ball fields. In new business, Phillips stated he has checked the doggy stations and they are being used. He stated there are several washouts along the streets and crack sealing needs to be taken care of. Bonny gave the president's report. Both the buoys and swim platforms have been put in and port-a-potties have been placed at the beach and boat launch. Thanks to Bill Putsky, Ted Shaneour and

Jeff Wilson for their help in putting the buoys and dock in. A request was received for a grill to be placed at the boat launch. The new storm drain has been taken care of along Second Street. A motion was made by Phillips to put a bid out for requests for painting of the directional arrows and pedestrian lanes and stop bars. Stutzman offered support. Motion carried. The new copier has been installed in the village hall. An estimate was received for crack sealing all the streets that are in need. The estimate was for $32,000. President Jordan suggested breaking it down into manageable portions to be done in phases over a few years. He further suggested that it be put out for bids. A motion was made by Phillips, with support from Stutzman, to seek bids for crack sealing in the village to be broken down into three segments. Motion carried. Once bids are received council members will then make a decision on what streets will be chosen for crack sealing this year. Four applications have been received for the maintenance position. Bonny suggested turning the applications over to the human resources committee and following their advice regarding hiring of a person. A motion was made by Phillips to move the applications over to the human resources committee for evaluation and potential hiring of a new maintenance person. Motion carried. A motion to pay the bills as presented was made by Phillips with support from Stutzman. Carried. A motion to adjourn was made by Healy with support from Stutzman. Carried.

Dollars And Sense By David Uffington

Insurance coverage for rental cars

With the summer travel season upon us, insurance coverage might not be first on your list of ways to save money on vacation -- but it should be, especially if your plans involve renting a car. Your credit card likely offers car-rental insurance as one of the benefits, and your auto policy might as well.

CardHub released a study showing that 20 percent of consumers purchase supplemental coverage with car rentals. The reason: Confusion about whether their auto insurance covers a rental. According to the study, 62 percent don't think their auto insurance will cover a rental, and 24 percent don't think their credit cards automatically cover rentals.

Here are some findings:

- American Express, Discover, MasterCard and VISA have a rental-car insurance policy, but MasterCard doesn't have it on all its cards. All the cards require that you decline the supplemental insurance (collision damage waivers) the rental company offers. The entire cost of the rental must be put on the credit card.

- None of the cards will cover trucks, off-road vehicles, antique cars or vehicles with open beds. Additionally VISA won't cover accidents on dirt or gravel roads. MasterCard is picky: It will cover an accident on a dirt or gravel road if the road is regularly maintained.

- American Express won't cover certain vehicles, such as big SUVs.

Your best bet is to make calls before your trip and get all your facts in advance.

Ask your auto-insurance company whether your policy covers rental vehicles. If not, find out if you can buy a temporary rider to cover your vacation period. Ask about other drivers if you won't be the designated driver for the whole trip. Consider renting a vehicle similar to your own. If you're going to rent one that's significantly more expensive, ask whether it will be covered. Be sure to ask if there's a time limit for coverage on your trip.

Then ask your credit-card company about rental coverage, and whether there are any restrictions, such as the ones above. If you don't have a copy of the card's benefits and rights disclosure, ask for it in advance of your trip so you'll have it in hand. You might want it if the car-rental agency questions turning down its offered insurance.

Veterans Post By Greddy Groves

VA awaits new leader

Department of Veterans Affairs chief Eric Shinseki is gone. He resigned after getting caught by the whiplash of the revelation that there were serious problems down the line in the VA, mostly having to do with medical appointments being manipulated, deleted, fudged, canceled, hidden in desk drawers (pick a word), and that veterans died while waiting. No matter how it turned out, Shinseki was always in our corner. We can never doubt that. If he had a failing, it was that he trusted those down the chain of command to do their jobs well.

We have a new secretary of the VA nominee, who surely will be approved by Congress.

Let's look at who he is. Robert "Bob" McDonald, age 61, West Point grad, former Army captain, 82nd Airborne, son of a World War II veteran, 33 years with Procter and Gamble, the soap company. His years at P&G weren't all rosy, but that's to be expected with a responsibility that large (the company has over 100,000 employees), especially with a recession tightening all our wallets.

A few things come up as red flags:

Fact 1: In the end he was run out, forced to "step down" from P&G after four years as head of the company.

Fact 2: From 1989 to 2004, he climbed P&G's global corporate ladder in Toronto, the Philippines, Japan and Brussels. Which means he didn't have his finger on the pulse of American veterans, or even Americans for all those years.

Fact 3: No health-care experience.

McDonald might have a rough start. Still, Acting VA Secretary Sloan Gibson is paving the way by meeting with the Special Counsel about whistleblower protection and directing all VA medical center leadership to meet monthly with local medical partners and Veterans Service Organizations.
