State officials tour northeast Michigan

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Senator Jim Stamas and Representative Peter Pettalia stopped by the Harrisville State Park during their 200 mile, two-day legislative tour of U.S. Heritage Route 23 which began on Thursday, July 16.

The tour is an effort to help bring attention and tourists to northeast lower Michigan. It began in Standish, Mich. and ended on Friday in Mackinaw City, Mich.

"This positive tour is an effort to highlight what Michigan's sunrise side has to offer and engage the community with state officials about issues critical to the region," said Stamas, R-Midland. "My goal in leading this tour with state and area officials is that we continue to serve the people by identifying new ways to help attract tourists, improve the economy and create jobs.

On hand at the state park were several state and regional officials as well as Eric Ostrander, Michigan Department of Natural Resources unit supervisor for Harrisville and Negwegon state parks, and Suzanne Miller Allen, director of community responsibility with Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan.

Allen was there to promote the Michigan Activity Pass (MAP) project, which offers library card patrons free day passes to state parks and events. The free day pass can be picked up at most libraries across Michigan including the Alcona County Library.

On their journey north Stamas and Pettalia, R-PrESque Isle, toured Wurtsmith

Airport, attended a ribbon cutting ceremony at the new hangar for Kalitta Air in Oscoda, and stopped at two grocery stores, Harrisville Harbor Grocery Store in Harrisville and Neiman's Family Market in Alpena.

"We are excited to have family owned grocery stores along the route and commend the opening of Harrisville Harbor Grocery and are very excited about it," Stamas said. When asked when the new grocery store in Harrisville would receive its liquor license Pettalia said the state was working on the license and they hoped it would be received by the store very soon.

"It is clear that Heritage Route 23 is one of Michigan's

Farm accidents put two in hospital

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

A second farming accident in as many weeks locally, put an East Tawas man in the hospital.

According to the Alcona County Sheriff's Department, Donald Gingerich, 26, was delivering feed to the Dellar farm in Gustin Township on Tuesday, July 14 at approximately 5 p.m. when he was electrocuted.

Sgt. Scott Stephenson said Gingerich parked the feed truck under a power line and while operating the boom to unload the feed, it came into contact with the power line. The electrical current ran through the boom into the truck and transferred to Gingerich through the lever that operated the boom. The shock threw him onto the ground.

Jason Dellar, owner of the farm, witnessed the incident and performed CPR until first responders arrived. According to Stephenson, Dellar stated he thought the hydraulic mechanism on the boom malfunctioned causing it to raise into the power line.

Gingerich was transported by Alcona EMS to St. Joseph Hospital in Tawas and then to Hurley Medical Center in Flint, Mich.

The first farm accident occurred on Thursday, July 2 at approximately 3 p.m. on the Gram farm in Harrisville Township.

According to the Alcona County Sheriff's Department, Brad Szymanski, 26, of Harrisville was digging post holes with an auger on a three-point tractor hitch when his leg became caught while the auger was engaged. Sgt. Keith Myers explained that apparently the auger was not working correctly, so Szymanski tried to push on it and his pant leg became entangled which pulled him into the mechanism.

He was transported to Alpena Medical Center by Alcona EMS and later transported to Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, Mich.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor,
I had the honor of being the Grand Marshal of this year's Mikado Days Parade. It was truly an honor. I had a wonderful time and had a chance to see many old friends.

The reason I was asked is because they were honoring the volunteer firemen and first responders and because my father, Gerson Kahn, was one of the founders and a fire chief of the Mikado Fire Department.

This very important fact was unfortunately left out of the front page article in the July 15th issue of the Alcona County Review. It also did not even mention the firemen and women and other first responders who work so hard every day 24/7 to keep Mikado and Alcona County safe.

They were the reason for this year's parade and the article should have been about them and not only about me. I feel so bad about this omission and felt I had to write this letter.

Steven H. Kahn
Ann Arbor, Mich.

Military exercise underway across northern Lower Peninsula

Aircraft from more than a dozen military units will be operating in northern Michigan over the next several weeks as part of a major training exercise involving military personnel from Canada, Latvia, Poland, Australia and 20 states' military forces. Northern Strike 2015 combines both air and ground combat capabilities in one training exercise.

"Northern Strike allows us to train the way we fight," said Lt. Col. Matthew Trumble, the exercise director of Michigan Air National Guard. "When we deploy to a combat theater, ground and air assets work closely together to accomplish their objectives. This exercise simulates operations in a counter insurgency environment, similar to situations the U.S. military has been involved with over the past several years."

More than 3,000 soldiers, airmen and Marines will participate in the fourth annual Northern Strike exercise, based primarily at the Camp Grayling Joint Maneuver Training Center and the Alpena Combat Readiness Training Center. Live fire exercises involving small arms, mortars, artillery and aerial munitions will take place at Camp Grayling from July 20-31.

While each Northern Strike exercise has its share of distinguished visitors, this year is unique in having the chief of the National Guard Bureau, Gen. Frank Grass, scheduled to visit on July 27. "Having the chief visit demonstrates the impact Michigan is having on the national stage," said Maj. Gen. Gregory Vadnais, director of the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs and adjutant general for the Michigan National Guard. "We look forward to showing off the capabilities of the Michigan Guard during his stay."

Aircraft scheduled to participate in the exercise include Air Force F-16 Fighting Falcons, KC-135 Stratotankers, A-10 Thunderbolts, C-130 Hercules, E-8 JSTARS; and Army UH-60 Blackhawks, CH-47 Chinooks, UH-72 Lakota and the RQ-7 Shadow. A number of the aircraft will be staged at the Alpena CRTC during the exercise, while others will fly in from home stations for specific training missions.

Army ground forces participating in the exercise include infantry, armored cavalry, reconnaissance and signals units. The significant size of Camp Grayling (147,000 acres) allows the ground forces to maneuver while employing a variety of tactical weapon systems to include M-4 rifle, M240B machine gun, 60mm and 81mm mortars and M-777, 155mm howitzers.

While the exercise focuses on meeting the training needs of the individual units participating, Northern Strike also showcases the training facilities operated by the Michigan National Guard. Camp Grayling is the largest National Guard training facility in the U.S., covering 147,000 acres centered around the city of Grayling. The facility hosts as many as 20,000 soldiers a year who utilize the camp's artillery, mortar and tank ranges, he-

Alcona's Relay for Life set for Saturday

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

The annual Relay for Life-Alcona County will be helping to fight cancer to the finish line on Saturday, July 25 with a free, donations accepted, event from noon to midnight at the Alcona High School track and football field on Barlow Road in Lincoln.

The new, reduced hours, from a 24-hour relay to a 12-hour relay, has event leaders expecting much more community participation and they are ready for it by bringing additional fun to the track.

As always, any donation collected from the relay will go to the American Cancer Society. The theme for this year's relay is Celebrate Holidays.

Walkers are needed throughout the day from noon to midnight, they do not need to register and they can come and go throughout the day as they desire. Spectators are also encouraged to stop by and see what Relay for Life is all about.

New events include the addition of a free splash water slide. The water slide will open at 1 p.m. Relay asks participants to please wear bathing suits and bring a towel.

Also new this year will be the Not-Quite Summer Olympics with games around the track such as a pool noodle rodeo, a magnetic fishing tournament, beach ball and soft Frisbee catch and a cardboard boat regatta (look out for the pirates with water blasters), around 2 or 2:30 p.m. Many other activities will follow including a zombie walk at 9 p.m.

Opening ceremony begins at noon with national anthem sung by Hannah Brege. A survivors lap, caregivers lap and team pride walk will follow. Items for the silent auction should arrive at noon.

At 1 p.m. there is a survivor's lunch with music entertainment by Sue Maturen and Brian Kienzel and the Mike Maturen magic show will follow. The silent auction opens and the ability to earn relay bucks which can be used for auction items or at the concession stand begins. Walkers circle the track in support of the survivors as they enjoy their meal.

After the survivors lunch Team Weber Mosquito Farm celebrates summer vacation holiday by holding the Not-Quite Summer Olympics with 14 different games planned for around the track. Those wishing to participate in the cardboard boat regatta should consider bringing their own cardboard boat; however, a few will be available on site for use. The regatta is for teams of four and each boat should hold four people or separate cardboard boxes, each holding one or 2 people, can be roped together.

A pool noodle and a bubble wand are also required for the regatta. Concession stand bucks will be awarded to the fastest boat team, the most decorative boat team and the wettest boat team.

At 4 p.m. Team Hester will celebrate Christmas on the track with a frozen T-shirt contest, a visit by Santa and Mrs. Claus and a Christmas carol walk. St. Raphael's team will follow celebrating Thanksgiving with a family walk at 5 p.m.

The Spruce Presbyterian team celebrates Valentine's Day at 6 p.m. with a best friend or sweetheart walk around the track and a fight back ceremony.

At 7 p.m. My Brother's Hope Team will celebrate Labor of Love holiday with a three legged race, a wheelbarrow race, a piggy back walk and a real men walk for women's cancer race.

St. Anne's team follows in celebrating Easter at 8 p.m. An Easter egg hunt, a purple pride walk (wear purple) and a Conga line walk are planned. A relay bucks auction begins after St. Anne's last walk.

At 9 p.m. Team Event Leadership Committee will celebrate Halloween with a newspaper costume contest, a super hot potato walk and a zombie walk. Silent auction closes.

At 10 p.m. there will be the lighting of the luminaria ceremony. Luminaria are small white paper bags each decorated with a name or names of loved ones who have passed or are still fighting cancer. Each luminaria will be placed around the track lit by candles. A silent, solemn walk will be traveled around the track as participants remember, celebrate life and fight back cancer. Luminaria bags will be sold for $10 before and during the day of the event.

The closing ceremony will take place from 11 p.m. to midnight with a final survivor and caregiver walk picking up luminaria bags.

The concession stand will be open, off and on, until around 10 p.m. Relay for Life-Alcona County is still in need of individual pop in cans, cookies, snack crackers and other items. Anyone who can donate items to the concession stand may bring them to the stand location near the bleachers of the Alcona High School track on Barlow Road in Lincoln after 9 a.m. on July 25 or call (989) 736-8573 for a pickup or drop off of items during the week or to make cash contributions.

For further information about Relay for Life Alcona County, or to donate silent auction items, contact Veronica Brown at (989) 335-0844.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

How to protect your eyes from macular degeneration

Dear Savvy Senior,
Is macular degeneration hereditary? My mother lost her vision from it before she died a few years ago, and now at age 65, I'm worried I may get it. What can you tell me?
Nearsighted Susan

Dear Nearsighted,
Having a parent or sibling with macular degeneration does indeed increase your risk three to four times. But the good news is there are things you can do to protect your eyesight, and a number of treatments that are available if you do happen to get it.

Macular degeneration, also known as age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is the most common cause of vision loss in people over age 50, affecting about 10 million Americans.

AMD is a progressive eye disease that damages the macula, the part of the eye that allows us to see objects clearly, causing vision loss in the center of your vision. This affects the ability to read, drive, watch television and do routine daily tasks, but it does not cause total blindness.

There are two types of AMD – wet and dry. Dry AMD, which affects about 90 percent of all people that have it, progresses slowly and painlessly over a period of years. While wet AMD is much more aggressive and can cause severe vision loss in a matter of weeks or months.

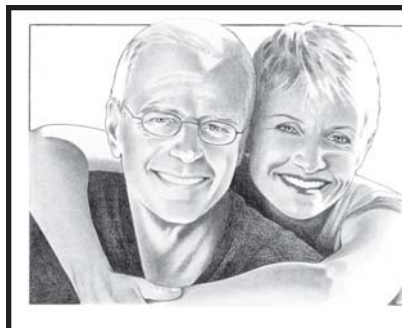

Factors that can increase your risk of getting AMD include age (60 and older); smoking; excessive exposure to sunlight especially if you have light-colored eyes; certain genetic components; a family history of AMD; high blood pressure; obesity; and being Caucasian.

For anyone over the age of 60, it's a smart idea to get your eyes examined by an ophthalmologist every year. They can spot early signs of AMD before vision loss occurs. Early signs, however, may include shadowy areas in your central vision or unusually fuzzy or distorted vision. The Amsler grid at amslergrid.org, is a good tool to check your eyes for AMD.

While there's currently no cure for AMD there are some things you can do if you're high risk. One option is to talk to your doctor about taking a daily dose of antioxidant vitamins and minerals known as AREDS – vitamins C and E, plus copper, lutein, zeaxanthin, and zinc. Studies by the National Eye Institute have shown that AREDS can reduce the risk by about 25 percent that dry AMD will progress.

Most drug stores sell these eye supplements in tablet or soft gel form over-the-counter for around $20 to $30, but be aware that not all eye supplements contain the proper formulation. Choose either the PreserVision Eye Vitamin AREDS Formula, PreserVision Eye Vitamin Lutein Formula, PreserVision AREDS2 Formula, or ICAPS AREDS. These four options contain the right formula mix.

Other lifestyle adjustments that may help prevent or delay AMD include eating antioxidant-rich foods such as dark green, leafy vegetables, and cold-water fish for their omega-3 fatty acids; protecting your eyes from the sun by wearing UV protective sunglasses; controlling high blood pressure; exercising regularly; and if you smoke, quit.

For wet AMD, there are several effective medications (Lucentis, Avastin and Eylea) available that can stop vision loss and may even restore it. These medications are given by injection into the eye, and repeated every month or two, perhaps indefinitely.

Note that each of these three drugs works equally in treating wet AMD, but there's a big cost difference. Avastin costs just $50 per month, compared with $2,000 for the other two. So experts recommend Avastin as the first choice for most people with wet AMD, especially if you don't have supplemental Medicare coverage.

Fishing for channel cats in the summertime

Fishing Report

These warm months can be the perfect time to target channel catfish throughout Michigan. Found nearly statewide, channel cats inhabit both lakes and streams.

This species is typically pursued by anglers using live, dead or cut bait, though anglers have long used all manner of bait — cheese, shrimp, liver, spawn — or commercially prepared blood or scent baits. Though occasionally taken on artificial lures by anglers pursuing other species, channel cats are traditionally fished with bait presented on the bottom.

A good tip to remember is channel catfish will fight once they're hooked. Consider using at least 12-pound test to ensure your line is tough enough to handle their strength.

(This tip was adapted from Michigan Outdoor News.)

Northeast Lower Peninsula July 16

- Rogers City: Lake trout fishing is still good. Most anglers are still catching anywhere from one to four fish per boat but some are taking limit catches. A few more Chinook, coho and steelhead were in the mix. The lake trout are both suspended or near the bottom in waters 50 feet or deeper. Try cowbells or dodgers with spin-glos and spoons in bright colors like green or yellow.

A very large mayfly hatch was underway. Scum lines were starting to form. Anglers are trolling around them with orange and green spoons. A few Chinook were caught in 55 to 125 feet but the fish are scattered. Try green, blue, black or white spoons. Glow spoons work best first and last light.

- East and West Twin Lakes: Walleye were caught in the 10 foot holes on West Twin. Bluegill fishing was great along the shoreline. Perch fishing picked up in the eight foot holes. Try natural baits. East Twin was slow for all species.

- Alpena: Walleyes are still being caught with some boats doing real well and others struggling to find them. They are starting to move out to deeper water. Try 12 to 18 feet down in 20 to 40 feet with body baits or crawler harnesses near the Red Can, Grass Island, behind Sulphur Island and around Thunder Bay Island.

Lake trout were caught straight off the "humps," around Thunder Bay Island and out towards the wreck in 60 to 120 feet. They are just off the bottom or suspended throughout the water column. The occasional salmon or steelhead were caught up high.

- Thunder Bay River: A few walleye were caught on crawler harnesses or body baits near the drawbridge. Shore anglers had slow fishing with only a few rock bass or freshwater drum taken on worms.

- Harrisville: A variety of fish are coming in good numbers. Lake trout have been the most abundant with the occasional steelhead, Chinook, Atlantic and walleye. Lake trout are near the bottom in 80 to 150 feet. Watch out for nets, and check locations before fishing this area as the nets seem to be in waters 130 feet and deeper.

The nets are marked very well as long as you don't have a lot of wave action you will be able to see them. Steelhead, Chinook and Atlantic salmon were caught north of the harbor toward Sturgeon Point. These fish are 10 to 25 feet down in 70 to 90 feet and hitting on orange and blue spoons. Walleye are still north of the harbor between Sturgeon Point and Black River. Crawler harnesses and reef runners are best.

- Oscoda: Pier fishing has been up and down. Walleye have been caught throughout the night but seem to shut down before sun up. Catfish are also being caught throughout the night and into early morning on crawlers and leeches. Look upriver for walleye as some were reported at Foote Dam. Lake trout were scarce. The fish that were caught were in 70 to 150 feet of water and suspended. Spread baits throughout the water column.

- Higgins Lake: Was producing some perch but anglers had to do some searching to find them. Try 30 to 40 feet with minnows or wax worms. Some lake trout were caught in 80 to 100 feet by those jigging or trolling with body baits and cowbells with spoons. A couple of pike were caught on sucker minnows under a slip bobber near the Main Island. Rock bass are everywhere.

- Lake St. Helen: Was producing bluegills and pumpkinseed. A few walleye were caught by those drifting crawlers and leeches.

- Tawas: Those trolling for walleye did very well in 50 feet out past Tawas Point and off Whitestone Point in 40 to 45 feet. Some limit catches were reported. Pier fishing was slow with only a few catfish or freshwater drum caught.

- Tawas River: Shore anglers in the lower river were catching the odd catfish, freshwater drum or pike.

- AuGres: Walleye fishing was still good and the port was busy. Many were going over to the Charity Islands or fishing in 30 to 45 feet between Point Lookout and Pointe AuGres. A few were heading south and fishing north of Buoys 1 and 2 which has been a universal hot spot for the past couple weeks. Limit catches have been common and pretty much everyone is getting some fish.

- AuGres River: Shore anglers caught a few catfish, freshwater drum and bass.

NOTICE AND OPPORTUNITY TO COMMENT

USDA - Forest Service Huron - Manistee National Forests Huron Shores Ranger Station Oscoda, Michigan

The US Forest Service is proposing to implement the Stout Red Pine Salvage and Reforestation Project on the Huron Shores Ranger Station of the Huron-Manistee National Forests.

The proposed actions are located on National Forest System lands in Millen Township, Alcona County, 16 miles west of Harrisville, MI. The legal descriptions of the proposed actions are as follows: Township 26N, Range 6E, Sections 12 and 13, Township 26N, Range 7E, Section 18. A map can also be viewed at the following website: <http://www.fs.usda.gov/projects/hmnf/landmanagement/projects>

The proposed management actions would take place within the perimeter of the Unhappy Camper Wildfire that burned approximately 471 acres on May 3, 2015. High fire intensity from the Unhappy Camper Fire created large areas of timber stand mortality. The majority of the dead timber is plantation red pine. Most of the red pine seed was destroyed by either crown fire or crown scorch. The summary of proposed actions are as follows: 1) Clearcut and salvage approximately 158 acres of dead red pine, 2) Site prep and reforest approximately 215 acres with red pine seedlings (includes 57 acres of sub merchantable red pine), 3) Rehabilitate and/or close user-impacted areas as discovered within the project area.

The proposed actions fall into the categories described in Forest Service Handbook (FSH)1909.15, Chapter 30, Section 31.2 - Category of Action for Which a Project or Case File and Decision Memo Are Required, Category 13: "Salvage of dead and or dying trees not to exceed 250 acres". A proposed action may be categorically excluded from documentation in an environmental impact statement or environmental assessment if there are no extraordinary circumstances and if the actions are within one of the categories identified by the Chief of the Forest Service in FSH 1909.15, Chapter 30, Sections 31.1 or 31.2.

For additional and more specific information regarding this proposed action, contact Karlis Lazda, U.S. Forest Service, 107 McKinley Rd., Mio, MI 48647, (989) 826-3252.

Comments on the project will be considered in reaching a final decision. Comments may be submitted to the Huron Shores Ranger Station, 5761 N. Skeel Rd. (M-F, 8-4:30), or by phone at (989)739-0728, or fax (989)739-0347. E-mail comments to: comments-eastern-huron-manistee-mio@fs.fed.us (Email attachments must be readable by Microsoft Office or Adobe Acrobat). Include (1) name, address, telephone number, name of organization represented and title; (2) title of document on which the comment is being submitted (Stout Red Pine Salvage and Reforestation Project); and (3) specific facts and supporting reasons that you believe we should consider in reaching a final decision. For timely consideration of your comments, please submit them by the 14th business day after this legal notice appears in the Oscoda Press.

This project is not subject to objection before the decision is made, or appeal afterward, due to laws enacted in early 2014. Section 431 of the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2014 (Pub. L. No. 113-76) directs that the 1992 and 2012 legislation establishing the 36 CFR 215 (post-decisional appeals) and 36 CFR 218 (pre-decisional objections) processes "shall not apply to any project or activity implementing a land and resource management plan ... that is categorically excluded ... under the National Environmental Policy Act [NEPA]." Section 8006 of the Agricultural Act of 2014 (Farm Bill) (Pub. L. No. 113-79) repealed the Appeals Reform Act (ARA) (Pub. L. No. 102-381). The ARA's implementing regulation was 36 CFR 215. The 2014 Farm Bill also directs that the pre-decisional objection process established in the Consolidated Appropriation Act of 2012 shall not be applicable to categorically excluded projects or activities. The Forest Service published the repeal of 36 CFR 215 in the Federal Register on July 31, 2014. Therefore, this project is not subject to administrative review.

Copies of the final decision (Decision Memo) will be mailed to people who submit comments, or who request a copy during or before the end of the comment period. Comments received in response to this project will become a matter of public record.

Cancer sucks... that's why we Relay

By Mary Weber
Columnist

Let's face it, there's nothing fun about cancer.

From the moment a person is diagnosed a deluge of treatment plans, doctor visits, surgeries and facing cold, hard facts is thrust upon them and their loved ones causing a wide range of emotions throughout the family including anxiety, fear and grief.

Cancer sucks, literally and figuratively. No one quite understands how much until they are put into the situation. It sucks the patient's strength and muscle mass leaving them feeling weak and defeated. Cancer treatments suck pain tolerance and its many surgeries and weakened immune system can lead to post operative infections. Treatments can also alter taste, smell, cause vomiting and even takes the hair off victims' heads. It sucks the dreams, hopes and spirits of not only the patient, but their family members. Cancer just sucks.

I thank my maker everyday for keeping that horrid "C" word from entering our home, although it tried last summer. Thankfully, because of early detection by a skilled plastic surgeon, our cancer scare barely made it past our front door.

It began when my husband, Willy, went in for a skin tag removal last year. My husband was a fair skinned red head who lived close to a beach during his youth. Because of his fair skin and his love of outdoors he wears his freckles, moles and age spots well, so well that he was unconcerned about any of them, and just a wee bit annoyed when I asked the doc, while we were there, to take a look at his back.

Among the hundreds of 'that's nothing' spots the doctor did find a small lesion low on his back and simply said, "That's got to go." It looked nothing more than a small scrape mark which I thought maybe Wil had gotten while repairing a four wheeler; it certainly didn't look suspicious to me.

After the removal I knew by the size of the skin removed around it and the butterfly tape straddling the cut the doctor suspected it was cancer. On his return checkup Wil was surprised when the doctor shook his hand and congratulated him on now being cancer free, explaining because of early detection they were able to remove all cancerous cells.

The whole ordeal got me thinking how fast things could have changed for us and how fast things do change for many who are diagnosed right here in our own community of Alcona County.

So many neighbors, friends and family have lost the battle with that angry beast; many more are fighting it daily, and some, actually more than ever, are winning the war.

Thirty years ago a child with leukemia had a slim chance of recovering; today many diagnosed with the same disease are living long and healthy lives. Early screening tests have helped many other cancers to become preventable, treatable and beatable. This has been accomplished with much thanks to one organization, the American Cancer Society (ACS).

ACS is committed to saving lives and finishing the fight against cancer, combining relentless passion with over a century of wisdom and experience and they are getting results. However, the fight continues. There are just so many different types of cancer and each person's cancer may react differently, it's a tough disease to beat.

The society relies on the strength of approximately 2.5 million dedicated volunteers who, supported by a professional staff, drive every part of their mission. Funds raised by volunteers support crucial research, provide cancer patients rides to and from treatments and gives one-on-one support to those facing a cancer diagnosis and that's just the beginning.

ACS helps people stay well by taking steps to prevent cancer or find it at its earliest, most treatable stage.

It helps people get well after diagnosis by being available around the clock to help people through every step of their cancer experience. Whether people have questions about cancer, need practical solutions to daily problems like finding a ride or in need of support from someone who has been in their shoes, the American Cancer Society is available 24-hours a day, seven days a week at (800) 227-2345. Additionally their clinical trial matching service connects patients with more than 6,000 ongoing studies.

Through its Look Good, Feel Better program ACS supplies workshops to cancer patients to help them adjust and feel better after cancer treatments. For those patients who cannot attend the workshops they offer one-on-one salon consultations.

As the largest private, not-for-profit funding source of cancer research, having spent more than $4 billion on cancer research since 1946, they have played a role in nearly every cancer breakthrough in recent history. They also fund beginning researchers with cutting-edge ideas early in their careers - 47 of whom have gone on to win the Nobel Prize.

ACS also fights back cancer by working with lawmakers to pass laws to defeat cancer and rallies communities worldwide to join the fight.

Thanks to contributions more than 1.5 million lives have been saved in the United States in the past two decades because of the society's efforts

All the aforementioned combined with Jayne's fight, Aunt Sally's fight, both of our mom's fights, Wil's dad's fight, our sister-in-law's fight, and our cousins, friends and neighbors who are fighting against cancer -- is why we Relay and why my husband and I will be part of the festivities taking place this coming Saturday, July 25 with Relay for Life Alcona County.

This is an exciting year for Relay Alcona as it's expecting more participants than ever due to their reduced hours to a 12-hour relay from noon to midnight offering families with younger children and retirees an easier schedule.

This year's theme is Celebrate Holidays with many holiday themed activities and entertainment taking place around the Alcona High School track and football field on the corner of Barlow Road and M-72 in Lincoln. There will also be a giant splash slide at the track so bring your suit and towel.

Willy and I are especially excited about Team Weber Mosquito Farm which has chosen summer vacation as its holiday, as it was always my favorite holiday as a kid. We will be holding summertime Not Quite Olympic style games on the track around 2 p.m.

Our team has also taken on the responsibility of the concession stand for which we are still seeking donations, both cash and confection, so if you are a master of baked goods, or just a so-so cookie cook willing to donate a dozen or two just drop them off at the concession stand on Saturday. If you prefer to donate cookies before Saturday or make a cash donation, call us at (989) 736-8573.

(Mary Weber was born and raised in the suburbs of Detroit, Mich. She moved to Alcona County in 2005 with her husband, Willy, when he retired. Life in the north woods, away from city life presents new experiences not only with nature but with a community of caring, friendly people, they now consider family...and they love every minute of it.)

Garden walk offers something for everyone

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Take a stroll through gardens 'Around the Town' during the Sunrise Gardening Club's 12th annual garden walk on Saturday, July 25.

The gardens, all based within a 10 mile radius around Harrisville, feature some of the most expansive and artistic gardens the club has ever hosted. The walk introduces unique and beautiful landscapes, highlighted with cathedral-like forests arching high overhead with tiny fairy doors tucked in at their base to a stick tree garden with unusual wooden helpers keeping guard in hidden nooks.

Ann Pringle is secretary for the club and joint chairperson with Marilyn Irwin for this year's garden walk. Pringle is relatively new to the garden club, but as a master gardener, she's not new to gardening. She said it was somewhat difficult to find gardens close in driving proximity which would give a combination of the best Alcona County backyards have to offer. "There's a little something for everyone in the gardens we have chosen this year. Each one offers something inviting and unique," Pringle said. She appreciated the more artistic and shoreline gardens but said all of them have features she likes.

One garden stands out as an artist's garden which includes repurposed and creative items that hold special meaning to the artist/gardener. Plants with pops of color play a supportive role under delicately tied prayer flags while mosaic broken plate pots add color in darkly shaded green areas. True artisans will appreciate the artist's studio, complete with decorative medallion, over looking the Lake Huron shoreline.

Garden

The meticulous eye will note small, but proper, gardens with fine trimmed shrubbery and clean lines boasting attention to detail. The young at heart will enjoy the magic of whimsical nature and craftsmanship of wagon wheels, statues, metal dragonflies, birdhouses and sun catchers carefully tucked in just the right spot. Each garden is welcoming and attended to with heart, inspiration and a little perspiration.

History lovers will appreciate a garden which began in 1940 and has been handed from father to son and then daughter. Its care, now in the hands of the latter, who is in her 80s, is a born story teller and enhances her quilt-like garden with tales of secret places and spirit plants. A father's garden and brother's garden, filled with the plants they loved, are woven into a memory piece surrounded by stone and cedar pathways.

Garden walkers are encouraged to say "hi" to Hubert, a porcupine made of pine and stone or the black mulch snake who sunbathes in one of the gardens. They can also listen for the lone bull frog in the swamp who sings to his octogenarian gardener while she cares for her plants as if they were her children.

Peaceful, quiet meditation is also accessible in some of these gardens which offer cool shade under pergolas, trellis benches or gazebos surrounded by roses, honeysuckle and day lilies. The smell of sweet lavender lends a restful oasis.

Also featured are sprawling forested gardens tended for years by loving and skilled hands, thick with colorful perennials, ferns and winding flagstone pathways that allow up close views.

A new-ownership garden demonstrates what the new-to-Alcona County owners are learning from the previous owner, who was a master gardener, so they can care for and nurture this special place.

The garden walk will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. rain or shine. Tickets are $10 with children under 12 free. Tickets are available at Coming Attractions, Precious Paws Resale Shoppe and Craftmakers' Cabin in Harrisville. On the day of the walk tickets will only be available at Craftmakers' Cabin.

The Sunrise Gardening Club is a not-for-profit organization. All funds received will be used for community benefit. The club meets on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 1 p.m. at the Harrisville branch of the Alcona County Library. All are invited to attend. Suggestions for future gardens for walks are encouraged. For more information, contact Becky Bean at (989) 724-6569.

Greenbush citizen visits Rep. Follet's jack pine farm

Editor Review:—I have lived in this county for the last twenty-five years and in all that time I have contended that we had no poor land in Alcona county when we find out what crop to grow on the different kinds of soil.

Now for the last two years I have traveled all over Alcona county and part of Alpena, Montmorency, Oscoda, Ogemaw and Iosco and I find men making a success on all kinds of soil.

I saw a beautiful ten acre of alfalfa in Alpena on the

Pizer - Levitt

The marriage of Miss Ruth Levitt daughter of Mr. Sam Levitt, of Detroit, and Lawrence R. Pizer, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Pizer, of Harrisville, took place at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, at the Detroit-Leland Hotel in Detroit.

Members of the immediate families were present at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Pizer will return to Harrisville in September, where they will make their home.

Nomination petitions filed for county offices

Nomination petitions for the various county officers for the Primary Election, to be held September 10, were filed with County Clerk Johnson, by Tuesday of this week, which was the deadline date, except in the case of Probate Judge and Circuit Court Commissioner. They are required to run on a non-partisan ticket, and have until August 6th, to file. Judge Freer and Commissioner Beede have already filed their petitions.

Following is a list of the petitions filed:

Treasurer- Roy O. Elliott, unopposed
Clerk- Milo N. Johnson and Charles Cook.

Register of Deeds- Catherine Ritchie, Loretta Freer.

Sheriff- George Wilson, unopposed.

Prosecuting Attorney- Wm. R. Barber. Herbert Hertzler: Democratic Ticket, Lawrence Pizer.

Road Commissioner Milton Somers, Ralph Harmon: Democratic Ticket Frank Bell
Coroners- Wm. F. Carle, Blanche Karr.

Drain Commissioner- Johnson F. Ritchie.

poorest kind of plains. I was told they had cut four tons to the acre of it and they would cut two more tons; making six ton to the acre in one season. Last week while down in Iosco I learned that Rep. Follet had a farm about three miles out on the plains, so I was curious to see our representative and learn what he was doing on the plains.

I expected to see a big fat man with derby hat and a stiff collar and when I got to the farm I found a man cultivating a field of cucumbers and I asked if Mr. Follet was around and to my surprise he said this is him. I couldn't see but what he looked like any other farmer.

Then he took me all over his farm. He grows sand vetch and said the poorest of it would give him $25 per acre and some of it would give him $50. He has a two-acre lot of alfalfa and he had twenty hogs pasturing on it. He said he fed them nothing only water and they were in good growing order. That farm was nothing but Norway and jack-pine plains. He said the land cost him $1 per acre and he paid $3.50 per acre for getting it ready for the plow. Now I think that is a good enough object lesson of what our poorer lands will do if handled right.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Pluto: A New World to Explore
New Horizons made it past Pluto and its five satellites without incident on July 14, and it is now moving towards an encounter, in approximately four years, with another Kuiper Belt object. The slow data transfer from the spacecraft has kept images to a minimum, and astronomers on tiptoes for days. At the time this article was written, July 15, I was itching to make some initial guesses from the best photos received up until that time. See the images posted on "this week's StarWatch" at astronomy.org. Although Pluto basically orbits the sun on its side, and New Horizons punched through the Pluto system perpendicular to the orbits of its moons, I am labeling the pictures in a traditional fashion, up/down/left/right, as north/south/west/east to keep some sanity to my thoughts. The first aspect that struck me was the diversity of landscapes and that these are probably a function of internal and external changes occurring on and in Pluto. The lighter northern hemisphere is dotted with a myriad of craters, but they have been well worn over eons of time, maybe by a once thicker atmosphere or perhaps some melting process that comes to life as the dwarf planet gets nearer to the sun every 248 years. The southern hemisphere is darker, a sign that the terrain has been modified by external processes for a long period of time. As terrain ages, it picks up small bits and pieces of debris along the way darkening its surface. Yet in the southern hemisphere, there is this huge, worn, white impact feature dubbed unofficially as "the heart" which appears relatively featureless with large outflows to the east and to the south. Nitrogen geysers might be found there with tenuous winds moving some of that material away from the site. In addition, the southern hemisphere shows some recent cratering, new mountains, and what looks like several rift (fault) valleys. Whether I'm right or wrong, Pluto represents a whole new world which will be fun to explore. Stay tuned! www.astronomy.org

Moments In Time

By The History Channel

- On Aug. 4, 1892, Andrew and Abby Borden, elderly residents of Fall River, Mass., are found bludgeoned to death in their home. Suspicion soon fell on daughter Lizzie and the axe she'd just bought. At her trial, the jury only took 90 minutes to decide that such a sweet-looking Christian woman could never commit such a heinous crime.
- On Aug. 6, 1928, Andy Warhol, one of the most influential artists of the latter part of the 20th century, is born Andrew Warhola in Pennsylvania. After being incorrectly credited as "Warhol" under an early published drawing, he decided to permanently remove the "a" from his last name.
- On Aug. 9, 1945, a second atom bomb is dropped on Japan by the United States, at Nagasaki, resulting finally in Japan's surrender. The devastation wrought at Hiroshima had not been sufficient to persuade the Japanese War Council to accept the Potsdam Conference's demand for unconditional surrender.
- On Aug. 3, 1958, the U.S. nuclear submarine Nautilus accomplishes the first undersea voyage to the geographic North Pole. The Nautilus dived at Point Barrow, Alaska, and traveled nearly 1,000 miles under the Arctic ice cap to reach the top of the world.
- On Aug. 6, 1964, the United States Congress overwhelmingly approves the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution, giving President Lyndon B. Johnson nearly unlimited powers to oppose "communist aggression" in Southeast Asia. The resolution marked the beginning of an expanded military role for the United States in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.
- On Aug. 8, 1988, the Chicago Cubs host the first night game in the history of Wrigley Field. The first-ever night game in professional baseball took place nearly 60 years earlier in Des Moines, Iowa.
- On Aug. 5, 2002, the rusty iron gun turret of the ironclad warship U.S.S. Monitor was raised from the floor of the Atlantic, where it had rested since it went down in a storm off Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, during the Civil War. She sank in December 1862, while being towed from Cape Hatteras.

Strange But True

By Samantha Weaver

- It was Henry Brooks Adams, American historian and descendant of two U.S. presidents, who made the following sage observation: "They know enough who know how to learn."
- In show business, a name can make or break you, and many aspiring stars have tried to make themselves more appealing by getting rid of the name they were born with. Take famed film noir actor Peter Lorre: He was born Laszlo Lowenstein. Beloved cowboy actor Roy Rogers was named Leonard Slye; Doris Day was originally Doris Kappelhoff; and Natasha Gurdin changed her name to Natalie Wood. And would Boris Karloff have been so well-known as a villain if he'd used his given name, William Henry Pratt?
- Edgar Rice Burroughs, the author of "Tarzan of the Apes" and its 25 sequels, never actually visited Africa.
- If you're of a certain age and facing up to wrinkles, you might be interested to learn that, according to the American Academy of Dermatology, one of the top causes of skin wrinkles is your habitual sleeping position. Rounding out the top five contributing factors are sun exposure, gravity, smoking and facial expressions.
- An anteater can grow to be 6 feet long, yet its mouth is only 1 inch wide.
- Reportedly, anyone caught in the jaws of a crocodile can release him- or herself instantly by pressing on the animal's eyeballs (though I cannot personally attest to the veracity of this claim).
- In a recent survey of nearly 1,500 American adults, only 36 percent of respondents could correctly name all three branches of the United States government. Even more disturbing, a full 35 percent couldn't name even one branch.
