Farm Day: An old fashioned day of farming

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

A day of "old fashion" farming took place last Saturday at the second annual Farm Heritage Day sponsored by the Alcona Classic Tractor and Engine Club.

The event took place in Harrisville Township and consisted of demonstrations on binding oats, threshing, baling straw, mowing, plowing, operating a "hit-n-miss" engine, along with a display of approximately 50 antique tractors and other farm implements.

Dale Dellar and Bob French, members of the Alcona Classic Tractor and Engine Club said the annual fun farm day began last year as a way to show off their club tractors and equipment "in-motion" to the general public.

"Years ago neighbors got together and it was a crew effort to farm the land. Harvesting meant local men going from farm to farm until all the crops were done. It was long hard work. The women worked too, they had the unfortunate job of feeding all the men," Dellar said.

The free event did accept good will offerings as well as donated desserts, casseroles and salads. Bales of hay were also selling at $1.50 per bale with all funds going back to the club.

The club was the vision of the late Jim Pyne who worked diligently to get the club up and running about three years ago. Pyne passed away in 2015 just before the first Farm Heritage Day.

This year, for the first time in the club's short history, a small group of eight members trailered their antique tractors to Mackinaw City, Mich. to attend the ninth annual Tractors Crossing the Bridge Parade on September 9. Nearly 1,000 tractors are driven or trailered to the bridge from counties all over Michigan and beyond for the annual crossing. French said they had a really great time and can't wait to be involved in the bridge crossing next year with even more local tractors.

On Saturday, there was a demonstration of a very old McCormick grain binder which bundled the oats loosely before volunteers and club members pitched bales into a 1923 threshing machine. Fred Champagne of Harrisville owns both machines and was on hand to oversee the equipment.

The thresher was powered by a 1912 Advance-Rumley Steam Engine which runs on wood and coal. The steam engine has a steam whistle which sounds more like a locomotive than farm equipment. The steam engine was operated by Jesse Byler, the son of Joseph Byler of Mio, who owns the steam engine.

Wagon rides with a people mover were provided by Jim Hawkins. About 150 people attended the event. The day ended with a complete supper fit for hard working farmers and their hungry visitors.

The Alcona Classic Tractor and Engine Club meets on the third Wednesday of every month and has about 25 members, newcomers are always welcome.

For more information on the Alcona Classic Tractor and Engine Club, call Bob French at (989) 335-0009.

Veteran trains for marathon to benefit other veterans

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

It isn't uncommon to hear about one veteran helping another veteran - especially in Alcona County. However, one Harrisville veteran is going the "extra mile" to help other veterans - 26.2 miles to be exact.

Duane Dillard is running in the Chicago Marathon on October 9 to benefit Salute Inc., a nonprofit organization that works with veterans on an individual basis to provide help with housing, transportation, groceries, utility bills and other necessary aspects of their lives.

Dillard, who served in the U.S. Marine Corps for 23 years, has been "seriously" training since February. Anyone who travels along US-23, Lakeshore Drive, Alcona Road, Barlow Road or other gravel and seasonal roads in and around Harrisville and Lincoln may have noticed Dillard, who usually wears bright colored shirts while running or riding his bicycle.

He and his wife, Jocelyn, have been permanent residents of Harrisville for approximately four years. They have been part-time residents for 23 years after they purchased the house and lakefront property which was built by Allon Bullen, Joycelyn's grandfather, in the 1950s.

Both have settled into the community by getting involved with a variety of organizations. Dillard's focus has been helping veterans and children. He is an active member of the American Legion Post 254 in Mikado where he is the finance officer. He is also a volunteer with the Alcona Backpack program which raises money to provide children with nutritious food on weekends during the school year.

"I have traveled all over the world (while in the Marine Corps) and seen the devastation in many of those areas... I have two passions - look out for troops and helping kids in Alcona County," Dillard said. "Last year I helped raise over $4,000 for the backpack program. This year there are 94 kids in the backpack program at Alcona schools. I can't sit by idly and see things like this (kids going hungry) in our commu-

Local athlete earns gold at national games

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

"Believe you can and you're halfway there."

~ Theodore Roosevelt

Athletes come in all shapes, sizes, and abilities but one Alcona County resident who "believed he could" has achieved some fairly amazing goals considering the limitations he deals with on a daily basis.

Kevin Bradley of Harrisville brought home five gold medals in July which he earned at the 36th National Veterans Wheelchair Games held in Salt Lake City, Utah. He received first place medals in all but two events, bringing home gold for shot put, javelin, discus, trap shooting and archery. The two events he didn't medal in was hand cycling and air rifles.

It was the fifth year in a row he has brought home medals from the national games, despite suffering a neck injury this past February. Bradley typically enters marathons after competing in the games but decided not to this summer to give his neck a rest.

Showcasing athletic abilities and personal achievements of disabled veterans while highlighting the benefits of sports rehabilitative programs is what the National Veterans Wheelchair Games are all about, something that really appeals to Bradley.

"We encourage others to get out there and try and even have a kid's day event during the games to get kids in wheelchairs trying different sports," Bradley said.

Bradley, who served in the Air Force for 14 years, suffers from a rare neurological disease, spinocerebellar ataxia, which is in the same family of muscle weakening diseases as muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis and Parkinson's disease.

Of all the sporting events he has entered Bradley said he enjoys hand cycling the most and had hoped to do well at the games this year but said the 10 kilometer (10K) event in Salt Lake City, Utah was considerably longer than most 10K races.

Typically, a 10 kilometer race measures equal to about 6.2 miles, but after the race at the Salt Lake City, Utah games Bradley's cycle odometer read he cycled 8.5 miles. "The officials knew about it. It was a lot longer race," Bradley said.

He explained at an earlier 10K race this year in Saginaw, Mich. during the Thunder in the Valley Games he clocked in at 33:17 minutes and took home a third place medal, but at the games in Salt Lake City, Utah he clocked in at 43:32. He said of the 120 entries at the 10K in Salt Lake City, Utah 35 percent didn't even finish.

For any athlete traveling to a competition there is a great amount of logistics involved in handling the equipment needed for their event, but for a handicapped athlete the equipment list is considerably greater.

Bradley said he has learned a lot about traveling to competitions and no longer trusts airlines to get all of his sporting and other equipment, such as wheelchairs, which he needs to be independently mobile as possible,

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
Friedrich Nietzsche, the 19th century German philosopher, is credited with having written, "I'm not upset that you lied to me, I'm upset that from now on, I can no longer believe you."

He could have been referring to Hillary Clinton. I would postulate that even the staunchest Clinton supporter, who saw her collapse during the recent 9/11 memorial, must doubt that she suffered/suffers from something as benign as pneumonia. If the question exists, it is because she has lied so many times in the past that she cannot be believed now.

Dennis A. Roy

To the Editor,
Gary Earl Johnson is a businessman and the Libertarian Party nominee for president in the 2016 election. He entered politics for the first time by running for governor of New Mexico in 1994, on a fiscally conservative, low-tax and anticrime platform. Johnson defeated incumbent Democratic Gov. Bruce King.

During his tenure as governor, Johnson became known as "Veto Johnson" and "Governor Veto." As governor, he set state and national records for use of his veto and line-item veto powers. He vetoed 200 of 424 bills in his first six months in office — a national record of 47 percent of all state legislation — and used the line-item veto on most remaining bills.

In 1998, Johnson ran for re-election against a Democrat, Albuquerque Mayor Martin Chaves. Fielding a strong Hispanic candidate in a 40-percent Hispanic state, Democrats were expected to oust Johnson, but he won by a 10 percent margin, making him the first governor of New Mexico to serve two consecutive four-year terms after term limits were expanded in the state in 1991.

Johnson became one of the highest-ranking elected officials in the USA to advocate the legalization of marijuana, saying the war on drugs was "an expensive bust." He suggested that drug abuse be treated as a health issue, not a criminal one. On May 29, 2016, Johnson won the Libertarian nomination, and he selected former Republican Massachusetts Gov. William Weld as his running mate.

Hey guys, work hard to get 15 percent of the major polls so you would be eligible to shock the nation by using "Truman's campaign style" while debating Trump and Clinton.

to their destination safely.

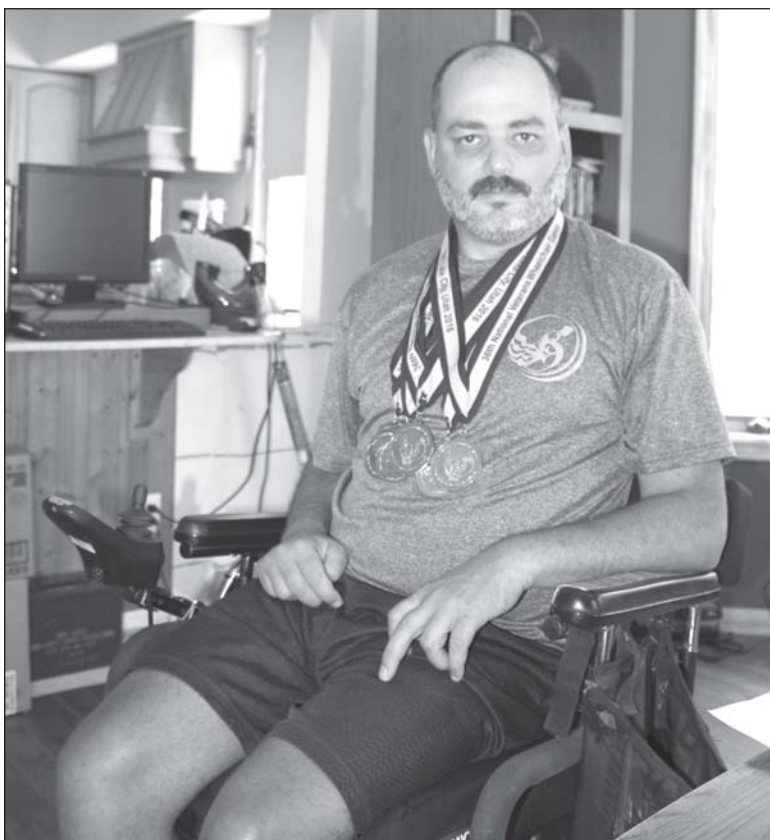

"I never fly anywhere, I always drive, that way I know my stuff will still be in one piece when I get there," Bradley said.

This year Bradley drove to Utah with his coach, Phil Chester of Clarkston, Mich., who has been by his side through all five years of competing in the national games and a teammate/captain, Ray Brown of North Branch, Mich.

All the equipment and traveling is expensive and Bradley seeks sponsors from Tawas to Alpena for his sporting events.

Bradley is also an avid outdoorsman who has traveled several times to hunt in Manitoba, Canada. Former Alcona County resident, Mike Campbell, invited Bradley to visit Manitoba and hunt in 2011 and continues to invite him back. "He keeps accommodating me and I keep going back. I killed a bear last May and another one in September (2015). What's unique about black bears in Canada is they are black bears but their color fades and can be cinnamon, brown and blond," Bradley said. He has killed both a cinnamon and a blond black bear.

When he isn't hunting in Canada, he's been involved in the United States Outfitter (USO) programs which are hunts for handicapped veterans whenever possible. As part of that program he hunted in Arizona and shot a Russian boar, exotic goat, a cow elk and a mountain lion.

He explained no meat is ever wasted from his kills. What meat he doesn't share with relatives, he donates to veterans. He also has many of his kills mounted and displayed in his home.

Bradley said he just enjoys getting outdoors in between hunting trips and training for sporting competitions.

He especially enjoys helping his fellow veterans and his latest mission is to build gun racks for Camp Hope -- a 170-acre farm located in Missouri which offers free outdoor adventures to combat wounded veterans. Veterans at the camp can shoot skeet, hunt turkey and deer, fish, hike, explore the country or just relax.

On Bradley's last visit to Camp Hope he noticed the main dining hall, which is the only area the veterans can gather in large groups to eat meals and socialize, had no gun racks to store their equipment while they eat, so Bradley is currently trying to change that by making and donating the gun racks.

Bradley has transportation lined up to get the racks to the camp, but needs some assistance with materials and labor to make the racks. Anyone wishing to offer assistance may do so by texting, which Bradley prefers due to muscle weakness affecting his speech, to (585) 815-5206. — Super Crossword —

Chorus members have pride in singing and many do not read music, and some have never sung before being part of the chorus. Dillard, 57, is on an aggressive training program designed by George Morse, the owner and operator of the Michigan Fit Club in Oscoda. In addition to running and riding his bicycle at least 20 miles at a time, he is in the gym two times a week. He is running the marathon with a friend, Mike Winhiem, who is also running for Salute, Inc. Each initially pledged $1,500 to the organization.

Dillard has exceeded his original goal of raising $1,500 and is hoping to be able to double that amount by race day. He is thankful for all of the support he’s received to date and is still collecting donations for the veteran’s organization until he leaves for the marathon.

This will be Dillard’s fourth marathon – although, it is the first since his honorable discharge from the Marine Corps. – and Winhiem’s third. “This is a great way to support the troops,” Dillard said. “I am funding it all – training, transportation, lodging, etc.) on my own. One hundred percent of all donations received will go to help troops.”

The Dillard family has two sons; their oldest lives in Chicago, Ill. and they will be going to the windy city a week before the marathon to “acclimatize”

Alcona soccer rolls to 6-0 win over Cheboygan

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity soccer team picked up a convincing 6-0 win over visiting Cheboygan on Saturday, Sept. 17 giving the Tigers a non-conference win over a much bigger school.

“That’s our fourth shutout in a row, things are starting to come together for us,” said head coach Tim Munro.

Alcona scored three goals in the first 17 minutes of action, with Jordan Steiner getting the first goal just five minutes into the game after winning a free ball and breaking away from the Chief defense.

Brendan Nelson followed that with a goal in the 11th minute and Steiner added his second on another break away with 23:03 left in the half.

Steiner added two more goals before the night was over, with Jake Gallagher also kicking in one to round out the scoring. Goalie Conner

McCoy made eight saves to get his fourth straight shutout.

On Wednesday, Sept. 14 the Tigers won a key North Star League game at Oscoda, 5-0. Alcona had three goals from Steiner, Josh Kilbourn and Gallagher had one goal each.

“We tied with them last year for the league, I told the kids this was our whole season, that this is what we were working for -- for the games against Oscoda,” Munro said. “We played well, we shut them out in what we feel was a pretty convincing win.”

On Monday, Sept. 12 the Tigers hosted North Star League foe Whittemore-Prescott and rolled to an 8-0 victory.

Kilbourn had two goals with Steiner, Nelson, Gallagher, Rachel Warner, Matt Warner and Aidan Wrobel adding one goal each.

Alcona is 6-5 overall, 3-0 NSL. The Tigers hosted Grayling on Tuesday, hosts Fairview on Wednesday and travels to the Alpena tournament on Saturday, Sept. 24.

“We’re more than halfway through our season and coming off of four shutouts in a row,” Munro said. “That’s good for us, I don’t think we’ve ever done that before.”

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Health tips and advice for senior travelers

Dear Savvy Senior,
My husband and I are recently retired and would like to do some traveling both in the United States and abroad, but worry about health issues, such as insurance, finding a good hospital if we get sick, etc. What tips can you offer health conscious seniors who want to travel?
Older Travelers

Dear Travelers,
A dream vacation can turn into a real nightmare if you get sick or injured while you're away and aren't prepared. Before setting out, here are some simple steps to help ensure a safe and healthy trip.
Talk to your doctor: If you have a medical condition or health concerns, a good first step is to talk with your doctor now about what precautions you need to take before traveling. You should also have your doctor's contact information with you when you travel, as well as a list of your medical conditions and the medications you're taking in case you need emergency medical care while you're away.

If you're traveling outside the U.S., you need to find out the health conditions of the country you're visiting and what, if any, vaccinations and/or preventative medications are recommended. See CDC.gov/travel or call 800-232-463 to get this information.
Check your insurance: If you have health insurance or a Medicare Advantage plan through an HMO or PPO that covers in-network doctors only, check your plan to find out what's covered if you need medical care when traveling outside your geographic area. Beneficiaries that have original Medicare are covered everywhere in the U.S. But if you're traveling abroad, you need to know that original Medicare does not cover medical expenses beyond the border except in rare circumstances, although some Medicare Advantage plans and some Medigap supplemental policies do. And, many private health plans don't pay health care costs outside the U.S.

either. Be sure to check.
If you need coverage when traveling abroad, get a comprehensive travel medical insurance policy that covers medical care, medical evacuation and trip cancellation coverage. See InsureMyTrip.com and SquareMouth.com to shop and compare policies.
Locate health care: Before your trip, find out what health and urgent care facilities are near the areas you're visiting. Your hotel can help you with this, or see Urgent-CareLocations.com or USHospitalFinder.com for U.S. facilities.
If you're traveling abroad, the U.S. consulate or embassy in the countries you're visiting (go to step.state.gov to enroll your trip) is a good place to get a referral.
Or join the International Association for Medical Assistance to Travelers (IAMAT.org), which provides its members access to a worldwide network of physicians who speak English and have agreed to affordable prearranged fees.

Savvy Senior

Membership is free.
Pack your meds: Make sure you have a sufficient supply of medications to last the entire trip.
If traveling by air, you need to pack your medicine in your carry-on bag, so if your checked luggage gets lost or misdirected you won't be without. It's best to keep your medications in their original containers to get through airport security without delays. It's also a good idea to bring along a note from your doctor that explains why you take these medications, especially if syringes or other medical supplies are involved.
For airport security requirements visit TSA.gov - click on "Disabilities and Medical Conditions." You can also call TSA Cares at 855-787-2227 prior to traveling with questions about screening policies, procedures and what to expect at the security checkpoint.
Seek mobility aids: If mobility is an issue and you're flying to your destination, call your airline before you leave and ask them to supply you a wheelchair to use while you're in the airport. And when booking hotel reservations, ask for an accessible room that accommodates wheelchairs and walkers.

Lady Tigers face fierce competition in Grayling

By Hope Smith
Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity volleyball team participated in tournament action on Saturday, Sept. 17 at Grayling High School against athletes from Harrison, Kingsley and Grayling.

All teams played best of two sets. In the first match of the day, Alcona was defeated by Kingsley High School 25-16, 25-9. The Lady Tigers split a pair with Harrison winning the first set 25-15 but come up short 25-23 in the second.

In the final game of the day against Grayling Alcona fell 25-11 in the first but came out on top 25-22 in the second. Overall Alcona finished the day 2-4.

"We faced some solid competition that proved to be very consistent," said coach Kristi Miller. "We showed that we could match these teams when we worked defensively and anticipated their attacks and when we made aggressive plays at the net by finding holes in their defense. It is important that we strive to be more consistent and work together. In order to perform at our best, everyone must step up."

Taylor Livingston got the job done on defense for Alcona with 15 digs and three blocks. Kendra LaFave and Maddie Lane dialed in three aces each, LaFave and Brittany Decker had nine kills each and Keilee Elmer added 68 assists for the day.

The Lady Tigers headed south to take on AuGres Sims High School on September 15. They defeated AuGres in four sets to bring home the victory. Alcona came up shy on points in the first set 25-20, but came back strong in the second and third sets to secure 25-20 wins in both.

"We came out a little off and gave up a handful of non-contested points. After the first set, we settled down and made some adjustments. It was a battle," Miller said.

In the final set of the night, the Lady Tigers dug in deep defensively to secure the 25-18 win. "The girls had a huge night defensively, which definitely sparked our offense. We had a very balanced attack and that is what will bring us the most success. Overall, it was a great win," Miller said.

Lane led Alcona offensively with seven aces and defense specialist Jordan Joyce hit the floor with 15 digs. Jenelle Carpenter snapped down 10 kills and Livingston perfectly timed three blocks in Alcona's win.

The Lady Tigers were back will host Mio-Au Sable Thursday, Sept. 22 for more volleyball action.

Alcona puts up 58 points in win over Au Gres

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity football team was no stranger to the scoreboard Friday night, as it put up its most points of the season, beating visiting AuGres 58-20 in a North Star League crossover game.

"The players played with a lot of heart and were very focused on their assignments," said Alcona head coach Jason Somers. "The thing that stood out to me most was the focus on our game. The players hosted parents night before the game and got out of our routine, and they also had a last minute personnel change that shifted many players and instead of letting that effect them they executed the game plan just the same."

The visiting Wolverines entered the game undefeated, fueled by a high-powered passing attack by sophomore quarterback Caden Zeien and averaged over 42 points a game. The Tigers used their own high powered offense, led by a monster 325 yard rushing night by Brock Franklin and largely held AuGres offense in check.

"I think the athletes are becoming more comfortable with the scheme on offense, allowing us to play more players and block more efficiently and our backs were explosive," Somers said. "The defense played very well against the pass, we knew they would hit a few, however overall we played well."

Right off the bat Alcona used an 11 play scoring drive to take the early lead, capped by a five yard run by Tim Hutchinson.

After a quick defensive stop, Franklin found the endzone for his first of five touchdowns on the night, storming in from 44-yards out just two plays into the Alcona drive.

A run by Zeien helped AuGres trim the Alcona lead to 14-6 early in the second quarter, but Alcona answered that with a passing touchdown, getting Damion Stewart to hit Zac Ayers for a score from 35 yards out.

Shortly before the half, Franklin added another rushing touchdown, giving the Tigers a commanding 30-6 lead at the intermission.

The third quarter saw Franklin score on runs of 40 and 80 yards out, and after a safety on defense, Dresden Parkinson got in on the scoring act with a 20-yard score.

In the fourth quarter, Franklin had his longest run of the night, scoring from 87-yards away.

Franklin finished with 325 yards and five touchdowns on 24 carries. Hutchinson had 132 yards, one touchdown on 15 carries. On defense, it was Cody Schram with 11 tackles and Parkinson took down nine.

Alcona is 3-1 overall, 1-0 NSL Big Dipper. The Tigers play at Whittemore-Prescott on Friday, Sept. 23 in a key conference match-up.

The Cardinals topped Alcona 14-8 last year and are also coming off a 42-13 win over Atlanta last week.

"The keys to winning are the same every week, execute, limit turnovers and limit penalties," Somers said. "Our young men are looking forward to this challenge. We will prepare and be ready for this game."

Birding BITS BY Cindy Brook

Monarch Protection
A chemical in milkweed causes monarch caterpillars to be poisonous to birds. While these caterpillars will not kill a bird if eaten, they taste pretty bad and birds will spit it out. This offers great protection for caterpillars, since birds will not try to eat them again.

Local church to host fall hunting event

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

It's that time of year again, days are a little shorter and trees are just starting to have a few red and yellow leaves.

It's the beginning of fall and young and old hunters alike have already begun preparations and are looking forward to deer hunting season.

It's also the season of deer hunter roundups including the seventh annual deer hunter roundup at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Hubbard Lake.

This community event will take place on Saturday, Sept. 24 rain or shine from noon to 5 p.m. and includes many aspects geared to pique the interest of outdoorsmen and women such as deer blinds, deer hunting question and answer sessions, tree safety, a silent auction, archery shoot, vendors and more. Although this is a free event, the church is asking for donations of canned goods or nonperishable items (paper products) to support local food pantries if possible.

The annual event was held in October but was moved to September to include bow hunters. Randy Fairbanks from the St. Paul Lutheran Church men's club said moving the date will also give those who win the bid on an auctioned deer blind time to use the blind this season.

There will be five deer blind entries made by local churches and organizations. Fairbanks explained each blind is judged by three independent judges who rate them on a point system for functionality and ease of use.

The entity that receives the highest independent rating wins bragging rights and a plaque. All blinds are auctioned off at 4 p.m. during the roundup event. "The auction money the deer blind receives goes right back to the church or organization who made the blind and is used for ministry/community purpose, not for salaries," Fairbanks said.

Over the past several years there has been as many as 12 different churches participating in the deer blind entries, according to Fairbanks. Some blinds were auctioned for $3,000 to $4,000 and others have gone for as little as $100 to $200. "In the past this was only open to local churches but over the years there has been some burn-out with making the blinds so this year we have opened it up to not just churches, but any nonprofit organization," Fairbanks said.

The archery shoot will be held outdoors and bows and arrows will be provided. Fairbanks said they are calling it a "cloud shoot" where an arrow will be shot and arched to hit a target lying flat in the field. One of the targets will have a $100 bill attached and whoever hits it first wins it. Each shot will cost $1.

The trail camera photo competition will be a people's choice, probably with a jar that people can put money in for their favorite trail camera photo, much like a baby photo contest, according to Fairbanks. Trail camera photos should be e-mailed to vickytimm@exede.net.

Lots of food will be available throughout the day including the sale of homemade soup, hamburgers, hot dogs and soft drinks. The event offers a bake and holiday snack sale while supply lasts. A competitive chili cook-off will run from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. which will cost $1 to taste.

Fairbanks said they invite area sausage makers to give free samples of venison sausage and he believes this year a vendor may be offering goose sausage as well.

The Northeast Michigan Quality Deer Management Association will hold a question and answer session from noon to 3 p.m. and the Michigan Department of Natural Resource question and answer session will run from 1 to 3 p.m. Tree stand safety with Hurricane Safety Systems from Traverse City, Mich., will run from 3 to 4 p.m.

A silent auction, with baskets made by different churches and organizations, will be held from noon to 3 p.m. and will contain some pretty nice things including a handmade sighting bench and a hunter's quilt, according to Fairbanks. The winning entry participant must be present to win. Again, just like the deer blind, whatever the item is auctioned for those monies go back to that church/organization.

Fairbanks explained one of the most interesting things of the roundup is the deer hunter static display which will be available throughout the event and includes items such as old camp photographs, mounts, newspaper articles, old deer rifles, and written tales from the deer blind.

The men's group at St. Paul's began working on their blind the week after the fourth of July and put in about two hours of work on it each week. "Sometimes we have as many as 10 guys show up with various skill levels," Fairbanks said. This year's St. Paul's entry is a log structure complete with deer antler trim on the interior of the main windows, deer antler coat rack and two decorative stained glass windows. The outside is complete with a front porch and is suitable as a children's playhouse or other uses besides just accommodating deer hunters.

Fairbanks also explained that while this was a church event there is no pressure to join a church. "The event intention is just to be a social event. We're not selling a doctrine, it's just a get together for a good time," Fairbanks said.

The blinds are currently on display at the front of the church. St. Paul Lutheran Church is located at 6891 Nicholson Hill Road in Hubbard Lake (at the corner of Hubbard Lake Road and Nicholson Hill Road). This event is wheelchair accessible.

The Garden Bug

The sap of the giant hogweed plant can cause severe skin and eye irritation, painful blistering, permanent scarring and blindness when combined with sunlight exposure. It is contacted by brushing against the bristles on the stem or breaking the stem or leaves.

If you come in contact with the sap, wash it off as soon as possible with soap and water, and keep the affected skin hidden from sunlight for 48 hours. Giant hogweed is listed as a "noxious weed" by the US government.

The red-spotted purple
(Limenitis arthemis astyanax)
This butterfly lives from Florida over to eastern Texas, and northward into Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, New York, Vermont, and New Hampshire. Adults prefer to feed on tree sap, fermenting fruit or dung, but they also take nectar from flowers and frequently feed at mud puddles. Plant hosts for red-spotted purple larvae are black cherry, deerberry, willows, aspens, poplars, cottonwood, hawthorn, birches and black oak. - Brenda Weaver

A wagon deal

Hawes Twp. Man Has Law Suit on His Hands

September 17, 1915 - A warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff Bruder Monday for the arrest of John O'Connor of Lincoln, wanted here on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The warrant was sworn out before Justice Max Kuhlman by Christopher Brege of Moltke, the swindled man in the case. Unless O'Connor settles the case he will be brought here for trial shortly. According to Brege, he bought a wagon from O'Connor about a year ago, paying him fifty dollars for it. A short time after he had it McHarg Company of Alpena came up for the wagon, having lein notes on it from O'Connor, who had purchased it from them and never paid for it. In order to protect himself Mr. Brege took up the notes and then attempted to get a settlement with O'Connor. After paying ten dollars on the notes the latter paid no more attention with the result that the warrant was sworn out—Rogers City Advance

Pine River Bridge

The Court Has Not Yet Given Its Decision

September 20, 1900 - In the mandamus proceedings to compel the highway commissioner of Mikado township to build a bridge over Pine river, the jury found that a public highway existed at the place in question, that it was necessary for public safety that a bridge be built over said river and that the cost of constructing such bridge would be $900. They also found that the highway commissioner presented the petition to the town board, but that the said board did not approve of the matter.

Council for defense asked that the proceedings be dismissed on the ground that the town board did not approve of the construction of the bridge, and therefore under the law the commissioner couldn't build it.

The court will give a decision on the question in two weeks Notice.

Gored by a Bull

Samuel Barker Now Lying at the Point of Death.

September 20, 1900 - Samuel Barker, living at "Long Hollow" between Harrisville and Lincoln, was injured near unto death Monday by the attacks of an angry bull.

Mr. Barker was attempting to put the animal into a pen away from other cattle, when it became enraged and attacked him savagely.

The unfortunate man was gored in a frightful manner about the abdomen, chest and head. At last reports his recovery was doubtful.

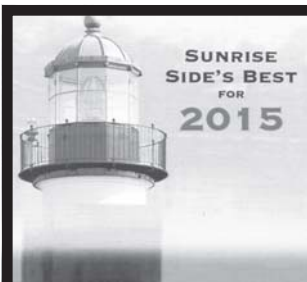

A Corn Roast

September 20, 1900 - A band of bold and desperate spirits was abroad in the north end of town on Thursday evening of last week, and they were evidently out for a purpose.

The rendezvous was on the beach below the Baror residence, where a bonfire was built and a council of war held. A raid on the neighboring cornfields was decided upon and put into execution with complete success.

Then the roasting and feasting began. It was nip and tuck as to who could eat the greatest number of ears, but the distinction finally went to the new professor. He said he had pulled a great many ears in his day, but this was his first experience at roasting them.

In the midst of the feast the ghost appeared. A detachment immediately set out to capture it, and returned shortly with fragments of the remains, the rest of "it" having vanished in thin air or in the canal. The Roasters dispersed at a late hour.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Proxima: To "B" or Not To Be?

When the Robinson family (1965) in Lost in Space blasted from Earth on the Jupiter 2, a futuristic saucer-shaped spaceship, little did they know that one day "art" might actually imitate science. The mission was to take a single family on a five-and-a-half-year journey to a planet orbiting the nearest star system, Alpha Centauri. In 1965 it was known that Alpha Centauri had a companion star, a low mass, hydrogen burning, red dwarf called Proxima, circling Alpha. What the scientific community didn't realize was that Proxima actually did have a planet orbiting it, and not in just any arbitrary location. "B" was in the Goldilocks Zone. You remember the fairy tale of The Three Bears and Goldilocks coming across their bowls of porridge while Papa, Mama, and Baby Bear were out for a walk in the woods? Goldilocks couldn't resist entering the bears' home and tasting the gruel, finding that one bowl was too hot, the other too cold, but the baby bear's porridge was just right, just at the perfect temperature for eating. That is where Proxima Centauri B is positioned with respect to its orbital distance around Proxima, in the zone of habitability. In our solar system, Earth and Mars lie in the Goldilocks Zone. Proxima is positioned on the sunward side of Alpha, so it is the closest star to our solar system. Proxima B, therefore, is the closest exoplanet to us. It has a mass between 1.3 and 3 Earths and a temperature of -38 degrees F, if it does not possess an atmosphere. Take away Earth's atmosphere, and our (equilibrium) temperature would be -1 degree F. Because red dwarfs are cool stars, Proxima B is only 5 million miles from its "sun" and completes one orbit in just over 11 days. Proxima is also known as a flare star prone to large changes in energy production which would irradiate the planet if it did not have a protective atmosphere. There are lots of other "ifs" with Proxima B surrounding its possibilities for supporting life. But who knows, maybe the Robinson family got it right after all? www.astronomy.org

Strange But True

By Samantha Weaver

- It was ancient Stoic philosopher Epictetus -- who served as a slave to a freedman named Epaphroditos, who was himself a secretary to the infamous Roman emperor Nero -- who made the following observation: "Men are not disturbed by things, but the view they take of things." (In an interesting side note, upon hearing that quotation, a professor of psychology named Herb Kimmel reportedly responded: "What about things like bullets?")
- The next time you're outside enjoying a morning serenade, consider this tidbit: Most bird songs are cries of war, not courtship.
- Most people know "Mary Poppins" from the 1964 Disney film, but the character was created by author P.L. Travers and first appeared in a children's book published in 1934. Walt Disney loved the story and wanted to make it into a movie, but it took more than 20 years for him to convince Travers to approve the plan.
- Beloved American author Kurt Vonnegut studied biochemistry in college.
- You may think you know what color a polar bear's fur is, but you're probably wrong: It's not white; it's translucent. The fur appears white because it reflects visible light -- in fact, polar bears are nearly invisible in infrared photography. If you've seen a polar bear in a zoo, though, you may have noticed a greenish tinge to its fur; this color comes from algae, which tends to form when the bears are in warm and humid environments to which they're not accustomed.
- You might be surprised to learn that the first drive-in theater in the United States was opened all the way back in 1921, in downtown Comanche, Texas. Attendees parked bumper to bumper to watch screenings of silent films.
