Alcona County Fair offers something for everyone

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Each August there is a special kind of stirring in the community. It is a feeling of togetherness, pride and excitement. A sense of genuine wellness is in the air. It is a time of laughter, cheer and a sense of accomplishment for many.

It is time, once again, for the Alcona County Fair.

Offering something of interest for everyone, this marks the 47th year of the fair which will run next week from Tuesday, Aug. 14 through Saturday, Aug. 18.

A few standards will again greet fair goers this year such as the ice cream social, steak fry dinner, horse pull, mud run, bump and run, midway amusement rides, home arts exhibitions and, of course, the showing of animals and the Junior Livestock Club Market Sale.

There are, however, a few things which the fair offered in the past which will not be available this year; the tractor pull and the mud drags. According to fair board president, Doug Travis, over the years, interest in those two events waned and they just didn't draw the crowd to have the tractor pull and mud drags pay off.

"We were also in competition with the Hale Mud Drag the same week, which is a huge mud drag, and pulled away participants from ours. We might bring the mud drag back in the future or think about changing our fair week. A lot of consideration has to go into changing the week though to make sure other attractions we count on won't be affected. If we have it a week later it could affect college bound students from fair activities," Travis said.

Instead of those two events, the fair board has commissioned a motocross and BMX bike stunt show, Sick Air, which will be performing thrilling airborne stunts on Friday evening. Local musician, Jeffrey Claus, will be performing music, magic and balloon artistry. Claus performed just two shows during last year's fair and was so popular the fair board asked him to come back and perform two shows daily, one will be music filled, the other a magic show.

The fair is also bringing back the parade to the fair grounds. "We used to always

Nature preserve comes to Hubbard Lake

Huron Pines is opening its first nature preserve. The Hubbard Lake Preserve will provide a peaceful escape into the forest just up the road from Hubbard Lake.

The 80-acre property has two miles of trails for year-round recreation as well as two onsite structures that can be converted into classroom, office and meeting spaces. The preserve will be a place for residents, visitors, local organizations and schools to enjoy, according to Connie Schreiber, treasurer of the Huron Pines board of directors.

She explained this unexpected opportunity came to Huron Pines as a gift from John and Wendy Frye. The gift is made even more significant by the fact that John is a habitat project manager at Huron Pines. They have owned the property for the last 15 years, "first calling it home, and then calling it camp," Frye said. "This fully wooded property is the backdrop of countless family memories, and in our opinion, is one of the most unique and beautiful properties in the region."

According to Schreiber, Huron Pines intends for the Hubbard Lake Preserve to be a place where people build memories—where grandparents take their grandchildren for walks in the woods, where third graders learn how the forest helps keep the water they swim in clean. There's no better way to guarantee the protection of natural resources than to give people an opportunity to experience wonder and awe for the natural world.

"When you say 'Hubbard

Lake,' it gives me a good feeling. That was one of the happiest times of my life. Sharing it with family and being out in the open," Schreiber said. She started visiting Hubbard Lake when she was just six years old. It's the place where she first built a connection with nature, where she learned to fish and swim and as she puts it, "appreciate the beauty of the trees and shade and being outdoors. She believes that, "everybody should do that, should have that opportunity to be exposed to [the outdoors] and just fall in love with it."

Schreiber's sentiments are in line with the vision for the preserve that the Fries have shared with Huron Pines. "Our goal is to create a nature preserve so residents and guests can enjoy a forested landscape forever—a place of peace and relaxation, research and education," she said.

"I am familiar with the qualities an organization must possess to protect a piece of land," John Frye said. He worked for a land trust in northern Michigan and sat on a land trust board in Marquette, Mich. "Knowing that Huron Pines has the fiscal strength and motivated staff needed to steward the property, we are confident that they are the most equipped and prepared for our donation."

Schreiber explained Huron Pines is up to the challenge and looking forward to the many opportunities the preserve will hold for the future. The first step is to raise funds to start an endowment for the preserve and to cover the initial costs of maintenance, utilities, signage and seating that will make the preserve ready for the public to use.

In addition to providing residents and visitors with easy access to recreational opportunities, the long-term goal is for the preserve to support environmental education curriculum and research projects related to conservation and land management, she explained.

Huron Pines is seeking $65,000 in private funding to make the preserve fully accessible to the public.

An open house will be held at the preserve, 720 Holiday Inn Road, Hubbard Lake, on Tuesday, Aug. 21 from 3 to 6 p.m. for anyone in the area who would like to ask questions or provide feedback on the future of the preserve.

To learn more or to donate to the preserve visit bit.ly/hubbardlake. Huron Pines is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization and an equal opportunity provider with a mission to protect the Great Lakes by conserving the forests, lakes and streams of Northeast Michigan. Huron Pines believes that through active leadership and coordination of conservation projects we can support stewardship of the water, wildlife and community in the places we live and love.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Where seniors can get help with home chores and small jobs

Dear Savvy Senior,
What's the best way to find good, trustworthy, qualified people who can help seniors with home chores or small jobs?

Looking for Mom

Dear Looking,

Getting help at home for any number of household tasks is a lot easier than it used to be thanks to a number of web-based tools that can quickly and easily connect you and your mom to a wide variety of skilled, carefully vetted workers.

One of the best ways to find qualified, reliable, trustworthy people that can help with home chores and other small jobs is through referrals from people you trust. But if your friends or family don't have any recommendations, there are a number of online companies you can turn to now like TaskRabbit.com and Takl.com.

These are on-demand service companies that can quickly and easily connect you to skilled workers to handle a wide variety of household chores and small jobs, like cleaning and house-keeping, moving and packing, lawn and yard cleanup, handyman tasks, grocery shopping, running errands, furniture assembly, picture hanging, closet organizing, and much more.

TaskRabbit currently has more than 60,000 Taskers (workers) in 47 U.S. cities, while Takl currently serves 75 U.S. cities with around 35,000 workers.

All you need to do is download their app, or go to their website, and select the service your mom wants done and set a time when she would like the worker to show up. The software then matches your request and provides you a list of qualified, feedback rated workers (including their hourly rate) from which to choose. Once the job is complete, payment is done through the company's app.

You should also know that all TaskerRabbit and Takl workers have to go through a thorough vetting process before they can join their respective company including extensive background checks.

If, however, you can't find a skilled worker through TaskRabbit or Takl, or if they don't serve your area, another option is Amazon Home Services at Amazon.com/services. Like TaskRabbit and Takl, Amazon will connect you to qualified workers that handle dozens of household chores and other small jobs.

Amazon also screens all workers through media searches, online interviews, reference checks, and background checks. And all experts need to have licenses and insurance.

To purchase and book a service, you can either buy a prepackaged service with a fixed price (like two hours of cleaning) or you can submit a custom request and receive estimates. When booking, you select three different dates and time frames and the pro confirms an appointment. All payment is done through your Amazon account.

If your mom primarily needs of a tradesman like a plumber, electrician, painter, roofer or carpenter for home repairs or remodel projects, you should also check HomeAdvisor.com and AngiesList.com. Both of these sites can connect you with prescreened, customer-rated service professionals in your area for free.

Another option you should know about is AskUmbrella.com, which is a fee-based membership service for seniors 60-plus that provides qualified, vetted workers to do small jobs in and around the house for only $16 per hour. Currently available in New York, they are expanding nationally over the next year.

If your mom is on a tight budget, you should also contact her nearby Area Aging Agency call (800) 677-1116, who can refer you to services in her area, if available. For example, some communities have volunteer programs that provide chore and handyman services to help seniors in need. And some local non-profit's offer residential repair services that offer seniors minor upgrades and adaptations to their homes.

Strength and a little insanity go hand-in-hand in horsepull competition

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

The combination of the raw power of a team of draft horses weighing nearly 6,000 pounds pulling stone blocks up to 15,000 pounds and some "half-crazy horse fools" who can't wait to drive a team is apparently the perfect combination to compete with the Michigan Horsepulling Boat Association (MHBA).

"You would have to be a half-crazy horse fool to want to do this sport," said Don Darnell, president of MHBA.

The association will once again be bringing the sport of horsepulling to the Alcona County Fair horse arena on Wednesday, Aug. 15 at 6 p.m.

Don said it does take some insanity to compete at horsepulling. He should know, he has been around the sport of horsepulling all his life.

Don, who is now 73, doesn't seem to be slowing down with his passion for the sport. He and his wife, Mary Kay, travel throughout Michigan putting on about 27 horsepull competitions per year. It is less competitions than they used to do, which once averaged from 35 to 40 pulls a year, but it isn't less because they are slowing down, it is just the sport itself is dwindling.

"Old ones (teams and drivers) are dying out and young drivers who would like to be involved just can't afford it. It can be a very expensive endeavor. It used to be a team of seasoned horses would cost about $750. Now a single green horse, with no experience can cost between $10,000 and $12,000. A single winning horse can run between $60,000 to $80,000.

"The cost has hurt the association and the sport, but it keeps going. We've got some millionaires who pull, and to them, winning is everything. The sport won't die out in my lifetime, but I'm concerned about its future," he said.

Don isn't sure why he loves the sport of horsepulling as much as he does but, his dad was a puller and that might have something to do with it. "When I was young I really didn't have much desire to do it. It was just something we did. It can be very dangerous," he said as he held up a hand where two fingertips were missing at the first knuckle.

He said it was one of his most memorable moments and happened when he was eight years old. Don was helping hook up horses for a pull. For some reason he ran behind the pull and grabbed the sled just as the weights came back, in an instant his fingertips were gone. "Things happen," Don said, "Animals sometimes get anxious and it can be hard work to get them hitched and then get out of the way. It's not an extremely safe sport."

It wasn't until Don was older that he took the reins over from his dad who was in ill health. "We had a pull scheduled and Dad wasn't feeling up to going and talked me into doing it. I came in second and got the horsemanship (award). That was it, I was hooked. There is something about having the lines in your hands and feeling the horses respond in competition. I think basically, horsepulling is a sickness. There is no money in it. Sometimes I'd win enough to pay the entry fee and maybe get a sandwich on my way home," Don said.

Yet Don and Mary Kay continue, along with others who come from many different walks of life including resort owners, truck drivers, loggers, excavators, a train engineer and even a school custodian. Don was a Michigan State Police trooper for more than 27 years.

Don said most of the pulls have the same competitors these days, but they may change their drivers or horse teams. Sometimes young drivers, like 12-year-old Brock Bolles of Hesperia, Mich., get some experience and do a bit of driving at a pull. Like Don, Brock grew up around the sport and enjoys holding the reins.

Don met Mary Kay after his first wife of over 30 years passed away. Mary Kay was a retired Bridgeport, Mich., school teacher who grew up in Marine City, Mich., and had no experience with horses at all. "The first year we met, she was on probation to see how she'd do around the horses," Don said.

The couple went on nine horse pulls that year. "I must have passed probation, the next year we went on 57 horsepulls," Mary Kay said. She is secretary/treasurer of the MHBA and does a lot of the coordinating and announcing for the pulls. She likes it because it brings out the school teacher in her -- she enjoys being in charge.

Mary Kay explained each horsepull is called a contest. The MHBA supplies the weights, a judge, an an-

Music, magic and more at Alcona County Fair this year

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Alcona County fair goers will have the opportunity to mix music, magic and more with their fair experience this year, all of which will be provided a man who was raised in the community.

Jeffrey Claus was raised in Black River and attended Alcona High School. He met his wife of 38 years, Melody (Miks), in the community and they have spent much of their married life in Florida, but Claus never forgot his hometown and never gave up on his passion for art, music and magic.

Claus said he has always been interested in magic and has spent more than half his life practicing and perfecting his skills. He will be putting on a 45-minute magic show each day of the fair at 3 p.m.

His passion for music grew strong when he was just 15 years old while attending Alcona High School. He was a drummer at that time and put together a local band. "The band came over on my 16th birthday and my bass player brought this girl. That girl turned out to be my wife," Claus said.

The couple married in 1980, moved to Florida and raised a son and daughter. "My wife's parents were Tom and Millie Miks and they played music -- he played the guitar and she played the accordion -- so when they had a daughter they named her Melody. When we had our daughter we named her Harmony," Claus said. The couple have three grandsons and a granddaughter.

While he was in Florida Claus played for quite a few bands as a drummer including one band, Trilogy where he was lead drummer/singer.

"When I turned 40 I had to have a double hip replacement and surgery for a double hernia. The band had to hire a new drummer, so I just sang. Eventually, I started bringing in some of my other instruments like my guitar, keyboard, mandolin and maracas. I was what they called a utility guy. We stayed together for seven years. After that I started doing solo stuff on my own," Claus said.

In addition to his music and magic, Claus is a talented airbrush, tattoo, woodwork and balloon artist, and will be showing off some of his balloon artistry at the fair. He has even made and styled his own guitar.

Claus worked at his passions part time and was employed full time in the acoustic ceiling tile trade. The couple moved back home two years ago after his retirement.

Upon his return, he immediately went to work and got gigs at The Mountain Inn Bar and Grill and then the Road House Restaurant at White Pine National Golf Resort. He has also played at the Bobcat Grill located in the Greenbush Golf Club, played during the Mikado Days celebration and played a fundraiser for WTF local radio.

His style is "acoustic variety" playing everything from old country to new country, rock, soft rock and everything in between. He will have five shows starting Tuesday during the Jim Pyne Memorial Ice Cream Social at 6 p.m., Wednesday during the Steak Fry dinner at 5 p.m. and again on each remaining fair day at 5 p.m.

Claus has also begun putting a band together called "Stoker" with local musicians, Ted Townsend, Kevin Cole, Mark Williams and himself and said he is extremely excited about it. "A stoker is the guy who puts the coal in the firebox on the train. He's a hard worker. It's pretty darn cool being back here again. We are so glad we are back. Things are going good. I'm looking forward to playing at the fair and for everyone to start hearing our band play soon," Claus said.

After his final show at the Senior Center where "Stoker" will be playing for the first time. fair at 5 p.m. on Saturday he will be going to the Lincoln

Local farmer recalls Alcona County's first fair

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Little did he know, all those years ago, how his life would unfold and how it would be intertwined with the Alcona County Fair.

Since he attended the first county fair, he has been attending the fair, or working on it, pretty much every year.

This year, 47 years after the first Alcona County Fair, Kevin Boyat, a farmer, volunteer and past Alcona County Commissioner, will witness a coming of age moment at the fair -- his 10-year-old grandson, Darren Boyat, will be selling his first pig during the Alcona Junior Livestock Club Market Sale.

It wasn't all that long ago when Kevin watched his own sons sell livestock at the fair and in the blink of an eye, his oldest grandson will have a turn.

Kevin remembered the first Alcona County Fair well. "It was held down at the ball diamond at the end of Lake Street off the lake in Harrisville. They had army tents set up and used wood pallets for pens. I had a bore that weighed about 600 pounds and a sow in the fair. The sow had birthed but I had already sold some of the piglets before the fair. She didn't get judged very well because they said she didn't have a big enough litter. I remember we put the pigs in the pen and just stepped out of the tent and somebody hollered 'the pigs are out.'

"It was a very exciting time. I had never been to a fair before. It was only maybe two or three tents and they didn't have any amusement rides, but they had some games. To me it was huge. When you come off the farm and farming is all you know, the fair was big time excitement. I was going through some old things a few months back and came along the first fair book, today the fair book is like almost 60 pages long, back then it wasn't even a full page, seeing that brought back good memories," Kevin said.

A lot of changes have happened with the fair over the years and Kevin has been there to help nearly every step of the way as a volunteer. Kevin thinks he puts in about 300 hours working on the fair each year, but he has never really counted the hours. He has never been on the Alcona County Fair Board or been paid for what he does for the fair. Like most fair volunteers and 4-H leaders, Kevin gets paid in something more valuable than cash, "I get paid in hugs," Kevin said.

He has been a 4-H leader for 30 years with his wife Deb, who is fair board secretary. Kevin said many times while out running errands someone will come up and give him a big hug, and typically it is from someone they had in their 4-H Bird Brains club.

Kevin does not recall how many 4-H kids they have led over the years but said each year he hopes for six or eight kids and ends up with "a whole herd." This year there are 16 youth in the Bird Brains Club, some of them are children of children he had in the club 30 years ago. He said it won't be long before the third generation starts showing up.

Kevin has a lived in Alcona County since he was eight years old. His father, George, was born and raised in Barton City on a farm. After George went into the service, he met Kevin's mother, Eleanor and they got married in Bay City, Mich., where Eleanor grew up.

Kevin's wife was also raised in Alcona County and they live on the farm where she grew up in Mikado. They are both Alcona High School graduates, as are their two sons, JR (Kevin Junior) and Tim.

He said both sons showed and marketed animals and saved their earnings for college, his older son went to Alpena Community College and made enough marketing animals at the fair in his youth to pay for tuition to get his associate degree. Tim, however, went to a more expen-

Saying goodbye to raising fair animals is bittersweet

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Farm kids are made of tough stuff. They have seen trials and tribulations with their animals -- moody, stubborn, colicky, kicking and pecking animals. They've sweated lifting heavy feed bags and cleaning stalls, battled snow drifts, ice, hail and driving rain to get to their animals.

They have cried over sick animals, cared for their injuries and have many times bandaged their own nicks, scrapes, cuts, bruises and multiple fly bites.

There isn't anything most of these kids haven't seen on the farm. Yet, one of the most difficult things kids who market animals face is saying goodbye to their animals after the Alcona Junior Livestock Market Club auction.

About the only thing more difficult than that is saying goodbye to the market experience itself, which is what many 18-year olds do each year.

Abby Lobaugh is feeling that tug at her heart this year. Abby is 18 and graduated from Alcona High School last June. This marks her final fair season marketing animals and, although she hopes to never give up the Alcona County fair life completely, she knows things will be much different next summer.

Abby has spent her life tending to animals on the family farm, where a large variety of animals including chickens, ducks, turkey, goats, pigs, sheep, steer and horses reside. Abby said even before she was born, she was getting used to the sway of horses as that was one of her mother's passions, which pregnancy didn't deter.

Like most fair market kids, Abby began showing rabbits in Wee Showmanship for Tots at a young age, by five she was demonstrating equestrian skills on a pony. At age 10 she began marketing animals at the fair.

"I liked sheep. I've always thought they were interesting and sometimes they can be fairly smart. They listen, just like my dogs. I will let my whole heard run free in the field and then when I call them, they come running back," she said.

Abby found it difficult buying lambs in the area and realized much of her market sale proceeds went into purchasing the animals to market. At age 12 she decided it was time to breed her own sheep and purchased her first ewe for $250 from funds which she had earned at the market auction the summer before. "Then I went to up to Sault St. Marie, (Mich.) and purchased two more," Abby said.

She relied on local folks with rams to breed her sheep until she turned 14 and purchased her own ram. She now has a thriving part-time business breeding sheep and selling lambs at reasonable prices to other local 4-Hrs to market.

She raises Hampshire sheep which, she explained, Hampshire and Suffolk sheep are the top breeds for the best meat. She also enjoys their little black faces, which greet her with baying delight.

Because the family farm is in Lincoln, about a 15-minute drive from their family home in Hubbard Lake, and sheep don't always give good signs about when they will birth, Abby has installed a ewe-tube camera in their barn with plenty of heat lamps. "If I'm at home and see a lamb appear in the stall or a ewe start to give birth, I can hop in my car and get here quickly to make sure the lamb is eating and everything is okay," Abby said.

Abby knows a lot about birthing lambs and caring for them and said last year she had to put on her long gloves, reach in and help a lamb who was struggling during birth. She also vaccinates her animals herself and treats illnesses that don't require a veterinarian.

This past year she had two lambs born and just shortly after their birth the mother ewe died. Abby had to be foster mom and bring the lambs into her home to make sure they were kept warm and bottle fed for nearly two months. She will be marketing one of those lambs, who she calls Tucker, during the livestock market club sale.

Abby is also marketing a finished beef steer at the sale. She explained she did one last year and thanks to her 4-H leader, Dr. John MacMaster who helped her immensely to learn about the steer she had a successful market. MacMaster is co-leader with his wife, Dr. Jacqueline Fitzgerald, of Apple Hill Variety 4-H Club.

This year's steer, Steve, is about 1,200 pounds and should finish at about 1,300. Abby walks him every day and will sometimes take him out on the road by her farm for a walk. "People driving by will stop and ask me if I know I'm walking a cow. I just tell them he has to get his exercise," Abby said.

She explained steer are big animals, as are horses, but much harder to tame and it was a long process before she was even able to walk up to Steve.

With market funds Abby has earned over the years she is able to pay for most of her college tuition herself, bought a car, so she could get to the farm when she needed to, and has invested funds to keep her sheep breeding business going and sustain her animals.

Abby plans on attending Alpena Community College in the fall and is going into criminal justice, something she got serious about in her senior year after attending a four-month course which brought her into the sheriff's office and had deputies teaching her just about everything she needed to know.

"I really learned a lot. I've given this some thought and it is definitely what I want my field to be. Everyone thought with my background, I'd do something with animals, but I want to keep my involvement with animals for pleasure, not my life's work," Abby said.

Abby, who is secretary of the Alcona Junior Livestock Club, said she will miss marketing animals next year but is happy she can still help younger 4-H youth, like her sister Emily, to show and market animals and she will still be able to participate in fair competition riding horses in the open category.

This year Abby will be riding her horse, Summer, in the fair and competing in halter showmanship and western pleasure events.

have a parade, but we haven't for a few years. We are hoping to build it back up again and invite anyone to participate in it, whether they are involved in the fair or not," Travis said. The parade is scheduled for Tuesday at 5 p.m. and will start at the road commission building in Lincoln, proceed to Second Street and then down Traverse Bay Road to the fair grounds.

The grounds have been thoroughly cleaned, mowed and readied for the fair to begin including a few new renovations. The inside of the rabbit/turkey and cattle barns have been painted and new LED lights have been installed. Travis explained those barns, which are 40 plus years old, had never been painted before and it took nearly 30 gallons of paint to finish just the rabbit barn.

The horse barn has also been renovated by gracious, anonymous donors. The stalls have been enlarged by taking two small stalls and turning them into one large stall with a tack room. There are also new tack room areas outside the stall.

Many of the Alcona Junior Livestock Club and 4-H club members have been helping to ready the grounds for their animals. The livestock club theme this year is Jurassic

Park, so expect to see a few dinosaurs mixed in with the pigs, sheep, goats, cattle and chickens.

Other youth and family fun activities at the fair include cute baby contest, flap jack eating, dress your vegetable and coloring contests. Families will not want to miss the Science Spectacular brought by Michigan State University Extension; Pop with a Cop brought by Michigan State Police and Alcona County Sheriff's Department; Jim Pyne Memorial free ice cream social with the Mikado Goodfellows; United States Forest Service is bringing Smokey Bear; story and crafts brought by the Alcona County Library; the Princess Tea Party featuring Elsa; Child Identification by the Alcona Masonic Lodge No. 292; and Kid Sight by the Lincoln Lions Club programs.

A new event being introduced for children this year is a pinewood derby car race to be held on Thursday at 1 p.m.

Free laser tag will be held on Friday from noon to 4 p.m. Participants of all ages are invited to play and instruction will be given prior to the start of each game for those who have never played before. Laser Team Challenge asks participants to come 30 minutes prior to the start of the game they would like to play.

A kid's bike and fishing pole giveaway for 12 years and under will be held daily at 5:30 p.m. Tickets are free and children must be present to win. One bike and one fishing pole will be given away daily except for Wednesday when two bikes and two poles will be given.

The annual fair steak fry will be held Wednesday evening. Kevin Boyat, co-chairman of events, said 300 steaks were ordered for the fry though Harrisville Harbor Grocery. He explained this is about 60 more steaks than last year to accommodate extra sponsors this year. Sponsors of the fair are invited to dine free because of the amount of their contribution.

Two professional chefs, Adam Beckta and Tim Boyat will be tending the grill to make sure the steaks are perfectly cooked. Beckta is the owner of Wandering Winds Farm in Spruce and has a bachelor's degree in culinary arts from New England Culinary Institute. He has worked in restaurants and specialty food retail throughout the country. Boyat, an Alcona County native, received an associate degree in culinary arts from Johnson and Wales

University in Denver, Colo. He is employed as a chef in Denver, Colo. where he resides. He is looking forward to bringing his wife and infant son to their first Alcona County Fair while they are on vacation.

Typically, the steak dinner tickets sell out rather quickly, so Travis encouraged folks to get their tickets early. Tickets are $15 per plate and comes with large helpings of assorted side dishes. A children's hot dog meal is also available for $3.

On evenings when a steak dinner is not available or for lunch any day of the fair, Travis suggested folks try out a new food vendor who will be coming each day to the fair, Clyde's Barbeque, who Travis said has a menu a mile long and really good food.

The Michigan Horse Pulling Boat Association will once again be bringing brute strength to the horse arena on Wednesday after the steak fry. Draft horses participating will be pulling weights up to 12,000 pounds.

Animal showmanship and judging will happen daily and the ever-popular Alcona Junior Livestock Club Sale Auction will be held on Thursday evening at 5:30 p.m.

The third annual mud run will be featured Saturday morning. This year mud runners can expect over 15 obstacles and even more mud than last year. As in the past, children under 12 may participate but must be accompanied by an adult. Check out the Facebook page at Alcona-County Fair Mud Run or email alconafairmudrun@gmail.com for registration price and information.

Motocross racing with Dirt Inc., will start at 11 a.m. on Saturday. All drivers are welcome, registration is from 8 to 10 a.m. with a driver meeting following at 10:30.

Raffle tickets to support the fair will be sold daily until the tickets run out. Drawing will be held on Saturday at 9 p.m. during the bump and run. First prize is a fishing kayak with fishing poles and a life jacket. Second prize is a large screen television and third prize is four tickets for elk viewing and dinner at Thunder Bay Resort.

Mid way amusement rides and game tables will again be offered by D&R Shows. The midway opens at 2 p.m. daily. Free amusement rides will be offered to children 17 years and under on Wednesday between 2 and 4 p.m. thanks to four Alcona County Commissioners, Dan Gauthier, sive university, so his market funds didn't quite stretch as far.

"People in this area have always been generous. My boys saved their money and worked hard. They were good boys. It takes a lot of work for these kids to sell their animals, not just my kids, but all the kids. If they want a good product they have to do the work," Kevin said.

He often remembers the generosity of others and sees the hard work kids put into their animals when he attends the market sale. "A little kid came up to me last year and I got bidding on a goose. I was bidding against Kathy Jo Schwartz. I won the bid. I think I paid $370 for two geese, but it was fun and I had the extra dollars to do that. That kid was so happy. That's what it's all about. To see those smiles," Kevin said.

Darren is excited and a little nervous about marketing his pig, who he named Daisy. He is well rehearsed on talking up his pig as his Grandpa Kevin has taken him to about 30 businesses and homes to let people know he will be at the fair to put Daisy up for auction on market day.

"Daisy is a Hampshire pig and she weighs about 200 pounds. I watched her get born last March. She likes to eat grass, but mostly eats grain. Her hobbies are relaxing and sticking out her tongue. She really likes sticking out her tongue a lot. Every time I come out to the barn she lays down in a corner and sticks her tongue out. She's a good pig," Darren said.

Darren has been educated well by his 4-H leader's, Grandpa Kevin and Grandma Deb. He knows that if a pig is all alone in a pen, they won't eat as well as when they have buddy with them to give them a little competition at the food trough. He also knows that it is better to have trough companions that get along. "You have to be careful, sometimes pigs fight," Darren said.

When Darren was asked why pigs tails are so curly, knowing he must respond with an answer for judges to whatever they ask, he quickly responded by saying "They just grow curly, like some babies have hair that is curly and as they grow it gets curlier. Their tails just grow that way."

Kevin laughed and said, "I get a kick out of him. He's a lot like his dad. Everything he does he wants to do just right, but he wants to do it fast. He's a tough little bugger."

Darren said if the fair didn't have animals, it would be boring. He would like to grow up and be a farmer like his Grandpa Kevin.

Darren has two younger sisters, Adelle, who is eight and will be showing a rabbit at the fair and Ainsley who is two. Kevin and Deb were blessed with their fourth grandchild, Ryder, last year by their son Tim and his wife. All four grandchildren will be attending this year's Alcona County Fair and Tim, who is a chef in Denver, Colorado, will be helping to man the grill during the steak fry on Wednesday night.

"The thing that sets our fair apart from others is the people. There are so many good people involved with the fair. People who go way above the call of duty. Very generous, very giving people. People in the community who give, not only their money, which they are generous with, but they give up a lot of their time. All of the fair board members put in a lot of time. They have to put in the time to even be on the board. They show up and the work gets done. It's fun to be around people who help one another and they have a really good time doing it," Kevin said.

"The fair is an experience, whether it's the carnival, the noise, lights or the different vendors or food. Where else can you go to see a guy do double back flips on a motocross bike or a bump and run or a horsepull or watch people running through muck climbing walls and then down on their knees racing in mud?"

"It's all this stuff that makes up a fair. It's watching a kid win a bike or a fishing pole or see a kid show and sell an animal. That's why people come to the fair, to see a little bit of everything. To see a kid smile. That's why we do what we do."

The Alcona Junior Livestock Club Market Sale auction will be held Thursday, Aug. 16 at 5:30 p.m.

Astute observation and quick thinking by Terry Lenard, president of Weiser Metal Products, Inc. in Lincoln, helped save the life of one of his employees. So did the training and quick action by employees of the Alcona Health Center in Lincoln and county ambulance and central dispatch employees. According to Toni Rhoads, assistant director of Alcona County EMS, Lenard noticed his employee was showing signs of physical distress and drove him to the health center in Lincoln. The patient collapsed in the waiting room of the health center on July 16 and staff members immediately came to his aid in the waiting room. Alcona County EMS where dispatched to the scene and arrived while life saving actions were being administered and participated. The patient survived and, later, personally thanked those involved. Those recognized at a special ceremony are (from left) Terry Lenard, supervisor and friend of the patient; Alcona EMS Paramedic Brian Welch; Alcona EMS EMT Deb Harmon and Alcona County 911 dispatcher Deanna Morgan. Student parking will be strictly enforced. ALL student drivers will be required to register their vehicles in the high school office. ALL student drivers will be expected to comply with rules and regulations regarding student parking and to display their school issued student parking pass at all times. Students who park in unauthorized spaces on school property will be towed at the owner's expense.

IMPORTANT Information Concerning Student Wellness and Nutrition

The Board of Education has established a District Wellness policy that addresses nutrition, physical activity and the physical education of our students. To support this focus on student wellness, students and staff will be expected to follow all rules and regulations outlined in the District Wellness policy regarding food and beverages brought onto school grounds.

Students are not permitted to bring carbonated beverages (soda pop) to school or consume carbonated beverages in the school lunchrooms. Elementary and Middle School foods and beverages must be caffeine-free. No beverages may be brought into the building that are larger than 20 ounces and all authorized beverages must be in the original sealed containers.

Food brought into classrooms for student celebrations and/or classroom activities must comply with Smart Snacks in School USDA guidelines and must be approved by the classroom teacher and building principal in advance. Student celebrations or parties not authorized by the building principal will not be permitted during the school lunch periods.

Students may purchase breakfast and lunch in the school cafeterias or pack a breakfast or lunch to bring from home. Students will not be allowed to have food or beverages delivered to the school cafeterias during school lunch times (Subway, pizza, etc.).

Annual AHERA Notification

Asbestos Management Plan Available for Review by Parents, Teachers and Employees.

Alcona Community Schools conducted a three-year mandatory re-inspection for the presence of viable asbestos in our schools. Based on the findings of this inspection, a comprehensive management plan was updated. This plan details the response action the district will take regarding any asbestos containing material.

The AHERA Management Plan is located at the Board of Education Office and the Director of Transportation/Facilities office and is available for inspection without cost or restriction during normal business hours. All new construction and renovation projects contain written specifications stating that no asbestos containing materials will be used.

Our procedures for dealing with asbestos in our schools reflect our desire to make our schools a safe place in which students learn. If you have further questions, please call the school superintendent.

The School official will make arrangements for access and notify the parent or eligible student of the time and place where the records may be inspected.
2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the parent or eligible student believes are inaccurate. Parents or eligible students may ask the School to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate. They should write the School principal, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate. If the School decides not to amend the record as requested by the parent or eligible students, the School will notify the parent or eligible student of the decision and advise them of their right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the parent or eligible student when notified of the right to a hearing.
3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One exception, which permits disclosure without consent, is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the Schools as an administrator, supervisor, instructor, or support staff member (including health or medical staff and law enforcement unit personnel); a person serving on the School Board; a person or company with whom the School has contracted to perform a special task (such as an attorney, auditor, medical consultant, or therapist); or a parent or student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

4. Michigan Revised School Code Section 1135 requires that a school record include a student's disciplinary record, including any suspension or expulsion action against the student.
5. The right to file a complaint with the US Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Alcona Community Schools to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the office that administers FERPA are: Family Policy Compliance Office, US Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20202-4605.

Drug Free Schools

In accordance with Federal Law, the Board of Education prohibits the use, possession, concealment, or distribution of drugs by students on school grounds, in school or school-approved vehicles, or at any school-related event. Drugs include any alcoholic beverage, anabolic steroid, dangerous controlled substance as defined by State statute or substance that could be considered a "look-a-like" controlled substance. Compliance with this policy is mandatory for all students. Any student who violates this policy will be subject to disciplinary action, in accordance with due process and as specified in the student handbooks, up to and including expulsion from school. When required by State law, the District will also notify law enforcement officials. The District is concerned about any student who is a victim of alcohol or drug abuse and will facilitate the process by which s/he receives help through programs and services available in the community. Students and their parents should contact the school principal or counseling office whenever such help is needed.

Directory Information for Students

The following student directory information will be made available for publication in directories, sports programs, and other publications: student's name, address, telephone number, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, height and weight, dates of attendance, date of graduation, awards received, honor rolls, and scholarships. Parents and eligible students may refuse to allow the District to disclose any or all of such "directory information" upon written notification to the District within forty-five (45) calendar days after receipt of the District's public notice.

Armed Forces Recruiting

The Board shall provide United States Armed Forces recruiters with at least the same access to the high school campus and to student directory information (names, addresses, and telephone listings of secondary students) as is provided to other entities offering educational or employment opportunities to those students. "Armed forces of the United States" means the armed forces of the United States and their reserve components and the United States Coast Guard.

If a student or the parent or legal guardian of a student submits a signed, written request to the Board that indicates that the student or the parent or legal guardian does not want the student's directory information to be accessible to official recruiting representatives, then the officials of the school shall not allow that access to the student's directory information. The Board shall ensure that students and parents and guardians are notified of the provisions of the opportunity to deny release of directory information.

environment. Part of the federally mandated procedures include a requirement that the District request consent for HBV and HIV testing if an injury occurs with blood exposure. The law does not require parents or guardians to consent to the examination, but it does require the District to request the consent. We expect that incidents of exposure will be few and that with this advance notification, parents will understand the District's request for consent should it be necessary.

The District, in compliance with state law, implements a comprehensive program of health, reproductive health, and AIDS education. The District will notify parents, in advance of the instruction, and provide parents with an opportunity to review the materials and to opt out their child from instruction.

American Pickers to Visit

Mike Wolfe and Frank Fritz and the team from the television show "American Pickers" plan to film episodes throughout the region in September. "American Pickers" is a documentary series that explores the world of antique "picking" which follows Wolfe and Fritz as they hunt for America's most valuable antiques.

"They are always excited to find sizeable, unique collections and learn the interesting stories behind them," said Emily Chafetz, casting associate for the show. "American Pickers" is looking for leads and would love to explore large, private collections or accumulations of antiques where they can spend the better part of the day looking through. Mike and Frank only pick private collections so no stores, malls, flea markets, museums, auctions, businesses or anything open to the public.

Anyone who has a collection, send name, phone number, location and description of the collection with photos to: americanpickers@cinetflix.com or call 855-OLD-RUST (855-653-7878)," she said.

nouncer and a clerk for the pulls.

The weights are cement stones each weighing either 500 or 1,000 pounds which are put on a sled called a boat. As the competition progresses, stones are added to the boat. The teams compete to see which one can pull the most weight a distance of 27 feet six inches.

In addition to a first-place award for the most weight pulled the longest distance, which usually comes with a cash purse, some fairs have trophies or other awards for best dressed team, horsemanship, best matched team or best hitcher. According to Mary Kay, the cash payout which is a scale percentage amount and the trophies vary.

The MHBA is a nonprofit organization with about 150 members and is the largest horse pulling association in Michigan. Don has worn many hats on the MHBA board including secretary, treasurer, and was president of the board in the 1970s. He took a break from that role for a number of years and then returned to the position of president about 12 years ago.

"I just never want to give it up. It's what we do. My kids never had a burning desire for pulling. Now I have three grandsons and a granddaughter. Two of them are coming to a pull we are doing tomorrow and I can't wait for them to see it. Maybe they will enjoy it as much as I do," Don said.

"We look forward to every pull. Alcona County always has a really nice crowd waiting for us and we appreciate that. They put on a great fair and we are happy to be there again."

For more information about MHBA, visit the Facebook page or call (989) 737-4355.

Four people hurt at Main St. crossing

Light Engine Backs Over Automobile Miraculous Escape

August 8, 1918 ~ Four people were injured, two of them seriously, Saturday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a tender at the Main street-crossing of the D. & M.- railroad.

The occupants of the car were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barton, Clarence Baldwin and Mrs. Rolla Pattee, all of Barton City.

The automobile was a Ford touring car and had just left Lund's garage about two blocks from the crossing. Mr. Barton was a prospective purchaser and was riding in the front seat with Baldwin, who was driving.

The locomotive was light and was backing from Greenbush to the water tank at the station.

It is a dangerous crossing and the occupants of the car did not see the engine until it was close upon them. This, and the fact that the driver had not had time to become familiar with the working of the car, caused the accident.

The automobile was struck fairly in the center and rolled over and crushed beneath the tender, which when stopped was on top of the auto with Mr. Barton caught in the twisted material. How any of the occupants escaped was a miracle. Had the engine been moving fast they undoubtedly would -have been killed outright. It took some time to release Mr. Barton from his painful position under the wreckage. Mrs. Barton was also caught in the wreckage and seriously injured. Baldwin and Mrs. Pattee escaped with comparatively light injuries though both suffered from bruises. They were able to return home that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton were taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Carle where they were attended by Drs. Miller and Cowie. Mr. Barton has a broken collar bone and shoulder blade and is badly bruised about the legs and body, one knee being in particularly bad shape. Mrs. Barton's ankle was broken and she has a bad cut in one cheek; she is otherwise severely bruised. Both are still at the Carle home.

There have been several harrow escapes at this crossing but this is the first serious accident that has occurred. It is a dangerous place and the question of having some sort of protection placed there has been up for consideration by the council at different times.

The liquor licenses The Village Council's Move to Collect the Liquor Tax

August 10, 1893 ~ Last week a man dressed in a light suit of clothes arrived in the village and engaged lodgings at the Alcona House. He was around town for several days with apparently no particular object in view, and there were many inquiries as to who he was and where he came from. Monday his identity was made known when it was given out that his name was P. J. Tucker, and that he was a detective who had been employed by the council to secure evidence against the saloon keepers of the village, with a view of prosecuting them if they still refuse to pay their tax. The St. Lawrence House paid up without further ado and received the legal red card. Complaints were made against the other two, but Tuesday they made, satisfactory arrangements with the council for the payment of their licenses in the near future.

Probably the most surprised man in town was our marshal who would have been a witness in every case and who, Mr. Tucker confidentially informed us, imbibed not to exceed 369 times.

The new council deserves great credit for this effective piece of work, which we believe is just a little ahead of anything of the kind ever before accomplished in this village.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Perseids: The Big Show Begins

From Saturday evening into Monday morning, August 11-13 are the big nights for the 2018 Perseid meteor shower. The best advice for Perseid meteor observing is not to start too early in the evening, although this year may be an exception. As local midnight approaches, the Earth slowly makes its rotational turn into the meteoroids, with the resultant increase in activity. If the peak rates of the shower coincide with the post-midnight hours, observers could be treated to even more enhanced action. The 2018 peak according to the International Meteor Organization occurs between 4 p.m. August 12 through 2 a.m. August 13, EDT which means that meteor activity could be somewhat enhanced on the evening of the 12th before midnight if maximum activity occurs nearer to the middle of this time interval. A much earlier peak also means that rates may be enhanced on the previous morning, Saturday into Sunday, August 11-12, but more towards dawn than midnight. This is what the American Meteor Society is predicting. If the highest meteor rates are encountered closer to the predicted end time or even beyond, more enhanced rates can be expected on the morning of August 13. This week, leading up to Perseid maximum, will yield many beautiful shooting stars with more fireballs being spotted on pre-maximum evenings than post-maximum nights. Observing the Perseid meteor shower for two nights on the banks of Flathead Lake in northwestern Montana in 2016, Pete Deterline and I saw brighter meteors on maximum night than on the following evening. Rates also dropped to about half of the activity of the previous night. That again is very consistent with normal Perseid encounters. Perseid meteor rates climb steadily the week before the time of greatest activity and drop off rapidly afterwards, so you'll still have plenty of opportunities to snag meteors in the upcoming days. More information about the Perseids will follow in the next article or read ahead at <http://www.astronomy.org/StarWatch/August/index-8-18.html>.

Moments In Time

By The History Channel

- On Aug. 18, 1590, 100 colonists are discovered to be missing from the Roanoke Island colony in present-day North Carolina. The only clue to their disappearance was the word "CROATOAN" carved into the palisade built around the settlement.
- On Aug. 19, 1812, during the War of 1812, the U.S. Navy frigate Constitution defeats the British frigate Guerriere. Witnesses claimed that the British shot merely bounced off the Constitution's sides, as if the ship were made of iron. Since 1934, "Old Ironsides" has been based at the Charlestown Navy Yard in Boston.
- On Aug. 15, 1859, Charles Comiskey, namesake of Chicago's Comiskey Park, is born in Chicago. Comiskey became the first and only baseball player to later own a team, the White Sox.
- On Aug. 14, 1933, a devastating 267,000-acre forest fire is sparked in the Coast Range Mountains in northern Oregon. An official investigation found that the fire stemmed from friction produced when loggers dragged a large Douglas-fir log across a downed tree.
- On Aug. 13, 1948, U.S. and British planes airlift a record 5,000 tons of supplies into occupied Berlin. The huge resupply effort was carried out in weather so bad that some of the 700 pilots referred to it as "Black Friday."
- On Aug. 16, 1955, famous entertainer and civil-rights activist Paul Robeson loses his court appeal to force the Department of State to grant him a passport. It had insisted that Robeson first sign an affidavit declaring he was not a member of the Communist Party. Robeson had refused.
- On Aug. 17, 1987, Rudolf Hess, Nazi leader Adolf Hitler's former deputy, is found strangled to death in an apparent suicide in Spandau Prison in Berlin. At 93, Hess was the last surviving member of Hitler's inner circle and the sole prisoner at Spandau since 1966.

Strange But True

By Samantha Weaver

- It was poet, philosopher and satirist Horace, who lived in the first century B.C., who made the following sage observation: "He who postpones the hour of living is like the rustic who waits for the river to run out before he crosses."
- Legislators in Vermont once found it necessary to outlaw whistling while underwater.
- If someone were to ask you to name the sunniest spot on Earth, you might be tempted to answer "the Sahara Desert" or some other such exotic place. You would be wrong, though; that distinction belongs to a town right here in America. Out of the possible 4,456 daylight hours each year, the sun shines for an average of 4,050 in Yuma, Arizona. That means that there's cloud cover or rain for only about 10 percent of the time there.
- You might be surprised to learn that, according to those who study such things, Alaskans eat twice as much ice cream per capita than the rest of the nation.
- Those who have the time to study such things claim that the most difficult small object to flush down a toilet is a ping-pong ball.
- In 2010 a new species of slug was discovered in the mountains of Borneo. It is distinguished from other species of slug by its novel method of mating: It shoots its mate with a so-called love dart made of calcium carbonate and containing hormones. The researchers nicknamed the gastropods "ninja slugs."
- Other than the fact that they're all performers, what do Darryl Hannah, Telly Savalas, James Doohan and Jerry Garcia have in common? They are (or were) missing one finger.Ê
