Voters to decide on countywide 911 millage request in August

By Mary Weber Staff Writer

Local voters will decide whether to approve a new countywide millage to help support Alcona County Central Dispatch (911) on August

The millage request is for continuation of funding for comprehensive enhanced 911 emergency telephone and central dispatch system not to exceed .25 mills ($.25 on each 1,000 taxable value) for a period of six years. The estimated revenue the county will collect if the millage is approved and levied in the first year is approximately $188,749.

Currently, Alcona County

Central Dispatch is funded solely by surcharges collected on telephone land lines and cell phones which are billed to Alcona County addresses. The number of land lines is diminishing within the county as more and more people are doing away with them and opting for cell phones, according to Jeffrey Brackett, Alcona County Central Dispatch director.

"Alcona County 911 has been 100 percent supported by a phone surcharge which charges every line and cell phone registered and receiving bills within the county. If you live in the county, and that is where your bill arrives, then funds collected on the bill go to support Alcona County 911. However, if you have a cell phone which is billed to a different location, then the funds go to that county, not ours," Brackett said.

He explained that many residents have opted to use cell phones instead of land lines to save on costs, but they may not have registered the phone to Alcona County even if the number is a 989 area code. Additionally, many local seniors are opting to use their adult children's cell phone plan, which may save them monthly costs, however, quite often the child doesn't live in Alcona County and the surcharge is collected and given to the county where the bill is received. There is also no surcharge collected on prepaid cell phones which residents also use to save on

"We are not capturing funding from summer property owners either, as most of them have a home in another county or state where their phones are registered. As our revenue keeps dropping, our costs keep rising. Every time we turn around our costs increase. Technology is always advancing. Some of it is mandated by the state that we change, some of it is because the companies will no longer maintain the old system," Brackett said.

upgraded to a new $85,000 V Viper system which uses fiber rather than copper wire. "Frontier told us they would no longer be supporting our old system, so if anything broke on it they would not fix it. We needed a service which could fall into the next generation 911 criteria to accept texts. We decided to go with the V Viper system which a lot of the counties are going with. We are still going through installation on the system but hope to have the

In addition, according to Brackett, the new system may be better equipped to track cell phones to determine where the call is coming from.

soon," Brackett said.

According to Brackett, the annual budget for central dispatch is about half a million dollars annually.

Along with the new phone system the dispatch will be paying $11,000 a year for maintenance costs. Brackett said maintaining technology is extremely expensive but very necessary for repairs, which can occur often. The computer aided dispatch (CAD) system has a maintenance fee of $8,600 per year. There is maintenance fee of iust under $5,000 for the recording equipment. "The equipment is here and it works, but if something goes wrong we need to be able to get if fixed. A lot of time the company can even fix it remotely under the maintenance contract," Brackett said.

Central dispatch's foremost purpose is to be the first contact point for all 911 calls within the county and is staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week by highly trained

Perkins retires after serving 28 years

By Cheryl Peterson Editor

After almost 30 years in a law enforcement career that he loved, Alcona County Undersheriff Matthew Perkins is taking on the challenge of settling into retirement. At the end of this month, Perkins will be officially retired, although he has already trained his successor and turned in his paperwork. Sgt. Scott Stephenson was appointed to the undersheriff position upon Perkins' retirement.

Raised in Glennie, Perkins graduated from Oscoda High School in 1981. He married Christine Cox in February 1984 in Glennie and joined the U.S. Air Force in April 1984. He served four years as a security police officer at Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota.

He was hired by former Alcona County Sheriff Ed Schroeder in 1990 after he received an associate degree in criminal justice and graduated from the Kirtland Regional Police Academy. He began is career with the Alcona County Sheriff's Department as a dispatcher and corrections officer. In 1992 he became a full-time deputy and certified evidence technician. He was promoted to sergeant in November 1999. Eight years later, he was promoted to undersheriff by Sheriff Douglas Atchison.

When asked what he enjoyed about being in law enforcement for 28 years, Perkins said he enjoyed working in a community that he was born and raised in. "People know you and when someone comes to you with a cult giving up the job as a problem, there is a comfort level of knowing each other... a level of trust. When someone is having a crisis, they sponsibilities included manwant someone they can confide in and (level of trust) helps ease the difficult time they are going through," Perkins said. "They feel like they aren't just a number and have to deal with some that is a stranger. The personal connection makes things easier."

Although, occasionally, there were times when he was too close to the situation and he "stepped out of it" and another deputy or Michigan State Police trooper took over.

Perkins lives in Glennie with his wife, Christine. He "worked" the west side of the county throughout most of his career and enjoyed "road work" or being on patrol. "The most difficult part of taking the sergeant position and undersheriff is that it took me off the road. It was diffiroad officer to become an administrator," Perkins said.

As the undersheriff his reaging and scheduling of deputies and corrections officers and management of sergeants and jail administrators. He also dealt with inmate issues.

Perkins handled ORV and marine patrol operations to ensure they ran smoothly and that equipment was maintained. He was responsible for the processing, serving and billing for civil orders, processing orders of evidence and, above all else, "worked alongside the sheriff and completed any duties he may assign."

"I was still on road patrol on a daily basis as needed," he said. "I would take situations that didn't need in depth follow up."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

On behalf of Casey and the Bobcats, thank you to the City of Harrisville for having us perform at the Wednesday night Harbor Concert Series.

We feel blessed to have played in such beautiful location and thankful for the warm and enthusiastic community support. We look forward to seeing you all again in the future.

Eric Dunckel Harrisville

To the Editor,

I would like to let Alcona County citizens know how important it is to vote "yes" for the senior millage. This millage supports our county's home delivered meals, inhome services including homemaking, personal care, and respite; and also congregate meals in Glennie, Greenbush and Lincoln.

If this millage fails all programs will be reduced, particularly the home delivered meals program.

The senior citizens of Alcona County appreciate your "yes" vote. Thank you so very much.

Paula Boucher Harrisville

Local Notes

Correction

The email address for the "Yarn Crafters Needed" Local Note in the July 11 edition was incorrect.

The correct email address is: alconahelpinghandsinc18@gamial.com. Anyone who enjoys knitting, crocheting and/or is a loom master and is looking for a project is asked to contact Ann Eddinger either by the correct email for Alcona Helping Hands Inc. or by calling (989) 335-3206.

Reading Mentors Needed

Volunteer mentors are urgently needed to help kids with reading at Alcona Elementary School for the upcoming school year. The state of Michigan is now requiring that elementary students who are not reading at grade level at the end of third grade be held back. Mentors are one of the ways the school is working to help all kids read at grade level. Teachers identify students who need help and the mentors work one-on-one with the selected students to improve their reading skills.

Mentors are trained in techniques that help readers and are provided with liability insurance. The mentoring takes place at the elementary school and takes about an hour per week. Mentoring starts about the beginning of October and ends in late May. Criminal background checks are required, and the cost is reimbursed by the school.

Mentors who have been involved find the experience rewarding and joyful. Male mentors are especially needed. Volunteers are needed to be either a fulltime mentor or a substitute mentor who can fill in for absent mentors. Contact Rev. Joe Jenney at (260) 804-5476 or joejenney@yahoo.com providing name, phone number and email address.

With the upcoming elections I wanted to provide the citizens of Alcona County with a brief summary of the functions of our court system. Alcona County Trial Court serves Alcona County as the Probate Court as well as part of the four county 23rd Circuit Court and the four county 81st District Court. As a trial court Alcona has one Presiding Judge, Laura A. Frawley, who handles Probate, District, Juvenile and Family Court. Probate Court deals with guardianships and conservatorships for vulnerable individuals as well as handling decedent estates. Family Court deals with juvenile delinquency matters as well as neglect/abuse cases involving children. District Court handles all civil matters up to $25,000 as well as criminal misdemeanors, traffic matters, landlord/tenant matters and small claims court. Circuit Court handles all civil matters over $25,000 as well as criminal felonies (anything punishable by over 1 year in jail is a felony) and equitable claims. Alcona County is also home to one of the most highly rated Drug/Sobriety Courts in the State of Michigan. The court and its staff believe that the court is there to serve the public and endeavors daily to assist those involved with the courts in the fair, impartial and timely disposition of their cases. The courts are a separate branch of government from the county (part of the system of checks and balances) but are funded by the county in order to fulfill its constitutional duties to the citizens of Alcona County. An Independent judiciary is crucial to the balance of power and the operation of a free and democratic government. The Court and its staff would like to thank the citizens of Alcona County for the opportunity to serve you in this very important function.

Alcona County Prosecuting Attorney

The Prosecuting Attorney is the chief law enforcement officer for Alcona County. The Office is created by Michigan Constitution. The responsibilities and authority of the Prosecutor are established by common law, statue, court rule, and appellate case law. In recent years, changing attitudes in the Court and State legislature have significantly altered the traditional role of the Prosecutor. While adult criminal matters represent the major portion of the prosecution effort, a growing list of additional responsibilities has placed larger demands upon prosecution resources. The responsibilities and role of the Prosecutor are now defined in over 700 separate statues and court rules in Michigan. Michigan appellate case law and federal case law have further expanded upon those statutes. The following describes only the general functions of the Prosecuting Attorney's Office:

Criminal: The Prosecutor's criminal jurisdiction encompasses all State statute felonies and misdemeanors committed within the boundaries of Alcona County. The Prosecutor's responsibilities with these criminal matters involves determination and filing of charges and all subsequent court proceedings, including appeals. Additionally, the Prosecutor's Office is involved in juvenile matters, both criminal and mental commitment hearings. In total, adult and juvenile criminals are prosecuted in 3 courts throughout the County and the Court of Appeals and Supreme Court in Lansing.

Support: Additional civil and quasi-criminal responsibilities are discharged by the Prosecutor in divorce, paternity and fraud matters where Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) is involved. Under a reimbursement program with the State, the Prosecutor's Office seeks out the fathers of minor children under the ADC and secures court orders to insure payment of support and, thus, lessen the taxpayers' welfare burden.

Civil: Additional civil responsibilities are undertaken by the Prosecutor in representing the county and its elected officials and department heads referencing official county actions. This includes providing civil advice and representation in various county related matters.

Other: Finally, though this is a matter of local policy, the Prosecutor's office strives to be a catalyst for constructive change in the Criminal Justice System. Because of the Prosecutor's unique pivotal position in the system, he is often able to initiate system wide improvements. This responsibility, though not dictated by statute, may be the most important function in our local fight against crime.

The continued increase in the cost of governmental services has affected this offices ability and the ability of Law enforcement to keep our communities safe.

The Register of Deeds office is the official recording office for all legal documents affecting real property in Alcona County. The duties of the Register of Deeds are prescribed by state law. Documents are recorded by a uniform system and statutory fees set by the state legislature. These documents include by are not limited to: Warranty Deeds, Quit Claim Deeds, Mortgages, Land Contracts, Releases, Liens, Plats, Surveys and other miscellaneous documents designated by state law to record. The Register of Deeds office is also the Passport Acceptance Facility for Alcona County.

The office is primarily used by Abstractors, Title Companies, Real Estate Agents, and Attorneys. Individuals also use the office to research information on their personal or business properties; some use the office for genealogical research.

Documents received for recording are stamped with a time and date upon receipt, and then are issued an instrument number and liber and page. This identifies the document and its location within the Register of Deeds office. Electronic copies of all documents are kept on file in the office and the original document is returned to the owner. Once recorded, a document becomes a public record that may be viewed or copied by anyone.

The office staff is available to assist the public with researching and recording of documents. The documents are available for public viewing during normal business hours. Currently documents are available to view on the public terminals located in the office back to 1980 and also at uslandrecords.com. Documents recorded prior to 1980 are available in hard copy form and are available for viewing in the office.

professionals which are state and medically certified.

With the medical certification, dispatchers can give lifesaving medical information such as first aid or cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) instructions over the phone to whoever is on the scene until the ambulance arrives. "We have been able to give CPR instructions over the phone to people who do not know how to do it for their loved one. This system wasn't cheap. Not only did we have to buy the system, we had to train the dispatchers and pay for their certification. The average wait time for help to arrive in our county is about 15 minutes, that's a long time for someone who isn't breathing," Brackett said.

It dispatches to all township fire departments and all county Medical First Responders through phone calls and through a system called Active 911 which gives the first responder or fire personnel text information on what emergency is and where it is happening. It also which includes a map of the exact location of the emergency. It also dispatches to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources fire and law enforcement, Alcona County Sheriff Department, Alcona County dive, search and rescue teams, Michigan State Police, U.S. Forest Service police and U.S. Coast Guard.

Central dispatch monitors weather threats and activates severe weather alerts for Barton City, Greenbush, Glennie, Harrisville, Lincoln, Mikado and the south shore of Hubbard Lake.

Brackett said central dispatch performs a lot of services for the courts which are time consuming, but necessary. It enters and maintains warrants, personal protection orders, court orders and traffic records.

It also provides service for the sheriff's department by answering phone calls and assisting walk-in traffic in the lobby from 4 p.m. to 8 a.m. during the week and 24 hours a day on weekends as well as provide support for road patrols by giving information on warrants.

Currently, not all shifts are covered by two county dispatchers and it is Brackett's goal to make sure they are in the future. He said the millage may make that possible, but without it, all shifts would decrease drastically, with some calls going outside the county to be serviced.

Without the millage passing, Brackett said services that central dispatch provides would have to be cut. "I didn't want the dispatch to be dependent on a vote every few years and we've really tried to make ends meet without a millage. We are just at a point where we cannot go on any longer. We need these funds to continue.

"I understand Ogemaw County didn't get their millage approved and they had to close their dispatch center and move it to a location where the dispatchers didn't know the community. I worry about that," he said.

According to Brackett, Alcona County Central Dispatch has a great crew of highly trained dispatchers who know the county, live in it and love it. They know who owns many of the businesses here, the farms and the families who live and work here.

They know the ins and outs of our rural community. They know which farm the cow standing in the middle of the road probably belongs to and can make a simple call to the farmer," Brackett said, "Grayling or Alpena doesn't know that.

"When someone is distressed and calls 911 they want someone to be responsive at the end of the call. That's who we are and what we do. The millage will allow us to keep providing the community with the best crew using the best state-of-theart technology and equipment we can provide. Lives depend on it."

Downstate resident faces intoxication charges

By Cheryl Peterson

What could have been a tragic event during a Fourth of July celebration resulted in the arrest of a downstate woman on July 7.

According to the Alcona County Sheriff's Department, deputies were dispatched to Lost Lake Woods Club at 10:50 p.m. for a vehicle that allegedly struck several other vehicles and almost collided with a large crowd of people during the annual Lost Lake Woods Club fireworks show.

The driver of the vehicle, Jaclyn Christine Brevick, 30, of Royal Oak, Mich., allegedly drove away at a high rate of speed. Security personnel from Lost Lake Woods and North Star located Brevick before sheriff deputies arrived. They found Brevick locked in her vehicle with a two-year-old boy. A short time later, deputies removed her from the vehicle and arrested her.

She was arraigned in 81st District Court on July 12 on the following charges: operating while intoxicated - occupant under 16, resisting/ obstructing police officer and transporting open intoxicant.

She was released on a $4,000 cash surety 10 percent bond. Brevick is scheduled to have a probable cause conference in court on August 1.

The following individuals were sentenced in June in 81st District Court.

- Jacob Frank Seal, 29, of Spruce was sentenced to 45 days in jail and fines and costs of $1,480 for operating while visibly impaired.
- Jason Newell McSherry, 32, of Saginaw, Mich. was sentenced to one day in jail, 60 hours of community service, one year of probation and fines and costs of $1,840 for operating while visibly impaired.

How to make the most of your doctor's visit

Dear Savvy Senior,

I manage a large health clinic that treats thousands of seniors each year, and we've have found that patients that come prepared when they visit our doctors are much more satisfied with the care they receive. Can you write a column educating patients on how to prepare for doctor's appointments?

Healthcare Helper

Dear Healthcare,

There's no doubt about it. Studies have shown that patients who help their doctors by providing important health information and preparing themselves for appointments tend to get better care than patients who don't.

Here are some simple things we can all do to help maximize our next visit to the doctor.

Gathering your health information and getting organized before your appointment are the key steps to ensuring a productive meeting with your doctor. This is especially important if you're your doctor about any previseeing multiple doctors or are meeting with a new physician. Specifically, you need

- Get your test results: If you're seeing a new doctor for the first time, make sure he or she has copies of your latest X-ray, MRI or any other test or lab results you've recently had, including reports from other doctors that you've seen. In most cases, you'll need to do the leg work yourself which may only require a phone call to your previous doctor asking them to send it, or you may need to go pick it up and take it yourself.
- List your medications: Make a list of all the medications you're taking including prescription and over-thecounter drugs, supplements and herbs, along with the dosages and take it with you to your appointment. Or, just put all your pill bottles in a bag so you can take them with you.
- Know your health history: Being able to talk to ous medical problems and procedures, even if they're not the reason you are going to the doctor this time, can make an office visit much more efficient. Write it down if it's complicated. Genetics matter too, so knowing your family's health history can also be helpful.

· Prepare a list of questions: Make a written list of the top three or four issues you want to discuss with your doctor. Since most appointments last around 15 to 20 minutes, this can help you stay on track and ensure you address your most pressing concerns first. If you're in for a diagnostic visit, you should prepare a detailed description of your symptoms.

The best advice when you meet with your doctor is to speak up and get to the point. So right away, concisely explain why you're there. Don't wait to be asked. Be direct, honest and as specific when recounting your symptoms or expressing your concerns.

$avvy ≶enior

Many patients are reluctant or embarrassed to talk about their symptoms, which makes the doctor's job a lot harder to do. It's also a good idea to bringing along a family member or friend to your appointment. They can help you ask questions, listen to what the doctor is telling you and give you support.

Also consider taking some notes or ask the doctor if you can record the session for later review. If you don't understand what the doctor is telling you, ask him or her to explain it in simple terms so you can understand. And if you run out of time and don't get your questions answered, ask if you can follow up by phone or email, make another appointment, or seek help from the doctor's nurse.

For more information, the National Institute on Aging offers an excellent booklet called "Talking With Your Doctor: A Guide for Older People" that can help you prepare for an appointment and become a more informed patient. To get a free copy mailed to you, call (800) 222-2225 or visit order.nia.-nih.gov.

30 years, raised two sons – Michael, a trooper with the Michigan State Police out of St. Ignace, Mich. and Brian, a registered nurse who lives in Sault St. Marie, Mich.

Perkins also served as supervisor of Curtis Township for eight years prior to being promoted to undersheriff. "I didn't go for a third term because of that new job," he said.

Retirement is going to be an adjustment for Perkins, who enjoyed his job very much. "I still love working with people and the community – and the people I work with," he said.

"I am going to try to do more of what I missed out on as a road deputy – I missed a lot of holidays and weekends. Our families do sacrifice. My wife was like a single parent. I've never regretted it though and would do it all over again. I'm an admitted workaholic – this was what I enjoy doing and can get consumed with it.

"Now that I am retired I can do things around their (family members) schedule. My wife is off during the summer and I can spend more time with her and do what everyone does when they retire... It's going to be a big adjustment," Perkins said.

Landowner grants available

The Deer Private Land Assistance Network (PLAN) grant application period is open. The Deer PLAN, a cooperative grant program is designed to support private-land deer habitat improvement projects in the northern Lower Peninsula. In 2019, a total of $50,000 will be available through a competitive grant process.

Given the limited amount of Deer PLAN funding available and the goal of producing tangible, on-the-ground efforts that markedly improve deer habitat, this program will have a focus area within the northern Lower Peninsula that will include Alcona, Alpena, Crawford, Montmorency, Oscoda and Presque Isle counties. Funds will be allocated across these six counties based on grant application scoring.

Proposals for deer habitat improvement projects on privately owned lands in the six counties identified seeking $2,000 to $10,000 in cooperative funding will be considered. A 25-percent match in the form of financial match, cost share, volunteer labor, material contributions and/or other in-kind support also is required for each proposal.

Project applications are due by Saturday, Sept. 1. The complete Deer PLAN grant application package is available online at michi-gan.gov/dnrgrants. For more information, contact Ashley Autenrieth at (989) 732-3541, ext. 5044.

Two candidates running for Caledonia Township supervisor

By Mary Weber

Staff Writer

Caledonia Township residents will have a choice between two Republican candidates for the seat of supervisor on August 7.

The two candidates are Kathleen E. Vichunas and Cyndi Apsey.

The incumbent, Kathleen E. Vichunas, has been in the seat since she was appointed to fill the vacant supervisor position six months ago, leaving her position as Alcona County commissioner to do Vichunas was born in Detroit, Mich. After graduating from Dominican High School, she was hired by the Federal Housing Administration where she began a 37-year Federal career. She also worked in Washington D.C., for 10 years at the Pentagon and the Department of Housing and Urban Development before returning to Detroit, Mich. until she retired.

During her career, Vichunas became a loan specialist, analyzed credit, employment, debt, financial statements, budgets, construction contracts, change orders and more for single and multi-unit housing and nursing home applications. "The largest loan I underwrote was for $82 million for the Somerset Apartments," Vichunas said.

She and her husband, Al, have been married for 43 years. Al was a police officer in Detroit, Mich. for over 25 years and is a deputy with the Alcona County Sheriff's Department. The couple purchased their Caledonia Township home in 1983 and became full-time residents in Vichunas brings to the supervisor seat many years of community involvement. She was elected as a Caledonia Township trustee in 2004; appointed to the planning commission the same year and served as chairperson from 2004 until 2017. She was elected to the Alcona County Board of Commissioners for District 1 in 2009 and served in that seat until 2017. She also served as chairperson for the Board of Health, District 2 for seven years.

She is an active member of the Hubbard Lake Sportsman and Improvement Association, the Hubbard Lake Citizens Watch and the Hubbard Lake Lady Learners. She has been a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6754 Auxiliary since 1998 and has been the president of the auxiliary since 2003.

"Since the township board appointed me to fill the vacant supervisor's position I have spent the last six months working with the board to develop policies and job descriptions; learning the supervisor's role in the board of review property assessment process; and budget preparation and monitoring to improve the fund balance," Vichunas said.

"I have enjoyed working with the board members to develop an effective working relationship with a common goal to serve the people of the township.

"I would like to continue my dedicated and demonstrated community service to work with neighboring townships to bring positive growth and improved services that township residents deserve. I have strong leadership skills and extensive knowledge of township government and will work to make Caledonia Township an even better place to live."

Cyndi Apsey was one of seven children born to George and Merry Lou Loyer in Alcona County. She graduated from Alcona High School in

Her grandparents, Ray and Louise Parents, lived in the Hubbard Lake area and owned what is now Rosas and the Church Hill Pointe Inn. Apsey said because of her grandparents, she has many wonderful childhood memories of Caledonia Township.

Apsey chose to remain an Alcona County resident her entire life. She and her husband, Tom, have worked side by side in business and in raising five children. The couple also has several grandchildren. She explained her family was the most important thing in her life and her greatest accomplishment. "My family has taught me the value of kindness, compassion, hard work, apprecialove and friendship. Who I am today is because of all they have shared with me," Apsey said.

Apsey has taken courses at Alpena Community College, but most of her education was by on the job training through life experiences, through being a business owner, raising a family, operating a daycare center, operating an excavating business with her husband and running a thriving farm. She has lived in Caledonia Township for more than eight years.

Apsey said community involvement is important and she has always been involved in some form throughout her life. She is a founding member of the Loyal Ladies, a group dedicated to improving blighted rural areas with two main events; Spruce Days in the spring and a Christmas event called Whoville. "This group is so good for my heart and love of the area. The events bring the community together to celebrate just being who we are. I feel they show the goodness and love in our community's heart," Apsey said.

Apsey said that some voters may think she doesn't have enough experience to be a township supervisor, but she knows not many people do when they are first elected. "I believe coming in with a

A Refresher on Proposal A and Local Property Taxes

In March of 1994, Michigan voters approved the Michigan education finance amendment, known as Proposal A. Proposal A was a legislatively referred constitutional amendment that had been approved by the Michigan House of Representatives and Michigan Senate in December 1993, sending the proposal before the voters.

The purpose of Proposal A was to reform Michigan's educational finance system. Searching for a solution to residents' frustrations over high property taxes and enormous inequities in funding for local school districts across Michigan, the Legislature put forth Proposal A as a means to amend the Michigan Constitution. Proposal A was designed to overhaul Michigan's educational finance system and provide property tax.

In the context of local property taxation, Proposal A included two key provisions which will be discussed here:

Growth on taxable value of individual parcels of property is limited to the lesser of inflation or 5 percent, and

When property was sold/transferred, taxable value is reset to equal state equalized value, which equals half of the property's cash value.

The process of adjusting taxable value upward to state equalized value is commonly known as "uncapping." These "uncapped values" were not included in the definition of exempt property for the purpose of a Headlee Amendment roll back calculation when the legislature amended the General Property Tax Act in 1994. The result of this is that communities with substantial market growth in existing property tax values have been penalized by being forced to roll back their millage rates.

In addition, the implementing legislation passed by the Legislature after Proposal A was approved eliminated what were known as Headlee "roll-ups." Prior to this legislation, local governments were allowed to "roll-up" their millage rates (only as high as the original millage rate) when growth on existing property value was less than inflation. This was a selfcorrecting mechanism that allowed local units to naturally recapture tax base that had been lost due to forced Headlee rollbacks in prior years.

This is just a brief glimpse at Proposal A by focusing on changes it made to local property taxes in Michigan. For a more in-depth look at Proposal A, take a look at this analysis from the Michigan Department of Treasury.

fresh mindset is needed and one of the reasons there are terms for elected public positions. Life has taught me to look at every situation from different angles, to consider the views of other and to be open minded and fair. We are all not perfect. Life has taught me to appreciate and take care of what we have in this beautiful area.

"In every area of my life I have worked hard. I may not have always succeeded, but even in failure we learn. I think my ability to understand team work, to step back and look at things from all sides, to realize what it is like to be in business, to farm and enjoy life are all helpful abilities. I am out there in the community living and doing, my energy, my creative mind, my desire to do good will all be very useful if elected as supervisor," Apsey said. If elected, Apsey would like to be devoted to her constituents with honesty, transparency and consistency. She would like to restore a working relationship among board members, taxpayers and the employees of the township. Apsey believes she could create a more open board that is willing to inform and work with taxpayers. Other issues she would like to address include proper bidding of township work, reapplying for grants for the North End Park and beach area, address township hall rentals, and restore mowing of the ball fields.

"I love this area. I am involved. I am energetic and enthusiastic. I don't want to just live in this community, I want to be a part of it. I think my appreciation for this community is proven in what I have accomplished with the Loyal Ladies. This community has been there for me and I intend to return the favor every chance I get," Apsey said.

Two vie for Caledonia Township trustee seat

By Mary Weber

Staff Writer

Caledonia voters will decide between two Republican candidates running for one trustee seat on the Caledonia Township Board in the primary election on August 7.

Incumbent Tim Ratz was appointed to the Caledonia Township board as trustee in January. This is his first venture in running for an elected position.

He grew up in Hubbard Lake and attended Hubbard Lake Elementary school and graduated from Alpena High School in 1996.

He received an associate degree from Alpena Community College as a machine tool technician. He earned a bachelor's degree in manufacturing engineering and a master's degree in career technology education from Ferris State University. He also attended the Hobart Institute of Welding Technology and is a certified welding inspector.

Since 2003 he has been a technical math and welding instructor for Alpena Community College. In 2016 he was awarded the title of Michigan Community College Trends Outstanding Statewide Occupational Instructor of the Year.

Ratz has lived in the Hubbard Lake area for most of his life and has lived in Caledonia Township for 14 years. He is a single man with no children. He is a member of the Alpena Sportsman Club, Alpena City Rifle and Pistol League and a National Rifle Association member. Ratz enjoys baseball and played for the Hubbard Lake County League baseball team. He also enjoys hunting, fishing, hobby farming, exercising and has a deep passion for supporting the Alpena and Alcona humane societies.

He is running for the trustee seat to continue doing his part to better the Caledonia community. "If elected, I would like to look for ways to reduce operating costs. I have been a trustee for six months now. The biggest thing I have learned while being in this seat is there are so many small things which must be done to keep a township operating effectively.

"This is a continuous process of always looking to cut costs where possible and improve services to the residents of the township," Ratz said.

Cindy K. Smith was born and raised in Caledonia Township and lives just five miles from her childhood home. Her parents. Dave and Linda Souva, have lived in Caledonia Township for 64 years.

After graduating from Alcona High School in 1995 she attended Alpena Community College and earned an associate degree in general studies. After she married her husband, Justin, they began a family which delayed her achieving a degree until 2005. The couple has two children who attend Alcona High School.

Smith has been employed by the State of Michigan Department of Health and Human Services for over 13 years. "I have worked with accounting, administrative support, field lead and as an eligibility specialist determining eligibility for state assistance. I feel this experience will help me in the trustee role as I have years of experience working with government policy with a diverse group of people. I understand the demands of this position and the importance of transparency that this title would require," Smith said.

Smith volunteers at sporting events sponsored by Alcona Community Schools such as keeping score during basketball games, assisting with track and field events and volunteering for the Volley for a Cure at Spruce Eagles Club. In her spare time, she enjoys hunting with her children and spending time out-

Cindy K. Smith

Smith said she was raised with good values as a practicing Christian which she continues today. "Hard work was a trait I learned young in life along with honesty and fairness. My parents never had any boys, so we were raised to haul firewood and have a good work ethic which has played into my adult life," Smith said.

She is running for the trustee position to bring balance to the board and to offer new ideas and refreshed energy. She feels the board needs the views of a working mother balancing children/ sports/and careers and knowing what the youth and adults in the community could benefit from.

A project she would like to work on is to continue updating the Caledonia building and parks.

"I feel it's important to get out and vote for the person you feel will represent your values and morals. Currently, only two board positions (in Caledonia Township) are held by people who were elected the rest have been appointed. These positions represent our township and our townships values. Please take the time to let your voice be heard and have your vote counted on August 7," Smith said.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

The full text of the amendments is available at the Alcona Township Hall, online at http://sites.google.com/site/alconatownship/ or by contacting Ron Ott, 4081 Hazel Rd., Lincoln, MI 48742. Beede house leveled by fire

July 18, 1968 ~ One of the oldest houses in Harrisville was leveled by fire in the early hours of Wednesday morning. The Beede house at the corner of Second and Church Streets, which has been vacant since the death of Mrs. Nellie Hanson a number of years ago, went up in flames.

The fire w as discovered shortly before 4 a. m. by Everett Leeseburg of Harrisville Township, who awakened the Paszek family next door and the fire department was summoned. The blaze, when discovered, was near the southeast section of the tinder-dry unpainted structure and in a short time it was burning beyond control.

Cause of the blaze is unknown. The house, built in the past century, was first known as the Guy Lewis residence. Mr. Lewis was a local barber or "hairdresser" as his Review adv. states.

The late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Swales resided there for many years and later, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Beede, then the Wm.

Last known owner was the late Glen C. Beede of St. Louis, Missouri.

Harrisville to have first golf course; to be built on Springport farm

July 18, 1968 ~ William LaForge, owner of LaForge Real Estate, announced today that ground will soon be broken for the construction of the new Harrisville Golf Course which will be located on the South portion of the former Springport Farm just South of town.

The new golf course has been planned to feature nine holes and will be laid out in such a manner as to take advantage of the natural rolling contour of the land. Upon completion the golf course will feature watered greens and fairways, a small clubhouse, total golfing area of over 3,000 yards with a par 36. Sandtraps, water hazards and dog legs will add to the natural features of the property.

Building specifications for the golf course call for a total fairway yardage of 3,121 yards which will consume twenty-five acres of land fortysix and one-half acres of rough. Teeing areas will be ten feet wide and sixty feet in length which will allow four tee marker changes. Greens will be built up or set in to hills with a minimum putting area of sixty feet in diameter and maximum putting areas of seventy-five feet diameter. Fairways will be planted to a mixture of Kentucky Blue Grass, Red Fescue, and other leading turf grasses.

Completion date for the venture has not yet been determined.

. I think everybody has a hero or someone they admire or aspire to emulate. One of mine was Neil A. Armstrong, the first human to walk on the moon. Neil unfortunately passed away last August 25 at the age of 82. I just finished James R. Hansen's authorized biography of Armstrong, First Man, which filled in a number of gaps and some misinformation I had about the reluctant hero, whose first small step onto the lunar surface on July 20, 1969 forever changed his life and people's perspective of the cosmos. "That's one small step for (a) man, one giant leap for mankind." This soft spoken and controlled human being, who paused to consider almost everything he said, forgot to say the "a" in that sentence. Without it, the words are redundant and make no sense, and although Armstrong insisted that the "a" was voiced, detailed audio analysis of that communication failed to reveal it. When were those words conceived in Armstrong's mind? Hansen gives a credible argument that it probably didn't happen until Armstrong had actually brought the Eagle safely down onto the lunar surface. There was no need to give it any serious consideration, according to Armstrong, until the landing had actually occurred, because Neil thought in his mind that the chances of accomplishing this feat were about 50/50. He gave the mission an overall 90 percent probability of successfully returning to Earth. Neil wasn't even concerned about whether he or his partner, Buzz Aldrin, would be the first to walk. It was all about successfully landing the Eagle. Buzz, on the other hand, lobbied hard for that first step, but in the end NASA administrators unanimously chose Armstrong as the better person to represent humanity's first explorer to set foot on another world. For Neil's sake, kindly remember the "a" in "...one small step..." That was something he really wanted the world to

Shipwreck visible in Harrisville Harbor

By Wayne R. Lusardi Maritime Archaeologist Thunder Bay National

Marine Sanctuary

Although there are thousands of shipwrecks in the Great Lakes, very few are visible from the shoreline. The Northern Light in Harrisville Harbor is an exception.

Built as a passenger propeller for Leonard Hanna and Hiram Garretson of Cleveland, Ohio, the 211 foot long Northern Light featured an 86-foot-long gentleman's cabin with 23 staterooms, and a 36-foot-long ladies cabin with 10 cabins.

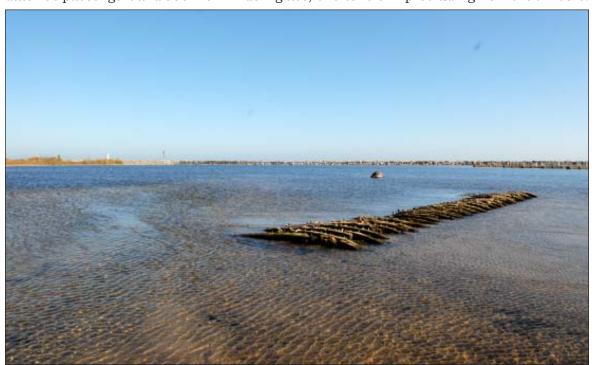

The ship could accommodate 100 passengers and 300 tons of freight.

On a trip up bound through the Sault locks in April 1862, the Northern Light carried five tons of ground feed, 500 barrels of flour, 50 barrels of beef, 75 barrels of pork, 20 barrels of lard, 8,000 pounds of butter, 1,000 pounds of cheese, 12,000 pounds of candles, seven barrels of apples, 1,575 pounds of dried fruit, 9,200 pounds of sugar, 12 bags of coffee, 18 chests of tea, 95 bushels of vegetables, 50 barrels of salt, nine barrels of vinegar, 1,200 pounds of tobacco, 108 kegs of nails, 100 tons of merchandise, 70 barrels of lime, four packages of window glass, two tons of ship were made but lifting chain ate through the hull and the ship was eventually abandoned in place.

Portions of the stern deadwood featuring mortises for the cant frames are located parallel to shore near the boat launch. A large section of curved bow is located a bit further offshore in deeper water. Not far away are the remains of a large section of hull consisting of dozens of frame sets and the overlying hull planking.

All of the wood is White Oak and a variety of fasteners including spikes, drift pins, and bolts can be seen protruding from the timbers.

hay, 34 head of cattle, seven hogs, 175 pieces of furniture, one wagon and buggy, 38 barrels of liquor, 2,000 pounds of malt and 40 passengers.

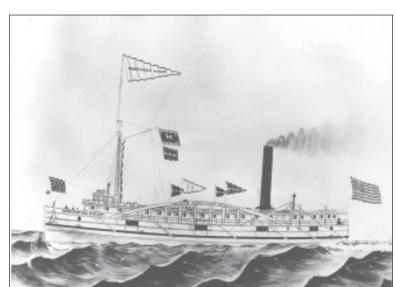

By the early 1870s the once glamorous passenger freighter was reduced to a tow barge for the lumber trade out of Green Bay, Wisc. In October 1880 the Northern Light was driven ashore at Harrisville and was badly damaged. The ship remained partially sunk at the dock for nearly a year.

In September 1881 a second storm completed the destruction of the badly rotten hulk. According to the Alpena Weekly Argus (September 21,1881), "The barge Northern Light which sunk in the Colwell [Harrisville] harbor here about a year ago, had all broken to pieces this morning, and fragments of the wreck were coming ashore"

While the lake water level remains low the wreckage is susceptible to damage though affords a unique opportunity to view a historic treasure from our maritime past.

Lake Huron's cold, fresh water preserves nearly 200 historic shipwrecks, and through research, education, and community involvement, the sanctuary and its partners ensure that future generations can enjoy these irreplaceable underwater treasures.
