Chicks make science fun for elementary students

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Despite a slight delay which nearly scrapped the project, almost a dozen new chicks pecked their way into the world just in time to make end of year studies a little more interesting for Alcona Elementary students.

The chicks are a part of a second and third grade project of Jennifer Inglis' STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) classes. Inglis had hoped to end the project in April, but things didn't go exactly as planned.

"Students began the school year looking at the life cycle of plants, butterflies and then salmon. They were excited to observe the 20 eggs we received in April, but they never hatched. That, in itself, was an education for the students," Inglis said.

She explained students had already observed a two-headed salmon which hatched during their salmon project this year but didn't live long. Inglis explained to students that death was part of every living life cycle.

Inglis, who had no prior experience with chickens, got some advice and help from Monica Spears, a parent at the school who raises chickens. Spears candled the eggs which were all found to be unfertilized.

Spears didn't want the students to be disappointed with the results, so she gathered 20 eggs from her farm to donate to the project.

Students were observing the eggs when the first chick began pecking through his shell about a week ago. "It was really cool when they hatched. We had chicks born on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and one on Saturday," said Jacob Smith, a second grader.

Abby Wurtley, also a second grader, said they learned a lot about chickens and baby chicks in the classroom and that chickens roost. "We also learned about an embryo, which is a baby on the inside. It's like a seed that grows," she said.

Ben Myers, a third grader, explained it normally takes about 21 days for fertile eggs to hatch, but the school's chicks were a little early at just 19 days, probably because they didn't want to miss the end of school. "They are wet when they first come out of their shell and can't see, but they eat right away. Now they are very fluffy and soft," Myers said.

Inglis explained the project was a great success. "Students were able to interact hands-on and were very interested in what they were learning. A student can't really interact much with fish or butterflies. Today I put a chick on each table and let them hop around as students worked. They have all gotten to touch and hold the chicks and keep a close eye on their safety and growth.

"They learned not all chicks are yellow when they are born, so I was able to discuss heredity a bit with the third graders. It's been a fun project and they are nice calm chicks because of all the handling. I definitely would do this again," she said.

Some of the chicks even got scientific names such as Chemistry, Biology, Astronomy, Ecology, Geology and Zoology. There is also one named Hugs and Kisses which Inglis said got that moniker because it was the egg marked with an "X" on one side and an "O" on the other to distinguish when the eggs were turned.

As students complete the last few days of school this week, the chicks will be making their way to new homes. Some will be going home with school success coordinator, Mael Fritz-Wilson and the others will be taken back to Spears farm.

Sentencing concludes school threat incident

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

The former Alcona High School student charged with a threat at the school in March was sentenced in 23rd Circuit Court on June 6.

Alyssia R. Hancock, 18, of Spruce was charged with false report or threat of terrorism, a felony, and malicious destruction of a building, a misdemeanor. According to the Alcona County Sheriff's Department, a handwritten threat "to shoot the school up" was written on a restroom stall in the girls bathroom and found at approximately 2:50 p.m. March 26.

Hancock, who was represented by attorney William Pfifer, apologized for her actions during the sentencing hearing. "I would like to apologize, not just to the school, but the entire community for my actions. I understand the seriousness of what I did..." she said.

Prosecuting Attorney Thomas Weichel said that while a representative from the school was not in attendance, "the people has discussed in depth with the school district representative, Mr. (Dan) O'Connor, superintendent in reference to this issue."

The Honorable Laura A. Frawley presided over the hearing and told Hancock that her actions wreaked havoc and fear in the schools and in the community. "You have a lot of work to do to make up for your actions," Frawley said. "It's really important that you spend the effort to work out the issues that you are dealing with. Life is hard enough at your age... you need to put in the effort with counseling

Hancock was sentenced to three years of probation under the Holmes Youthful Trainee Act (HYTA), where if she meets the terms of her probation, the charges will be dismissed. She was given credit for 17 days in jail. Some of the terms of her probation include: Not to be within 500 feet of Alcona Community Schools, including after school events; pay $1,808 in fines and costs; not to use alcohol or drugs; not to go into places that serve alcohol or be around people who use alcohol or drugs; adhere to alcohol and drug testing; not to be around people who are felons; not to possess any weapons. "If you violate any of the terms of your probation, you could go back to jail," Frawley told Hancock.

According to the Michigan Legislature (compiled laws website) the Holmes Youthful Trainee Act (HYTA): If an individual pleads guilty to a criminal offense, committed on or after the individual's 17th birthday but before his or her 24th birthday, the court of record having jurisdiction of the criminal offense may, without entering a judgment of conviction and with the consent of that individual, consider and assign that individual to the status of youthful trainee. If the offense was committed on or after the individual's 21st birthday but before his or her 24th birthday, the individual shall not be assigned to youthful trainee status without the consent of the prosecuting attorney.

The law does not allow this for any of the following: A felony for which the maximum penalty is imprisonment for life; a major controlled substance offense; a traffic offense.

Lady Tigers wrap season, look toward next year

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity softball team had its season come to an end when it dropped its Division IV district semifinal contest against Hale, 11-0 on Friday June, 1.

Raegen Eller took the loss, pitching four innings and giving up 11 runs and 14 hits. Taylor Livingston pitched a scoreless inning of relief.

Ashlyn Gordy, Lori Hayes and Livingston had one hit apiece.

"We got behind early in the first inning and couldn't come back," said head coach Chelsea Neuenfeldt. "We had a tough time defensively containing Hale, giving up 11 runs."

The loss ends the Lady Tiger season with a 3-20 overall record and 1-7 in the North Star League.

"The weather definitely didn't help, making us face teams without even being able to practice on a field," Neuenfeldt said. "This year we had a very young team, consisting of seven new players out of our 13, six being freshmen. This year was a growing year for our team."

The coach is hoping that the wins total can increase in future seasons.

"We will be losing three and returning 10 next year, which will, hopefully, let the girls build on what they have started this year," Neuenfeldt said. "A downfall that we see is the lack of a junior varsity team. Girls are being put on a varsity team not having any experience with softball and playing teams that have been together since little league."

"In the three years I have coached, a goal of mine was to start a JV program and I am confident that next year we will get it back. We have a large group of upcoming freshmen that will be able to get the JV team going again. We are also looking at getting some of the younger girls pitching over the summer to increase our pitchers for next year."

Hailee Gordy was also named to the NSL All-Conference team shortly after the season ended.

"We had a rough year with injuries this year, losing two starters early on and illnesses that took a starter from us in districts," Neuenfeldt said. "Girls were learning new positions on the field and doing the best they could."

Winding down to retirement

By Marlena MacNeill
Guest Columnist

There's been a long standing, albeit unofficial, and mostly self-imposed quota set for me to complete 1,000 payrolls before retiring from the Alcona County Road Commission.

I have loosely calculated it would take about nine more years to meet that goal.

Now, I'm not a quitter, but I suddenly realized I hadn't missed one payroll over the last 29 years. I'm relatively certain that can be counted as a decent accomplishment in itself, so I'm allowing myself the luxury of stopping at about 75 percent of the arbitrary goal.

While payroll was only one aspect of my job, my internal calendar has been set on a two-week schedule since I began working as the administrative assistant at the Alcona County Road Commission in 1989. In addition to payroll, I also served as the secretary to the Board of Road Commissioners. The board typically meets the second and fourth week of each month—further shaping my view of the calendar into two-week segments.

I'm not really sure how long it will be before I stop looking at months as two, two-week periods!

It will also likely be a while before I quit watching the weather and fretting over how road conditions will be for commuters. And I'll have to get out of the habit of looking at everything that happens at the road commission to see if there's a newsworthy story to tell.

I will miss writing those news stories.

I will also miss the crew. I hope I have served them well, greeted them with a smile, and acknowledged them for their individual and collective talents and skills. They are a good-hearted bunch of public servants.

I will miss contact with the public, as well. I always tried to be engaged and as helpful possible, both in answering the bazillion calls I've fielded over the years and face to face with people who have visited the road commission office.

The answer to the usual question about what I plan to do? Well, in conjunction with working full time, I have been active with Leadership Alcona and a big project to expand broadband Internet service in Alcona County, I serve on the planning committee that brings the Alcona County George Byelich Memorial Fall Color Bus to you each year, and I've served on the Alcona Township Board since 1999 and we are currently working on enhancing the park area in Black River. There's no doubt I'll be able to devote more time to those passions.

It has been a good ride;

however, on June 28, 2018, I will process my final payroll, write the minutes for my final board meeting, chalk this up as my final news story, and bid my final farewell to my road commission family.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Cheap cell phone plans for seldom calling seniors

Dear Savvy Senior,
What are the cheapest cell phone plans available to seniors today? I'm 78-years-old and want it primarily for emergency purposes.

Infrequent Caller

Dear Infrequent,

While unlimited high-speed data, video streaming and mobile hot spot are now standard for most cell phone plans today, there are still a number of low-cost wireless plans designed with seniors in mind.

These plans offer limited talk time and text, which is ideal for seniors who want to stay connected without spending much money each month. Here are some super cheap plans to consider.

Prepaid plans are the best deal for seniors who only want a cell phone for emergency purposes or occasional calls. The very cheapest prepaid plan available today is T-Mobile's Pay As You Go plan, which includes any combination of 30 minutes or 30 text messages for only $3 per month. After that, additional minutes and texts cost 10 cents each.

Phone prices start at $75, but if you have a compatible device, you can use it rather than buying a new one. You will, however, need to pay for a $10 SIM Starter Kit fee, whether you bring your own phone or buy a new one. Visit T-Mobile.com or call (844) 361-2792 for more information.

Two other companies that offer low-cost prepaid deals are TracFone and AT&T.

TracFone (TracFone.com, (800) 867-7183) has a 30 minute talk/text plan for $10 per month, or an even cheaper a 60 minute talk/text plan for $20 for three months, which averages out to only $6.66 per month.

And AT&T (ATT.com, (800) 331-0500) has two low-cost prepaid plans including the 25 cent per minute call plan, and a $2 daily plan that charges only when you place or receive a call or send a text that day. The fees are deducted from the prepaid balance on your account. But to use AT&T Prepaid, you must prepay into your account either $10 per month, $25 for three months or $100 per year.

If you're interested in a senior-friendly cell phone that provides top-notch emergency assistance, consider the Jitterbug Flip (GreatCall.com, (800) 918-8543).

This is a nifty flip phone that has big buttons, enhanced sound, a simplified menu, and a 5Star urgent response button that connects you to a trained agent that will know your locations, and will be able to assist you whether you need emergency services, directions, roadside assistance or a locksmith, or to contact family. GreatCall's service runs on Verizon's network.

The Flip phone costs $100,

with monthly service plans that start at $15 for 200 minutes. Or, you can get the 5Star service with 50 minutes of monthly talk time for $25.

If your income is low enough, another option you should check into is the federal Lifeline program, which provides free or low-cost cell phones and plans through numerous wireless providers.

To qualify, your annual household income must be at or below 135 percent of the Federal Poverty Guidelines - which is $16,389 for one person, or $22,221 for two. Or, you must be receiving Medicaid, food stamps/SNAP, SSI, public housing assistance, veterans pension or survivor's pension benefit, or live on federally recognized Tribal lands.

To find out if you're eligible, or to locate wireless companies in your area that participates in the program, visit LifelineSupport.org or call (800) 234-9473.

(Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org.)

Youth Drama Camp

The Shoreline Players announce the return engagement of the original and revamped musical, "Curtain Call the Musical...the story begins before the curtain rises." The show's writer and lyricist Maggie Gautier will be this summer's guest director. The enhanced version of the show includes three new songs, some plot changes and some new dance numbers.

The Shoreline Players Youth Drama Association (SPYDA) summer program will be a five week day camp that begins on Monday, June 18 with registration at 9 a.m. SPYDA directors Sue Miller, Renee Diener and Chelsea

Miller will be producing the camp and show.

There is a $20 registration fee per child with additional siblings joining for $10 per child to secure their spot and assist with camp expenses. To make sure everyone can participate there are scholarship funds available for registration.

The first two days of the program will be theatrical workshops on stagecraft from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. which will be facilitated by Maggie Gautier and her colleague, Theresa Gibson. Students should bring a sack lunch.

No advance preparation is necessary for the workshops. Students should be ready to have a good time. The workshops will help participants become familiar with the material and prepared for the auditions which will be held on Wednesday, June 20 and Thursday, June 21.

The first official rehearsal begins Friday, June 22 after the two days of audition conclude. Rehearsals will be conducted Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. at the theater.

Although not all cast members will be needed at every session, those auditioning should have a clear schedule for the majority of the days from June 18 to July 22 if selected.

The students in the cast and crew will be scheduled for dress rehearsal Monday, July 16, Tuesday, July 17 and Wednesday, July 18.

All cast and crew must be available for all scheduled performances which will be held on July 19, 20, 21 at 7 p.m. and a July 22 matinee at 2 p.m. and will be presented at the theater.

The Family Gordon Calder -- Susan Calder, Billy Calder, Dannielle Calder, Garrett Calder, Gavin Calder and Jeanne Griffith, all of Harrisville, gather with a commemorative park bench which has been installed at the Springport Road beach access site for beach visitors to enjoy. The Calder family enjoys this location on Lake Huron and hope others will take advantage of a permanent place to sit and relax. The family appreciates the Alcona County Road Commission for its kindness and support of this tribute and to PMI in Ionia, Mich. for this quality product. Courtesy photo.

2017 Water Quality Report for The City of Harrisville

This report covers the drinking water quality for the City of Harrisville for the calendar year 2017. This 2017 information is a snapshot of the quality of the water that we provided to you in 2017. Included are details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state standards.

Your water comes from two (2) groundwater wells located at 417 Mill Creek Rd. The state performed an assessment of our source water in 2017. Copies of the reports are available from the Harrisville City Clerk's Office. Our wells were determined to have moderately low susceptibility to contamination.

Contaminants and their presence in water: Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Vulnerability of sub-populations: Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune systems disorders, some elderly and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Sources of drinking water: The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs and wells. Our water comes from wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

* Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.

* Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.

* Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture and residential uses.

* Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

* Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which provide the same protection for public health.

Water Quality Data

The table below lists all the drinking water contaminants that we detected during the 2015 calendar year. The presence of these contaminants in the water does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table are from testing done January 1 – December 31, 2015. The state allows us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. All of the data is representative of the water quality, but some are more than one year old.

Terms and abbreviations used below:

* Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

* Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL): The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

* Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL): The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

* Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG): The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

* N/A: not applicable ND: not detectable at testing limit ppb: parts per billion or micrograms per liter ppm: parts per million or milligrams per liter.

* Action Level (AL): The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system must follow.

Samples collected at the Wellhouse:

Regulated Chemical Contaminants	MCL	MCLG	Our Water	Sample Date	Violation Yes / No	Typical Source of Contaminants
Fluoride (ppm)	4	4	0.17 MG/L	8/17/16	No	Erosion of natural deposits

Unregulated Chemical Contaminants <sup>2</sup>	Our Water	Sample Date	Violation Yes / No	Typical Source of Contaminants
Sodium (ppm)	7 MG/L	8/17/2016	N/A	Erosion of natural deposits
Sulfate (ppm)	13 mg/L	8/17/2016	N/A	Erosion of natural deposits

<sup>2</sup> Unregulated contaminants are those for which EPA has not established drinking water standards. Monitoring helps EPA to determine where certain contaminants occur and whether it needs to regulate those contaminants.

Samples Collected in the Distribution System:

Contaminants Subject to an Action Level	Action Level, MCL, or MRDL	Our Water	Sample Date	Number of Samples Above AL	Typical Source of Contaminants
Lead (ppb) <sup>3</sup>	AL = 15	(90 th percentile) 2.0ppb	9/16/2015	0	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; Erosion of natural deposits
Copper (ppm) <sup>3</sup>	AL = 1.3	(90 th percentile) 240 ppb	9/16/2015	0	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; Erosion of natural deposits; Leaching from wood preservatives

<sup>3</sup> 90 percent of the samples collected were at or below the level reported for our water. Lead and copper monitoring sample results were provided to all people whose site was tested in 2015. No lead & copper samples were collected in 2017.

Microbial Contaminants	MCL	MCLG	Positive Samples	Violation Yes / No	Typical Source of Contaminants
Total Coliform Bacteria	1 positive monthly sample (5% of monthly samples positive)	0	0	no	Naturally present in the environment
Fecal Coliform and E. coli	Routine and repeat samples are total coliform positive, and one is also fecal or E. coli positive	0	0	no	Human and animal fecal waste

We will update this report annually and will keep you informed of any problems that may occur throughout the year, as they happen. Copies are available at the Harrisville City Clerk's Office, 200 N. Fifth St., Harrisville, MI 48740. This report will not be sent to you.

We invite public participation in decisions that affect drinking water quality. The Harrisville City Council meets regularly at 7 p.m. on the second Monday of the month at the Harrisville City Clerk's Office at 200 Fifth St., Harrisville MI 48740. For more information about your water, or the contents of this report, contact The City of Harrisville (989)724-6666. For more information about safe drinking water, visit the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency at www.epa.gov/safewater/.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The City of Harrisville is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to two minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791 or at <http://water.epa.gov/drink/info/lead>.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Crescent Moon Woos Venus

Friday and Saturday, June 15-16 offers the best opportunities for seeing the second brightest sky object, the moon, next to the third brightest object, Venus. It will be an inspiring sight to behold in the western sky. The moon will be below and to Venus' right on Friday and above and to the left of the Goddess of Love on Saturday. Look for earthshine on the unlit portion of the seven percent waxing crescent moon on Friday and also on Saturday when Luna has grown to nearly 15 percent illumination. Bring binoculars along to enhance the earthshine, light reflected from a nearly full (fat gibbous) Earth rebounded back to us from the unlit portions of the moon. Also, on the 16th with binoculars, you can scan between the moon and Venus and spot a faint grouping of luminaries. That's the Beehive star cluster, also known as the Praesepe (Latin for manger), and designated as M44, the 44th object cataloged by Charles Messier (1730-1817), a French astronomer who was more interested in discovering comets than viewing celestial showpieces. When Messier came across fuzzy, stationary objects during his sky sweeps that his small telescopes could not properly resolve, he noted them to avoid the embarrassment of announcing the false discovery of a comet. Many of his findings, such as the Beehive, were either known in antiquity or first discerned by other sky watchers but then chronicled by Messier, perhaps to boost his catalog numbers. The current listing contains 110 objects, 103 which were published in his last catalog in 1781. The Beehive is one of the easier Messier objects to view. Under a dark, moonless early spring sky, when it is much higher in the heavens, it can be observed with the unaided eye as a faint, nebulous looking object, but it is really composed of just over 1000 stars. To the left of the moon on Saturday will be Regulus, the "king" of the stars of Leo the Lion. Look for the sickle, the head appearing as a backwards question mark, diving towards the western horizon as the spring stars set earlier and earlier each evening, and the summer stars begin to take center stage in the east. # Famous Leadville

Letter From T. J. Daggett, Formally of Harrisville;
He Isn't in Love With That Country.

June 11, 1880 ~ Geo. W. Colwell hands us the following letter recently received from T. J. Daggett, now of Leadville, which we think contains information that will be of interest to the readers of the Review:

Leadville, Colorado
May 30, 1880.

Friend George: When I left Harrisville you wrote your address on an envelope and requested me to write you when I got to Leadville. I did not get to Leadville as soon as I expected to, and after I left you I had my valise stolen and your address went with it. I arrived at Leadville about two weeks ago; have not done much since I came here.

There is not much to do just now; the mine's are all on a strike. There has not been any work done for a week. No one can tell when they will settle the affair and go to work again. I don't think the strike will last very long, for the reason that there are so many whisky shops and gambling halls here. I never heard of a game that is not played here, and they don't play for fun but for money.

There are gambling halls here as large as your store, and they are crowded full and the doors are never closed, nights or Sundays; gambling is kept up constantly. They say there are 85,000 people in Leadville, but I don't think there are that many; there may be 25,000. It is a terrible crowd for a city of its size, and there are men and women from all parts of the world and of all sorts of characters.

They have churches here, but I don't think they are bothered much. They have water works and gas works here also. There are some nice hotels here, but a man wants lots of wealth to stop at one. Over night it snowed four inches on the night of the 26th. The mountains have not found out that summer has come; they are all white with snow.

The timber here is what I call poor scrubs of jack pines. They saw some of the butts, and the lumber sells for $27.00 per thousand. If G. L. was here with his lumber yard he could dispose of it to good advantage, but I would advise him to stay where he is, for the coal burners, wood choppers and lumbermen have the scrubs about all cut. It takes from (16 to 21) of these logs to make a thousand, and there are knots from the ground up.

I have not seen any game yet but a small kind of pigeon, but they say there has been buffalo, deer and antelope here, I have seen some buffalo skulls and horns lying around on the ground where they had been killed and deer were killed here last summer. I saw some antelope on the plains in Kansas when I was coming here. I saw one jack rabbit here; he looked as large as a small fawn when running I did not very close to it.

The Arkansas River runs through between the mountains here. It is a small stream supplied by the snow from the mountains. There are not any fish in it that I can hear of. The air is very light and cool. Leadville is 11,780 feet above the level of the sea. It makes a fellow puff and blow to clime up a hill.

When I arrived here I met an old friend of mine from Saginaw. Times were a little dull here at the time, and we went to cutting cordwood at $1.50 per cord. Mighty poor chance for wood, but we grind out four cords per day by hurrying a little. Shall stick to that until we get something better. I think times will be better after a little while.

There are a great many going away from here to the Gunison country to prospect this summer. There are some good reports coming back from there. Don't know whether I shall prospect for mineral or not. I intend to do that which pays best until I get money enough to buy and pay for 160 acres of land that I know of in Alcona County. Then I shall start for Harrisville, unless I see some place that I like better than any that I have seen since I left there.

A man cannot earn money very fast there, to work by the month, but he can make a good farm and not be blown away by a wind that is raking over a prairie a thousand miles wide. I don't like so much wind. The morning that I arrived at Denver the train was four hours behind time on account of the head wind. I don't like that a all. I am here and not discouraged nor dissatisfied with anything. I am not sorry that I came, for now I know something of the country, and if I had not come I should still have had the idea that this was the "Garden of the Earth." This is a rough place, but I have seen rough times in my life and can stand it all right.

You must excuse the half sheets and poor writing, for I am writing out in the wind under a bush, and my writing material is torn up worse than I thought it was. I'll try and do better next time. It is snowing on the mountain tops now and does nearly every day. There is not any snow down in the bottom lands, and it is quite warm if the wind don't blow. Not much grass yet; I don't think a horse could get a living now.

Give my regards to all of the Rifle Range Boys. If nothing happens to prevent, I will be with them again. Don't write until you hear from me again. I think I shall go to Twin Lakes, about 30 miles from here, if business don't start up pretty soon.

Yours Truly,
T. J. Daggett.

Accident

June 11, 1880 ~ W. S. Howell, circular sawyer in G. L. Colwell's mill, met with quite a severe accident last Friday afternoon. A piece of board about 10 inches in length was hurled toward him with great velocity by one of the saws, striking him above the left temple, and knocking him down as quick as could be expected under the circumstances. He was engaged putting a "fresh" cant upon the carriage, and knew nothing of the danger until the board struck him.

In falling to the floor, he still clung to the lever operating the steam carriage feed and said carriage went back to its destination and off the track with lightning speed, making things lively for a moment. It was thought at first that the blow had killed Mr. Howell, but as he soon arose to his feet again, it was concluded that though seriously wounded he still lived.

Though the wound is very painful and the eye a very sick looking member, yet we think Mr. H. will be around all right again within a few days, He refuses to take to the bed even now, however.

Mineral spring

June 11, 1880 ~ Harrisville and vicinity is soon to become famous for important discoveries in the mineral line. We propose to make the eyes of the people assume a staring attitude, in our next issue; but while we are getting ready for that, we will state in this issue that one of the best mineral springs in the state, of sulphur and iron properties, has been discovered on the beach, about one half mile north of town.

It is a boiling spring and its taste and appearance bear unmistakable evidence that it is a medicinal spring of first order. We ask all to go and see it.

By The History Channel

- On June 20, 1782, Congress adopts the Great Seal of the United States after six years of discussion. The front of the seal depicts a bald eagle clutching an olive branch in its right talon and arrows in its left, with a shield marked with 13 vertical red and white stripes on its breast.

- On June 23, 1902, German automaker Daimler-Motoren-Gesellschaft registers "Mercedes" as a brand name. A three-point star was registered as a trademark in 1909 and used on all Mercedes vehicles after 1910.

- On June 24, 1948, the Soviet Union blocks all road and rail traffic to and from West Berlin. Panic set in as its population worried about food, water and medical aid. Just two days later, the United States began a massive airlift of supplies into West Berlin.

- On June 19, 1953, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted of conspiring to pass U.S. atomic secrets to the Soviets, are executed at Sing Sing Prison in New York. Both proclaimed their innocence right up to the time of their deaths.

- On June 21, 1965, the Byrds' debut album, "Mr. Tambourine Man," is released and marks the beginning of the folk-rock revolution. In just a few months, the Byrds had become a household name.

Aboard the shuttle was Dr. Sally Ride, who as a mission specialist became the first American woman to travel into space. ## Strange But True

By Samantha Weaver

- It was the multitalented Brit G.K. Chesterton -- he was a poet, philosopher, dramatist, journalist, orator, lay theologian, biographer, and art critic -- who made the following sage observation: "The men who really believe in themselves are all in lunatic asylums."

- Those who study such things say that the word "daisy" started out as "day's eye" and was shortened over the years. Similarly, "God be with you" became "goodbye" and "whole be thou" became "hello."

- Becoming a sports star is the dream of many young people, so you might think that someone who is signed to a professional baseball contract has it made. You'd be wrong, though: Only 1 out of every 10 athletes who sign such a contract ever becomes a major-league ballplayer.

- The shortest song in the world is "You Suffer," recorded in 1986 by the British band Napalm Death. It lasts precisely 1.316 seconds.

- In France in the 1700s, capital punishment was not uncommon, and criminals thus condemned were decapitated by the country's Chief Executioner. This position was hereditary, which posed a problem when, in 1726, the holder of that title, Charles-Jean-Baptiste Sanson, suffered an early death, leaving his 7-year-old son, Charles, to take up the grisly duties. It was obvious to all that a child could never wield the heavy ax required for the decapitations, so it was deemed acceptable for a helper to actually perform the executions. Only the official office-holder could put the official seal on the act, however, so the poor boy had to witness every one. It wasn't until the ripe old age of 12 that he began to take over the full duties of the office.

VILLAGE OF LINCOLN MINUTES

The Lincoln Village Council met on Monday, June 4 at 7 p.m. at the village hall. The meeting was opened with the "Pledge of Allegiance." These in attendance included: President Jordan, treasurer Hussain, clerk Somers and council members Gauthier, Healy, Mahalak, Somers and Zielinski. Member Putsky was absent.

The minutes of the May meeting were approved on a motion from Mahalak with support from Zielinski. The treasurer's report was approved, subject to audit, on a motion from Zielinski with support from Mahalak. Treasurer Hussain presented a list of delinquent sewer customers that need to be placed on the tax rolls. A motion was approved that was made by Zielinski, with support from Mahalak, that said: Be it resolved on a request from the village treasurer received and filed that these accounts including penalties are unpaid:

Heather's House of Hair 052-900-008-005-34 $276.57

Kohler's 052-000-024-010-00 $276.57

Mary Ross 052-000-024-002-00 $276.57

Steve Golbeck 052-000-024-010-00 $276.57

John McLellan 052-000-024-009-00 $347.76

Yesterday's Restaurant 052-000-024-001-02 $995.65

Mike Serafin gave the fire and medical first responder report. There have been 13 medical runs and four fires within the past month. The Street report was given. Several repairs have been made to various equipment. Two Major Street projects are in the engineering process and will be taken care of next year. Jesse Campbell of the Alcona County Road Commission is putting together a proposal to put our projects and one for the road commission as one large job. That would save the money for both groups. A bid will be placed in the paper for crack sealing.

The Sewer report was given. The SAW grant is continuing to be worked on. Alpena Septic will be putting the camera into the pipes and the flow meters will be put in as soon as we are able to put in a larger manhole to house the meters.

In old business, Healy stated that on May 24 Rich Gillies, Holly Hussain, Phil Jordan and herself went to Boyne City, Mich. to complete the last chapters of Redevelopment Ready Committees. The public forum on May 16 at the Chosen Ranch went very well. There was a lot of input and a great meal served by the hosts.

Gauthier said she is happy to see the new lights at the Flights of Imagination. In new business, Zielinski said that she had an email from the host of our website, Accunet. President Jordan stated that he feels we need to do something to improve our website. With the new RRC designation we will need to have improvements made.

President Jordan gave his report. A survey was received regarding low to moderate grants that have available funds for streetscape projects in the future. The playground has new lights that are LED. The port-a-johns are in place at the boat launch, beach and Flights of Imagination. Hopefully, the docks, slide and buoys will be placed at the beach this week. The boat launch will be started by the 15th of this month. We are still about $2,500 short of meeting the final cost. Anyone wanting to donate may send a check to the village treasurer and note that it is for the boat launch. There's been a water main break on Traverse Bay that needs to be fixed immediately.

Currently, the trees are being watered with heavy water buckets. The sidewalk project will be started within the next week or two.

A motion to pay the bills as presented was made by Zielinski with support from Gauthier. Motion to adjourn was made by Zielinski with support from Gauthier.

REAL ESTATE GUIDE

Transform bathrooms with technology

Technology is infiltrating every room of the house. Many new home buyers are millennials, and this tech-savvy demographic covets technological innovations.

A recent survey by Better Homes & Gardens Real Estate indicates 77 percent of Generation X and Y home buyers want their homes equipped with the tech capabilities they have grown accustomed to. Many of these involve smart innovations, including those that can transform one of the most private rooms in the house is the bathroom.

Automated home theater rooms and Wi-Fi-enabled home security systems have become the norm, but what tech improvements are available to make the powder room more in touch with today's digital lifestyle? According to the home improvement resource The Spruce, bathrooms have the most potential of any rooms to be improved with technology. The following are just some of the bathroom gadgets and gizmos no one should resist before giving a try.

- Automatic faucets: Infrared sensors have been helping keep public restrooms more hygienic for years. The same technology can be used in home bathrooms to curtail water waste and keep faucets and sinks from becoming infested with germs. In addition, faucets with built-in timers can be programmed to set tasks for brushing teeth or washing your face.

- Musical shower: Instead of having to blast the volume on the portable speaker you use in the bathroom, a wireless speaker is built into some showerheads. This enables those who like to sing in the shower or listen to podcasts while washing up to enjoy this luxury effortlessly.

- Smarter weight management: Bathroom scales have gone high-tech as well, with various options enabling users to measure weight, BMI and body fat percentage before sending the data wirelessly to a phone, tablet or computer. This can put you in greater control of fitness goals.

- High-tech toilets: Borrowing ideas from bidets and trends around the world, modern toilets do not require hands or paper. These toilets have temperature-controlled water, spritzing wands and air dryers to clean and sanitize. Self-cleaning toilets help busy professionals save time and are ideal for those who always want their bowls as clean as possible. And if you desire extra comfort, toilet seat warmers are available, while LED lights can make nighttime restroom visits easier.

- Soaking tubs: As fast as stand-alone showers were introduced to the modern bathroom, tubless designs have been replaced with streamlined soaking tubs. Tubs come with different features, including chromotherapy, which employs colored lights to enhance mood. Air baths are controlled electronically and provide different levels of sensation for those who are skipping the hot tub.

Round out these innovations with automated lights, chilled medicine cabinets and aromatherapy, and your bathroom will indeed become a technological spa. SH182693
