United Way helping federal employees

As the partial federal government shutdown edges toward its fifth week, officials at the United Way of Northeast Michigan are offering free food boxes to government employees who are waiting to get paid.

They are also urging government employees facing financial difficulties to contact its 2-1-1 health and human services hotline for assistance. The Salvation Army of Alpena and the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan are partnering with the United Way to provide the food boxes.

"Our 2-1-1 resource navigators can help connect furloughed employees with food pantries, health care services, tax prep assistance, utility and eviction prevention assistance and more," said Sonya Thomas, executive director of United Way of Northeast Michigan.

"For decades federal employees have supported the United Way of Northeast Michigan, the Salvation Army and the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan through annual donations and volunteerism. It's only right that we should be there to support them at this time of need," Thomas said.

She explained, regionally, federal employees from the Thunder Bay National Marine Sanctuary, Transportation Security Agency (TSA), the U.S. Coast Guard and the Department of Agriculture – just to name a few – join some 800,000 federal employees across the nation that have been furloughed or ordered to work without pay, and thousands of government contractors that have gone without pay as the stalemate over funding for President Trump's Mexican border wall goes on with no end in sight.

To make arrangements to pick up a food box, which will include a selection of nonperishables and meat, contact the United Way at (989) 354-2221 Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Recent retiree looks forward to travel, family time

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Retiring on a high note in one's career is an optimal goal but difficult for many to accomplish. However, a familiar face in the community has been able to do just that.

Lynn VanderLinde, who has held a key position with the Alcona County Library for 16 years as a reference assistant/assistant director, retired earlier this month.

She is pleased and grateful for the opportunities she has had and the people she has met.

According to Lynn, she couldn't have picked a better time to move into the next phase of her life.

She admitted considering retiring a few years ago, but then the library received the reading garden grant and the grant for the Water Ways exhibit from the Smithsonian Institute and she couldn't bear to not be involved with all of it.

Her after-retirement plans include finishing some sewing projects, doing a bit of memoir writing, spending time and taking small trips with her mom, Kathryn Cubalo, and going on some

Lynn explained she and Dave wanted to travel while they were still in reasonably good health and have already planned a trip to New Orleans with their adult children and recently booked a trip for two to Botswana, Zambia and Zimbabwe, Africa.

Additionally, the couple will be traveling with the One Voice Choir of Saline, Mich., on a Viking River Cruise through Amsterdam and Switzerland. "We will be singing for our supper, so to speak, but we still have to pay for the trip. I'll need to go back to work after paying for all this," Lynn said.

Her career at the Alcona County Library began after they moved to and built a house in Alcona County. Although Lynn grew up and has lived most of her life downstate, Alcona County has always been like a second home because her father, Lloyd Cubulo grew up in Lincoln and her mother grew up in Spruce.

Both sets of Lynn's grandparents lived in the county. Her paternal grandmother, Bessie Cubalo, was the postmaster in Lincoln for 31 years. Lynn's father has since passed, but her mom is still involved in the community.

Dave is working as an optometrist for Walmart in Alpena three days a week, which Lynn feels works nicely with their retirement plans.

The VanderLindes lived downstate in Troy, Mich., for many years while they raised their daughter and son. Dave had no ties to the Alcona area, except through his in-laws, but loved the area.

In 1999 a friend called to say there was an optometrist opening in Alpena. Fortunately, it was very close to the time when the VanderLinde's daughter was graduating from college and their son was graduating from high school, leaving them able to make the move.

After their house was built, Lynn saw an ad for the library assistant position and she was eventually hired.

Carol Luck was the director at that time and she took Lynn under her wing and taught her everything she needed to know about the library. "She took a chance on me because I didn't have any library experience other than as a user. I liked books and read a lot. She showed me how to catalog the library collections. It was all very different 16 years ago. The system was a lot harder to work with than it is now.

Lynn has seen many changes to libraries since she was a young reader growing up downstate. "When I was young, I never thought of a library as a fun place. It was great because I could get books there, but it was always a quiet place, almost scary or mausoleum-like.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
I am writing today to say how amazed I am by the persistence, and dedication of the people living in our area, who came out to participate in democracy this past weekend.

The Citizen's March for Democracy in Harrisville took place on Sunday, in spite of the three degree temperature and wind chill factor of -17 degrees. I tried to cancel the march because of the weather but some people insisted they wanted to gather anyway.

I apologize to those who heard it was cancelled but didn't hear some would gather anyway. It was frigid but folks kept joining us as we walked to the water and then came back to the coffee shop for coffee and conversation.

Our form of government requires citizen participation and persistence. Elected officials must hear our voices because we will only get the government we demand. Our taxes pay their salaries and we need to let them know what we expect.

Patty Thomas
Harrisville

To the Editor,
I was greatly saddened to read, in your January 20 edition, that the Alcona County commissioners have voted to send a legally meaningless letter to Governor Whitmer, objecting to her executive order protecting LGBT people from discrimination in state-funded services.

The letter dubiously purports to object on procedural grounds, but it's hard to miss the underlying bigotry. If they had written a similar order, on whatever grounds, objecting to protecting people from racial discrimination, no one would doubt the racist intent masked behind other objections, just as poll taxes and literacy tests in the Jim Crow south were obviously designed to disenfranchise blacks.

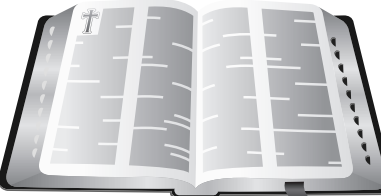

Alcona County suffers from some of the worst poverty, unemployment, opiate abuse, and other problems of any county in Michigan. Does the board of commissioners really have nothing better to do than toothlessly object to protecting one of the most vulnerable and abused groups in our state? Are the commissioners so petty and hateful that they're more interested in going on record with a preference for keeping down the LGBT community than rather than working to lift up the citizens they are supposed to be serving?

Bird Count Needs Help

The 22nd annual Great Backyard Bird Count (GBBC) will take place February 15-18. Residents of Iosco and Alcona counties will have an opportunity to submit data to researchers about birds located in this region of Michigan prior to the spring migrations. Sponsored by Cornell Lab of Ornithology, Audubon, and Bird Studies Canada, this count is open to anyone.

Observations may take place in backyards, neighborhoods, woodlands, along river corridors, or even while riding in a car. Participants are encouraged to observe on one or all four days for at least 15 minutes each day. New counts are started each day. Results are submitted online at www.birdcount.org. Easy to follow instructions guide the observer through the submission process. Participants are to fill out a new form for each observation day during the four-day event. “Through modern technology, along with an increasing number of birders, scientists are now able to get a quick snapshot of where the various species are located, plus insight to the virtual status of populations just prior to the massive spring movements to breeding grounds,” stated Peggy Ridgway, local ambassador the event.

Ridgway will hold a public information meeting about the GBBC and how to participate, plus answer any questions folks may have on Thursday, Feb. 7 at 4 p.m. at the Robert J. Parks Public Library on Skeel Avenue in Oscoda. For more information, call (98) 739-5674 evenings.

Tigers break slump against Braves

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

The Alcona boys varsity basketball team entered last Friday night's non-conference game with Tawas weighed down by a five game losing streak. The Tigers busted out of their mid-season slump with a well-played 58-47 victory.

"It was a much needed win," said head coach Ryan Bilbey. "The boys played a little rough in the first half but cleaned it up in the second."

Josh Kilbourn buried a pair of early threes to help the Tigers claim a 13-10 lead after one and got six points by Aidan Wrobel for a 26-18 lead at the break. Alcona had its lead trimmed to 42-36 entering the fourth quarter, but hit 10 free throws in the fourth to hang on for the win.

Leading the way was Antavius Mikazes with 14 points. Wrobel had 13, Damion Stewart netted 11 and Kilbourn finished with seven.

On Thursday, Jan. 17 the Tigers dropped a North Star League Big Dipper game at Rogers City, falling 48-40.

The Hurons led 18-17 after the first quarter and still held a slim lead at the half, 27-26. The Tigers knotted things up 33-33 entering the fourth, though the Hurons dominated that stanza to claim the win.

Mikazes had 20 points. Kilbourn netted 10. Stewart had six points and Pierce Bilbey chipped in with four.

On Tuesday, Jan. 15 the Tigers lost a home NSL game with Mio, 57-39.

"Mio is an excellent shooting team who plays pressure defense very well," Bilbey said. "We felt defensively, we applied pressure and caused turnovers but we simply had trouble scoring off of those turnovers," Bibley said.

"It was a single-digit game going into the fourth quarter but Mio only missed three shots and made eight-of-nine free throws in the fourth."

Mio led just 12-9 after the first quarter and 26-18 at the half. The Bolts pushed that edge to 35-26 entering the fourth where they pulled away from there.

Mikazes finished with 19 points, Stewart and Mason Clark had six points each and Kilbourn had five.

Alcona (4-6 overall, 3-4 NSL) was at Fairview on Tuesday, Jan. 22; hosts Hillman on Friday, Jan. 25 and heads to Hale on January 29.

The Alcona girls varsity basketball team battled all the way back from a double digit deficit to force overtime last Friday night. The Lady Tigers couldn't keep things going in the extra session in their North Star League Big Dipper match-up in Rogers City however, falling 44-43.

"It was a very tough game to lose after coming back from 12 down about half way through the third," said head coach Mark Feldhiser. "We had a poor shooting night and missed several easy shots. Just one of those games where we couldn't get going on offense."

Alcona led 9-7 after the first quarter but the Lady Hurons gained a 20-15 lead by the half and led by as much as 12 points in the third quarter. The Lady Tigers closed that gap to 29-26 entering the fourth and knotted things up at 40-all to force the overtime.

"While I am proud of the way our girls fought back, we need to start playing four quarters and do a better job in late game situations," Feldhiser said. "We will take the positive from this and move on."

Leading the way was Megan Grove with 16 points. Rachel Layton netted nine and Faith Wallenmaier chipped in with seven points.

On Monday, Jan. 14 the Lady Tigers dropped a home non-league game with Alpena, 58-39. The Lady Wildcats led 13-11 after the first quarter and pulled away from there to lead 34-20 by the half and 54-24 entering the fourth.

"We hung with them about the first 10 minutes or so, but they kind of wore us down with their size and depth," Feldhiser said. "Our kids gave a great effort in this game and we will benefit from playing a tough team. I know that is a real challenge for our girls to play them, but they can be proud of the fight they showed. We will take the positives and move on."

Grove had a good night with 16 points; she was followed by Layton with nine points and Wallenmaier with seven.

Alcona (5-4 overall, 4-2 NSL) hosted Fairview on Monday; heads to Hillman on Thursday, Jan. 24; hosts Hale on Monday, Jan. 28 and heads to Whittemore-Prescott on February 4.

In seven years, one female cat and her offspring can produce an incredible 370,000 kittens!

All of us are affected by animal overpopulation

Pet "overpopulation" encompasses two primary factors:

Allowing cats and dogs to reproduce with little chance to find homes for the offspring

Pets being relinquished by owners who can no longer keep their animals, or who no longer want them.

Shelters do their best to place animals in loving homes, but the number of homeless animals far exceeds the number of willing adopters

Many loving and healthy animals in our community must be euthanized as a solution to this tragic dilemma

Having your pet spayed or neutered ensures that you will not be adding to this tremendous burden

The single most important thing that we can do to save cats and dogs from all the suffering and death that their overpopulation causes is to spay and neuter them.

Please contact the Alcona Humane Society at (989) 736-7387 for information about our subsidized spay/neuter programs or to donate to assist in this effort.

All commutes are stressful for drivers, regardless if it's the morning or afternoon. We are all eager to reach our destination which can cause some drivers to lack patience, which has been evident as we have had vehicles drive through school bus lights many times throughout the county during the start of the 2018-19 school year.

The district is asking drivers to exercise caution when encountering school buses. In Michigan, drivers are required to stop 20 feet or more from a stopped school bus displaying flashing red lights.

They must also begin to stop when yellow lights are present. We have had many cases where drivers assume children are getting off and are not crossing the road despite the presence of lights and they drive through a stop. To help ensure safety, we are installing cameras on the exterior of school buses to monitor drivers who are ignoring the laws for school bus safety.

Alcona County's geography is challenging, which makes it all the more important to use caution when traveling. The area features sloping hills and many roads with trees bordering the highways. The terrain and surroundings can create a shorter amount of time to serve as a buffer to stop or slow down.

Driving a school bus to and from school is one of the toughest jobs in any school setting. Navigating traffic and monitoring 50 or more students can be stressful enough without traffic posing further issues. Alcona's drivers all exercise the practice of pulling over after a stop (when possible depending on the terrain of a stop) to allow all cars behind them to pass.

Please work with our trained drivers and follow Michigan's school bus traffic laws to help ensure students get to and from school safely.

If you happen to be present at a stop and witness a vehicle not following the rules, report the vehicle to the Alcona County Sheriff's Department by calling (989) 724-6271.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

How to fight age discrimination in the workplace

Dear Savvy Senior,
How does one fight against workplace age discrimination, and where can I turn to for help if I think I've got a case?
Discouraged Donna

Dear Discouraged,
Age discrimination can happen to anybody over age 40, but it's difficult to prove. With that said, here are the steps you'll need to take to fight this growing problem if you think you've been treated unlawfully in the workplace.

The Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA) is your first defense against age discrimination. This is a federal law that says an employer cannot fire, refuse to hire, or treat you differently than other employees because of your age. Some examples of age discrimination include:

- You were fired because your boss wanted to keep younger workers who are paid less.
- You were turned down for a promotion, which went to someone younger hired from outside the company, because the boss says the company "needs new blood."

- When company layoffs are announced, most of the persons laid off were older, while younger workers with less seniority and less on-the-job experience were kept on.

- Before you were fired, your supervisor made age-related remarks about you.

- You didn't get hired because the employer wanted a younger-looking person to do the job.

The ADEA protects all workers and job applicants age 40 and over who work for employers that have 20 or more employees – including federal, state and local governments as well as employment agencies and labor unions.

If your workplace has fewer than 20 employees, you may still be protected under your state's anti-age discrimination law.

If you think you are a victim of employment age discrimination, you may first want to talk to, or file a grievance with your company's human resources (HR) department, but it's important to remember that HR works for your employer, not for you.

If that doesn't resolve the problem, you should file a charge with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) within 300 days from the date of the alleged violation.

In some states, it's 180 days. You can do this by mail or in person at your nearest EEOC office (see EEOC.gov/field/index.cfm) or call 800-669-4000. They will help you through the filing process and let you know if you should also file a charge with your state antidiscrimination agency.

If you do file, be prepared to provide the names of potential witnesses, your notes about age-related comments and other episodes.

Once the charge is filed, the EEOC will investigate your complaint and find either reasonable cause to believe that age discrimination has occurred, or no cause and no basis for a claim. After the investigation, the EEOC will then send you their findings along with a "notice-of-right-to-sue," which gives you permission to file a lawsuit in a court of law.

If you decide to sue, you'll need to hire a lawyer who specializes in employee discharge suits. To find one, see the National Employment Lawyers Association at NELA.org, or your state bar association at FindLegal-Help.org.

If you lose your job in a group termination or layoff, you should consider joining forces with other colleagues. There are advantages to proceeding as a group, including sharing costs of the litigation and strengthening your negotiating position.

Another option you may want to consider is mediation, which is a fair and efficient way to help you resolve your employment disputes and reach an agreement. The EEOC offers mediation at no cost if your current or former employer agrees to participate. At mediation, you show up with your evidence, your employer presents theirs and the mediator makes a determination within a day or less.

Loan reimbursement program brings needed obstetricians up north

By Maxwell Evans
Capital News Service

A state loan reimbursement program is in place to attract obstetricians to northern Michigan, and while it's been "beneficial," there's still a ways to go to address these rural areas' needs, according to state and local health officials.

State officials are gearing up for the 2019 application period, which runs February 4-8, and have issued a call for physician applicants.

In 2013 the Department of Health and Human Services made getting such specialists to the region a priority, said Lynn Sutfin, the agency's public information officer.

The department defines obstetricians as OB/GYN physicians, certified nurse midwives and practitioners who provide obstetric services on a regular basis. The areas identified as having a "shortage" of them are in or north of Mason, Lake, Osceola, Clare, Gladwin, Arenac, Bay and Huron counties.

Baldwin Family Health Care in Lake County, for example, has no hired obstetricians, although one is contracted through Spectrum Health. The nearest dedicated obstetric facilities are more than 30 miles in either direction in Ludington and Big Rapids, according to Google Maps.

As an incentive to get such health providers there — as well as other specialists in other parts of Michigan — the state developed a program that gives participants up to $200,000 to repay student loan debt. In return, they must work full-time at a non-profit practice at least 45 weeks a year for two years.

So far, 31 northern Michigan obstetricians have had loans repaid since 2013, with nearly $2 million paid out to them. In most agreements, 40 percent is funded by federal agencies, 40 percent by Health and Human Services and 20 percent by local non-profit employers.

For-profit employers placing their participants in non-profit practice sites like state prisons must contribute 50 percent.

One caveat: Employers can't use program payments to offset participant salaries and benefits.

The employer contribution is worth the additional investment because it's a challenge to draw providers to these "rural, underserved" areas, said Travis Kroll, the associate director of external and internal relations at Family Health Care in Baldwin, Mich.

"We have a very underserved population in our area that relies heavily on Medicaid and Medicare, as well as those with no insurance," Kroll said. "This program helps us retain quality providers for that underserved population."

The program met its objective of increasing the number of obstetric service providers in underserved areas each year from 2015 to 2017, according to its latest report to the Legislature. No specific increased amount was required for the goal to be met.

In addition to Baldwin, Alcona Citizens for Health, Thunder Bay Community Health Service, Kalkaska Memorial Health Center, Helen Newberry Joy Hospital & Healthcare Center in Newberry, Mich., MidMichigan Medical Center in Gladwin and Munson Healthcare Otsego Memorial in Gaylord, Mich. are among the most frequent partners in the program, according to the department.

While health care services in areas like Baldwin have improved because of the reimbursement program, the needs of the region at large still haven't been met, Sutfin explained.

"It's definitely made a dent — it's helping," Sutfin said. "Obviously, with the fact that in northern Michigan, the obstetric providers became a priority type beginning in 2013, and here we are in the year 2019, there's still work to be done."

While the program has brought in "valuable providers," no obstetric specialists came to the Baldwin care center because of the student loan incentive. Kroll said he'd like to see the program expand to incorporate fields like optometry and pharmacy, which he said residents in the region also need.

The state has no other initiatives to address the obstetrician shortage in the region. It's possible the program will prioritize attracting other types of specialists up north, Sutfin said, but no specialties have been identified to date.

Other priority areas in the reimbursement program include inpatient pediatric psychiatrists across the state and primary care providers serving Genesee County. The employer contribution is waived for Genesee County sites.

REASONS FOR RECALL OF THE CURTIS TOWNSHIP SUPERVISOR

Clarification of the basis of the petition to recall Curtis Township Supervisor Darrell Kenyon. Several citizens of Curtis Township have asked what are the reasons for the decision to file a petition to recall the Township Supervisor; this decision is NOT based on revenge or malice toward the Supervisor. Mr. Kenyon has repeatedly excluded the voting public from participation in the decision-making process with regards to the management of township facilities, specifically the Township Hall.

In January of 2017, representatives from the Oscoda Area Schools informed Mr. Kenyon that they would not be renewing the lease on the Curtis Township Hall, formerly Glennie Elementary, in March 2017. They stated that the former school would be sold at a closed auction. Mr. Kenyon made it clear in this meeting he wanted to build a 'new' township hall. Mr. Kenyon did not notify the public that the Township Hall's lease would be expiring. In February 2017, a meeting to 'review the financial state of Curtis Township' was held. Representatives of the Oscoda Area Schools attended this meeting, and suggested to Mr. Kenyon, that Curtis Township place a bid on the building. Mr. Kenyon again declined the offer without informing the public. Members of the press were in attendance at this meeting. Christopher Clouse was the winner of the closed bid auction to purchase the former Curtis Township Hall from the Oscoda School District in June 2017. Mr. Clouse won the bid because the only other bid received was a bid for $1. The individual who placed the $1 bid was offered an opportunity to increase the bid before the close of the auction, this individual declined.

Supervisor Kenyon misrepresented the condition of the hall to the public at the February meeting and used the hall's condition as a reason for not placing a bid. The roof on that school was fixed for free under the 30 year warranty. The reason this petition for recall has been filed is that there were no committees formed with members of the public to review all of the factors pertaining to the upkeep of the building and the cost of repairs, should they be required. One publically held meeting is not sufficient to allow members of the voting public to participate in the decision-making process to either leave the old hall or to stay and determine how to meet the operating costs.

Mr. Kenyon's actions have denied the citizens of Curtis Township access to a public hall for weddings, funerals, bingo, senior events, and use by area volunteer or social organizations, several of which were paying fees each time they used the hall. An average of an additional income of $700 per month, or $8,400 per year, was generated by community activities. This is in addition to an annual $10,000 operating stipend provided by the Oscoda Area Schools.

Since the early 1930s, Curtis Township has had a community hall. Mr. Kenyon has decided through his actions to deny the citizens a place to gather. The current township offices are located in a space far too small to accommodate any public functions except for the monthly township board meeting, the facility can accommodate approximately 15-20 closely packed individuals.

The current recall petition is the second recall attempted. The first petition was reviewed at a recall hearing on Nov 16, 2017. At this hearing, Mr. Kenyon publically denied he intended to build a new building. The wording on that recall petition was deemed insufficient by the election commission and was not approved.

The second recall petition hearing occurred on Nov 28, 2018. At this hearing, Mr. Kenyon argued with the election commission chairwoman, Judge Frawley, stating the petition was a conspiracy and was not factual. He interrupted Judge Frawley several times as she attempted to explain that the commission's job was to determine if the reason for the petition was based on conduct that occurred during the official's current term of office. At this hearing, Mr. Kenyon displayed similar behavior observed at township board meetings. Mr. Kenyon will either attempt to change the subject regarding a question that is asked, and at times he has raised his voice to subdue the questioner and then move on to another topic. This second recall petition was approved by the election commission.

In the most recent elections held in November, Mr. Kenyon submitted a millage request for $318,000 to build a new fire hall "which would contain office space". When asked the cost of a new township building at a regularly scheduled Township Board meeting, Mr. Kenyon admitted he had no idea how much a new building would ultimately cost. Again, there were no committees formed to look at the cost of commercial construction or to review how this new building would be used now and in the future. There were no public surveys distributed to determine what services the residents of Curtis Township wanted to have available to them in this new building, in fact, most residents did not know a millage for the construction of a new building would be put on the ballot until they picked up their ballot to vote.

The current recall petition being circulated for signatures is NOT about if Curtis Township should or should not build a new township hall or a new fire department, it is about the exclusion of the public from this very important decision-making process.

Mr. Kenyon has lost the trust of many of the people he was elected to serve. Many of us believe that Curtis Township deserves to be represented by a supervisor that the public can trust and one who accepts that he is responsible to the public that he took the oath of office to serve.

The democratic system is set up to allow the voters participation in decisions regarding the use of their tax dollars. This very action of a petition is giving Mr. Kenyon the benefit of allowing the people to sign a petition to remove him from office. The residents in Curtis Township do not want perfection; we want honesty and the opportunity to participate. Should you decide to participate in signing the recall petition, please contact Christopher Clouse at Glennie ACE hardware to come sign or, if you cannot make it there before closing, contact him at 989-370-2203 and he will either come to your home or meet you personally to allow you to sign.

come into play, libraries have changed. They have more information and are user-friendly. It's not just books. There are DVDs, CDs and digital material readily available. The programming is very family friendly," Lynn said.

Lynn has had a lot to do with Alcona County Library programming which has evolved immensely over the past 16 years. She said programs like farm day, the children's summer reading program and a few others, such as bringing in birds of prey, were already standard events at the library when she was hired, however, the book club, walking club and many others were programs and events Lynn worked on to bring to the library.

She explained while she may have been the face of many of these programs, she never once worked alone on them and everything the library accomplished was done through a strong team effort by not only library staff, but also the community.

One of Lynn's pet projects was a "Writing Your Memoirs Workshop" which she taught several years ago. She explained what fun the classes were and how, through them, she got to know many people in the area quite well.

Unfortunately, the workshops were too demanding and took time away from her other library duties and had to be discontinued. "We laughed a lot in those classes, but sometimes the stories were sad too. It was interesting learning about people. I've always said people have at least eight stories in them which should be written for posterity," Lynn said.

Lynn had never written a grant before she worked at the library, but became quite successful at it. She said Carol Luck and Denise Bearre, current library director, were a big part of those successes.

Other's were too, such as Jan Plamondon, the administrative assistant and team specialist for the library, who helped Lynn write and receive a grant for a youth program called Get real, Get fit. The grant provided programs for teenagers which included bowling, volleyball, yoga, aerobics and a walking club.

Lynn said the walking club wasn't well liked by the teenagers, but the adults liked it and 15 years later it is still going strong. The grant spurred other healthy activities and a relationship with the Alcona Health Center which enticed programs for the library such as Dining with Docs and yoga, Tai Chi and Zumba fitness classes.

Lynn is very grateful for the support the community of Alcona County shows their library. "They really support the library and we wouldn't have the programs we have if they were not hands-on involved. I have had pages and pages of volunteers and organizations who have helped with the reading garden and again with the Water Ways exhibit. There are too many to mention all their names. It's just what this community does. It's amazing and wonderful to see that support," Lynn said.

According to Lynn, the most difficult aspect of her career was keeping track of books and other materials. "Although the computer system used is good, there are still books that are lost, books that get damaged. Dogs do eat books, books get dropped in bathtubs, left out in the rain or get closed up in cottages for the winter," Lynn said.

She will miss the many people she has come into contact daily through the library and her co-workers. She will also miss being involved with the programming and organizing things. However, she won't miss getting up and going to work on snowy days, shoveling the library walk or unplugging the library toilets. "We don't have a custodial staff at the library. I've even had to clean up alligator pee off the carpeting. I won't miss that. A lot sure has happened in the library over the last 16 years," Lynn said.

Bearre said Lynn was a creative and diligent asset to the library. "She had a zest for good programming ideas, good organizational skills and follow through on projects. She understood our patrons' needs. Having been at the library for 16 years, she assisted in building the library to be a comfortable, active, and welcoming spot in the Alcona County community. We will miss her positive nature and we hope she enjoys her retirement and the travels she has planned."

Girls' basketball team defeated

January 23, 1969 ~ The Alcona girls ended a two game winning streak on January 15th. at the hands of Whittemore-Prescott. The final score was 38 - 28 in a low scoring contest.

The local girls had an extremely cold night from the floor and foul line, being unable to find the range through out the game.

As a team they connected on 14 of 45 from the charity stripe and 20% from the field.

KiAnn Kruttlin led the scoring with 14 on 3 field goals and 8 of 12 from the line. Others in the scoring column were Karen Gauthier with 6, Debbie George 4, Denise Wing 2, Mary Kingsland and Kris Frederick, one each. Defensively the team was led by Sue Frederick, Mary Sysak and Pat Pikl. Sue and Mary left the game early by the foul route.

Alcona played Roscommon at home last night, and next Wednesday, January 29th., the team travels to Oscoda.

Named to Dean's List at Ferris

January 23, 1969 ~ Big Rapids, Mich — Ferris State College has honored 1,024 students for academic excellence in the Fall Quarter by naming them to the Dean's Honor List. Announcement was made by Dr. Robert L. Huxol, vice president for instruction.

To be named to the Dean's Honor List, a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

Among students named to the list is Margaret R. Clouse, Business, from Glennie.

Semi-truck loses load of pulpwood

January 23, 1969 ~ Monday morning about 5:50 the Fred Moebs family, owners of the Harrisville Standard Service and occupants of the living quarters over the station, at the US-23 and M-72 junction, were awakened by a loud continuous rumbling noise, when a full load of pulpwood toppled from a truck just north of the traffic light.

The truck, driven by Ronald Grabow, 29, and owned by Melvin Ott, both of Whittemore, was traveling north, and had just gone through the light when the load tumbled and the pulpwood rolled off the truck from north of the pumps to the old City Auditorium. Windows in the station and in the part of the building which used to be Conklin's Restaurant, were broken, and two large garage doors and a small door were damaged.
