Alcona baseball claims district championship

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

After winning a close battle in the semifinals, the Alcona varsity baseball team walked away with the win in the division four district championship game in Mio last Friday.

The Tigers won the championship game, 13-3 over AuGres.

"It feels really good to bring home the district," said head coach Nate Walker. "A couple weeks ago we got back to fundamental baseball and we have been playing really well since. These boys have put in a ton of work this year and it's paying off. They were very disciplined at the plate today and as a coach I love that. I can't say enough about this group; we keep getting better everyday. We aren't done yet."

Josh Kilbourn picked up the win, giving up three runs on two hits, seven strikeouts and one walk.

A key eight-run third inning helped break open what had been a close battle early on. Zach Stephenson, Jacob Sytek, Antavius Mikazes, and Gavin Walker all had singles and Hunter White had an RBI groundout.

In all the Tigers had 14 hits in the game. Stephenson, Jon Surgener, Sytek and Mikazes had multiple hits and Jakob Tanner had a double.

Early in the day, in the district semi-finals, Alcona won a narrow 5-4 game over host Mio. Whit had an RBI fly-out in the fifth that broke a 4-4 tie game.

Surgener picked up the win, as he gave up four runs on six hits in seven innings of work, striking out 10 and walking one. Kilbourn, Mikazes, Walker and Stephenson all had multiple hits in the contest.

On Tuesday, May 28 the Tigers opened up their district run with a 4-1 victory over Hale. Surgener picked up the win, pitching five innings and giving up one run while striking out six batters. Kilbourn pitched in relief to get a two inning save.

A day after dropping a pair of games with AuGres, the Tigers rebounded with a hard-earned split with host Hillman on Thursday, May 23 in a North Star League cross-over battle. Host Hillman picked up a 5-4 win in the opener while Alcona got its revenge in the nightcap with a 6-5 win in extra innings.

The opening game went extra innings, with Jakob Tanner taking the loss, despite not giving up a hit or an earned run. Kilbourn started on the mound, giving up four runs on seven hits and five strikeouts in five and two-third innings. Surgener and Kilbourn had two hits apiece to lead the offense.

"This was a great all-around game," Coach Walker said. "I told them before the game started, we had to get back to fundamentally sound baseball and this was a start."

A key two RBI single Sytek in the top of the seventh inning allowed Alcona to pick up the win in game two. Stephenson earned the win, as he tossed six and two-third innings and gave up four runs on seven hits and four strikeouts.

Kilbourn, Surgener and Bilbey had multiple hits in the game, with Surgener getting three.

"This was huge for us after the night before, we got back to the basics and found ourselves in two good games," Coach Walker said. "Zach (Stephenson) kept them of balance the whole second game and we got some key

Advancing age doesn't mean cleanliness should suffer

By Cheryl Peterson

If cleanliness is next to Godliness, the inmates of the Alcona County Jail have extremely clean and safe accommodations.

The jail recently received a full compliance rating following the state mandated annual inspection and much of the credit for this high score is due to the preparedness of jail administrator Sgt. George Schrader and dedication of the entire staff.

"The inspector told me that he found our jail to be 'exceptionally clean,'" said Alcona County Sheriff Scott Stephenson. "He indicated that other jails that are of a similar age to ours are often not as clean. Those in charge of those jails complain to him that they cannot be kept clean due to the age of the jail. He said the age of the jail is no excuse for a lack of cleanliness and the Alcona County Jail is a prime example. Additionally, he commented to me that Sgt. Schrader was extremely prepared and his documentation for the inspection was in order.

"I'd like to say that I am very proud of Sgt. Schrader's preparedness for the inspection and very proud of the entire corrections staff for maintaining the Alcona County Jail as a safe, secure, and clean location to house our inmates. A 'Full Compliance' finding for a jail is a large accomplishment that deserves to be mentioned. The Michigan Department of Corrections inspectors are in the business of finding deficiencies in county jails. The fact that they found no deficiencies here is a testament to the hard work and professionalism of my correctional staff.

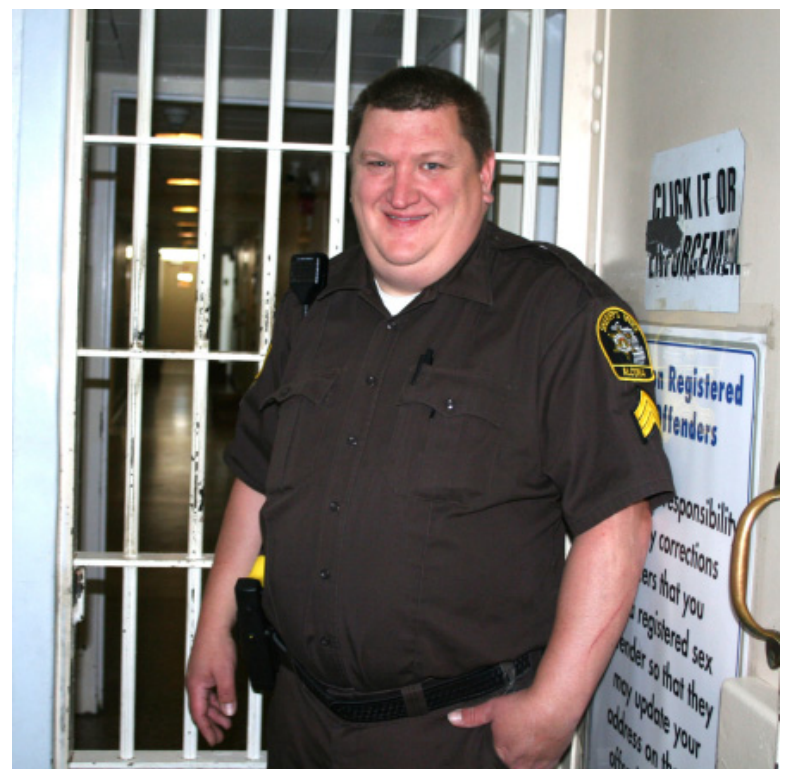

Schrader has worked as a corrections officer (C.O.) in the Alcona County Jail for 14 years, the last two and a half as its administrator - which includes full duties as a C.O. and administrative duties which include handling all court paperwork for each inmate, processing in and releasing inmates, dealing with medical issues if they come up, setting the work schedule, overseeing employees from the trustees to the seven other C.O.s, and much more.

One of his more involved duties is handling annual inspections by the Michigan Department of Corrections (MDOC) as mandated by the state. "This is the third inspection that I've handled," he said. "The first one I was clueless and ran around like a chicken with my head cut off... The inspector, Ronald Trachet, sends a checklist a head of time, and I was ready this year."

He explained the annual MDOC inspections cover ev-

St. Paul Lutheran Church celebrates 125th anniversary

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Many churches in northeast Michigan have withstood the test of time. Congregations have overcome many obstacles to reach milestones of 50, 75, 100-year anniversaries and more.

One church, St. Paul Lutheran Church, of which many members are residents of Alcona County, will be celebrating its 125th anniversary on Sunday, June 9 and the congregation has a lot to celebrate about.

In a time when many church congregations are diminishing in numbers, St.

Paul's is growing and thriving. Some members say it's the new, young Pastor, Joseph Llewellyn, who is known by his congregation as having enthusiasm and energy, which is the driving reason for people wanting to join their church. Others say it is the friendly welcoming people at the church or the fact the church stays true to the word of the Bible.

"It could be because of all the good food we have. We love to eat," said congregation member, Arlene Meyer. She explained a luncheon, which originally started many, many years ago as a cake and coffee fundraiser to purchase new suit coats for ushers, has turned into a complete meal donated by different church committees each Sunday and offered free of charge after service.

According to Meyer, during the Lenten season, soup and pie are offered after Lenten Wednesday service so the congregation gets fed twice a week during Lent.

Whatever the reason, the congregation has been strong for a very long time with many of its members having had generation after generation attending the church.

Congregation member Judy Bartz said the reason the church has existed for 125 years is simply because of the people who love it. "It's a beautiful church with beautiful people who are in it."

Pastor Joe, as his congregation calls him, said the draw to the church is the mercy and grace of Jesus and his love proclaimed.

Throughout the last 125 years, the history of the church and its people have been important factors of its fortitude. Historical dates and photos of the church as it grew to stand today grace a long entry hallway.

During those 125 years, the church endured many hardships but also many reasons for its members to rejoice in triumph. One such hardship took place in 1943 when it was decided to extensively remodel the church to celebrate its 50th anniversary.

The church was raised for new footings and a full-sized basement was to be added. Unfortunately, a violent storm hit the area during a Sunday service. Gordon Bartz, now 82 years young, was about six at the time and was in the church when the building began swaying and remembers everyone being evacuated.

Before the men could get back with their tools and materials to support the sway-

“When the church fell, people came and took wood and saved as much as they could. They pounded out the nails and straightened them to be reused,” Judy said. Her husband, Gordon, explained that it was the beginning of World War II and supplies were tough to find.

Congregation member Bill Johnson said historically, the people of the church in its first 50 years had it rough, and evident today as it was back in 1894 with many members helping to build the new sanctuary which stands today. Those involved included the Bartz’ who helped with their hobby knowledge of stained glass. The couple took down stained glass windows from the older church, broke them apart, cleaned the pieces and then re-leaded the glass back together along with other new pieces which adorn the ing structure the whole building came crashing to the ground. According to church history, the building was lifted, moved several feet, then dropped, causing great damage. Thankfully, no one was injured.

but they were determined. “That history has been preserved to understand just how much they endured to make this church,” Johnson said.

That same pride, determination, and love for God and Jesus Christ is just as strong church today.

Pastor Joe, who came to the church five years ago fresh out of seminary school, said his perspective on the passing of 125 years is a little different. “For me, the importance of looking back at 125 years is looking back at God’s story through his people. Recognizing through the midst of good times and bad that God remains faithful, which gives hope that he will continue that story for another 125 years. A 125-year celebration is as much about looking back as it is looking forward. There is still work to be done and we are embracing that work,” he said.

The church has many activities, events and ministry organizations such as the Lutheran Women’s Missionary League, a men’s ministry, Bible study, Sunday school and vacation Bible school, a church choir, a couple’s club, stewardship committee, evangelism committee and the woman’s Dorcas Society, all of which play a key part in its continued growth and commitment.

A ticketed dinner event to celebrate St. Paul Lutheran Church’s 125 anniversary will take place this Sunday with a special service. Many former pastors of the church and surrounding churches are expected to attend.

The church is located at 6891 Nicholson Hill Road in Hubbard Lake. For more information about the church visit its website at www.st-paulhubbardlake.org or call them at (989) 727-2496.

hits. This was good baseball and nice to see rolling into districts.”

On Wednesday, May 22, playing another NSL Crossover game at AuGres, the Tigers lost a pair of games, 14-7 and 9-1.

Kilbourn and Bilbey had two hits apiece and Mikazes and Walker had two steals each. Walker took the loss in game two, as he struck out four batters. Stephenson, Tanner and Jon Hebert had two hits apiece to lead the offensive attack.

“This is one of those days you just want to forget about,” Coach Walker said. “We couldn’t field a ball all night. Way too many errors.”

On May 20, playing a NSL Big Dipper match-up with Mio, Alcona played to a split. The Thunderbolts picked up an 8-3 2in in the opener, with Alcona getting a 6-3 victory in the nightcap.

Kilbourn suffered the setback in game one, as he gave five runs on four hits and six strikeouts in four and two-third innings. Walker had a triple to lead the offense with Stephenson, Surgener, Bilbey, Tanner, Kilbourn and Hebert getting one hit each.

The game two winner was Mikazes. He pitched a complete game to get the win, giving up three runs on five hits, six strikeouts and one walk. Kilbourn had two hits and Walker stole three bags.

“We let the first one slip away from us, I was glad we tightened up a bit for the second game,” Coach Walker said. “We got some key hits in timely situations, and Antavius pitched very well.”

Alcona (15-15 overall) played its regional semi-final game on Wednesday in Mio, against an opponent that was not announced by press time. The winner moves on to Saturday’s regional in Fowler, Mich.

Softball team drops district semifinal game

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity softball team had the lead early. It lost the lead late. The Lady Tigers were battling division four district tournament host Mio last Friday morning, falling 7-6.

The Lady Tigers built up a 6-0 lead in the third inning, but their offense stalled from there, allowing a Lady Thunderbolt comeback.

Raegen Eller took the loss for Alcona, as she pitched six innings and gave up seven runs on seven hits and seven strikeouts.

Cassady Clemens had two hits in four at bats and Anna Loyer added a single in three at bats.

County looks to OZ for economic opportunity

The world of Oz from a fictional standpoint was, perhaps, a magical place, but in Alcona County, where there's no place like home, OZ is an acronym for Opportunity Zone.

An Opportunity Zone is a specifically designated area that qualifies for special incentives to spur economic development and create jobs in distressed communities. The program works by allowing a tax break for those investing capital gains in these areas.

The mid-section of Alcona County has been identified as an Opportunity Zone. The area roughly encompasses from the south end of Hubbard Lake to the Iosco County line, and from just west of Harrisville west to Stout Road.

A contingent from Alcona County attended a presentation on Opportunity Zones at Kirtland Community College in Grayling, Mich. on May 13. The group comprised County Commission Chairman Craig Johnston and member Dan Gauthier, Alcona Schools Superintendent Dan O'Connor, Harrisville residents Doug Cheek, Joyce Hook and Susan Haight, and Alcona Township Supervisor Marlena MacNeill. The program was hosted by Michigan State University Extension Government and Community Vitality Team.

"At first blush when we looked at the area that was designated as an Opportunity Zone in Alcona County, it seemed like it was mostly public land and we wondered how this could ever be of benefit to the county," said Johnston. "We quickly learned during the presentation that we hadn't looked closely enough at the possibilities."

Johnston explained that each group representing OZs in the region attending the presentation were given the task of creating an asset inventory within their respective zone.

"It didn't take our Alcona group long to come up with a healthy list of available properties and to identify site, community, and regional assets that combined could be used to leverage and benefit from OZ investment."

Gauthier explained the Board of County Commissioners desires to reinvigorate the Economic Development Corporation (EDC) in Alcona County that has languished over the past several years. He said the OZ program could be a valuable tool for a resurrected EDC to use in getting the economic development engine restarted in Alcona County.

The next steps for Alcona County, according to Johnston and Gauthier, is to recruit persons interested in serving on the EDC Board, continue to investigate the OZ program, and foster economic growth in the OZ area and throughout Alcona County.

For more information, contact Johnston via email at cjohnston@alconacounty.net or Gauthier at dgauthier@alconacounty.net or find more contact information at alconacountymi.com. To learn more about the OZ program in general, go to Michigan.gov/opportunityzones.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Thrifty Travel: How retirees can find cheap travel accommodations

Dear Savvy Senior,
Can you recommend some good websites for finding cheaper travel accommodations? My husband and I love to travel but hotel costs eat up our budget so much that we can't afford to go as often as we'd like. We've used Airbnb with some luck but are wondering if there are other options for budget-conscious retirees.

Retired Travelers

Dear Retired,
Accommodations are typically one of the costliest travel expenses. But, if you're willing to do a little research and preplanning, there are a number of ways you can lower (or eliminate) your lodging costs and live more like a local when you travel. Here are some different options to consider and some websites that can help you locate them.

If you like staying in bed and breakfasts and have a spare bedroom yourself, check out the Evergreen Club (EvergreenClub.com) and the Affordable Travel Club (AffordableTravelClub.net).

These are B&B clubs for travelers over ages 50 or 40 that offer affordable lodging in the spare bedroom of other club members, or they may stay with you when they're on the road. You pay a modest gratuity of around $20 per night, with breakfast. And the clubs charge membership fees of $65 to $75 per year.

There are literally millions of privately-owned properties in the United States and abroad that are offered as short-term rentals. This has become a very popular alternative to hotels for retirees.

Renting a fully furnished apartment or house is usually cheaper than hotel rooms of comparable quality, and they almost always offer more space, a homier feel and a kitchen, which can save you the expense eating out every meal.

Short-term rentals are offered through the individual property owners or property-management companies. Some of the best sites for finding them include Airbnb.com, HomeAway.com and FlipKey.com. These sites are free to use for travelers.

Another nifty site you should check out is The Freebird Club (FreebirdClub.com) that connects 50-plus travelers with 50-plus hosts.

Unlike Airbnb and the other previously listed lodging rental sites, Freebird users pay a $31 fee to join and to have their identities verified. They then fill out a questionnaire asking where they'd like to travel and how much interaction they'd like to have with their hosts. On the other end, hosts are not offering rental properties and a key in a drop box, but their own homes, along with conversation and companionship, for much less than the price of a hotel.

If you have a flexible schedule and you don't mind doing a few household chores when you travel, house sitting is another option that offers lodging for free.

How it works is you live in someone else's home while they're away for a long weekend or even a few months. And in exchange for the free accommodations, you take care of certain responsibilities such as their pets, lawn, garden, mail, etc.

To find these opportunities, try sites like Nomador.com, MindMyHouse.com, HouseCarers.com and TrustedHousesitters.com – they all charge a small membership fee.

Another way to get free accommodations when you travel is by swapping homes with someone who's interested in visiting the area where you live.

Savvy Senior

To make a swap, you'll need to join an online home exchange service where you can list your home and get access to thousands of other listings. Then you simply email the owners of houses or apartments you're interested in – or they email you – and you make arrangements.

Most home exchange sites like HomeExchange.com, HomeLink.org and Intervac-HomeExchange.com charge membership fees ranging from $50 to $150.

(Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org.)

Recycling food containers
 Instead of throwing out all your used food containers, clean and re-purpose them for your garden. Plastic tubs can hold cuttings or young plants. Plastic lids can protect surface damage by clay pots. Glass jars can hold candles, seed pods or flowers in water. Egg trays can be seed starters. Cardboard can be used to block weed growth in flower beds. Make a funky garden art/birdhouse/collectables display by nailing cans to a board, using buttons, beads, rocks or shells to decorate it.

Get outdoors -- its free to fish, visit parks, ride trails

Looking for a great reason to get outdoors? How about three. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has brought back the popular "Three Free" weekend -- on Saturday, June 8 and Sunday, June 9 -- two full days when residents and out-of-state visitors can grab a fishing pole, ride the off-road trails and visit state parks, all free of charge.

"Michigan is home to some of the best outdoor recreation opportunities and most beautiful natural spaces you'll find anywhere," said DNR Director Dan Eichinger. "Whether you're already an avid outdoors-person or someone just beginning to explore the outdoors, our 'Three Free' weekend makes it easy to explore a new hobby, visit a new park or introduce friends to an outdoor experience you love."

These two days include:

- Free fishing -- fish with-poles, bait and fishing spots are provided. Prizes will be awarded. Contact Bill Lossing (989) 335-3895 for details. Sponsored by the U.S.D.A. Forest Service, Michigan DNR and the Barton City community.

To get more details about free fishing weekend, visit Michigan.gov/FreeFishing.

- Free state park entry. To encourage people to pursue free fishing and other outdoor fun within state parks, the DNR waives the regular Recreation Passport entry fee that grants vehicle access to Michigan's 103 state parks. Add state park stops to the itinerary and enjoy special programming and events during this state parks centennial year. Learn more about the passport at Michigan.gov/RecreationPassport.
- Ride ORV trails for free. During two Free ORV Weekends each year (the second one this year is set for Aug. 17-18), Michigan residents and nonresidents can legally ride DNR-designated routes and trails without purchasing an ORV license or trail permit. Visit Michigan.gov/ORVinfo for the latest ORV trail, safety and closure information.

The U.S.D.A. Forest Service is also waiving fees at most day-use recreation sites in the Huron-Manistee National Forests on Saturday, June 8 in celebration of National Get Outdoors Day.

Hikers, paddlers, and other outdoor enthusiasts will have free access to some of the forests' most popular recreation sites, including the Hoist Lake Foot Travel Area in Alcona County.

The National Get Outdoors Day fee waiver does not apply to:

- Day-use fees at the 14 sites in the Manistee National Forest that are managed by concessionaire American Land and Leisure; or
- Special fees, such as Pine and Pere Marquette River watercraft permits.

The Forest Service will offer two additional fee-free opportunities in 2019:

- September 28 -- National Public Lands Day.
- November 9-11 -- Veterans Day Weekend.

The fee waivers are made possible by the Federal Lands Recreation Enhancement Act. Other federal land management agencies, including the National Park Service and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, determine their own fee waiver schedules.

For more information about fee waivers at specific recreation sites, contact the Huron-Manistee National Forests district offices locally -- Huron Shores Ranger Station, Oscoda, (989) 739-0728 and Mio Ranger Station, Mio, (989) 826-3252.

ery aspect of the jail from fire safety, to cleanliness, to medical records to nutrition, duty schedules (to make sure two C.O.s are on every shift as mandated by the state), and more.

“Fire safety was big this year. He checks all fire alarms, equipment and evacuation procedures. He goes over all medical reports – our medical appraisals are done by the nurse on an average of three days after an inmate is sentenced... Our kitchen staff is absolutely wonderful, and the food is good – I eat whatever the inmates eat when I am working – I pay for my meals.

“Ron said a lot of older jails like this tend to be dirty. This is one of the cleanest jails that he goes to – that is all on our staff – they take pride in their job. This a good team. We all work (well) together and it’s nice,” Schrader said.

“Since we are a small jail, we don’t have a nurse on staff,” Schrader said. He explained each C.O. is certified in basic First Aid, CPR and using the in-house defibrillator. A nurse does come in for eight hours a week to give each inmate a health appraisal within 14 days after being sentenced to the facility and for any issues that might occur while they are incarcerated. Inmates can leave for doctor appointments and medications are distributed as prescribed.

The Alcona County Jail was built in 1962 and in the mid-1980s an addition was added to the north end of the building. There are three four-person cells and two eight-person cells and two maximum security, or single cells, in the newer section. There is also an outdoor exercise area and a “common” area for inmate use as warranted. There are cameras in every cell and throughout the jail, which has a capacity of 31 inmates and averages about 17 inmates.

In addition to Schrader and seven corrections officers – who work in eight hour shifts, there is a trustee (usually an inmate) who cleans daily, two cooks who prepare and serve three meals a day, a nutritionist who is an independent contractor and a nurse, who is also an independent contractor.

According to Schrader, each inmate is charged $30 a day while they are incarcerated and must pay for their own medication and any doctor appointments. The health appraisal is not charged to the inmate.

While the responsibility of coordinating all aspects of the jail to ensure that it operates smoothly and safely – for everyone – is complex and can be stressful at times, Schrader said he really likes doing what he does. He was born and raised in a suburb of Chicago, Ill. and attended college at Suomi College (now Finlandia University) in the Upper Peninsula to play hockey.

He met his wife, Tina (Hill), while there and moved to her hometown of Barton City following college. He worked for his father-in-law, who owned a sawmill, and then at the Barton City General Store until he was encouraged by Scott Stephenson, who was a sergeant at the time and Brad Peters, who was (and still is) a C.O. at the jail.

“I really enjoy the job and have good people that I work with. As administrator it helps to have a good staff and we truly have a good staff. I like doing the C.O. work. I can’t just sit at a desk... and I wouldn’t ask another C.O. to do something that I won’t,” Schrader said.

“This is the third ‘administration’ that I’ve been with and I’m looking forward to the new administration (Sheriff Scott Stephenson and Under-sheriff Keith Myers). (Then) Sheriff Doug Atchison (who hired him) had the belief that I could do the job and that was really nice. I appreciate that,” he said.

When he isn’t watching over inmates and managing jail operations, Schrader can be found fishing or coaching football. For the last 10 years he has been on the coaching staff of the Alcona High School varsity football team. He and Tina still live in Barton City and have two grown children, Amber, who recently graduated from Ferris State University and Trevor, who played football for Finlandia University for two years and recently returned home.

Walter C. Reames enjoys his first flight

Greenbush Boy Thinks Flying is Way Ahead of Automobiling

June 5, 1919 ~ Walter C. Reames, son of O. W. Reames of Greenbush, writes his father under date May 28th, telling of his first experience as a flyer:

I am writing tonight as I have some "honest to God" news to tell you. I went to Port Huron (from Selfridge Field) Monday forenoon in a plane and had a dandy ride; we did eight stunts that you read about, but I will send you a clipping from the paper which will tell you all about part of it, but I can tell my own experience better than the paper, although it was similar to the correspondent's experience, as that was his first trip also. We had excellent luck, till landing, then the real trouble happened.

It looked foolish to see the two planes lying on their backs. I was the only one that got hurt and I just got a rap on the nose that made the blood run freely, and I was amply repaid for that by the attention I received from the Red Cross girls who could not do enough for me. I just got back this afternoon as I had to stay and tear down both planes ready to bring back on a truck.

We are going to have big doings day after tomorrow; I do not know if I will get to fly that day or not—I hope I do anyway as it is an interesting game. Don't worry about me; it is not a bit more risky than an automobile, in fact, I do not believe it is so risky and is a whole lot more pleasant riding as there are not so many "chuck holes" and no stumps and a whole lot of room—you are not crowded out of the road like on the ground.

Following is an excerpt from the newspaper article

Car plows into pole and trees on State Street

June 1, 1944 ~ A car driven by Joseph Pinson of Alpena, crashed into a telephone pole in front of Conklin's Cafe and a Highway sign alongside of the City Auditorium, crossed the street and plowed into three trees in front of the Alex Ferguson residence early Friday morning. The car was completely demolished. The crash awakened residents on State street, who had to use crow-bars to open the car doors to remove the occupants. Pinson received a badly cut head and Phillip Park, a passenger, received minor bruises. The car was coming from the south and failed to make the curve at Main and State streets. Mr. Pinson stated that he must have dozed off to sleep. No charge to date has been placed against the driver.

referred to in Mr. Reames' letter.

"A short distance from our machine was Lieut. Wood in SC-3313 with Cadet W. C. Reames as his flying companion. Major Champion had informed me just before we sailed, that he would also fly to Port Huron in few minutes with Lieut Young as pilot.

"We had been up in the air two hours when Lieut. Davis signalled me that we were going to head for the landing place. We circled over the Mueller plant and picked up the "T" which was lying on the ground to mark the landing spot. Down we circled, and the earth came up to me with a rush. Then there was a little bump. We had touched the ground. The engine had been cut out.

Several times we bumped on the ground and I had just commented to myself "Home at Last" when something happened. Bing! The little biplane dug her nose into the ground, there was a sensation of rising again into the air, and then a dull thud as we landed on the ground upside down. I hardly knew what had happened, for the ground was but a few inches from my nose and I hung in a little cockpit suspended by the belt. I looked up, hunched my shoulders to catch the airship which I believed was falling on me, but nothing happened. It was like waiting for the roof of a house to fall in which did not fall. "In a second the belt was off and I was crawling out from under the machine.

In another second out came Lieut. Davis from his little overturned cockpit "How are you" he said. "Fine," said I. "How are you?"

In the meantime Lieut. Wood was sweeping along, about to land. We tried to warn him away, but it was too late. Over the ground his machine bounded. Lieut. Davis and myself were waiting to see if the same accident would befall them. It did.

Their machine dug its nose into the soft ground and slowly the tail went into the air turning a complete summersault.

It is seldom that a man has an opportunity to view a duplicate of his own accident.

"That little thrill at the end just topped off one of the greatest days of a lifetime. No one was injured except for the loss of a little skin. The incident marked the close of a perfect day.

"It was no fault of the pilots that the machines went over. Both men made excellent landings but the ground conditions were against them. It was nothing but a marsh."

The third machine, seeing the plight of the other two, did not land.

Glennie baseball field dedicated to Warren Mervyn

June 1, 1994 ~ A beautiful spring morning provided the backdrop for a warm, appreciative tribute from the community of Glennie to a man who has devoted nearly 20 years to providing activities for local youth.

With the Alcona High School Band playing as the flag was raised over the refurbished baseball field, a massive stone with a bronze plaque, flanked by new flower beds, was unveiled to reveal the surprise tribute to Warren Mervyn.

The dedication and renaming of the baseball field as Warren Mervyn Field was held in conjunction with the official kickoff of the Glennie Centennial, which will be celebrated with various activities, culminating with the Fourth of July celebration.

Master of Ceremonies Mick Morrison lauded Mervyn's efforts on behalf of the Little League players, recalling with a smile the time "he (Mervyn) ran a long, long extension cord in to the school to run his pitching machine so the kids could practice hitting." Morrison also noted the big contribution Mervyn has made to the 4-H and other programs for the youth of the community.

Mervyn has been active in the community since he relocated there in 1975, moving there from the Lake Orion area. He took over the reins of the Little League program in 1978, and later became involved in the 4H program.

Mervyn was elected to the Curtis Township Board in 1980 as a trustee, but was appointed supervisor after the death of the elected supervisor.

He was reelected supervisor until 1985, when he turned over that position to John Karoly.

"I decided it was time to stop devoting so much time to the township when several of my ballplayers came to the house one night and said, "Mr. Mervyn, what about us?" he recalled.

"Seeing the kids grow up and go off and become something is the biggest payoff I could ever get," said Mervyn.

The improvements to the ballfields included new fencing around the entire field, including the pavilion, and the creation of a concrete island with flowerbeds, with the stone and plaque as its centerpiece. About 100 people turned out for the dedication, including members of Mervyn's family from out of town.

Veterans Post

By Freddy Groves

Don't always blame the guys at the top

At a Department of Veterans Affairs medical facility, a psychologist by the name of "Z" managed to find a way to increase income by overstating productivity by 43 percent.

This was done via double coding. Say the appointment with a patient should be classified as 123. The psychologist would code it as 123 and additionally as 456 ... meaning Z would appear to have done more work. Z averaged 15 hours of actual work in a 40-hour workweek yet managed to accrue payments for 243 hours of overtime.

Appointments were done on Z's personal planner, not the computer where they could be noticed. They were entered in the computer only after the appointments.

Z was caught and claimed that the double coding was per the instruction received in initial VA training, yet Z didn't attend seven of the eight training sessions on coding. Further, it was in none of the training materials and the other psychologists were not given that instruction.

The punishment? Make Z go to coding class. No administrative steps were taken, no firing, no apparent reimbursement of the overpayments.

The chief of psychology was dragged into it for failing to supervise the coding and the hours Z actually worked. The chief of health information management was pulled into the mess for failing to oversee coding reviews, which would have caught the errors, claiming she didn't know of the requirement.

It gets better. The chief of medical administration and the assistant chief didn't know those review duties existed.

It gets even better. The medical center's director wasn't aware that coding reviews weren't being done.

How many layers is that? The medical center director is effectively supposed to do the job of all those underlings?

Moments In Time

By The History Channel

- On June 13, 323 B.C., Alexander the Great, the young Macedonian military genius who forged an empire stretching from the eastern Mediterranean to India, dies in Babylon, in present-day Iraq, at the age of 33. Alexander had received a classical education from famed philosopher Aristotle.
- On June 15, 1215, following a revolt by the English nobility against his rule, King John puts his royal seal on the Magna Carta, or "Great Charter." It guaranteed the king would respect feudal rights and privileges, uphold the freedom of the church and maintain the nation's laws.
- On June 10, 1752, Benjamin Franklin flies a kite during a thunderstorm and collects a charge in a Leyden jar when the kite is struck by lightning, demonstrating the electrical nature of lightning.
- On June 14, 1922, President Warren G. Harding, while dedicating a memorial site for the composer of "The Star Spangled Banner," Francis Scott Key, becomes the first president to have his voice transmitted by radio.
- On June 11, 1963, President John F. Kennedy issues presidential proclamation 3542, forcing Alabama Gov. George Wallace to comply with federal court orders allowing two black students to register at the University of Alabama.
- On June 12, 1987, in his famous Cold War speech in West Berlin, President Ronald Reagan challenges Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev to "tear down this wall." The Berlin Wall was a symbol of the repressive Communist era in a divided Germany. Germany was officially reunited on Oct. 3, 1990.
- On June 16, 1999, Kathleen Ann Soliah, a former member of the Symbionese Liberation Army, is arrested near her home in Minnesota after evading authorities for more than 20 years. The SLA, a small, radical American paramilitary group, made a name for itself in the 1970s with a series of murders, robberies and other violent acts.

Strange But True

By Samantha Weaver

• It was beloved American author Ursula K. LeGuin -- perhaps best known for her "Earthsea" series -- who made the following sage observation: "What sane person could live in this world and not be crazy?"

• The skateboard was invented in California in the 1950s by surfers who wanted to continue their favorite activity even when they weren't in the water.

• It's hard to imagine what life was like before the widespread availability of refrigeration, isn't it? Some people have decided to find out -- and you might be surprised at how many. Although 99.5% of all households in the United States have a refrigerator, that still means that more than 1.5 million households are fridge-less.

• What we call coffee beans are actually the pits of the coffee beans.

• With an area of less than 1,000 square miles, the tiny Western European nation of Luxembourg is one of the smallest countries in the world, and it is the world's only remaining sovereign Grand Duchy. Considering the country's longstanding adherence to tradition, it is perhaps unsurprising that the national motto is "We want to remain what we are."

• Those who study such things claim that the hair on people of European descent tends to whorl in a counterclockwise fashion, while on most Japanese people it whorls in the opposite direction.

• Statistics show that for every 71,000 skydiving jumps made, there is only one fatality. That might not seem surprising until you put it in context: You have a one in 20,000 chance of dying from a regular fall right here on solid ground.

Thought for the Day: "The problem with being sure that God is on your side is that you can't change your mind, because God sure isn't going to change His." -- Roger Ebert

Great up north getaway on 3.48 acres. This very well maintained 1 bedroom, 1 bath year round cabin is just perfect to get away from the hustle and bustle of the city. The cabin has knotty pine interior and a great open floor home. There is a nice covered porch that runs the full length, plus a fresh coat of paint on the entire cabin. With the acreage there is plenty of room for your family and friends to park that camper or pitch a tent. It has a 2 car garage for the toys and the cute little building that houses the pump could double as a bunk house. The lot is over 1000' deep and well wooded, great for the kids or grand kids to explore. This gem is conveniently located between Oscoda and Harrisville and across from Lake Huron. It has natural gas and access to high speed internet. 19-0030 $69,900
