Junior Livestock Club to have market sale

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Despite dozens of event cancellations, including the Alcona County Fair this summer due to COVID-19, one traditional fair event, the Alcona Junior Livestock Club Market Sale, will still take place.

The format, however, will be slightly different -- there will be no live animals at the event which will take place in the Alcona Fair Grounds horse arena on Wednesday, Aug. 22 at 5 p.m.

Kevin Boyat, a fair volunteer and 4-H leader for over 30 years, explained there will be an auction with photo displays of the animals. "The kids will have the animal's photos and will be talking up their animals to prospective buyers by phone, social media and in-person before the event," Boyat said.

According to Boyat everyone's main concern when the fair was canceled was how the youth that had already started raising animals for the market sale would recoup their efforts. "As soon as it was decided that the fair would have to be canceled this year, we called sponsors to find out if they wanted their money back or if they wanted it carried forward to next year. All but one said to carry it forward, but all the sponsors wanted to know the same thing -- if the kids would still be able to sell their animals," he said.

Boyat explained that youth will be standing inside the arena and buyers will be socially distanced around it to bid on the animals. Masks will be required.

"We think it will work, that is if nothing changes in the state with executive orders," Boyat said.

One big concern was how the animals purchased will be butchered, since that has been a major hurdle with farmers across the state since the pandemic began, but Boyat said they already had butchers lined up to take care of the animals and even had one local butcher, Shannon Rifembark, offering to butcher turkey, ducks and chickens for the youth club free of charge.

Up for auction will be 17

She also explained what Phase 3 includes:

Sisters to auction swine at market sale

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Youth across the county are looking forward to the Alcona County Junior Livestock Club Market Sale this year, probably more so than any other year in the past due to so many summer event cancellations.

Many, like Savannah and Sierra Wright, ages 14 and 12 respectively, had already started raising their market projects before the Alcona County Fair cancellation and weren't quite sure what to do with their investment.

The Wright sisters will be auctioning their swine at the market and they are so relieved the sale will still take place, even if they can't bring their 180 plus-pound pigs for actual auction, due to COVID-19 restrictions.

Savannah will be selling her gilt pig, "Ninny" a black and tan speckled beauty and Sierra will be selling "Ruby Rose" a reddish pig.

Savannah explained people should be interested in purchasing Ninny because she is nice and fat with a lot of meat to her. "I feed her a lot of Chippewa pig and sow feed and she likes snacks like apples and bread," she said.

Sierra grinned and said her Ruby Rose has nice ham. "I can tell just by looking at her. She's special because we both have the same middle name, Rose. She likes to splash in the water a lot and whenever I give her water, she will spill it and lay in it," she said.

Both sisters said raising pigs was hard work and involved scooping up a lot of poop and lifting 50-pound bags of feed. The girls are also helping to raise a third pig for their parents, Melvin and Casie Phinney, and eight-year-old brother, Nelson Phinney.

The Phinney farm also has turkey, guinea hens, ducks, rabbits and lots of chickens in which the girls work hard to help care for. They explained all the animals need a lot of fresh water daily.

Casie Phinney, who was raised in Alcona County and was in Kevin and Debbie Boyat's 4-H Club when she was young, was pleased that at least the girls will be able to market their animals.

Because there will be no fair to show animals at Nelson, who is a year too young to market animals, will have to wait for his turn to show and market next year.

"It's the girl's first year marketing animals. It's a shame they won't be able to bring the animals with them, but they will have their pictures there. They learned a lot this year about raising swine," Casie said.

Savannah and Sierra belong to three 4-H groups, Rabbits Are Us, Bird Brains and Swine Steins, but have not

Wendy E. Peterson

Wendy Evelyn Peterson, 67, of Ramah, New Mexico, died Friday, July 17, 2020.

After an eight year battle with breast cancer, complications from surgery to remove a metastasized lesion finally ended the battle. However, she was not defeated by cancer, for it never controlled her life.

Wendy was born November 23, 1952 in Bay City, Mich. to Eleanore (Smith) Weaver and Ronald Weaver. She grew up in Bay City and spent most of her life in the Bay City area working and raising a family.

For many years, she was the co-owner of the Touch of Mexico restaurant with her ex-husband.

In 2005, Wendy married Paul Peterson and moved to the Detroit area. Together, they owned and operated Simple Miracles Pizza in downtown Detroit.

In 2007, they moved their business to Harrisville, Michigan on the shores of Lake Huron. She was an active and loved member of the Harrisville community.

In 2012, Wendy was diagnosed with breast cancer. Although her prognosis was not good, she managed to fight back the cancer many times and for many years. She lived a strong and vibrant life, as evidenced by her 2015 move to New Mexico with her husband to homestead off-grid. It was a challenging life -- building a home surrounded by wilderness, depending on solar power and rainwater -- but she was up for the challenge.

Each day, Wendy fed the birds, talked to the Ravens, hiked with her dogs, and hung out with her chickens. She was a talented painter, gifted sewer, and an avid collector of petrified wood.

Wendy is survived by her husband Paul; her four children, Conrad Carmona Jr., Toni Curtis, Isaac Carmona, and Gabriel Carmona; and four granddaughters whom she adored, Serena, Sammy, Ryan, and Sylvia.

Aerial Power Patrols

ITC will be conducting aerial patrols of the high-voltage transmission towers and lines in northern Michigan from approximately August 10 to August 14, weather permitting. The helicopter patrols are conducted to provide an overall status of the overhead transmission system that is operated by ITC's Michigan operating entities, ITC Transmission and Michigan Electric Transmission Company, LLC (METC).

The aerial inspections will cover the northern part of the state, including all or parts of Alcona, Alpena, Antrim, Arenac, Bay, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Clare, Crawford, Emmet, Gladwin, Grand Traverse, Iosco, Kalkaska, Lake, Leelanau, Manistee, Mason, Midland, Missaukee, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Osceola, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle, Roscommon and Wexford counties.

These patrols include inspections of steel towers, wood poles, conductors (wires), insulators and other equipment. Crews check for damaged or worn equipment and vegetation hazards. The inspection flights are often conducted at low altitudes to allow accurate visual inspection of equipment for lightning damage, wear or other potential problems. This is normal procedure, so there is no cause for alarm if a low flying helicopter is sighted near transmission lines. The flights will begin in northern Michigan on August 10 and will cover nearly all of the Lower Peninsula, concluding in southeast Michigan approximately September 11.

ITC Holdings Corp., the nation's largest independent electricity transmission company based in Novi, Mich., owns and operates two subsidiaries in the state: ITC Transmission and METC (collectively, ITC Michigan). The two systems comprise approximately 8,700 circuit miles of transmission line serving most of Michigan's Lower Peninsula. For further information visit www.itc-holdings.com. ITC is a subsidiary of Fortis Inc., a leader in the North American regulated electric and gas utility industry.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

How to keep a watchful eye on an aging parent

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you recommend any services or technology that will help me monitor my elderly mother who lives alone? Since the coronavirus pandemic started last March, my sister and I have noticed that my mom's health has slipped a bit, so we would like to find something that helps us keep tabs on her when we're not around.

Concerned Daughter

ments in hundreds of counties across the country and are usually provided free of charge.

Here's how they work. A computer automated phone system would call your mom at a designated time each day to check-in. If she answers, the system would assume everything is okay. But if she doesn't pick up, or if the call goes to voice mail after repeated tries, you (or her other designee) would get a notification call. If you are not reachable, calls are then made to backup people who've also agreed to check on your mom if necessary.

The fall back is if no one can be reached, the police or other emergency services personnel will be dispatched to her home.

To find out if this service is available in your mom's community, call her local police department's non-emergency number. If it's not offered, there are other organizations or companies you can turn to that provide similar services.

One that I love that's completely free to use is Mon Ani (monami.io, 650-267-2474), which offers a volunteer phone bank that provides phone or video calls daily, weekly or anything in between. The volunteer will connect with your mom, provide companionship and make sure everything is okay. And, they'll let you know if they detect a problem.

Monitoring Technology

Technology also offers a variety of new ways to help you keep an eye on your mom when you can't be there.

One nifty new option is the Electronic Caregiver's (electroniccaregiver.com) "Premier" product, which is a wearable wrist device that provides activity monitoring, a 24/7 emergency help button, medication reminders and a GPS locator so you can determine your mom's whereabouts when she's away from home.

It's also linked to a family caregiver app to keep you and other loved ones in the loop. The device is free with a monthly subscription that costs $40 to $60 a month, depending on the level of monitoring.

If your mom is primarily homebound, another option to consider is a sensor-monitoring system like Caregiver Smart Solutions (caregiver-smartsolutions.com). This uses small sensors (not cameras) placed in key areas of your mom's home to track her activities - everything from whether she used the coffee pot to how much she's watching TV - and will let you know if something out of the ordinary is happening. For instance, if she went to the bathroom and didn't leave, it could indicate a fall or other emergency.

You can also check up on her patterns anytime you want through the system's website or app. And for additional protection, it offers emergency call buttons that can be placed around the house. Caregiver Smart Solutions starts at $99 for their activity sensors, plus a $29 monthly service fee.

THE CEDAR LAKE IMPROVEMENT BOARD Alcona County and Iosco County, Michigan NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

CEDAR LAKE MANAGEMENT & WEED CONTROL SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Cedar Lake Improvement Board on its own initiative, intends to proceed pursuant to MCL 324.30901 et seq, as amended (the "Act"), to make certain public improvements consisting of the control and partial eradication of aquatic plants and weeds within Cedar Lake by means of chemical treatment, biological agents, and/or mechanical harvesting, as well as undertake lake management activities and lake studies and reports (collectively, the "Public Improvements"). The Board has tentatively determined that some or all of the costs of the Public Improvements shall be specially assessed against all lots and parcels of land which have lake frontage on Cedar Lake, all of which are benefitted by the Public Improvements and which together comprise the proposed Cedar Lake Management & Weed Control Special Assessment District. Those parcels and lots are shown on the following map:

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that a description of the Public Improvements and estimates of cost for the Public Improvements are on file with the Board (as well as with Greenbush Township and Oscoda Township) for public examination.

PROPERTY SHALL NOT BE ADDED TO THE PROPOSED SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT AND THE ORIGINAL ESTIMATE OF COSTS SHALL NOT BE INCREASED BY 10% OR MORE PER YEAR WITHOUT FURTHER NOTICE AND PUBLIC HEARING.

Periodic redeterminations of the costs of the Public Improvements may be necessary, without a change in the Special Assessment District, and in that event, such redeterminations may be made by the Board without further notice to record owners or parties in interest in the lands in the Special Assessment District, in accordance with the provisions of the Act (unless the amounts assessed increase by 10% or more from the prior year, in which case notice and public hearing will occur).

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that a property owner or person in interest must either appear and object at the public hearing or submit a letter of appearance and objection to the Cedar Lake Improvement Board prior to the public hearing in order to preserve the person's right to appeal the special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. A record owner of land may appeal a special assessment by filing a written appeal with the Michigan Tax Tribunal within 30 days after written confirmation of the special assessment roll.

Should the Cedar Lake Improvement Board determine at the above-mentioned hearing to approve the proposed special assessment district, then thereafter, a second hearing will be held to confirm the tax roll for the special assessment district.

Nature photographer Maggie Berch found not one, but two walking sticks in her garage recently. This one (above) is eight inches long and could grow to thirteen inches. According to the National Wildlife Federation, walking sticks, or stick insects, are a group of highly camouflaged insects. They escape predation by blending into plant material. As their name suggests, they look just like sticks, and may even sway back and forth to more closely resemble a twig moving in the wind. Depending on the species, walking sticks can grow from 1 to 12 inches (2.5 to 30 centimeters) long, with females usually growing bigger than the males. Stick insects are the biggest insects in the world—one species measures over 20 inches (51 centimeters) long with its legs outstretched. All walking sticks are herbivores. They use their strong mandibles to consume leaves, the primary food in their diet. Walking sticks are found on every continent except Antarctica. They mostly live in temperate and tropical regions. Courtesy photo.

pigs, four steers, two lambs, two goats, chickens and a duck. All auction transactions will be by check or cash.

"Some of the kids raising animals were lucky and already sold their animals, but not all were able to do that. We just wanted to do what was right and help the kids. These kids work hard at raising the animals and put a lot of time and money into them.

They didn't get a fair, but at least we can do this. The fair board was for this one hundred percent," Boyat said.

There will not be an annual market sale dinner after the auction this year due to the restrictions.

The Alcona County Fairgrounds is located on the east side of Barlow Road, north of M-72 in Lincoln.

Community foundation awards over $463,000 in scholarships

Two hundred twenty-seven students from the Community Foundation for Northeast Michigan (CFNEM) and its affiliate foundation service area have been awarded scholarships this year.

"Across all counties served by the Foundation, our students have received $463,254 in scholarships in 2020," said CFNEM Program Director Laurie Nugent. "Most of these awards are for the 2020-2021 academic year, but several are multi-year awards."

Students receiving scholarships are from across the Community Foundation's nine-county service area, which includes Alcona, Alpena, Cheboygan, Crawford, Iosco, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Oscoda and Presque Isle counties. This service area includes CFNEM and three affiliate foundations: Iosco County Community Foundation, North Central Michigan Community Foundation, and Straits Area Community Foundation.

"The Scholarship Review Committees have their work cut out for them every year, but this year was especially unique as we adapted to doing reviews a bit differently than past years," said Nugent. "These students have so many demands placed on them in a very competitive atmosphere, and for many, the way their first semester of college looks will be much different than planned. The benefit of receiving a scholarship - no matter the size - can have a real impact on their future and helping them with their education."

CFNEM Executive Director Patrick Heraghty said that behind each fund entrusted to the Community Foundation, including scholarship funds, is a legacy for the donor and a gift of promise to the next generation.

"Because people who care about our communities and those who live here chose to give back, the Foundation was able to award over 300 scholarships this year," said Heraghty. "What an incredible gift it is for these students to be cared for in this way by generous people they may never even meet."

One of the unique aspects of the CFNEM scholarship program is that many of its scholarships are not just determined by academic achievement. Each scholarship reflects the intentions of the donor, and in some cases, that means the emphasis is placed on student interests such as farming, a trade such as welding or plumbing, the arts, or healthcare. All area students planning to attend college are encouraged to apply for scholarships, regardless of whether they plan to attend a trade certification program, community college or a four-year university.

To see a full list of 2020 scholarship recipients, or to learn more about scholarship opportunities offered through CFNEM, visit cfnem.org. Scholarships for the 2021 season for the Community Foundation for Northeast Michigan will be open in early January.

To the person who stole the Black Lab statue off my son's grave in the Mikado Cemetery on July 21, 2020 - I hope you find out who your father is!

Driveway heat
During the summer months, hot pavement can release heat into the adjacent soil, creating a hostile environment for plants that may otherwise be happy there the rest of the year. Some heat-resistant plants for such areas are creeping juniper, lantana, cinquefoil, russian sage, indian hawthorne and rosemary. - B. Weaver

Truman gets road commission superintendent promotion

Local happenings

August 2, 1995 ~ At its July 11, 1995, meeting, the Board of Road Commissioners promoted Harold Truman, a 19-year road commission veteran, to the position of general superintendent.

While the road Commission has long had a position of superintendent, Truman steps into a recently revised set of duties designed to better meet the changing needs of today's road commission.

Truman will be responsible for shop operations and will work with shop personnel on equipment, buildings, and related issues. He will also coordinate day-to-day operations through district foremen Bill Stone and Ray Somers.

In addition, Truman will work closely with Engineer-Manager Ronald Young in negotiating road improvement agreements with townships, preparing cost estimates, and planning projects. Truman will also take responsibility for safety programs and will assist with handling citizen concerns and complaints.

"I look forward to the challenge of my new job," said Truman. "I feel that my experience with the road commission and my involvement with community organizations over the years will be a help to me in handling my new responsibilities."

Truman is a lifelong Alcona County resident. He and spouse Patti and two sons reside in the Lincoln area. He is a 1974 graduate of Alcona Community Schools.

Former Superintendent Everett Schram, who was elected to the road commission board following retirement, says of his predecessor, "I think, and I am sure I speak for the other two board members, that Harold will be an effective superintendent for the Alcona County Road Commission."

Coast Guard called to rescue fisherman

Men from Freethinkers' Home stuck in VanBuskirk pier

August 5, 1920 ~ Mr. H. Steichmann and a friend, recent arrivals at the Freethinkers' Home at Springport, had an exciting experience on the lake Wednesday evening. They were fishing at the old pier off Springport when their boat became lodged between the spoils and they could not extricate themselves.

Their calls for help were heard on the shore but their words could not be understood owing to the noise made by the choppy sea. The friends ashore were frantic but had no means of reaching the imprisoned fishermen. Finally, the Sturgeon Point crew was called, and they went to the scene in the gasoline lifeboat.

Owing to the darkness and noisy waters it was sometime before the men could be located. When the rescue was finally affected there was great relief, both for the fishermen and the friends on the shore.

- On Aug. 4, 1944, acting on a tip from a Dutch informer, the Nazi Gestapo captures 15-year-old Jewish diarist Anne Frank and her family in a sealed-off area of an Amsterdam warehouse. The Franks had taken shelter there in 1942 out of fear of deportation to a Nazi concentration camp.

Kovels: Antiques & Collecting

Guard room table

but Hummel figurines are still being produced in Rodental, now by Hummel Manufaktur.

The Hummel figure of St. Jude has him holding a staff in one hand and a holy relic in the other. This is a common image that has been made by other manufacturers. If your figurine is real, it will have a Hummel mark on the bottom. If it's not marked, it's a fake. All Hummels are now very low priced, and religious figures are not popular. Your figure is probably Goebel but not Hummel. It is worth about $50.

CURRENT PRICES

Van Briggel vase, Lorelei, woman, hair flows over rim, white matte glaze, 11 x 5 inches, $190.

Tortoise shell jewelry box, beveled glass insert, ivory bun feet, c.1900, 2 x 6 inches, $265.

Kettle-on-stand, copper, embossed, cast, spirit burner, handle, turned, ebony, geometric design, WMK Co., 13 x 7 inches, $320.

Window, leaded, stained, Gothic, blue columns, brown arched window, purple panels, cabochon, 72 x 28 inches, $480.

TIP: Clean metal with a back-and-forth motion, not a circular motion. Use a soft, clean, lint-free cloth and turn it often to avoid reusing a soiled part.

Everything has a name, but in the antiques world, many things have more than one name. This table was offered for sale as a "guard room table." That is a made-up name for a table that looks like it might have been used by guards for eating, drinking and gambling in a castle a few hundred years ago. It is a table in the Elizabethan style (1553-1603, named for Queen Elizabeth I). Tables from that era are made of wood, usually walnut or oak. They are large, about 30 by 83 inches, and heavy with thick, strong legs, often heavily carved. Today, they are usually used in a large paneled room in a men's club or hotel. Some of the tables, like this one, have iron trestles used for strength between the end pairs of legs. They sell for surprisingly low prices for furniture that looks like it was made at least 400 years ago. They list for $800 to $4,000, depending on condition and proportions. This table was estimated at $700 to $1,000.

Q: I have a figurine that looks exactly like the Hummel figurine of St. Jude, but it's white. I can only find ones that are colored. Do I have a fake or a real one?

A: Hummel figurines are based on drawings by Sister Maria Innocentia Hummel, a nun in Germany. The figurines were first produced in 1935 by

Look for unusual styles of furniture to get a bargain. The heavy, old timbers and craftsmanship of an antique is why it is still in good condition and can take hard use. This table is in the Elizabethan style, 400 years old, and still going strong.

W. Goebel Porcelain Factory of Oeslau (now Rodental), Germany. They were extremely popular after WWII, and hundreds of figurines were made and collected. They made other figurines, but only those that are the children drawn by Sister Maria can be called Hummels. There have been changes in company name and ownership,
