Alcona and Iosco residents continue to receive vaccinations in mass clinics

As District Health Department No. 2 (DHD2) continues to move forward in the mass vaccination process, additional clinics are being planned as vaccines become available.

As of Thursday, Feb. 18 a total of 3,712 first doses have been administered, with 1,343 second doses being administered as well.

Additionally, DHD2 has distributed 2,268 doses to local partners.

Anyone who would like to preregister for upcoming mass vaccination clinics, go to the DHD2 website at www.dhd2.org and click on the red banner, complete the form in its entirety providing all the necessary information. Individuals will know their form submission is successful when they receive the "Thank You" message after hitting the submit button. It is important to note that completing the form is a preregistration. This does not register individuals for a particular clinic.

DHD2 staff members are reaching out to individuals via a phone call when an appointment date and a time become available. It is crucial that individuals do not show up to a clinic if they are not given a specific appointment date and time.

Anyone who is elderly and unable to preregister online, is encouraged to call the Region 9 Area Agency on Aging for assistance at (989) 358-4899. These services are for those ages 65 and up only and this is just to preregister, not schedule an appointment.

District Health Department No. 2, which serves Alcona, Iosco, Ogemaw, and Oscoda counties, has also updated its COVID-19 Data Dashboard to include daily new cases by county as well as the number of COVID-19 vaccinations administered by DHD2. The dashboard can be found at www.dhd2.org/covid-19.

In addition, DHD2 now has KN95 masks that are available to the public at no cost. Residents who are interested in obtaining masks can stop by any of the DHD2 office locations during normal business hours.

Seniors enjoy free fitness classes

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

"And in the end. It's not the years in your life that counts, it's the life in your years."

~ Abraham Lincoln

Alcona County seniors are being treated to free fitness classes at the Alcona County Commission on Aging (ACCOA) senior center in Lincoln.

Jan Klein, an energetic 77-year-old who has been teaching senior fitness for over a decade, feels one way to increase quality is through exercise. "I think what exercise does for a lot of seniors is it gives them confidence. The feeling like they can do anything. They are not afraid to fall because they know they can get up," she said.

Klein teaches three classes at the senior center; a senior boot camp, gentle exercise and a Zumba class.

Both senior boot camp and gentle exercise classes are taught on Monday and Thursday mornings. Zumba is taught on Wednesday and Friday mornings.

She explained boot camp, which is held from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., is a class for active seniors. "Participants of boot camp must be active and able to get up off the floor easily," Klein said. She explained many start with gentle exercise and then gradually move into boot camp.

Kathryn Cubalo, 88, is one of the oldest participants in boot camp. She has been taking classes taught by Klein for over eight years, starting just after her husband died.

"We were always active, we cut wood, walked, went cross-country skiing and square danced, but after my husband passed, that all stopped. My doctor suggested I sign up for exercise class and I haven't regretted it. Jan has been the greatest teacher and used to teach at the (Alcona) Health Center. That was in a small room and got shut down by COVID-19.

"The room at the senior center is much bigger and working out well. Jan is very

Violence is common in teenage dating experiences

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Teenage dating can sometimes be difficult under the best circumstances. Many teenagers are nervous or anxious about the event, but what happens if the experience goes terribly wrong and becomes abusive or violent?

According to the Center for Disease Control (CDC) teenage dating violence affects millions of young people in the U.S. each year. Nearly one in 11 female and one in 15 male teenagers experienced physical dating violence in 2019.

In response of those statistics, Hope Shores Alliance is bringing resources to youth across its five-county service area, including Alcona County, by honoring February as National Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month.

While the statistic numbers are high, outreach and services advocate for Hope Shores Alliance, Rhys Jordan, explained they believe the actual occurrence of teen violence is underreported because many teenagers are afraid and fail to report incidents or are not believed when they do talk about it.

Jordan explained a more realistic estimate of dating violence would be one in three youth, age 14 to 20. "At Alcona Community Schools, this would equate to about 138 out of 417 students affected by this issue.

"Teen dating violence is often minimized as being part of growing up, a natural part of dating. This doesn't need to be the case. We can directly combat the harmful effects of teen dating violence by supporting, believing and validating teen survivors of dating violence," Jordan said.

Teenage dating violence can take many forms, according to Hope Shores Alliance, such as physical, emo-

Memorial

Ron Frayer

Ron Frayer was a firm believer in a hard day's work. He had a tight bond and devotion to family and was committed to lifelong passions.

Ron worked with his hands everyday on various items of curiosity, but most of this hard work was completed in his employment of 30 years at Davis Monthan Air Force Base.

He took a great sense of accomplishment in each task completed because of the tremendous effort he put into it. This could be seen in his paint job on his old 1951 Chevy pickup, to the main gate on base.

Nevertheless, these time consuming passions of love and labor did not take away from his devotion to his family. He poured out his time and resources to see his family succeed. He was always there if you were in a pinch and his door was always open.

In the meantime, we will plant you now and dig you later.

 Chad Spitznagel, Township Supervisor

Dear Savvy Senior,
 Where can I turn to find a good Medicare covered hospice provider? My husband's mother has a terminal condition and wants to die at home, if possible, so I'm helping out where I can.

Sad Sandy

Dear Sad,

Hospice is a wonderful option in the last months of life because it offers a variety of services, not only to those who are dying, but also to those left behind. Here's what you should know about hospice care, along with some tips to help you choose one.

Understanding Hospice

Hospice care is a unique service that provides medical care, pain management, and emotional and spiritual support to people who are in the last stages of a terminal illness – it does not speed up or slow down the process of dying. Hospice's goal is to simply keep the patient as comfortable and pain-free as possible, with loved ones nearby until death.

The various services provided by a hospice program comes from a team of professionals that works together to accommodate all the patients' end-of-life needs.

The team typically includes hospice doctors that will work with the primary physician and family members to draft a care plan; nurses who dispense medication for pain control; home care aids that attend to personal needs like eating and bathing; social workers who help the patient and the family prepare for end of life; clergy members who provide spiritual counseling, if desired; and volunteers that fill a variety of niches, from sitting with the patient to helping clean and maintain their property.

Some hospices even offer massage or music therapy, and nearly all provide bereavement services for relatives and short-term inpatient respite care to give family caregivers a break.

Most hospice patients receive care in their own home. However, hospice will go wherever the patient is – hospital, nursing home or assisted living residence. Some even have their own facility to use as an option.

To receive hospice, your mother-in-law must get a referral from her physician stating that her life expectancy is six months or less.

It's also important to know that home-based hospice care does not mean that a hospice nurse or volunteer is in the home 24 hours a day. Services are based on need and/or what you request. Hospice care can also be stopped at any time if your mother-in-law's health improves or if she decides to re-enter cure-oriented treatments.

How to Choose

The best time to prepare for hospice and consider your options is before it's necessary, so you're not making decisions during a stressful time. There are more than 4,300 hospice care agencies in the U.S., so depending on where you live, you may have several options from which to choose.

To locate a good hospice in your area, ask your mother-in-law's doctor or the discharge planner at your local hospital for a referral, or you can search online at Medicare.gov/care-compare, which provides lists and ratings of hospice providers in your area.

When choosing, look for an established hospice that has been operating for a few years and one that is certified by Medicare. To help select one, the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization offers a worksheet of questions to ask CaringInfo.org.

Medicare Coverage

Medicare covers all aspects of hospice care and services for its beneficiaries. There is no deductible for hospice services although there may be a very small co-payment – such as $5 for each prescription drug for pain and symptom control, or a five percent share for inpatient respite care. Medicaid also covers hospice in most states, as do most private health insurance plans.

For more information, see the "Medicare Hospice Benefits" online booklet at Medicare.gov/pubs/pdf/02154-medicare-hospice-benefits.pdf.

careful to make sure we don't hurt ourselves and we are safe, but she does put us through our paces," Cubalo said.

Cubalo said the hardest part about exercising is finding the motivational drive to just do it and feels many of her peers struggle to that commitment.

She explained she doesn't always want to go, but once she is in class, she is happy to be there and enjoys the socialization it brings. She finds motivation often by attending class with her daughter, Lynn Vanderlinde.

Vanderlinde explained the classes have helped her mother substantially both physically and mentally. "After my dad died, I think it helped to empower her so she knew she could make it on her own," she said.

Lorna Lemere, at age 83 also takes the boot camp fitness class, and said she has been exercising with Klein for over 10 years. "I have arthritis which causes a lot of back pain. I feel the stretches, strengthening and balance exercises help," Lemere said.

She gains inspiration not only from Klein but also from other participants in the class, especially Cubalo. "When I think maybe I should quit, I tell myself if Kathryn Cubalo can do it, so can I," Lemere said.

Lemere is very pleased with the classes at the senior center and felt the precautions to keep everyone COVID-19 free at the center made her feel safe.

She said the classes Klein taught in the past were always reasonably priced, but now that they are free to seniors it gives many of her peers more motivation to join, although some of them still donate to the center.

Klein explained age was irrelevant when it comes to exercise. "They say at any age you can make vast improvements; you can start in your 80s and see a difference. It's all about the quality of life," she said.

For anyone who is just beginning or getting back into fitness classes Klein recommended starting with gentle exercise where the class works on balance, strength, flexibility and endurance.

The class, which meets from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m., is geared for those with arthritic pain and other health issues. It focuses on stretching to keep muscles and joints flexible including hands and feet and is a combination of seated and standing exercises. Those with walkers or canes are welcome.

"It's also a good class to take after physical therapy because a lot of what we do is a continuation of those exercises. We work with light weights and bands so putting away groceries and turning to look behind you before backing your car out of parking spot becomes easier," Klein said.

Lenny Avery, executive director of ACCOA said they will soon be Zooming the gentle exercise class Klein teaches so all those who want to take part in it, but can't get out or are still cautious due to COVID-19, can enjoy the classes from home.

Klein teaches Zumba classes on Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30. Zumba is an able-bodied fitness enhancement class carried through a series of fast-paced dance exercise moves set to upbeat Latin music. "You have to be an active person to take Zumba," Klein said.

"After my dad died, I think it helped to empower her so she knew she could make it on her own."

~Lynn Vanderlinde, class participant

Zumba is also free for seniors. Anyone under the age of 60 wishing to take any of the fitness classes my do so, but they will be asked to pay a donation fee by the ACCOA. Avery said there is no set donation amount and asks those paying by donation to pay what they feel the class was worth.

Senior line dancing classes are also available free to seniors on Tuesdays from 4 to 5 p.m. taught by Revolution Dance. A free to seniors Tai-Chi class will also be starting soon, according to Avery.

He is also working on making an exercise gym for the seniors to use which includes cardio equipment, such as stationary bikes, treadmills, stability balls, jump ropes and an assortment of bands and weights. The gym will be open for seniors to use from noon until 3 p.m.

Currently, the gym is only available to seniors, but Avery is entertaining thoughts of opening the gym for public use in the future.

Avery is asking anyone who would like to donate gently used, good working condition exercise equipment including treadmills, ellipticals or stationary bikes may do so by calling (989) 334-3466 to arrange a pick-up time.

While a physical is not mandatory to take fitness classes at the senior center, Klein does recommend it.

There are no walk-ins allowed into the classes without preregistration. Participants must preregister through the senior center by calling (989) 334-3466. All participants in the center must be properly masked and go through COVID-19 protocols including answering and signing a COVID-19 questionnaire and having their temperature taken.

Anyone interested in taking gentle, boot camp or Zumba classes may visit alconaseniors.org or call Klein at (989) 295-0387. The senior center is located at 207 Church Street, Lincoln.

Annual bird count results reveal some surprises

Nearly 40 observers in Alcona and Iosco counties revealed good insight and some surprises as to the variety of birds located in this area during the annual Great Backyard Bird Count (GBBC) held February 12-15. Alcona participants totaled 38 species, while Iosco tallied 46. Nationally, 655 species were counted.

Adverse weather conditions in many parts of the U.S. had a negative impact on many bird sightings. Locally, a fairly sudden freeze along river corridors a few days prior to the count forced waterfowl to congregate where open water existed. Moreover, access to some of these areas by observers was limited due to additional snow accumulations. However, in some cases where large numbers of the waterfowl gathered, tallying was easier.

An influx of common redpolls from the far northern regions of the U.S. and Canada, afforded a unique filming opportunity for the avid birder/photographer. On the other hand, a general absence of snow buntings was disappointing to many observers, as only nine were seen.

The top 10 species observed in Alcona County included; American crow (60), blue jay (50), American goldfinch (40), wild turkey (35), trumpeter swan (34), cedar waxwing (21), European starling (19), house finch (16), common redpoll (14), and snow bunting (9).

In Iosco County the total numbers included; trumpeter swan (158), cedar waxwing (120), rock pigeon (89), wild turkey (89), common goldeneye (88), blue jay (47), European starling (45), American goldfinch (44), dark-eyed junco (21), and American crow (16).

"With all those 'eagle eyes' watching the feeders, fields, forests, and waterways, our county observers made a significant contribution to this national and world wide count," said Peggy Ridgway, local ambassador for the event.

The spring migrants are ready to begin their long journeys. They'll be arriving in another month or so.

Lady Tigers survive battle with Rogers City

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

It was certainly closer than expected, but the Alcona girls varsity basketball team survived a home North Star League (NSL) Big Dipper battle with Rogers City Thursday night.

The Lady Tigers had their lowest offensive output of the season, but still managed to come away with a 31-24 victory.

"We were a little sluggish and had a hard time getting to the pace we wanted, but we were able to pull out the win," said head coach Mark Feldhiser. "It was a bit of a slow game for us and we did not shoot very well, but were able to hit enough outside shots to get the job done."

"Karen Sharboneau hit some shots that enabled us to stay ahead and get the win. Credit to the kids for pulling this one out. We picked up our defense in the second half and that was the difference."

Sharboneau led the Tigers with 13 points.

On Monday, Feb. 15 the Lady Tigers lost their first game of the season, 48-41 to visiting Oscoda in NSL Big Dipper action.

"It was a really good basketball game between two good teams," Feldhiser said. "I thought we played real well with the exception of a couple of minutes at the beginning and the end of the game. They came out hot and hit some threes and got ahead of us 11-2, but our kids showed great poise in getting back in the game. It was back and forth after that, but, to their credit, Oscoda made the plays and hit the shots they needed to at the end."

Alcona pulled to within 11-8 after the first quarter, and led 20-18 at the half thanks, in part, to a three-pointer and five points total by Anna Loyer.

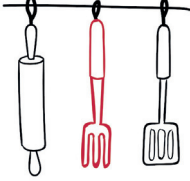

The Lady Owls inched

ahead 30-29 entering the fourth quarter and went six-of-six from the line in the closing minutes to finish off the Lady Tigers.

"The big difference in the game was their ability to hit the three-point shots," Feldhiser said. "While a bit disappointed in the outcome, I am not all disappointed in our team and the effort of our girls. We will keep working hard to get ready for the next time."

Leading the way in the setback was Liz Henderson with 18 points, Kelsey Hansen scored seven, Lily Bilbey chipped in with six, Loyer finished with five, Rachel Layton added three and Carmen Dellar netted two.

Alcona (4-1 overall, 2-1 NSL Big Dipper) hosted Tawas on Monday, Feb. 22, hosted Alpena on Tuesday, Feb. 23, travels to Mio on Friday, Feb. 26, and is in Whittemore-Prescott on March 1.

Turnovers doom Tigers in loss to Ogemaw

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

When a team nears double digits in turnovers in the first quarter, it typically spells doom for the rest of the night.

The Alcona boys varsity basketball team, hosting Ogemaw Heights in a non-league game on Wednesday, Feb. 17, did just that. The Tigers committed nine turnovers in the first quarter and 18 on the night, which resulted in a 55-30 setback.

"We have eight guys on varsity, that's the first time I have had that few, so it is really tough to simulate good pressure like you are going to see in games," head coach Ryan Bilbey said of Ogemaw's full court press. "...One of the things that I stress to them is that you have to practice how you are going to play. You have to go at it 100 percent because that is the situation you are going to get into. I know as the season goes on, we are going to get better with the pressure; it is early and it is a goofy year but we are struggling with it because we are panicking a little bit."

It was certainly rough sledding early on for the Tigers, as the bulk of their miscues turned into either an easy basket in transition for the Falcons, or a three-pointer. As a result, the Falcons played their way to a 21-4 lead after one quarter.

Ogemaw buried a three moments into the second to extend its lead to 24-4, though DJ Howe, who battled foul trouble for most of the night, answered for the Tigers by cutting through the lane, taking in an entry pass and sending a close-range shot through the net.

Alcona only added lay-ups by Jacob Sytek and Hunter Rigby the rest of the half as Ogemaw held a 28-10 lead at the break.

The Tigers had a brief glimmer of hope at the start of the third quarter. Howe sent home a trey from the right corner and Chris Barnes followed that up with a jumper from just inside the arc, drawing them within 28-15.

Ogemaw quickly squashed those hopes however, by ending the third quarter on a 14-3 run to lead 42-18 entering the fourth, all but ending thoughts of an Alcona comeback.

"We came out and knocked a couple shots down, executed a few things that we talked about at half time and that was good to see," Bilbey said. "We just couldn't maintain any kind of momentum and that's hard; and it is hard in a gym with not many people. It was quiet as a mouse out there so that is hard for them too."

Howe, who finished with nine points on the night, netted four points in the final stanza as the night played out to the 55-30 final.

Also contributing offensively for the Tigers was Barnes, who finished with seven points. Jacob Sytek scored six, Rigby netted five, Zach Stephenson had two and Gavin Walker chipped in with one.

"One bright spot was Rigby. He came out and gave us some fire tonight," Bilbey said. "We have to build on that and get it to spread to some of the others on the team. I was really happy with his intensity out there."

On Friday, Feb. 19 the Tigers lost a North Star League Big Dipper game at Rogers City 55-49.

"Super proud of how hard my guys played," Bilbey said. "They really gave the best effort of the season. We missed some easy buckets in the first but we still had a great first quarter. Scoring was flat in the third and only managed to score four points. In the fourth quarter we picked up the offense and got the scoring going but we just couldn't keep pace due to the fouls."

Alcona led 11-6 after one quarter, but the Hurons rallied to pull within 19-18 at the half. Rogers City pulled ahead 33-23 entering the fourth and finished off the win from the free throw line in the closing minutes.

Howe finished with 17 points. Sytek and Stephenson netted nine points apiece. Nick Rasmussen chipped in with seven, Chris Barnes had four and with three was Rigby.

On Tuesday, Feb. 16 the Tigers lost a home NSL game with league-leading Oscoda, 65-29.

Howe led the team with eight points, Stephenson put in seven. Rigby and Rasmussen finished with five each and Sytek netted four.

Alcona (2-3 overall, 0-2 NSL Big Dipper) heads to Johannesburg-Lewiston on Thursday, Feb. 25, hosts Rogers City on Saturday, Feb. 27, and hosts Whittemore-Prescott Tuesday, March 2.

tional, technological or social abuse.

Signs of emotional abuse include control, like not being able to see friends; manipulation -- a partner threatening to hurt themselves if not given attention, or gaslighting, when one partner dismisses or invalidates the feelings of the other partner.

Technological dating abuse indicators included repeated texting/calling/social media contact or posting sexual photos of a partner online without consent.

"When considering teen dating violence, abusers use a variety of coercive and manipulative tactics to exert power and control over their partners. One of the primary tactics used to obtain and maintain power and control over their victims is to isolate them from their friends, family and other support persons. The isolating nature of rural counties, such as Alcona, can make abuse even easier for the abuser," Jordan said.

According to a Hope Shores Alliance, unhealthy relationships can start early and last a lifetime. Teenagers often think some behaviors, like jealousy, teasing and name-calling, are a normal part of a relationship. But these behaviors can become abusive and develop into serious forms of violence.

According to the CDC Youth Risk Behavior Survey, unhealthy, abusive and violent relationships can have short and long-term negative effects on youth. Youth who are victims of dating violence are more likely to experience symptoms of depression and anxiety, engage in unhealthy behaviors such as tobacco, drugs and alcohol and exhibit antisocial behaviors such as lying, theft, bullying or hitting and may consider suicide.

"When attempting to exit a violent relationship, abusers may work harder to maintain power and control. Other common tactics include intimidation, threats, extreme jealousy, sexual coercion/force, verbal, mental, physical and emotional abuse.

"Teens are most likely to open up to peers, parents, coaches, teachers and other support people they are close to when facing dating violence. When receiving disclosure, it's important to take it seriously and not minimize their experiences. Support persons can best assist teens by believing and validating their stories as well as supporting the survivor's decision on how to move forward.

"Teenagers deserve to know they are being taken seriously and are not alone in this. It's important to communicate to them they have access to resources and support around the abuse they are experiencing. It's critical we respond promptly and hold perpetrators accountable for their actions. Survivors can maintain a history of incidents to help facilitate conversations around future steps and safety," Jordan said.

Due to COVID-19 protocols Hope Shores Alliance has only been able to set up tables at the high school with literature on dating violence but Jordan said once the pandemic safety concerns are cleared, they plan to cultivate further dating violence outreach and system changes throughout their service area.

Hope Shores Alliance services are available to anyone above the age of 14 without parental consent and are available to anyone younger than 14 with consent.

J. R. Hughes, attorney to locate in county

Glennie to get golf course

February 28, 1946 ~ J. Russell Hughes, attorney-at-law has announced he will open offices for the practice of general law in Alcona County within the next week or two. Location of his office has not been settled as yet, but it is possible he will establish headquarters in Lincoln if facilities are available.

Hughes, a resident of Standish for the last ten years, has recently been discharged after more than three years as an officer in the navy. Nineteen months of this service was spent in Pacific waters where he took part in several major naval engagements and was a member of the landing force that made the original occupation of Tokio. During his naval service Hughes' wife, a registered nurse, contributed to the war effort by engaging in her profession at the Standish and Omer hospitals. The couple are the parents of a son, four years old, and daughter, six years of age. They have rented the Hornby home opposite Alcona Beach, north of Harrisville, and are making arrangements to move their household effects to that location at once.

Twice Hughes was elected to the office of prosecuting attorney of Arenac County. He resigned during his second term to enter the Navy.

In a statement published this week in the Arenac County Independent, Standish, Hughes is quoted in part as follows:

"Since returning from the Navy I have been eager to return to my profession. But an exhaustive search for office quarters has been fruitless and I have been forced to seek another site. I have found that in our neighboring county to the north, Alcona, and am leaving for there immediately. It is with many pleasant memories and "a heap o' living" that we leave Standish for Alcona County to start anew our professional career."

Sleeping sickness case at local hospital

February 24, 1921 ~ A case of sleeping sickness, believed to be the first in this section of the state, is being treated by Dr. A. R. Miller at his hospital.

The patient, Matt Michaud of Mikado township, was brought here three weeks ago from Cedar Lake, suffering intense pain in one hand. As is the nature of sleeping sickness the case developed slowly.

Michaud's pulse is now normal and his general condition appears much improved, though he is not pronounced out of danger.

February 28, 1996 ~ By Cheryl Peterson

An 18-hole golf course, complete with driving range and full service clubhouse is in the planning stages for Curtis Township.

Developer Rupert Smith received a special use permit to build the Eagle Ridge Golf Course from the Curtis Township Planning Commission last Thursday night. The permit was granted after a public hearing was held.

During the public hearing, Smith told the 50 some people in attendance that a public hearing wasn't required for a special use permit, but he wanted to have a hearing to deal with any concerns and questions "right up front... We can always accomplish more with good public participation."

He also paid the required $200 to cover the cost of the hearing.

"This is a private venture and taxpayers shouldn't have to pay for it (the hearing.) I feel this will be an asset and I don't want to impose a hardship to any individual," Smith said.

Smith explained that the course, which will be located south of Glennie on M-65 and east on Bamfield Road behind the maintenance barn and nursery, will skirt much of the wetlands located in that area. He will be timbering the land and with everything kept on track, Smith hopes to open the course in two years.

The planning commission approved the special use permit contingent on the approval of a site plan, and approval from the Department of Natural Resources, Soil Conservation District, District Health Department and Michigan Department of Transportation.

Smith said he has already been in contact with many of the entities listed above and expects everything to go well — especially since he won't be filling in much terrain, just a few low areas. He said the course will be built using the natural rolling terrain that is already there. He also plans to have a backup septic system for the clubhouse. "I'm a firm believer in over designing septic systems."

He told residents that the DNR monitors golf courses very closely and he has to keep meticulous records pertaining to any chemicals used on the course. "A farmer could plow up these fields, use insecticides and anything else and the DNR doesn't control it. Not so with a golf course," Smith said. "The DNR comes in two times a year to inspect the chemicals I have on hand and the records of what I've used. There are no more chemicals used on turf grass than we use on the farm."

Smith said he built the Links at Pinewood, an 18-hole golf course in Union Lake, Mich., west of Pontiac and rebuilt Bay Point Golf Course in Union Lake. He has been coming to the area for years but became a resident of Curtis Township five years ago. He owns a 1,200-acre cattle farm and has more land in the Hale area where food for his cattle is grown. He is a member of the Curtis Township Board and the planning commission.

Plans for the clubhouse, Smith said, are still unfinished. He isn't sure whether the area will be able to support the type of clubhouse he'd like to build.

Ideally, he would like a full service dining area and smaller area for a grill room, plus banquet rooms for wedding receptions and other functions.

"There's no doubt about the rest of it (the golf course). It was the hardest decision I've had to make. It's a gamble, but I've been known to gamble," Smith said.

When asked what the cost would be to play the course, Smith said it would probably be right around $25 to play 18 holes, with a cart. "It's not going to be a championship course," he said. "It'll be a course that's a challenge to you even if you are a good golfer, but it won't be the kind of course you'll want to throw your clubs away on."

In other business the Curtis Township Planning Commission held public hearings on the proposed amended text for the commercial zoning ordinance and the agricultural zoning ordinance. The agricultural zoning ordinance text was approved and will be presented to the township board. The commercial zoning text will be reviewed again by the planning commission after several concerns were expressed in reference to commercial signs.

New barn and stock destroyed by fire

February 24, 1921 ~ The fine new barn of Nelson Bean of Barton City was destroyed by fire Friday afternoon. Included in the loss are seven milk cows, a span of horses and some young stock, hay, grain and other produce.

The fire occurred about 8 o'clock in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bean and a grandson were in the house but could not see the barn from the room they were in. When the fire was discovered the building was too far gone to save anything.

The loss falls heavily upon Mr. and Mrs. Bean, who are well advanced in years. There was no insurance.

Haynes Township Assessor

1871 N Lakeshore Drive, Harrisville MI 48740
haynes.twp.assessor@gmail.com

Due to common Up North technological challenges (storms, power loss, no service, etc.) the assessor is recommending ALL property owner wishing to file an official protest submit their protest in writing, accompanied by a signed L-4035 petition form, by mail or Email by attachment, in advance. Submitting a letter of protest in advance will not exclude the property owner from attending the meetings either in person (if lawful) or electronically (if requested), it will just ensure your protest is heard in case of technical difficulties. At this time, we do not have internet access available at the Township Hall. Should in-person BOR meetings become lawful from the Township hall location, the electronic remote access (Zoom) portion of the meeting will be generated from the Township Hall location and will be supported using personal Wi-Fi enabled devices which may or may not prove to be 100% reliable on any given day.

Please do not hesitate to contact the assessor for assistance!
