Shooting supect waives prelim, case moves to circuit court

By Cheryl Peterson

Editor

The downstate man charged in the January shooting at the Glennie Tavern was in court last Wednesday to waive a preliminary examination hearing.

Matthew W. Busch, 33, of Bay City, Mich. was charged with two felony counts of assault with intent to commit murder and possession of a firearm while intoxicated causing a serious impairment, and weapons felony firearm, which is a misdemeanor.

Busch's case was bound over to 23rd Circuit Court and will appear on May 21 for a pretrial hearing. He was arraigned in 81st District Court on January 29 and lodged in the Iosco County Jail and was released on a $150,000 cash surety 10 percent bond. He remains out on bond.

The victim, a 33-year-old man from West Branch, Mich. was initially transported to Ascension Healthcare in Tawas City and transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, Mich. He was released and recovered at home.

According to a press release from the sheriff's office, at 11:09 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 26, Alcona County Central Dispatch received an emergency call from the Glennie Tavern in Curtis Township. "It was reported that a person had been shot outside in the parking lot," according to the press release. Responding deputies found Busch in the parking lot. The victim was inside the bar with a single gunshot wound to the groin area.

According to the sheriff's office, Busch was arrested at the scene and transported to Ascension for minor injuries. "The preliminary investigation revealed that a physical altercation had occurred between the two individuals in the parking lot of the Glennie Tavern. During this altercation the suspect (allegedly) shot the victim once from a pistol that was in his jacket pocket," the press release

Local law enforcement officers receive specialized training

By Mary Weber

Law enforcement must be vigilant for whatever type of emergency arrives, whether it is apprehending a dangerous criminal or protecting the public from a dangerous situation.

It is especially important for small, rural sheriff's offices located in tourist areas where the number of people they are protecting triples in size each summer. This is precisely the reason Alcona County Sheriff Scott Stephenson wants to keep his department as up to date on training as possible.

In March, the office, which includes 12 full-time law enforcement officers, went through three training sessions -- one on active violence training, one on electric vehicle fire and crash training and a refresher course on wildland fire traffic control and evacuations.

According to Stephenson, before 2019, Michigan law enforcement was required to have just one training course per year to maintain their certification: Law enforcement had to qualify with their firearm at the range. He felt that wasn't nearly enough to adequately prepare law enforcement for their duties.

"Public Act 552 of 2018 required law enforcement to also have active violence training. Violence can be anything, with or without guns, but it is most referred to as active shooter training. This act was to go into effect in 2019/2020, but the pandemic hit and no training went on,"

Stephenson said.

He explained for the past two years, the state has been pushing to have all law enforcement attend active violence training at least once to maintain their certification. Stephenson felt additional training will be needed in the future and it will become mandatory for law enforcement to get trained every second or third year as things change.

"Even though we were not required to have this training, my department has been doing this training for years, so when we went to get certified there was not much new or dramatic for us to go through," Stephenson said.

The Alcona Sherrif's Office not only received active violence training in the past but one of their staff, Sgt. Nathaneal Leeseberg, received enough additional specialized training that he taught the training session without the department leaving the county.

Also, without leaving the county, the department completed the electric vehicle fire and crash training and the wildland fire refresher training on the same day in Barton City.

Stephenson explained a while ago he attended a sheriff conference and heard Phil Kamm from Michigan Municipal Risk Management, the insurance carrier for Alcona County, speak about electric vehicle fires.

"I listened with my jaw dropped. I had no idea elec-

Off-road fun run to benefit fireworks

By Mary Weber

Staff Writer

Those yearning for off-road adventure, camaraderie, fun and an opportunity to benefit two fireworks shows should make plans to attend the second annual ATV/ORV Fun Run. The Fun Run is to benefit both Harrisville and Barton City fireworks events.

This year's Fun Run, scheduled for Saturday, May 4, will feature a new beginning point, new trails and a few new fun-filled challenges, according to Maureen Sullivan, the chairperson for the Harrisville Fireworks Fund.

"We wanted to get more trails and forest service roads into the mix, so we moved the beginning point this year to the other side of the county," Sullivan said.

Cost for each pre-registered person on the run is $5; with a $10 per game card charge. Each participant can purchase one game card with a minimum of one card per vehicle. On the day of the run, registration will cost $10 per

The Fun Run is open to all ATVs, UTVs, ORVs and dirt bikes with a valid Michigan ORV license or trail permit. As with last year's run, Sullivan stated it is a run, not a race and all state laws and ordinances must be followed. All participants must sign a

The Fun Run will begin at release of claims at registration, minor participants must have a parent sign with them.

"The run starts in Barton City, and then we have a stop plained that pre-registration in the middle of the woods, then on to Desi's, then over to Glennie and then return to Barton City. I think it is more miles than last year's run because of all the winding trails," Sullivan said.

According to Sullivan M-72 and M-65 may not be legally driven on, but they can be crossed.

At each stop players will participate in a challenge to receive a score. Mulligans will be available for purchase and all challenges must be complete and the game card presented to officials by the check-in time per stop.

The first check-in is at noon and the last check-in is at 6 p.m. Stops include the Barton City Eagles Club by noon, AuSable Valley TrailRiders Association Warming Station by 1:30 p.m., Desi's by 3 p.m., the Glennie Tavern by 4:30 p.m. and the BC Bar by 6 p.m. Winners will be announced at the BC Bar at 7 p.m.

Spectators are welcome to the Fun Run event and can drive on-road vehicles to some of the stops but will not be able to participate in any challenges.

A live auction to benefit the fireworks events will also be held on the same day at the BC Bar starting at 6 p.m. The auction is open to the public. There will also be 50/50 drawings and a Chinese raffle.

Sullivan said live-auction items include rounds of golf, pots and pans, handmade jewelry, a microwave, filled baskets, gift certificates and even a maple syrup collection starter kit.

As with last year's proceeds, the funds will be split equally between the Barton City Improvement Association for the fireworks fund and the Harrisville Fireworks

Last year a total of $3,400 was earned through the Fun Run and Sullivan is hoping for an even larger amount to be split this year. "We have had an overwhelming response so far and already have 94 people and 47 machines signed up. Each day there is more and more interest. Last year we only had 60 participants and 32 machines," Sullivan said.

Sullivan was very excited about this year's Harrisville Fireworks and said the cost being spent this year for the pyrotechnic spectacle will run about $28,000. "That's $3,000 more than Alpena is spending on their fireworks, making Harrisville's the largest firework display in the area," Sullivan said.

Harrisville's fireworks are always held on the first Saturday of July at dusk, which will fall this year on July 6. Barton City Fireworks are held on the Fourth of July.

Pre-registration for the Fun Run is available by scanning the QR code on the Alcona Fun Run Facebook page or by using Venmo@moe-sullivan.

Donations for either fireworks show can be brought to any of the fun run stops on May 4. Check donations can be mailed to the Harrisville Firework Fund, P.O. Box 195, Harrisville, Mich., 48740. Checks for the Barton City fireworks should be noted on the check with a name of the donor, made payable to the Barton City Improvement Association, P.O. Box 191, Barton City, Mich., 48705. For more information, call Maureen Sullivan at (989) 335-0137.

Anthony "Tony" Lewandowski

Anthony "Tony" Lewandowski, 90, of Glennie died on Friday, March 22, 2024, in Rochester, Mich.

He was born on December 17, 1933, in Milwaukee, Wisc., to Anton and Mary (Golba) Levandoski. (His birth certificate changed his legal name to Lewandowski.)

He was a graduate of St. Clement School in Centerline, Mich. He served in the United States Marine Corps from 1952 to 1955. He was honorably discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Mr. Lewandowski was a long-time resident of Glennie, and former resident of Utica, Mich. He worked for General Motors at the Technical Center as a supervisor. He retired in 1987.

He was a dedicated Detroit Lions fan and enjoyed watching most sports. He was a member of the American Legion in Oscoda, and the Marine Corps Association.

Mr. Lewandowski is survived by two daughters, Sandy (Mark) Steele and Susan (Michael) Fry; one son, Anthony Lewandowski; five grandchildren; Amy Steele, Ashley Steele, Brendan Fry, Jennifer Fry and Nicholas Lewandowski; and one sister, Jeanette Bartkowiak.

He will be interred at the Great Lakes National Cemetery in Holly, Mich., on Monday, May 6, 2024.

Margaret J. Buck

Margaret Jean Buck, 86, of Warren, Mich. passed away suddenly on Sunday. October 22, 2023.

Margaret was born on May 1, 1937, in Mount Clemens, Mich. to her late parents, Johann and Anna Hamrol. Margaret, "Peggy" as she preferred to be called, was preceded in death by her brother, Bernard (Benny) and nephew, Michael.

Peggy was the beloved wife of Ronald, with whom she had been married for 63 years. She was the loving mother of Kathleen Buck and Kenneth Buck and "Mom #2" to Craig Rocheleau. She was the loving Aunt to many nieces and nephews and Great Aunt to their children.

She was also a lifelong friend to her girlhood friend, Liz. She formed long and meaningful friendships with neighbors and whomever she met.

After having graduated as Valedictorian from Eastland High School in 1955 and having declined a scholarship to Alma College so as to help support her widowed mother, Peggy went to work for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company where she worked as a service representative. It was there that she finely-tuned her masterful speaking voice and calm demeanor.

It was also there at Michigan Bell that Peggy's coworker and friend, Diana Buck Cornell, introduced her to her brother, Ron, and set up a "blind date" which resulted in magic. Ron and Peg were married on June 25,

Peggy dedicated her life to caring for her family and was passionate in her role as "homemaker" and always kept a book on etiquette within reach. She was a perfectionist: no one ran a tighter ship than Peggy ("Sarge," as some knew her). No one could fold a fitted sheet like Peggy, such that it was identical to a top sheet.

She was a wonderful cook and will be long-remembered for "Peggy's apple-baked beans" as well as her lasagna, German Sauerbraten, red cabbage, her picture-perfect apple pie and fruitcakes (they really were good!)

Paid Obituary

She enjoyed her home in Warren as well as in Harrisville, Mich., (home away from home) where the family has spent summers and many happy seasons since the 1950s.

A Memorial Celebration of her life will take place on Wednesday, May 1, 2024, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. and again on May 2, 2024, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the D.S. Temrowski and Sons Funeral Home, located at 30009 Hoover Road in Warren, Mich.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations in Margaret (Peggy) Buck's memory are appreciated to the American Red Cross at www.redcross.org.

Look up for Leo, The Lion, Eta Aquarids meteor shower

By John Heath

Springtime brings many welcome changes. A lion star pattern now adorns the southern part of our sky. It's about half way from the horizon to the zenith, overhead, after the sun sets each

Leo, The Lion, was known by peoples at least 6,000 years ago according to archaeologists. I find him by locating a backwards question mark which could also be recognized as a "sickle," an old harvesting tool. Regulus, the brightest of six stars making the "sickle," is the bottom star. Three other stars to the left, make a big triangle. The triangle forms the lion's tail.

Many cultures' stories involve a lion, possibly Leo. One Roman myth tells about a young Babylonian couple wanting to marry. But their parents would not consent. The lovers plan a rendezvous under a mulberry tree. The young girl, Thisbe, is frightened by a lion as soon as she arrives at the secret spot. She loses her veil as she runs away. The lion pounces on the veil and bloodies it from his last kill.

Her beloved, Pyramus, arrives a little later and seeing the bloody veil, assumes Thisbe is dead. Overwhelmed with grief, he throws himself on his sword. Thisbe, upon returning, sees Pyramus dying. She takes the sword and kills herself not wanting a life without him. And, according to the myth, their blood forever stained previously white mulberry fruits, the dark purple we see today.

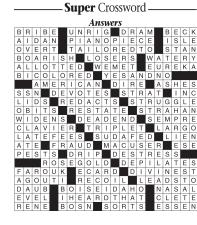

The mention of the constellation Coma Berenices being Thisbe's veil put in the sky by Zeus, makes this myth a contender for the constellation Leo being the lion in the story. Coma Berenices is to the upper left of Leo in the sky. A star chart makes the best tool to find it. Today the constellation is said to represent a queen's long hair sacrificed as a vow offering.

Greek mythology tells of a Nemean Lion. Hercules, son of Zeus, had to slay the lion as he set out to accomplish 12 famous labors. The labors were punishment for killing his own family. Hera's jealousy had caused him to become mad and do an unthinkable deed

The lion was said to be impervious to any weaponry such as swords or spears and had claws that could cut through armor. Women were being taken by the lion to his den to lure men for the kill. Hercules managed to slay the lion with his bare hands and free the women. The lion was placed in the sky by Zeus to memorialize Hercules' skill and strength.

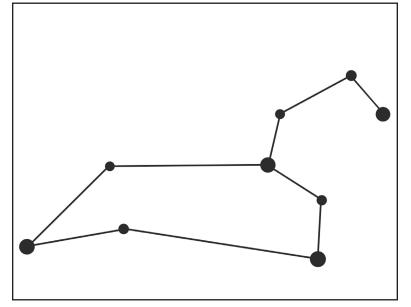

Today, Leo remains one of the 88 constellations recognized by the International Astronomical Union (IAU). Visit a library and ask about these myths and other famous stories about the constellations. You may be pleasantly surprised by how ancient stories can hold your glasses for this one. But you'll have to wait a while. Because of its position in the ecliptic, the path the sun, moon, and planets take across the sky, the moon frequently eclipses Leo's brightest star, Regulus.

Starting in July next year, the moon will eclipse the star Regulus every month for nearly a year and a half. Regulus is 3.5 times bigger than the sun! But much further away, it appears small to us and will be easily covered during many months next year by the moon's apparent size.

The Eta Aquarids meteor shower peaks early this month. It should continue to produce some light streaks most of the month. Meteor showers are best seen late at night but can produce a fun surprise anytime.

Look for this star grouping to identify Leo the Lion's constellation. Courtesy graphic.

New owners take over local automotive repair business, founders set to retire

By Cheryl Peterson Editor

Owning and operating a small business in a rural northeast Michigan community can be plagued with many challenges and provide many rewards as well.

Passing along the legacy of the business doesn't always a happen when the owners decide to retire. However, JB's Auto owners John and Carla Bernard, have found the "right fit" with the new owners – Christ "Chris" Christou and Rebecca "Becca" Gilmet.

John Bernard and Leroy Travis founded JB's Auto in 1986 in downtown Lincoln. According to John, after about two years he bought out Travis and moved its location.

Prior to establishing the business, John worked for Johnson Buick in Harrisville, which was owned by Pete Effrick and spent time selling tools but decided that being a self-employed mechanic was really what he wanted to do.

Carla and John met in 1981 and got married in 1982. Carla, who worked at the Lincoln branch of Alpena Savings, joined John in the business in 1994. She handled the paperwork, and he handled the wrenches.

John built their building on Barlow Road in 1988 and when Carla decided to help run the business an office area was added for her. Later a storage building was built to accommodate JB's Auto's growth. "We always tried to grow the business," John said built from scratch in an area that isn't a wealthy area. But we were able to make a living and raise a family," John said.

"There aren't many businesses that can say they have been in business this long...

Over the years, JB's Auto has offered various services for automobiles and boats and a wrecker service. For a while, they also owned Alcona Dredge, which was sold in 2022

"There are a lot of good customers that don't know (the business has been sold) and letting them know—that will be difficult. But we aren't closing. Just passing it on. I will be working with Chris part-time or so for three months. Carla will be work-

Desonia of Lincoln and three grandchildren.

New owners, Chris and Becca, are excited, enthusiastic and admittedly, a bit nervous in taking over. But they are ready. "We are very fortunate to be buying this business from John and Carla," Becca said. "They are easy to work with."

"John and Carla are two of the best people I've ever met," Chris said. "We understand that we have big shoes to fill."

Even after John and Carla phase out completely, they will still have help from mechanic Mark Stoinski, who has been employed by JB's want to help them in the transition and let our customers know they are in good hands," John said.

While they will miss many aspects of owning their business, they are looking forward to retirement. "We will miss our customers," Carla said. "We will miss helping people," John said. Carla explained that while they grew the business, their family grew up in and around it. "Our kids and grandkids have grown up in the shop," Carla said. Anything with a motor, really," Chris said. His older brother, Dan, helped fuel Chris' interest. "I grew up working on cars with him."

Becca is originally from Virginia and served in the military. She came to the area because her parents live in Alpena. She will be running the office, which is different from other areas of her career. She has a medical back-

Lady Tigers claim wins over AuGres, Hale

By Ben Murphy

Sports Writer

After breezing by Hale earlier in the week, the Alcona varsity softball team made two more convincing wins last Thursday. The Lady Tigers were hosted by AuGres in North Star League crossover action, and won both games handily, 13-0 and 14-2.

In game one, Miah Schopfer got the win with a five inning no hitter and struck out six batters and walked two.

Sage Gauthier and Jena Wambold each had one double and one single. Addison Beatty and Claire Somers had two singles each. Olivia Borchardt, Baylee Goddard and Schopfer had one single apiece.

Schopfer nailed the win in game two as well by throwing six innings and giving up two runs on two hits, six strikeouts and one walk.

At the plate, Borchardt had three singles. Beatty had a triple and a single. Schopfer doubled and hit a single. Goddard, Wambold, Somers and Hannah Renchenski each got a single.

tric car fires were so dangerous to put out. They are almost impossible to extinguish and are serious threats to anyone trying to. I came back and talked to the fire chiefs and attended the fire association meeting. Fortunately, many of them already had this knowledge and training," Stephenson said.

Still, he wanted his department trained and asked Kamm to come free of charge to instruct a session. "I had all my staff attend, EMS sent staff and central dispatch sent staff members and some firefighters attended the session.

"The biggest thing is when an electric vehicle fire gets going, they cannot be put out. Anyone around one will have to watch the car burn to the ground. Most rural fire departments don't have enough water to put them out. If they do put water on them, it will just spread chemicals into the ground," Stephenson

He explained how dangerous and deadly rescue efforts are to get people out of these burning vehicles because of toxic fumes, flames and the risk of electric shock.

While the training session did not teach them how to put the fire out, they did learn about what to look for to tell if the vehicle is electric such as a lightning bolt symbol, no exhaust pipes and the grill is solid because they do not need airflow to cool the engine.

Stephenson felt with the training his staff had been through they were fully prepared for the summer tourist season to start. Stephenson said, "My department is in good shape for the coming months."

"I'm looking forward to some warmer weather when we can get staff back out on the motorized bicycles. I took a ride on one a few weeks ago, but it is still way too cold.

Alcona baseball sweeps Hale with mercies

By Ben Murphy

Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity baseball team made light work of visiting Hale on Monday, April 22. The Tigers took down the Eagles in North Star League crossover play on scores of 28-0 and 16-1; both coming in the form of three inning mercies.

'(It) was two great games," head coach Dru Carson said. "Everyone did their job on defense and offense. Also, even though we were ahead so much the boys still stayed in the game and it gave me a chance to play some players who haven't played much this season. Moving to this week I hope to keep the same energy and keep winning."

In game one, Garrett Somers got the win by throwing three innings and giving up zero runs, zero hits and striking out four batters.

Collin Walker had a big game at the plate, going threefor-three, including two inside-the-park home runs and he drove in a total of seven runs. Cayden Hebert had two doubles, one single and five RBI and Evan Borsvold tripled.

The game two pitcher of record was Vinny Mahalak. He went three innings and gave up one run on six hits and eight strikeouts.

Somers had one double, one single and two RBI. Nathan Nardi had one double, one single and four RBI. Hebert had two hits. Walker added a double and two RBI. Ricky Schott stole five bases.

Alcona was scheduled to host AuGres for two NSL crossover games on April 25, however those contests were cancelled due to AuGres not having enough players.

Alcona hosts Mio Thursday, May 2 and heads to Whittemore-Prescott on May 6.

start work on new bank Pizer Store Contract Let Work To Be Pushed

May 1, 1924 ~ Work on the new building for the Alcona County Savings Bank was started Monday morning, when Anton Klaesar, superintendent for the contractors, put a crew at work clearing out the old foundation and enlarging the excavation.

The new building is to be 31x57 feet and will stand at the corner of Lake and Main streets where the "White Store" burned. The contractors are Bond-Hubbard Co., of Chicago,'well known builders of banks, and it is estimated that the building will be ready to occupy within five months.

S. B. Pizer announces that he has let the contract for building his new store to the Lichfield Construction Co. of Alpena. This will be a twostory structure of hollow tile, brick and steel 75x37-9 with basement under half. A specially designed front will be a principal feature.

The store will stand on the lot next west of the new bank, and work will start at once.

The basement of the new double store building of Alex and Geo. H. Ferguson is finished and the balance of the work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as material can be secured.

Plane crash kills three people Sunday

Peterson

A weekend family visit ended in tragedy Sunday when a single engine plane carrying three people crashed in Mitchell Township.

Richard Mohammed, 29, of Trenton, Mich., his wife, Nicole Mohammed, 26 and Kevin Mohammed, 21, of Grosse Isle, Mich., were aboard the plane when at approximately 10:30 a.m. it crashed on a private air field. All three were killed.

David Bowling, accident investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board, said the plane was a Piper Arrow built in 1989. The airplane was registered to Alex Mohammed Jr., the father of the two men killed in the crash. He is also the owner of the property.

According to Bowling, the three victims flew from down state on April 30 to the property located near M-65 about one eighth of a mile north of Hubbard Lake Trail.

NTSB investigators started tered pilots.

May 5, 1999 ~ By Cheryl an investigation on Monday, May 3. "It is early in the investigation, but we have eliminated most of the mechanical problems that could have caused the crash," Bowling said at a press conference Monday afternoon. "We examined the engine this afternoon. We look at many aspects that might have caused the crash — weather, airfield environment, pilot background, training, experience. Basically we always look at three things in every investigation - environment, machine and man.

Our understanding is, from our preliminary investigation, that this was the first time this airplane had flown into this air strip. The father was the only witness, and we are waiting to interview him so he can make arrangements to bury his children."

Bowling said the preliminary findings have not determined who was flying the airplane as both men were seated in front, and both were regis-

The airfield is positioned east/west and is 3,000 feet long and 100 feet wide. The airplane crashed on take-off and, according to Bowling, it sheared off trees about 20 feet from the ground before it collided with a large pine tree approximately five feet from the ground near the east end of the runway.

Bowling said NTSB investigators will continue to gather information locally for several more days, but a determination into the cause of the crash could take up to six months to be filed.

According to a report from the Alcona County Sheriffs Department the airplane was engulfed in flames when deputies arrived on the scene and the Curran Fire Department was working to extinguish the blaze. Alcona County EMS, local Department of Natural Resources officers and fire fighters and troopers from the Michigan State Police post, Alpena assisted at the scene.

Avoiding foreclosure with VA help

At the end of May, the Department of Veterans Affairs will start a new program called VASP, Veterans Affairs Servicing Purchase, to help over 40,000 veterans stay in their homes when facing

If you have a VA home loan, and if you're active duty, a veteran or a surviving spouse, you could be eligible for help through VASP if you're in serious financial trouble. VASP will come in and buy out your loan, modify it and then handle it as a direct VA loan. One of the best parts is that you'll get a fixed 2.5% interest rate. (As of this writing, a standard 30-fixed mortgage rate is 7.9%.)

VASP is not something you apply for. Instead, the mortgage companies will put in requests to the VA to help veterans they've identified as having problems with their loans. You'll have to do your part by being in touch with your lender. If VASP is the best option, they will be responsible for submitting your name to the VA. If you have a problem with your lender, call the VA at 877-827-3702 and

For the specifics of VASP, go to benefits.va.gov/ WARMS/M26_4.asp and select Chapter 9, VA Pur-

For general information about VA home loans, if you've never had a VA home loan, download the buyer handbook at www.benefits.va.gov/ homeloans/index.asp. Start with the Eligibility

If you're just starting the process of buying a home, you'll need your Certificate of Eligibility (COE), which will tell a lender that you have that benefit either for the first time or again after you've paid off a previous VA home loan.

Then send for your credit reports either at AnnualCreditReport.com or by calling 877-322-8228. If there are any errors in your credit history, the time to get them resolved is at the beginning of your home buying experience, not after you've already picked out a home and have mentally moved in. Get your ducks in a row first.

Law enforcement officers in northeast Michigan combine something they enjoy with giving back to community organizations. The Blue Knights Michigan Chapter 13, which includes Alcona, Alpena, Iosco and Montmorency counties, came into existence roughly five years ago with 10 members and has grown to 27 members. The group includes active and retired law enforcement officers from any agency. According to chapter 13 president Scott McKenzie, the group focused on gaining membership and finding its place in the community during the first several years. Recently, the group donated to two Alcona County nonprofit organizations (top left photo) Ray Stanley (left), vice president of Blue Knights, chapter 13, Jena Richards from the Alcona Humane Society and McKenzie, and to the Lincoln Lions Club (right photo) with McKenzie, Lincoln Lion representative Steve Weichel and Stanley. "We are looking to grow and do more for the community," McKenzie said. The Blue Knights International Law Enforcement Motorcycle Club, Inc. is a nonprofit fraternal organization consisting of active and retired law enforcement officers who enjoy riding motorcycles. In the Spring of 1974, several law enforcement officers from the Bangor, Maine, USA area met and formed a small, local motorcycle club. The Blue Knights® LEMC have approximately 600 chapters, 15,000 members in 11 Conferences within 34 countries and territories. To learn more, contact any Blue Knight members or go to the international website and then message Chapter 13. Photos by Cheryl Peterson.

Until recently, she worked for Omni Metal Craft in Alpena.

Chris, who received certification three years ago, worked for Vick's Auto for a year and Alcona Motors for two years. He also has a background in welding and construction. "I just wanted more," he said. "I started a family... When I realized that the potential to make this work was really good, I went for it at 100 miles an hour thinking it would happen the next day. It didn't."

And, then it did happen. They officially purchased JB's Auto in the first week in April, closed for a week to transition into the business. They opened as new owners the following week.

"We have a great support system in Alpena, and I feel this here. People have been great so far," Chris said. "It's great. But it's overwhelming and scary. I want my family to be happy and comfortable and I just want to work for myself.

Chris and Becca have an eight month old together, Kinsley, and Lexi, 15, who attends Alcona High School.

"I enjoy making people happy just as much as Becca does, we want to help our community," Chris said. "Honesty is my number one policy in the mechanics business. I want to carry on the legacy of John and Carla."

While Chris and Becca continue to learn the business by spending long hours there, Carla and John will be spending less time there while they are adjusting to retirement. They don't plan on leaving Alcona County much at all. Their children and grandchildren live locally, and Carla's favorite place is sitting on the beach at their cottage in Greenbush. John will be "wrenching on my own projects" in a space he recently purchased in Greenbush.

JB's Auto is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. It is located at 375 N. Barlow Road, Lincoln. The phone number is (989) 736

Made in the Mitten:

Savoring Michigan's Rich Foodie & Ag History

Michigan is the second-most agriculturally-diverse state in the country. From cherries and grapes to blueberries and pumpkins, peaches and apples to asparagus and celery (and many, many more), the Great Lakes State is often referred to as the "Mitten of Plenty." Add to that a growing industry focused on locally-sourced products such as cheese, poultry, sauces, jams, breads, chocolates and so much more, and you have a feast just waiting to be devoured. Michigan is also home to many significant food manufacturers — such as Kellogg's, Better Made Potato Chips, American Spoon Foods, Biggby Coffee, Jiffy Mix and Kowalski meats, just to name a few — that have helped shape Michigan's culture. This program will not only introduce audiences to Michigan's rich foodie and agricultural history, but will allow everyone to sample a few Michigan-made products as well!

Join us for a Michigan-picnic dinner at 6:00 p.m., program will follow.

It is quite tolerant of drought, and can be a great addition to a rock garden or a dry embankment. It is a perennial, with numerous woody stems that grow upward. Its stems have very aromatic gray-green leaves that reach their peak just before the plants flower, and are used fresh or dried to season soups, stews, sauces, meat and fish dishes. Its delicate lilac flowers are attractive to bees. - Brenda Weaver
